Johnson's Retirement

- Robert Kennedy — "Made out of generosity of spirit and dedication to the United States."
- Richard Nixon — "I was surprised."
- Eugene McCarthy — "A generous judgment clearing way for national reconciliation."
- Saigon — "We can only look on such a prospect with dismay."
- Bangkok — Kennedy would abandon Asia.
- Moscow — Difficult to judge.

Britain Acts

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain made a new Vietnam peace approach to Moscow today following the appeal Sunday night by President Johnson.

The Bombing Pause

- Saigon — North Vietnam will benefit.
- London — "Opportunity for peace."
- Paris — "A very important development."
- Paul Martin — "An act of courage."
- Seoul — "We are stunned."
- Stockholm — "We advocated this."

Elation and Dismay Aroused by LBJ

No End To War Likely

LONDON (CP) — President Johnson's new overture for peace "in Vietnam was welcomed across Europe and by some U.S. Asian allies today. But diplomatic authorities in London expect Hanoi to reject it because of the president's companion announcement that he is not a candidate for re-election.

These informants said Johnson's decision not to run again may tempt the Vietnamese Communists—with Chinese encouragement—to battle on in hopes of the election of a "peace candidate" who might give them better terms.

There was no immediate comment on the president's speech from the foreign quarters whose reaction matters most—North Vietnam, the Viet Cong and the Soviet Union.

Moscow Radio briefly reported Johnson's decision to curtail the air attacks on North Vietnam but made no mention of his decision not to seek re-election.

In a dispatch from Moscow headlined "Johnson is manoeuvring," Tass said:

"It is still difficult to judge whether this step is a public acknowledgment of the failure of the Vietnam policy or a pre-election manoeuvre.

"It has happened more than once inn the practise of American political struggle that presi-

Planes, Ships Cease Attacks

SAIGON (AP) — American bombers and warships halted their attacks on most of North Vietnam today, one day after strikes close to Hanoi, Haipong and the Chinese border.

The pause in the bombing was ordered by President Johnson.

American fighter-bombers confined their attacks on North Vietnam today to an area just above the demilitarized zone.

Johnson said bombing would continue in the area north where the continuing enemy buildup directly threatens Allied forward positions."

Johnson 'Generous' Declares Kennedy

NEW YORK (AP) — Senator Robert F. Kennedy said today he has asked President Johnson for a meeting soon in the light of Johnson's withdrawal ffrom the presidential race.

In his first comment since Sunday night's announcement by Johnson, Kennedy said he had praised the president for "subordinating self to country."

Kennedy told a press conference that "I fervently hope" Johnson's new move for peace in Vietnam will succeed.

He added:

"I will continue my campaign for the presidency of the United States."

"I'm going to the American people as I have and present my views and ideas of what we need to do in our country.

Kennedy said of President Johnson's withdrawal: "He made the statement out of generosity of spirit and dedication to the United States."

Hanoi Plans Serious Study

NEW YORK (Reuters) — A North Vietnamese diplomat in Prague, Czechoslovakia, said Hanoi intended to give serious study to President Johnson's partial curtailment of the bombing of North Vietnam, a Westinghouse group radio station reported here today.

The diplomat, who asked that his name not be used, was interviewed by correspondent Bernard Redmont.

Redmont said he got the impression from the diplomat that Hanoi appeared to have adopted "a'wait and see" attitude towards Johnson's proposal.

The diplomat appeared skeptical about Johnson's de-escalation proposal, Redmont said.

Redmont quoted the diplomat as having said Johnson and other American leaders had talked peace in the past, then intensified the war.

His Joy Swallowed Up by Burden of Power

With Early Magic Gone, LBJ Gives Up His Wand

A joy sometimes. An awesome responsibility most of the time. But always his.

So there was stunning shock when Johnson disclosed at the end of his speech Sunday night that he would neither seek nor accept renomination this year.

President Johnson was writing finis to what has been described as the most personalized presidency in American history—a president with a telephone always at hand, a president who kept a worried eye on light bills as well as congressional bills.

His administration began under the cloud of John F. Kennedy's assassination, when a stricken nation in November, 1963, turned to look at its new president.

It was the master politician who moved almost immediately to assure the country of continuity in the White House. He seemed a man proving a worthy successor to Kennedy.

By the time the 1964 election rolled around Johnson had got through Congress major portions of the stalled Kennedy program—including a civil rights bill, a major tax cut and anti-poverty legislation.

Johnson got the reputation as a wizard with a magic wand.

But the war in Vietnam was taking a turn that would haunt him from Capitol Hill to the dissident college campus.

In August, 1964, with the election only four months away, American destroyers reported they had been attacked by North Vietnamese vessels in the Gulf of Tonkin off North Vietnam.

In a historic escalation of the war, U.S. planes hit installations in North Vietnam and the administration won a congressional resolution approving in advance future actions to fight communism in Southeast Asia.

After campaigning that Vietnam was a war for the Vietnamese to fight, Johnson defeated Republican Barry Goldwater by a landslide in 1964.

And even while Johnson was marshalling his huge new Democratic majorities in Congress, the war was looming larger.

In February, 1965, American planes began regular bombing of North Vietnam. American combat troops were being sent in to fight a war on the Asian mainland.

In addition, Johnson was faced with a problem almost as great—and many thought greater—than the war. Beginning with the Negro rioting in Watts in August, 1965, U.S. cities fell prey to summer violence.

Those who had seen Johnson as a political magician began wondering what happened to his wand and bag of tricks.

And the Johnson popularity began dipping in the public opinion polls.

The "master politician" was having trouble in his own party.

Chairman J. W. Fulbright of the Senate foreign relations committee led the assault on the Johnson foreign policy.

Had the Johnson magic come unglued?

There were many Democrats who thought so—including Senator Robert Kennedy.

But no one seemed willing to take on the head of party—until Senator Eugene McCarthy decided to.

Kennedy then stepped in as another challenger to Johnson.

People began talking of the possibility of denying Johnson the party nomination in Chicago next August.

Then Lyndon Johnson surprised them all.

He said he would not run again.

Only Six Knew LBJ To Retire

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lyndon Johnson stunned the U.S., with the news he won't seek another term as president.

Johnson had confided only in Mrs. Johnson, Vice-President Hubert H. Humphrey, State Secretary Dean Rusk, Defence Secretary Clark M. Clifford, Robert S. McNamara, former Pentagon chief and now president of the World Bank, and press secretary George Christian.

Paris Sees LBJ Move As Vital

PARIS (Reuters) — The French government is seeking Hanoi's reaction to President Johnson's decision to halt bombing of most of North Vietnam, officials said here today.

They called it a "very important development," but it is too early yet to see how the situation will evolve.

The French government is known to be in constant touch with North Vietnam through Hanoi's representative in Paris, Mai Van Bo, highest ranking North Vietnamese official in the West.

Johnson's decision was seen here as the most significant world event in recent months, overshadowing political changes in Eastern Europe and the West's international monetary reforms.

Although French officials declined to comment on Johnson's decision not to seek re-election, observers said it was likely to be welcomed as both remaining Democratic party presidential candidates were pledged to bring an early end to the Vietnam fighting.

THE WEATHER

Synopsis: Cooler air now covers Ontario. It will be cool and windy today with variable cloud cover across most of the province. Mainly fair and somewhat milder weather is expected for Tuesday.

Martin Praises Raids' End

OTTAWA (CP) — North Vietnam has been urged by External Affairs Minister Martin to seize swiftly the opportunity opened Sunday night by President Johnson's "gamble for peace."

Mr. Martin said in a statement today he is "greatly heartened" by President Johnson's order for a suspension of bombing "of the greatest part of North Vietnam" and his renewed plea for peace talks.

"I know that the decision could not have been an easy one for him to take," Mr. Martin said. "It is an act of courage on his part to take that gamble for peace."

Mr. Martin urged North Vietnam's leaders "and all those who may have any influence on their councils to seize this opportunity swiftly so that the next steps can be taken which may quickly end the tragedy and the suffering of all the people of Vietnam. . . ."

Canada stood ready to do anything within its power that would contribute to "the prompt initiation of serious talks."

Mr. Martin earlier called the Johnson announcement "a step in the right direction."

Cessation of Bombing Dismays South Vietnam

SAIGON (CP) — Senior South Vietnamese diplomats reacted with incredulity and dismay today at President Johnson's shock announcement to virtually stop bombing North Vietnam and not to run again for president.

One senior diplomat said the announcement was a turning point of the war that would benefit North Vietnam.

He said such decisions in the past were usually a matter of bilateral discussions, "as far as I know we had no advance warning of this," he said.

Informed observers however believed Johnson's announcement was communicated in advance to South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu.

One diplomat said he hoped a way could be found to reverse Johnson's decision not to run for the presidency, "We can only look on such a prospect with dismay," he said.

Johnson's cut on air strikes over the North met heavy criticism in Saigon.

South Vietnamese diplomats pointed out that a proposed increase in American troops would be cancelled out by increased North Vietnamese ability to infiltrate men and arms, replenish stocks and conduct training in the Hanoi-Haiphong region.

Comments from U.S. soldiers on the bombing pause ranged from "I'll bury all of us" to "this means we'll go home sooner."

One aid: "I don't care who is president so long as we get home."

A senior officer on Gen. William C. Westmoreland's staff, who refused to let his name be used, said few American soldiers cared whether Johnson ran for re-election or not.

An Ice Breaking Sailboat

Two Sea Cadets, Dean Stockwell and Robert Cook, tried their hand at ice-breaking in a sailing dinghy Sunday afternoon. Most of the ice left the Bay of Quinte over the weekend but the boys had to paddle through drift ice when they headed for open water near the Sea Cadet headquarters.

46,000 Year-old Splake To Be Stocked in Lake Ontario

PICTON — In spite of the continuing presence of lamprey eels in Lake Ontario, there may still be a chance for survival of Splake, a hybrid trout.

Glenora fisheries research station biologist, Jack Christie, said this week the provincial government has authorized the experimental stocking of 46,000 one-year-old Splake in Lake Ontario.

Glenora Fisheries research station played host to the annual meeting of the Lake Ontario sub-committee of the Great Lakes fisheries commission.

The commission, an international body formed to direct lamprey control, is made up of about 30 representatives from Ontario and New York state conservation groups, fisheries, and government bodies.

Mr. Christie explained that the Splake is a combination of lake trout and brook trout. When lake trout are scarce, they seem to have a good chance of survival, although lamprey eels may attack all the same waters. Brook trout are early spawners.

Fisheries researchers have not yet determined whether Icke trout, which spawn at an older age than the brook trout are falling prey to lampreys before they have a chance to spawn, or whether they can longer reproduce in Lake Ontario waters.

It is hoped the early spawning Splake can beat the lamprey eels.

Mr. Christie said a lesprey eels.

Mr. Christie said a legislative date has been set for an all - out assault on lamprey eels in Lake Ontario, but so far little has been done to control them. Control measures may be taken by 1970.

Researchers will continue the Kokanee salmon project in this area, and on the American side of the lake U.S. biologists are planting a limited number of Coho salmon.

Late in 1967, Kokanee salmon gave good indication they could survive in the Georgian Bay area, but results proved not as satisfactory in Lake Ontario as they had hoped. Mr. Christie said he had not yet given up hope for the Kokanees' chances in local waters.

The team of Andy Potter and Brian Hislip won a car rally held at Loyalist College on Sunday. Here Garry Miller checks in one of the early finishers, Ralph Wood. The rally completed student week activities at the college.

Society Week Ends At Loyalist College

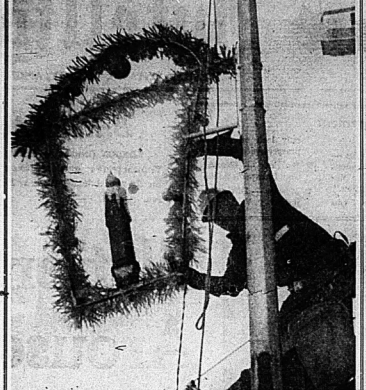
Andy Potter and Brian Hislip were the winners of a car rally held at Loyalist College on Sunday.

Runners up were John Cameron and Ron Woodley while the teams of Tom Bateman and Fred Cassalman and Ron Callaghan and Steve Smith tied for third place.

The winners received a trophy donated by Stevenson Ford Sales and a second award presented by the administration. They also received individual trophies from C and G Motors in Trenton.

Second and third place finishers received dash plaques.

The 80 mile novice car rally completed a week of events during student society week at the college.



About 800 students and guests attended a dance featuring the Bedtime Story on Saturday night.

dents have refused to advance their own candidacy and have subsequently re-entered the struggle for election with intensified energy."

"Johnson's decision on a curtailment of the bombing was accompanied by announcements of new measures in the escalation of aggression," Tass said.

The British government welcomed the bombing pause, which it said "should offer a further opportunity of achieving a just and honorable peace."

A spokesman for Prime Minister Wilson refused to comment on the president's decision to withdraw from the electoral campaign. But some British officials expressed the fear that the U.S. government would become a lame duck administration that might bring inter-allied decision-making to a halt until January.

Japanese officials, whose government reluctantly supported the U.S. bombing of North Vietnam, welcome the de-escalation move.

Officials in Thailand were shaken and perturbed by Johnson's political exit. Premier Thanom Kittikachorn said he felt that if Senator Robert F. Kennedy was elected, the United States would abandon Asia.

Another supporter of American policy in Vietnam, Prime Minister Tunku Abdul Rahman of Malaysia, said he hoped that the decision to virtually halt the bombing did not mean the Americans were giving up "the fight to preserve democracy against communism."

Prime Minister Keith Holyoake of New Zealand, whose government has troops in Vietnam, said he welcomed Johnson's bombing action unreservedly.

Australian Prime Minister John Gorton said Johnson's initiative was "a further significant exhibition of willingness on the part of the U.S." to obtain a just peace in Vietnam.

Filipino Foreign Secretary Narciso Ramos said the bombing halt was a "good start" and the Philippines, which has armed civic action groups in South Vietnam, would "go along since it is the United States that is most affected."

A South Korean information ministry spokesman would only say "we are stunned" when asked for comment on the bombing pause and the president's decision not to run for re-election.

Swedish Premier Tage Erlander welcomed the bombing pause.

"The Swedish government has advocated this line for some time," he said. "Negotiations and the Viet Cong will have to decide whether these measures are sufficient."

Students Distribute Initial Newsletter

A group of Belleville students are reacting against what they call repressive rules in the secondary school system.

In a newsletter distributed in all high schools today a group of students calling themselves the Belleville Union of Students asks for keener opinion on such questions as the student council set up, teacher student relationships and course content.

The newsletter, which was handed out 2,000 copies of the letter.

Peter Brickwood, a student at Belleville Collegiate and communications secretary of the union said this morning the group represents about 20 students at the present time. "But we hope to get at least one-half the secondary students in the city involved in the future" he said. This would mean between 2,500 and 3,000 students.

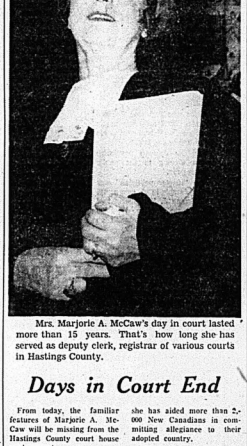
In the letter called Resound, the group ask several questions. Do you want student puppets or student government? Do you want control of your personal appearances? Does your principal dress you funny? Do you know your rights? Do you have your lights and can you get your rights?

Mr. Brickwood said the students want the right to speak out on everything that concerns them. "There are a few teachers who claim they approve of our ideas in general," he said.

School board chairman, James Clarke, said today he is pleased to be on the group's mailing list and is looking forward to receiving copies. "The board spends tremendous amounts of money on schools and we're certainly interested in hearing from the students," he said.

"Earlier we offered to meet with any representatives of the student body but we've never been approached," he said.

Mr. Brickwood said he expects to receive upwards of 500 replies to the questionnaire but stated the group would continue if it only gets 25.



"We will organize our response in relation to the answers to the newsletter," he claimed.

"So far we've had no problems distributing the newsletter. We have representatives from Moira, Belleville Collegiate and Centennial but we've also distributed copies at Quinte, Nicholson and Albert Colleges.

Linton Read, principal at Moira, said his first reaction is that "it must be an April Fool joke." "The body distributing the newsletters is completely unofficial," he said.

Apparently the newsletter was printed on the gestetner at Moira. "The first I knew of the existence of the letter was when a fellow principal called to tell me it had been printed at Moira," he said.

School officials apparently didn't know the content of the letter when permission was granted.

Mrs. Marjorie A. McCaw's day in court lasted more than 15 years. That's how long she has served as deputy clerk, registrar of various courts in Hastings County.

Days in Court End

From today, the familiar features of Marjorie A. McCaw will be missing from the Hastings County court house environment.

With the first day of a new month Mrs. McCaw ends more than 15 years service in the multiple capacity of deputy local registrar of the Supreme Court, deputy county court clerk, deputy surrogate court registrar and clerk of the county's citizenship court.

Mrs. McCaw, who started working at the county buildings in 1948, received the appointments in 1952.

During that time she has served under three county sheriffs, starting her term of service in the century-old county buildings, a section of which still stands behind the new offices.

In the same period she has become a court official assisting more than the legal profession.

As clerk of the citizenship court, Mrs. McCaw estimates she has aided more than 2,000 New Canadians in committing allegiance to their adopted country.

County court work also includes child adoptions.

As deputy clerk she has assisted an average of 15 couples every month hopefully seeking adoption approval.

But the day-to-day routine of her office was a continuing contact with the legal profession — lawyers and jurists.

The extent of the profession's appreciation of her work was markedly in evidence late last week when judges, barristers and court officials made her the guest of honor at a banquet.

Not that the occasion apparently marked a farewell to the processing of law.

For the immediate future, says Mrs. McCaw, "I don't feel that I'm going to retire.

"I'm going to take a holiday. Then I'm going to come back to the legal work I enjoy."

About 85 blind persons and their escorts were on hand at a banquet Saturday night to celebrate the 18th anniversary of the founding of the Belleville club and the 50th anniversary of the Canadian organization. Here Mr. and Mrs. Keith Melrose discuss the situation with Joe Doyle.

President Urges

Extra Benefits for Blind

"The sightless in Canada are still concerned that the government hasn't fully recognized the handicap of the blind," Mrs. Mary Patterson, president of the Canadian Council of the Blind said Saturday night.

MRS. MARY PATTERSON

Speaking to about 75 people at the Kiwanis Centre, Mrs. Patterson said the blind receive benefits under welfare programs at the present time.

"But they should be given extra benefits for the additional handicap of blindness," she claimed.

The banquet was held to mark the 18th anniversary of the Belleville chapter of the Canadian Institute of the Blind and the 50th anniversary of the national organization.

Both events occurred on the same day.

Mrs. Patterson joined the organization for the blind shortly after arriving in Canada from Scotland in 1939. Since that time she has served on various committees and has held various positions in the group.

She was elected president of the Canadian Council for the Blind in 1960 and during her eight year term has watched the number of clubs grow from 17 to 30.

Mrs. Patterson has also been instrumental in setting up camps for the blind.

During the evening's activities the blind group and their escorts were entertained by James MacCormack at the piano.

Members of the Belleville Kinette Club, who assist the Belleville CNIB in a bowling program throughout the year, handled the banquet.

Vehicle Damaged

A Huntingdon Township motor vehicle accident resulted in $450 damage to two cars over the weekend.

The mishap occurred at 12.22 a.m. this morning on highway 62 near the tenth concession of Huntingdon. One vehicle driven by Harold Lorne Bailey, 20, of Cobourg had $150 damage while the other, driven by Phoebe Louise Keller, 43, of Belleville, had $300 damage.

According to the OPP, charges are pending.

Workshop for Retarded Down to Site Stage

TRENTON — The drive to establish a workshop for retarded adults in the area is down to the site stage.

Frank Miron, president of the local Kiwanis Club, and Dr. Breck Nugent, president of the Trenton - Brighton Retarded Children's Association are to present town council with a brief tonight requesting consideration in the purchase of a site for the proposed workshop.

Mr. Miron said the two organizations — who have been spearheading the project locally — are looking for "about one acre" of land for the workshop, which is expected to accommodate from eight to 12 adults initially.

"We are hoping to purchase some town-owned property on the same basis as other industries," Mr. Miron said.

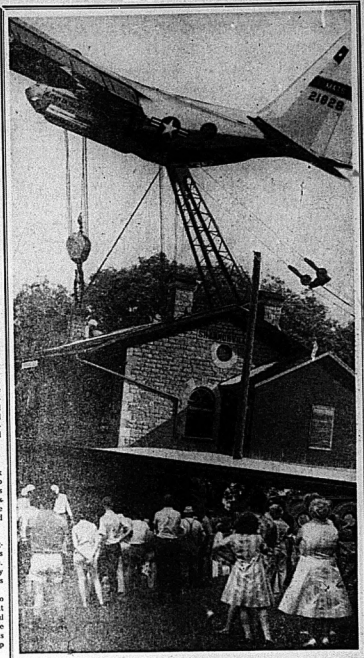
(Town policy is to sell potential industrial land at $100 an acre.)

There are some 60 retarded adults' workshops in the province at present, which rehabilitate participants and at the same time perform recovery - type operations farmed out by industry.

Mr. Miron said local support from industry was encouraging.

ANAF News

The Dominion Convention is being held in Calgary, Alberta this summer and at the next general meeting to be held on Thursday, April 11th the delegates from the Duke of Edinburgh Unit 201 must choose their delegates and recommend the trip's expenses. You must attend the meeting to be able to either nominate or vote for the members of your choice. In addition you must be a paid up member for 1968. Attend the meeting and make use of your privilege of voting to ensure the best are chosen. Delegates names must be submitted before then end of April to confirm the reservations already made.



Last Thursday, the members had the pleasure of extending a hearty welcome to a few very welcome comrades from Formosa in Western Ontario. It was a very pleasant and entertaining evening thoroughly enjoyed by the lucky comrades who were present. While on the subject of entertainment the chairman wishes to announce that a coming event that will be enjoyed by all will be at the Memorial Hall on Saturday, April 27th. A country and western night with the music supplied bythe Westernaires. During the evening there will be a demonstration of square dancing. All members and their guests will be welcome to this dance. Further details will be announced at a later date.

The chairman of the sick committee is quite pleased to report that only two comrades Hank Boyle and Jack Semmo Sr. are recuperating at home and no comrades hospitalized at the present.

There were 56 players at regular Saturday afternoon doubles with half a dozen prize winners. It was a good afternoon; sorry but the list of winners' names is unavailable at this time.

Sport chairman would like to remind the members that next Saturday night will be Mr. and Mrs. Darts. This series will be soon completed with the finals in May for the Harold Dureup Memorial Trophy.

Comrade Terry Boyle, captain of the Unit shuffleboard team that last week won the semi-final playoff, hopes to repeat this performance when they play the finals of the Belleville Shuffleboard League. The winners will meet the winners of Trenton Shuffleboard League for the Belleville and Trenton District Shuffleboard championship.

Giant Air-lift Today

This morning a mighty Hercules played an important role in a problem that had practically baffled solution. The old Shannonville railway depot was eased down on Zwick's Island, as gently as a stork delivers a baby. Original plans of a civic committee to dismantle the stone structure and reconstruct it on the new site, had to be abandoned due to the strength of the mortar used by the Scotch stone masons. Unfortunately for all concerned today is April first.

Heavy Smoke Reported When Dump Catches Fire

A fire in the Belleville dump was the impetus for several complaints phoned into the Belleville Fire Department Saturday night and Sunday, fire chief Ted Poste said today.

The men were doing all they could," he added. Firemen were at the scene for nearly 16 hours, all night Saturday and part of Sunday.

The complaints were a direct result of the smoke caused by the blaze which was coming into the homes of people in the dump area.

"The smoke condition was all the way down to the hospital," the chief said. "The smoke was terrible."

Finally with the assistance of bulldozers, the fire department got the blaze under control. The men went home about noon Sunday.

Aid for African

Independence in Africa has been a mixed blessing for most of the countries that attained this status after being colonies for many years.

Ghana . . . The Congo . . . Nigeria and many smaller countries have all had their share of social disorder, violence and upheaval. The Africans themselves are still not entirely capable of running their own affairs. Only a comparatively few have the education to cope with the multitude of disciplines that go with Western-style democracy and the rest of life associated with it. The vast majority on the other hand are still not far removed from the primitive ways of Africa over countless centuries.

For this reason there is still a need for trained Europeans to live and work among the Africans. Such a program is afforded by "Operation Crossroads," outlined to an audience of 200 people in Belleville recently.

An interdenominational project, it sends about 40 Canadians to Africa for periods of three months every year. They are students and career people between the ages of 20 and 25. They bring friendship and practical help to the Africans.

Relations between the Canadians and their hosts are good according to Miss Dawn Marshall a speaker at the recent meeting here. "Many Canadians," she said, "go back to underdeveloped countries permanently afterwards. We have a fair influence upon the youth of Africa."

Her comment on the Africans' concept of the Canadian image was interesting. "We conveyed that we were not what North Americans are supposed to be. It's the friendship and understanding that are important."

Which countries are involved was not stated, but it is good to know Canadians are playing a significant part in their development and in establishing good relations with the people of a continent which is also being wooed by the communist world.

The Personal Touch

Northern Electric executive V. O. Marques' observations here on future trends in industry and regarding the welfare of employees are interesting.

Northern for one, according to the company's national president, is against huge plant complexes. Citing the Montreal operation, the company's initial venture that now has nearly 2,000 employees, Mr. Marques noted: "We never have a plant like that today. What you have to have ideally is a situation large enough to have an impact on the community, but small enough so it does not dominate the community.

"More and more we are living in a society where people don't want to feel they are pawns in a chess game."

How true Mr. Marquez went on to stress education as the key to personal and community progress. If this is merely stating the obvious it is a point nevertheless that cannot be mentioned too often.

The Northern president touched also on the revolution of the younger generation. The young he said were now thinking for themselves, "and we don't know how to cope with the result."

Here we have another facet of the onward march of civilization. Patterns evolve, in industry as in human thought, among the young and among older people. Through it all runs the central theme of man's search for identity in a changing world. That's large operation like Northern Electric has perceived this human need and plans to avoid the creation of overly large plants is significant in this day and age.

Man and His World

With the opening of Man and His World (Expo that was) expected in May, a recent news photo showed part of the site in an unfamiliar guise.

Taken from somewhere near the Venezuelan pavilion (whose bold lettering on the side of the building left no one in any doubt as to its identity), and looking past the Ethiopian pavilion to the Soviet pavilion, there were some unfamiliar structures.

Melting snow and rain had turned some of the streets into something resembling the canals. Hence the reflections. When the exhibition opens however the scene will be different again. Workman recently started dismantling the huge Soviet building.

Strange that the Russians, if for no other reason than publicity and good relations, did not decide to offer their building to Canada. The Americans and a considerable number of other countries have left their buildings on the island site in Montreal.

Liberal Leadership Campaign

Pierre Trudeau: Non-conformist and Man of the Left

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's last bachelor prime minister led a taste for bric-a-brac and fake rubies.

Pierre Elliott Trudeau, who could be the next bachelor prime minister, has a taste for sports cars, beautiful women and casual clothes.

Like King, the 48-year-old justice minister is not an easy man to define, although the superficial facts are well enough known after his phenomenal burst into prominence this year.

Mr. Trudeau, in a typically casual way, declines to hang labels on himself, leaving that to others.

He is wealthy, but dismisses questions on the subject with the question: "How rich is rich?"

He is a non-conformist and a "man of the left," although not a doctrinaire leftist. "I'd rather like to take a chance with progress than to take a chance with conservatism."

His intellectual qualifications are undisputed. He was known as an outstanding professor of constitutional law and as a writer of social and political matters before he entered politics less than three years ago.

He studied abroad, at Harvard, the University of Paris, and the London School of Economics, and has travelled widely, usually to places where things were happening.

He was in China during the 1949 revolution, visited Russia during the Stalinist years, and was once arrested by the Arabs as an Israeli spy.

For a time in the 1950s his travels earned him a blacklisting from the American state department. He says he had himself quickly and easily removed from the list.

He likes skiing and canoeing and has a black belt. He has dabbled in yoga.

His face—the lean features, coolly dark eyes and eyes and Mark Antony haircut—has become in a few weeks one of the best known in Canada.

His style of speaking is definitive: soft-spoken and engagingly frank, with a dislike for cant and pomposity and a quick rejection of the banal.

And he suggested that the whole Trudeau boom had started in the subconscious mind of the press, as a "huge practical joke on the Liberal party."

His style of living is even better known — the powder-blue Mercedes, Laurentian ski trips, the sandals and silk ascots and the long-haired and mini-skirted companions.

Mr. Trudeau says his philosophy has been one of rowing against the current.

Canada must "throw out the thousand prejudices with which the past burdens the present," he has said. It must cast down the totems and break the taboos.

His one-year career as justice minister has been linked with social reform—not all of his own making—liberalizing laws on divorce, birth control, abortion and homosexuality.

"The state has no place in the bedrooms of the nation," became one of his most widely-quoted comments.

His role as a spokesman for federalism at the February constitutional conference brought him into head-on conflict with Quebec separatists and its Union Nationale government.

Mr. Trudeau's relationship with his native Quebec, in fact, has become one of the most open questions surrounding his candidacy.

But he retains considerable support from Quebec reformers, including Jean Marchand and Gerard Pelletier, the other two of the "three wise men" brought into the Liberal party in 1965.

Indians Divided Among Themselves

Cornwall Standard-Freeholder

The Indians are again on the war path and anyone familiar with the Indian situation in this country cannot blame them. The unfortunate part of the situation is that they are not all fighting the white man, but fighting among themselves.

It was a similar situation in 1776 when the Americans were fighting the British, which wrecked the once powerful Iroquois Federation. The Iroquois, who up until this time had never fought among themselves, could not understand white brother fighting white brother and so some tribes went with the English and some with the Colonists and the chain of command was broken.

Typical of this situation is the attractive Kahn — Tineta Horn who has perhaps gained more publicity in the past year or so than all the other Indians put together.

Many of the things for which she fights are absolutely necessary if the Indian is to take and maintain his rightful place among other Canadians.

The problem is, she controls a faction and the faction does not control her, and other groups, perhaps for reasons of personal jealousy, or perhaps because they believe she is too militant, refuse to go along with her.

Some feel the manner in which she is willing to meet the white man head-on in combat gains nothing but enmity. Others feel she is more interested in personal publicity than the cause of her people. Some, and this includes many Indian women are jealous of her beauty.

While there may be an element of truth in all of this, the fact remains so long as the Indians in this part of Canada keep bickering among themselves and do not present a solid front behind one intelligent, well educated and dedicated leader, they are going to be given nothing but crumbs from the government table.

Many of Miss Horn's problems can be laid at the feet of newsmen, who continually seem more interested in her as a beautiful Indian woman, than in the causes for which she fights.

Many male Iroquois do not like being told what to do by a woman and yet if they bothered to go back into their own history, they would find that when the Iroquois power was at its height, it had a matriarchial system, wherein the acepire of power was handed from mother to child and not from father to son.

No one but the Indians themselves has the right to say whether Miss Horn or some body else should be their spokesman.

If they don't want her as a leader, then their first job is to band together in strength, use her if they can or ignore her completely, but first of all decide on whom they want to speak for them. Then they must make sure this leader has a definite policy to follow, a policy which will have the full support of the Indian people.

This can come about only as the result of a united effort and until this effort is made the Indian power will continue to be wasted in internal strife and he will be like a balloon tossed in all directions by a strong wind.

LOOKING BACKWARDS

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FILES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

April 1, 1948.

Thirty-seven years of association with the Mutual Life of Canada which terminated yesterday was given tangible recognition in the offices of the Belleville branch of the company when officials, staff, field men and guests presented S. R. Burrows, veteran manager, with a handsome silver thermos jug and glasses at a tea reception. Harry Bellamy (Sandy) is succeeded by former branch supervisor, Percy C. McGuire.

An increase of nearly $3 million in customs returns at Belleville for the fiscal year ending March 31st as compared to returns of the previous fiscal period was reported today by Lt. Col. E. A. Geen, local customs collector

From our file copy at this time in 1858: "The Forest and Stream Club's series of pedro parties ended for the season last night. The prize winners were R. Tuite, first and A. Tiscombe and James Gillick were tied for second place.

Today in History

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

April 1, 1968

Canadians became accustomed with rain rather than 26 years ago today—in 1942 —as gasoline rationing went into effect. Production of new cars and tires had already stopped, and a national speed limit of 40 m.p.h. was proclaimed. Food rations were issued later in the year and remained in force for five years. Even after VE-Day, sugar and meat rations were reduced, but the last control—on sugar—was lifted Nov. 2, 1947.

1949—Newfoundland celebrated its first day as a member of Canada.

Survey Favors Newspapers

Brockville Recorder and Times

Newspapers are wont to hear-ing radio and TV sing their own praises. Seldom do you read about a newspaper "patting itself on the back." But when an electronic medium sets out to prove a point in its favor and fails quite short of doing so, it is incumbent if newspapers "smile" a little, albeit not smugly.

This is what happened when the National Association of States commissioned a study to reveal people's attitudes towards TV as compared to newspapers. There was no mention of radio. Questions were asked in 75 cities and the Television Digest relates, sadly, that it was learned that higher socio-economic groups favor newspapers for news, the less - educated groups favor TV. It was learned, however, that both groups related most on TV for national and international news and newspapers for local and spot news. Thirty-eight percent claimed they often find nothing worth watching on TV at a given time; 35 percent reported they regularly watch what they considered bad programs. It was interesting to note, too, 70 percent watched more educational shows. More people think TV commercials are more annoying than enjoyable while it's the other way around with print ads. Most complaints were on quantity, too many interruptions. The less-educated, however, were more inclined towards TV commercials.

Air Canada Has A Profit

Ottawa Journal

Air Canada reports with accountable pride that it had a profit of $3,547,320 in 1967.

The publicly-owned airline, a subsidiary of the Canadian National Railways, has a monstrous load of debt on which it had to pay interest of $13,857,562 in 1967.

The borrowing Air Canada must undertake to finance capital expenditures will be a little less because of its profit but $3,547,320 also, is only a drop in the bucket. Capital expenditures in 1967 amounted to $129,400,000; chiefly due to aircraft purchased or on order, and it was necessary to borrow $67,000,000 at an average interest rate of 5.96 per cent.

Further borrowings will be needed in 1968 and the debt charges will increase.

Indians Will Have More Say In Managing Their Affairs

Brockville Recorder and Times

Acutely aware that Canada's Indians consider the present Indian Act a white man's law passed with no concern for their opinions, the federal government is doing its level best to ensure that the Indians' views will be known in revising the act. There was, in fact, a large degree of consultation before the existing act was passed in 1951, but not many Indians are aware of it.

This time, Indian Affairs Minister Arthur Laing is determined, the country's 200,000 Indians will have plenty to say about the form they want the laws to take. Some 67,000 copies of Choosing a Path, a booklet asking 34 questions on Indian reaction to proposed changes giving them more freedom in managing their own affairs, is in its way to every Indian family.

The booklet covers all aspects of the Indian Act, starting with the title itself; the Indians are asked whether they would like it changed "to mark a new era in their life." More fundamental changes proposed deal with treaty rights, band council's powers, education, use of Indian lands, liquor restrictions, and enfranchisement. Indians would let Indians benefit from the Canada Pension Plan and the Quebec Pension Plan.

All 550 Indian bands are asked to choose a spokesman to discuss their suggestions with government officials. First of an extensive series of meetings will be held in British Columbia in April or early May. They will continue until October at which time, the government hopes, the Indians' views will be thoroughly known. Meetings will be open to the public, local newspapers are being urged to cover them, and local Members of Parliament are requested to attend.

Burke's Advice To MPs

Ottawa Journal

A friend who has watched with increasing dismay the events on Parliament Hill sends us handouts from different and hostile interests: which interests each must maintain, at all costs and advocate, against other agents and advocates; but Parliament is a deliberative assembly of one nation, with one interest, that of the whole; where, not local purpose, not local prejudices ought to guide, but the general good, resulting from the general reason of the whole. You choose a member indeed; but when you have chosen him, he is not member of Bristol, but he is a member of Parliament.

Men's Aspirations Are At Odds with Reality

Orillia Packet and Times

Much of the inability to preserve order at home, where race riots are expected to bring death and destruction to U. S. cities this summer as well as abroad, where whole continents are dissolving into chaotic confusion, stems from the inevitable failure of policies based on lofty principles to cope with unpleasant realities. Abstract concepts — brotherhood, peace, justice, equality, — might well serve to govern the conduct of gods, but they are not enough, of themselves, to resolve the squalid squabbles of mortal men and women.

Far deeper, the godlike pretensions of human society, intoxicated with its growing technological mastery of forces which once dominated it, man still lives out a brief existence differing only in degree from that of other animals. Godlike, he hankers after justice, but he exists in an unjust world.

It may be laudable to aspire toward a really-integrated society, but it is stupid to frame policies which assume that we have already achieved it. It is understandable to hope that raw new "nations", a generation removed from the jungle, will choose democratic forms of government with all the restraints and niceties of parliamentary procedure, but it is stupid to base international policy on such an assumption.

To yearn for world peace and the rule of law is one thing, but to make survival on defence policies which fail to recognize that man lives on a perilous planet ruled by fear, and by force alone, is the height of folly.

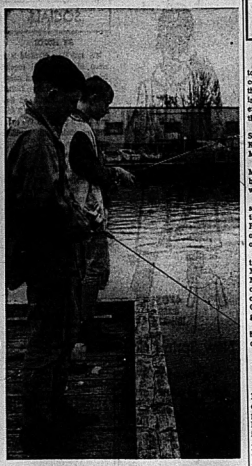
Vineland Research Report

Windsor Star



Some there be who predict such an unfortunate future for certain fruits now grown in Ontario, that they may become uneconomic. We trust this isn't so.

There also is some optimism. Fruit breeders at the Horticultural Research Institute of Ontario at Vineland predict that within 10 years Ontario will have a thriving apricot and tart-prune industry. Work is also being developed which can withstand Ontario's climate.

There seems to be a market available for such home-grown products.

Southern Ontario and the Niagara Peninsula are particularly suited by nature to the growing of a wide range of fruits.

We should take advantage of this, and not let matters down. The time will come, with Canada's increasing population, when we can consume all the fruit we can grow.

The bearers were John Stocker, George Stocker, Jack Stocker, Donald Kirkey, Jan Bastan and Wally Hills.

Big Petition For Connecting Road

The Belleville and Suburban Planning Board doesn't feel that a connecting road between Wellington Street and Sidney Street is necessary at this time, but that isn't the view of close to 300 area residents who have signed a petition asking for the roadway.

The petition will be presented to city council at its regular meeting this afternoon by A. Quickert, of Reid's Dairy.

The request for a connecting roadway between Wellington and Sidney street, was made by the owners of Reid's Dairy and Carm's Beverages when it was learned that through traffic on Highland Ave. would be cut off on completion of the Dundas Street roadway and bridge project.

Construction of the first phase of the project—the CPR overpass and connecting roadway with the Bay Bridge Road is scheduled to get underway this spring.

The request for the connecting roadway linking Wellington and Sidney Street was referred by council to the planning board.

At council two weeks ago, owners of Reid's Dairy and Carm's Beverages said the dead ending of Highland Ave. would seriously effect their cash and carry business.

Last week Mr. Quickert said he had secured close to 300 names of residents in the area for a petition asking for the connecting roadway.

"I could have gotten more, if I had the time," he said.

Council Will Likely Change Meeting Night

TRENTON — Town council will vote on a resolution tonight which would move their meetings to Mondays alternating with Belleville council sessions.

The procedural amendment was suggested by radio CJBQ manager, Frank Murray, to accommodate council's wish to broadcast meetings.

At present Trenton council convenes on the first and third Mondays of each month. Alternating with Belleville's sessions will mean several more meetings annually.

A change in meeting dates would be the first in a series of procedural amendments that council decided on prerquisite to the broadcast of meetings.

Will Discuss Question in Hour Lecture

Fabian Bachrach

Norman B. Holmes
Christian Science Lecturer

Which concerns us most — our standard of living or our standard for living?

Norman B. Holmes, C.S.B., of Chicago, will discuss this question in a Christian Science lecture, titled, "What Is Your Standard for Living?" Mr. Holmes will speak Tuesday in the Hotel Quinte. The First Church of Christ, Scientist is sponsoring the lecture, which will last about an hour.

Admission is free, and everyone is welcome.

Mr. Holmes, a Christian Science practitioner and teacher, graduated from Northwestern University and then served as a chaplain in the United States Navy during World War II and the Korean War. Former Manager of the Department of Branches and Practitioners of The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass. Holmes, he is currently on tour throughout the United States and Canada as a member of the Church's Board of Lectureship.

David Hollinger, Oak Hills district farmer, loads up his seed drill as he gets still another early sowing start. Mr. Hollinger sowed his first oats on Saturday — the first time in ten years that he has commenced spring's work in March.

Oats Sowed on Oak Hills

The season's first sowing of oats in the Belleville area was no April Fool joke for Oak Hills district farmer David Hollinger who today laid claim to being the first to get spring work underway.

Mr. Hollinger, owner of 300 acres on the seventh concession of Sidney township, started cultivation last Wednesday and sowed his first oats on Saturday.

"This morning, despite the chilly turn of the weather, Mr. Hollinger completed sowing of his first two fields — both well drained and on the south slope of the Oak Hills.

He admits that March sowing is a bit earlier than usual, "his normal start of sowing is about April 8 or 9.

Ten years ago was an early season, however, and he did his first sowing in March.

This year, Mr. Hollinger says there was little frost in the ground and water from melted snow drained away rapidly.

He says that clover and other meadows, as well as fall wheat, appear in good shape with little evidence of winter kill.

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP) — Prices soared in active mid-morning trading on the Toronto Stock Exchange today in a surge of investor enthusiasm about improved peace prospects in Vietnam.

The industrial index, main indicator of the market's performance, jumped 2.65 points or 1.80 per cent to 149.33, adding an estimated $1,700,000,000 to the total market value of shares.

Oils advanced by almost five points.

The surge followed in the wake of President Johnson's announcement Sunday night he will not run for re-election in November. He also ordered a cutback in the bombing of North Vietnam.

CPR paced the industrial advance, gaining 3 points to 52.

Inco was up 1⅜ to 117½, Bell and Moore Corp. 1 each to 44¼ and 28½, Massey-Ferguson ¾ to 15¾, Seagrams ⅝ to 37¾ and Algoma Steel and Interprovincial Pipe Line ¼ each to 17 and 17¼.

In oils, Dome Pete rose 2 points to 54 and Hudson's Bay 1 to 33.

Gold mines fell following the weekend agreement by major industrial nations to increase present gold and dollar reserves with a new international money unit called Special Drawing Rights.

The gold index plunged 11 points or almost 5.5 per cent to 193.84 as Dome fell 2¼ to 57, Giant Yellowknife 2¼ to 109¼, Campbell Red Lake 1 to 30½, Sigma $5 cents to 6.00, Camflo 45 cents to 4.70 and Dickenson 30 cents to 4.05.

Base metals posted some moderate gains.

LOOPY LOU AND DELPHI — Loopy Lou and Delphi are the latest in British hats for the ladies. Delphi, on the right, is a breton shape in pure silk with a geometric motif; evidence of a strong classical influence. Loopy Lou however is a pillbox beret in fine net with scattered vaku straw cylinders. Both hats are in "Clotted Cream," one of the popular shades for this season.

Affiliation Service Held at St. Columba

A service of affiliation for the Presbyterian Women, Canadian Girls in Training, Explorers and children of the church with the Women's Missionary Society was held during the 11 o'clock service at St. Columba Presbyterian Church, Sunday.

Taking a leading part in the Act of Affiliation were Mrs. A. Dunsmore, president of the Presbyterian Women, Mrs. F. B. Sheffield, evening department, secretary of Kingston Presbyterial and Miss Marylu Taylor of the CGIT. Miss Freda Matthews, honorary president of Kingston Presbyterial accepted gifts of money from the youth groups which will be used to assist the Shimonoseki Kindergarten in Japan.

The guest speaker was Miss Mary Whale, executive director of Overseas Missions of the W.M.S. of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, who spoke on the changing scenes in missions. Mentioning the famine conditions in India and the Civil War in Africa, Miss Whale told how missionaries are working closely with the people to help relieve the situations.

Assisting in the worship service were Mrs. Keith Hubbs, COC leader, Mrs. S. W. Gentle, Explorer leader and Mrs. Paul Baldwin, CGIT leader.

Farm Opens Doors For Retarded Teeners

LADNER, B.C. CP — A unique farm opened its doors during the winter in this Fraser Valley community to offer shelter — and a future — to retarded teen-agers.

There were no brass bands on hand for the opening of the first permanent quarters of the Variety Farm Training Centre for the mentally handicapped — just a group of parents and the first four resident students.

Sorority Presents Preview of Spring

An evening of bridge, highlighted by a forecast of spring fashions, delighted Belleville women Tuesday evening at St. Thomas Parish Hall.

The event was sponsored by Xi Alpha Mu Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi and was reviewed by Mrs. J. H. Joblin, Mrs. J. B. Miller and Mrs. L. Shepard. Guests were welcomed by Chapter president, Mrs. S. Bakaj. Ticket sales were in charge of Mrs. G. Bagley and Mrs. J. L. Acton and Mrs. E. Dalton arranged the refreshments.

The fashion show, co-ordinated by Mrs. G. S. Wonnacott and Mr. and Mrs. I. Shulman, presented styles from Milady Shop and D'Arcels. The importance of fabrics, vivid colors and ease of movement were stressed in the total look of coats with matching hats and complementary dresses, pant suits with matching skirts and raincwear.

Since no fine clothes look their best until topped by a becoming hairdo, the French Salon of Hair Design created the most up-to-the-minute coiffures for the models.

Miss June Howe represented Phi Psi Chapter; Mrs. R. W. Fox, Gamma Mu; Mrs. H. L. House, Xi Beta Zeta; Mrs. C. G. Vaughan, Alpha Lambda; Mrs. A. W. Cunningham and Mrs. G. S. Wonnacott, Xi Alpha Mu. Mrs. R. N. Laughlen, Acton, was commentator and Mrs. V. L. Lewis provided piano accompaniment.

Bridge prizes were won by Mrs. Clyve Ryan, Mrs. K. Wormald, Mrs. J. Basch and Mrs. J. McLeod. Door prizes were won by Mrs. J. Dixon, Mrs. P. Parry, Mrs. H. Boyle, and Mrs. A. G. McAuley.

Church Groups

St. Margaret's A.C.W.

St. Margaret's - on - the - Hill A.C.W. Evening Guild Branch held its March meeting in the church hall recently. In the absence of the president, the vice president Agnes Vance was in thee hair and conducted the business meeting.

Plans were made to hold a coffee party in the church hall on April 18 from 10-11:30 a.m. A bake table and candy table will also be available.

Tickets for the annual spring bridge to be held in May are available from guild members.

Following the business meeting Sheila Hayes introduced the guest Gerald Wishart who showed colored slides of his recent trip to Jamaica and also gave an interesting description of the island, which were enjoyed by all.

Music Teachers Hear Report on Convention

The March meeting of Ontario Registered Music Teacher's Association, Belleville Branch, was held at the home of the president, Mrs. G. H. Rennie on Wednesday.

Announcement of plans for a recital to be held in April was made. Proceeds of the student recital held three times a year are used for the scholarship fund. The scholarships are awarded yearly during Canada Music Week to students who receive highest marks for the current year in the Royal Conservatory examinations.

Report of the convention of the Ontario Registered Music Teacher's Association which was held March 17 to 20 in London was given by branch delegate Mrs. H. Van Ochten.

The more than 200 delegates enjoyed the hospitality of the city of London, and were entertained by its artists and musicians.

Business of the convention included passing of a revised set of by-laws, and passing of permission to raise the members' fees.

Miss Louise Goss, vice president of the new school for music study, Princton, New Jersy, was guest lecturer. She gave a master course on the Frances Clarke Teaching Method.

Miss Goss stated that teachers must approach the study of piano with the view of making the student self sufficient. The teacher's aim should be to keep the interest of the student alive.

Luncheon speakers and panelists deplored the attitude that the grade 8 diploma should be considered the high point of a musical education, and urged that students be encouraged to attain a higher goal. Educators and music teachers should continually keep up with new information through reading, attending lectures and concerts.

At the close of the meeting, refreshments were served and a discussion of the report followed.

Nurses Sponsor Travelogue

Come sail with me — and that is what 140 interested movie goers did Thursday evening in Education Hall, Belleville General Hospital.

The student nurses' yearbook committee sponsored pharmacist Harold Seldon in the presentation of movies of his voyage last spring in Yankee Clipper on the Caribbean Sea.

He and Dr. K. M. Douglas sailed together in the 107-foot-long staysail schooner from San Juan, Puerto Rico. The vessel accommodated 70 people on the voyage which included stops at Antigua, Dominica, St. Martin and Martinique. Mr. Seldon described the Caribbean waters, the beaches, colorful flowers and interesting inhabitants of the islands.

Following intermission Mr. Seldon presented views of a boat trip to Expo.

Yearbook editor, Miss Carol Ann Lewis and consultant, Mrs. M. McCoy, were in charge of arrangements for the travelogue.

Christening Rites

Robert John Charlton McMartin, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. R. N. McMartin of Stirectsville was christened in St. Thomas Anglican Church, recently by Archdeacon A. S. McConnell.

Following the service a buffet dinner was served at the home of the infant's paternal grandparents Mr. and Mrs. H. McMartin, 18 Lee Avenue.

Along with the two great grandmothers, Mrs. J. F. Charlton and Mrs. Florence McMartin, both of Belleville, guests were present from Guelph, Stirrsville, Winnipeg, Trenton, Brewer's Mills and Belleville.

The godparents were Mr. and Mrs. Don Skinner of Winnipeg and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Stinson of Trenton.

Blaming Girl Is Lame Excuse For Self-indulgence

Dear Doris: About a young gentleman respecting a girl. Well, I was thinking it over and I know a lot of boys in the city; doctors' sons, etc.; and if they have their chance they would pull anything off on a girl.

It is up to the girl. If the girl wants the boy to respect her he will, if he likes her; but if the girl is a little tramp well — what do you think?

If a boy drinks does it mean he isn't well brought up? I say no, but I have friends who think that any boy who drinks or isn't the best groomed guy in town isn't a well brought-up boy. If we say any guy who drinks isn't well brought up, then practically all guys between the ages of 14 and 20 are all little bums. — Worried and Lost.

Dear W. and L.: The up-to-the-girl routine is a lame excuse for self-indulgence. Both parties owe themselves some self-control. But little tramps (male or female) are in a class by themselves.

Aren't you going a little far in saying "practically every guy" drinks? There is still a law against making liquor available to a minor. Applies to parents as well as bartenders.

* * *

Dear Doris: Your column has been such a help to me. I wonder if you could assist in this problem:

Last summer, for the first time, I went to a smorgasbord at a nearby motel and found myself wondering how to tip. The waitress brought my juice rolls, and later, tea. I served myself the salad, dinner, and dessert.

Would I be expected to tip her the usual 15 per cent of my bill, since the services she provided were fewer than at a regular restaurant? — Right or Wrong?

Dear R. Or W.: The usual tip would apply — and the expectation is between 10 and 15 per cent. There are behind-the-scenes jobs a waitress does like setting up your table and clearing it. She may help with setting up the smorgasbord too.

If she is a good one, she acts like a hostess and keeps an eye on you to be helpful. This personal, gracious interest is what you appreciate with a gratuity.

* * *

Confidential to Very Troubled: Did it help to write it down? I'm thinking you have paid a pretty heavy price for marrying a man without love. And you aren't the first woman who has lived this lie.

Your daughter is asking about how you recognized love on her own behalf, not yours; and there is no call for confessing to her. But your guilt feelings are out of all proportion. A confidential talk with a social worker or minister would definitely help lift your load and save your mental health.

(Is it better to put up with misunderstandings, or to begin talking things over? Let Doris help you see the light.)

Points for Parents

By MARY BRYSON

Mother: "Have to rush. We're late. We'll be at the Smiths — the ones on Tenth Street — if you want anything. Give the baby his bottle at 10 — if he's awake."

Apple Crisp Requires Long Baking Period

By MARY MOORE

In a large Canadian department store dining room Apple Crisp is on the menu once per week. Men and women alike know when it is to be served and have lunch there that day.

I asked the head dietitian, "Why is your Apple Crisp so popular?" She said, "Because we bake it a long time."

Following her lead I made apple crisp and baked it for 50 minutes to achieve the lovely combination of flavors and rich result.

Our young inexperienced cooks can make apple crisp to perfection — with ease.

APPLE CRISP (Serves 4 or 5)

Preheat oven to 375 deg. Fahr.

6 medium apples (Spys or Macs)
3 tablespoons fresh lemon juice
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup unsifted all-purpose flour
1 cup light brown sugar
½ cup butter or margarine

Wash, peel, quarter, core and slice apples. Be sure to remove all of the little sharp seed cases when you remove cores. Slice apples into a shallow casserole or baking dish that can be carried to the table. I used corningware, 8 x 8 x 2". Press down apple slices with your palms and immediately sprinkle over them the lemon juice and salt.

Into a large bowl measure the flour, brown sugar and cinnamon and mix them. Add the butter or margarine and with pastry blender cut it into the flour mixture until pieces of butter are about the size of large peas. Carefully tip this crumbly mixture over the apples and spread it to completely cover them. With your clean palms press and pack down and smooth top. Bake at 375 deg. Fahr. for at least 50 minutes until apples are very tender and top is deep gold. Serve hot with 10 per cent pouring cream.

NOTE: If desired (and if you have other dishes baking at the same time) you may bake this at least one hour at 350 deg. Fahr.

Adolescent Comments At Movie Irks Wives

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband and I went to the movies the other night with another couple. The female star in the film was a well-known actress who is famous for her spectacular measurements.

ANN LANDERS

All during the movie my husband and the other fellow kept making remarks which I considered to be in poor taste. After the movie we went for pizza and the boys kept it up — only they began to make comparisons. The other girl got so upset she began to cry. I was just plain furious.

When we got home I told my husband he had hurt my feelings. He said he didn't mean to, but anyone with eyes could see that he had been cheated. I told him if a big bosom was that important he should have had his tape measure along when he went looking for a wife.

Should I lock him out of the bedroom for a week or so? We have been married for only two years and I don't want to make any serious mistakes. But I'd like to teach him a lesson. — NOT BUXOM JUST AMPLE.

DEAR AMPLE: A wife who locks her husband out of the bedroom gives him a peachy excuse to try other doors. Don't do it.

You and your friend should have laughed off the adolescent comments. Nothing is so disarming as laughter. Any idiot knows it takes more than spectacular measurements to make a marriage work. The best evidence is Hollywood. Check the marital records of most of those over-endowed dolls and you'll see what I mean.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I cried when I read the letter from the woman who saved coupons for years and bought the bride and groom a complete set of silver only to have the snippy bride dump the gift — chest and all, right in her living room — because she learned it had been purchased with coupons and not cash.

Eighteen years ago I was an assistant dietician in a hospital. When I announced my engagement, the kitchen help went to the supervisor and said they wanted to buy me the finest toaster money could buy. They asked that the price of the toaster be deducted from their pay cheques weekly, until the day of the wedding. The supervisor suggested that they save coupons because she knew that the finest toaster could be obtained in that manner. They took her advice.

Two years ago my children saved their money to buy me a new toaster for Mother's Day. When I explained the significance of the old toaster they said, "No wonder it has been kept so shiny and bright through the years. They must have loved you a great deal — and you must have loved them, too."

Can money buy that, Ann? — NEWARK MEMORIES.

DEAR NEWARK: What a heart-warming letter! I hope that little snip who behaved so boorishly sees your response and learns from it. Thank you for writing.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My son has a 13 year-old daughter who is quite mature for her age, but still she is only 13. Her mother allows her to accept Friday and Saturday night sitting jobs in the apartment building. Last night she had full charge of three youngsters. Please tell me what you think about this. — CONCERNED.

DEAR CONCERNED: It is up to the girl's mother to decide whether or not she is capable of handling the responsibility. Some 13-year-old are extremely reliable sitters at 13 need someone to sit with them. M.Y.O.B., Granny.

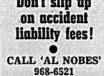
Sixth Child Expected; Painter Keeps Busy

TORONTO CP —Vancouver painter Joy Caros is expecting her sixth child this summer, but that has not slowed her travels.

Miss Caros spends most of her time on the move, exhibiting black velvet paintings. And when the two older children are not in school the whole family goes along — five children, a nurse and mountains of baggage.

She usually exhibits wherever her husband, musician Guy Rosier, is performing.

"No matter how many children there are the average mother can find time to work at anything she likes," she said in an interview.



"And if she's active she'll be younger and will be a better companion to her husband and children."

The family lives in Vancouver, where Miss Caros paints about five or six hours a day and takes about a month to complete a work.

Wilson Is Likely to Reshuffle His Cabinet

LONDON (Reuters) — Political observers speculated Sunday that Prime Minister Wilson is planning to reshuffle his cabinet following government defeats last week in four by-elections.

Wilson was spending the weekend at his official home, Chequers, amid a chorus of demands led by opposition Conservatives that his, or his Labor government, resign.

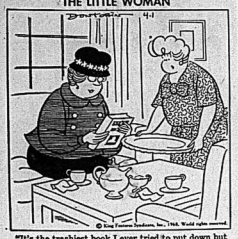
Crossman, speaking the day after voters in four constituencies showed a swing of 18 per cent away from the government, called for a "mark two" Wilson cabinet to rebuild public confidence in the government.

The independent Sunday newspaper The Observer gives cautious support to the Wilson must-go movement.

"Mr. Wilson may have ceased to be able to provide effective leadership of a government," its editorial says. "He and his fellow members of the Labor party would be wise to be considering a change."



The Conservative Sunday Telegraph says Wilson, "by his chicanery, by his deviousness, by his sheer political dishonesty . . . stands condemned . . . as unworthy to occupy the great office he holds."

The independent Sunday Times says "Mr. Wilson has lost personal credibility to a culpable degree." But it dismisses calls for the resignation of the prime minister or the government and says "those who offer either of these solutions are uttering the warmed-up banalities of every short-term political crisis of this century."

Cecil King, head of The Daily Mirror and other newspapers which normally support the Labor party, Sunday urged that Wilson be replaced.

In advance excerpts from a television interview, his newspapers quotes him as saying it is hard to see how Britain could be given "a fresh infusion of leadership" except by a new prime minister.

THE LITTLE WOMAN

"It's the trashiest book I ever tried to put down but couldn't."

WOOLER — Mrs. Wilber McColl spent the weekend in Kingston because of the illness of her mother, Mr. and Mrs. Al Leighton and two daughters, Toronto, were weekend guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. McColl.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Maxwell, Picton, were weekend guests of her parents.

Quebec Towns Battle Floods

MONTMAGNY, Que. (CP) — Floods in Montmagny and other riverside communities gradually receded Sunday night, leaving a wake of property damages and homeless residents.

Debris covered 15 streets and 300 persons were either homeless or fared flooded basements early today, as swollen waters of the Riviere du Sud slowly returned to their normal course.

City officials estimated damages at a minimum of $500,000 for the town, 45 miles northeast of Quebec City.

Traffic along the Trans-Canada Highway section that runs through Montmagny was temporarily diverted although most of the flooding receded following dynamiting of a 20-foot ice jam on the river Sunday.

At St. Anselme, about 20 miles southeast of Quebec City, weekend flood waters from the Etchemin River, carried a home 100 feet from its foundation and flooded a laundry.

In St. Lambert-de-Levis, police estimated damage in the thousands of dollars, before another huge ice jam was dynamited on the Chaudiere River and the flooding receded.

Meanwhile, 60 miles south on the Chaudiere, an ice jam 1½-miles long formed up before the community of St. Georges-de-Beauce and water flowed over the river banks into home basements.

Mayor Jacques Pinton said the water receded somewhat Sunday night but warm weather could bring new flooding.

U.S. Black Nationalists Declare Separate State

DETROIT (AP) — A group of black nationalists ratified a declaration of independence for a proposed separate Negro nation within the United States Sunday, then turned to the task of electing officers.

The document was reported to have been signed by 50 delegates to the weekend convention, an act they said meant automatic renunciation of U.S. citizenship, a source close to the convention said. However, the source said he did not actually witness the signing ceremony.

Delegates named the new nation the Republic of New Africa.

All officers would be required to take up residency in the South where the new nation was to be made up of five states — Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, South Carolina and Louisiana.

The officials would be paid a salary from taxes raised through — tithes — voluntary contributions of two per cent of the income of each resident of the new nation. Officials would be prohibited from holding jobs outside of the government.

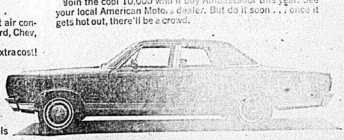
Join the cool (and smart) 10,000 who'll get air conditioning at no extra cost with the '68 Ambassador.

We estimate that 10,000 Canadians will buy our Ambassador this year. The cool 10,000 who'll be getting themselves into the most comfortable full-size car we've every built.

The big reason is air conditioning.

Last year, you had to pay almost $500 extra to get air conditioning. You'll have to pay it again this year on a Ford, Chev, or Plymouth. But not on an Ambassador!

On Ambassador, air-conditioning is included, at no extra cost!



This is a fully-integrated air conditioning system designed for us by Kelvinator. It can take a hot, sticky day and cool it as low as you like.

In winter, the same big blowers and extra vents warm things up much faster.

Ambassador's concern for your comfort doesn't stop with the temperature. Rattle-free single unit construction, coil spring seats, double weather seals on doors and windows and a one-piece acoustical fibreglass ceiling are all standard features.

Like we said, the most comfortable full-size car we've ever built. It starts at $3289 (f.o.b. the factory in Brampton, Ontario).

Join the cool 10,000 who'll buy Ambassador this year. See your local American Motors dealer. But do it soon . . . Once it gets hot out, there'll be a crowd.

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, MONDAY, APRIL 1, 1968

Well, it's all over but the shoutin', shoutin,' slightin', prophesyin', sweatin', bettin', and other emotional fol-de-rol that usher in the annual Stanley Cup playoffs.

It's a new cast with a new set of principals that will take the spotlights when the various acts of the greatest sports drama of the year take the stage.

("Hold it, Boss. This is Mushmouth on the Zwick's Island wire. Whaddya mean the "greatest sports drama!" What have you called the Grey Cup Fandango the last dozen years? When did you switch from Saskatchewan sofa to Chicago champagne?"

Careful, Mush or I'll cancel your option on that grading spot in the retirement pasture come May 1st.

Yep, the boys and gals in the boiles, bistros, television dens and wherever sports-men gather, are doing some skull-scratching, mental wagering and even a little wild guessing on which club will bob the bubbly stuff from the Stanley goblet this year.

Perhaps the gangs that are puzzled the most are the loyal supporters of the vanquished Maple Leafs and Red Wings.

Most of them switched to the Montreal Canadiens, a few took the Bruins and Rangers, and all with whom I talked, shunned the Black Hawks of Chicago. Some brave souls ventured choices from the western division.

Now wouldn't that be an Irishman's Dream. Red Kelly, the coach of the year and LA the Kings of the Stanley Cup Castle?

But there's no smile in the eyes of the O'Hara's. "There's a tear in their eye and they're wonderin' why, Chicago's not up there at all."

Not so those Haughty Habitants, the O'Dwyers, the O'Malleys, the O'Hills, the O'Macs, the O'Cooks and other pixies of the pea-soup promenade. "The Bucaneers of Blake will go the way in as short a time as possible," they yodel.

The boss of Benny's Hideaway says: Montreal, "too many legs;" George Lawton dittoes; Perlie Rose Watson "Mai oui, Montreal."

Editor Dick Payne says "Montreal in 12 straight." Our man Garry (and get this) "The Phillies." Claude Tiedie"Now who do you think I would pick — Montreal in easy fashion."

Randy Johnstone of the CR gang, "Rangers with three good lines"; Milan Boracks, "The Rangers with good team play"; Bill Hurst echoes that wish.

"Society editor Allison Stickle "Canadiens, but I like Boston better since the Leafs withered."

Don Wood, our layout, "Louis" — Chicago. If not I hope the Boston Red Sox will take the world series." ;-)

"Ole 'Erbie" over at Reg's Rendezvous comes up with "Rangers and Montreal or Boston will meet in the cup final and, if they play up their potential the Gotham Gang will take it. Rangers can get hot and they've got scoring punch. So has Boston and with Bobby Orr back, well, think it over."

While Mushmouth thinks one of the eastern millionaires will buy the champagne for the winner, he comers up with the thought that in this year of upsets, the greatest of all sports spills would be to have one of the western mavericks grab the loot and the cup glory.

"I wouldn't bet the cookie-jar money on it," he says, "but remember the footerar that spewed from the eastern experts and pundits when Stanley Cup was mentioned last October?"

"Sure guys couldn't make the Big Six, and the sharpshooters like Hull, Mikita, Ullman, Cordie Howe and company will make them look like sitting ducks. Hull will get 65 or more goals and there'll be some 50-goal getters than you can shake a stick at," they said.

"And who gobbled the crow after the pushovers refused to be pushed over and set the haughty easterners back on their haunches not a few times?"

"Think it over, boss. It won't happen — but it would be funnier than hell if it did."

CORNER BROOK, Nfld. (CP) — Corner Brook Royals and Morrisburg Combines meet here tonight in the third game of the best-of-five Eastern Canada quarter-finals for the Allen Cup. The series is tied 1-1. Morrisburg won the senior hockey opener Friday 7-4, but Corner Brook bounced back Saturday with a 6-4 victory.

DOVER (CP-REUTER) — A Canadian's record for the fastest swim across the English Channel remained intact Sunday when Indian swimmer Nilmira Roy's claim of a faster crossing was disallowed. The record of 10 hours, 23 minutes, set in 1959 by Helge Jensen of Toronto, still stands as a result of the Channel Swimming Association's disallowal of Nitindra's claim. Roy, 27, claimed Sept. 12 to have crossed the channel in 10 hours, 21 minutes.

Bruins, Habs

Prelims Over; Main Bouts Thursday

Rangers, Hawks

By GRAHAM COX
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Now the money goes on the line in the National Hockey League.

The preliminaries were completed with the finish of the 74-game schedule Sunday night and Thursday the Stanley Cup playoffs start on four fronts.

First and third and second and fourth place teams in each of the Eastern and Western divisions of the expanded league meet in best-of-seven quarter-finals with the winners advancing to divisional playoffs.

Then a best-of-seven inter-divisional playoff for the Cup, taken last year by Toronto Maple Leafs, starts in the home of the Eastern champion.

Montreal Canadiens in the East and Philadelphia Flyers in the West coasted through their final league games, having earlier clinched their divisional championships with each man getting $2,250.

Second place New York Rangers and Los Angeles Kings each picked up $1,250 a man while Boston Bruins in the East and St. Louis Blues in the West earned $750 a man for finishing third.

The fourth place Chicago Black Hawks and Minnesota North Stars earned $250 a player.

But that's pretty slim pickings compared to what each player on the Stanley Cup champions can pick up in the next six weeks with a total of $7,500 a man up for grabs—$2,250 for winning each of the quarter-finals and semi-finals and $3,000 for taking the final.

The losers at each stage aren't forgotten either with each man picking up $1,500 at the completion of their losing playoff series.

Semi-final losers could accumulate $3,000 in playoff money and final losers $4,500.

When it's all added up, the Stanley cup pot comes to $567,000, three times the payoff for placings in the final league standings, which came to $189,000.

In the quarter-finals Thursday it will be Boston at Montreal, Chicago at New York, St. Louis at Philadelphia and Minnesota at Los Angeles.

The St. Louis placing came on a weekend surge that saw them down Minnesota twice—3-2 Saturday and 5-3 Sunday—to take third place in the West by a single point.

The Canadiens also lost twice, 2-1 to Boston Saturday and 4-2 to New York Sunday—as did Philadelphia which dropped a 2-0 decision to Pittsburgh Penguins Saturday before being clipped 5-1 in Pittsburgh Sunday.

The Rangers won two, beating Detroit Red Wings 3-1 Saturday and Montreal, while Toronto won 3-0 over Chicago Saturday and 4-1 over Boston Sunday.

A pair of ties also featured weekend action with Los Angeles and Oakland Seals each scoring two goals and Detroit and Chicago getting five each Sunday.

A number of other champion ships were decided Sunday with Stan Mikita of Chicago scoring a goal and two assists to his league scoring title with 87 points on 40 goals and 47 assists, three points more than Phil Esposito of Boston and five ahead of Gordie Howe of Detroit.

Bobby Hull of Chicago scored 44 goals to lead in that category while Esposito and Alex Delvecchio, of Detroit, were tied as assist leaders with 49 each.

Montreal goalies Lorne Worsley and Rogatien Vachon held on to win the Vezina Trophy as the top goaltending combination, allowing 176 goals for a 2.26 goals-against average.

They beat out John Bower and Bruce Gamble of Toronto, whose average was 2.37 and Doug Favell and Bernie Parent of Philadelphia, who allowed 2.42 goals a game.

St. Louis sewed up third place in the west with a 3-1 minute burst in the third period when they scored three goals against the sagging North Stars.

St. Louis goals were scored by Frank St. Marseilles, Red Berenson, Terry Crisp, Larry Keenan and Bill McCreary while Bill Gadsworthy, Wayne Connelly and Parker MacDonald scored for the Stars.

Chicago's other Sunday goals went to Ken Wharram, Pit Martin, Doug Mohns and Bob Schmautz while Detroit goals were scored by Gary Jarrett, Peter Stemkowski, Gary Bergman, Jim Peters and Dean Prentice.

The Rangers zoomed to their highest league finish in 10 seasons on goals by Phil Goyette, Camille Henry, Leland Kurtenbach and Bob Nevin after winding up fourth last year and out of the playoffs in four straight games against Montreal in the semi-finals.

Montreal goals went to Yvan Cournoyer and Ralph Backstrom who tied the game by scoring with 25 seconds of each other as New York goalie Ed Giacomin weakened only momentarily in a brilliant performance.

At Boston, the Maple Leafs appeared headed for winners as they have since the bounced out of the playoffs for the first time in 10 years.

The game soon took on the pattern of a duel between Esposito and Gamble as the Boston centre strove to overtake Mikita while Gamble battled to preserve his and Bower's Vezina edge.

Mikita Scoring Champion

CHICAGO (AP) — Stan Mikita had captured his fourth National Hockey League scoring title in five years but the Chicago Black Hawk centre came up with a couple of firsts Sunday.

For the first time in his brilliant career Mikita reached the 40-goal plateau and "that's the first time in nine years of trying I got one of them goals."

The goal Mikita was referring to was one which players lolt in the air and have it bounce past the goalie and into the nets. That's the way he got No. 43 past Roger Crozier to tie Detroit Red Wings 5-5.

"I've been trying it for years but never seemed to get one," said Mikita. "I thought more about it after seeing New York's Camille Henry get one on a television against Montreal."

NHL Scoring

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Stan Mikita of Chicago Black Hawks won his second straight National Hockey League scoring title Sunday.

The 27-year-old centre scored a goal and two assists in the final game of the regular schedule to move three points ahead of Phil Esposito of Boston Bruins.

Mikita finished with 40 goals and 47 assists for 87 points, 10 back of the 97-point scoring record he shares with team-mate Bobby Hull. It is the fourth time he has won the Art Ross Trophy and the first time he has reached the 40-goal mark.

For his effort, the shifty centre will pick up $1,000 plus the trophy and $500 for leading the league in scoring for the second half of the 74-game schedule.

Esposito, meanwhile finished with 35 goals and 49 assists for 84 points. His top previous production was last year with Chicago when he had 21 goals and 40 assists.

Veteran Gordie Howe of Detroit Red Wings, who celebrated his 40th birthday Sunday night as the Wings tied 5-5 with Chicago, picked up an assist finishing in third place with 39 goals, 43 assists and 82 points.

Jean Ratelle of New York Rangers, was fourth with 78 points.

Hull, who missed the last three games of the season was the league's top goal scorer with 44.

Top scorer in the expanded Western Division was Andy Bathgate of Pittsburgh. Penguins who finished with 21 goals and 39 assists for 60 points.

GUMP WORSLEY

Toronto Pair Second

Vezina To Habs Goalies

NEW YORK (CP) — Gump Worsley and Rogatien Vachon of Montreal Canadiens wrapped up the Vezina Trophy Sunday with the top goaltending record in the National Hockey League.

Worsley, a 38-year-old veteran of 15 NHL seasons, combined with the 22-year-old rookie for a 2.26 goals-against record, allowing only 167 in 74 games.

For Worsley, it marked the second time he shared the trophy. He combined in 1966 with Charlie Hodge to win the award for the Canadiens.

But it's something new for Vachon. He played 19 games with the Canadiens last year and qualified as a rookie this year, but since NHL rules say a player must have 20 regular season games to pass rookie status.

The trophy also means $1,000 for the pair.

The runner-up spot and second place went to Johnny Bower and Bruce Gamble of Toronto Maple Leafs who finished with a 2.37 average after allowing 176 goals. They will share $500—the only bright spot for the Leafs who missed the Stanley Cup playoffs for the first time in 10 years.

Bernie Parent and Doug Favell of Philadelphia Flyers finished third with a 2.41 average after leading the league at the half-way point.

Lead Series 2-1

Flyers Whip Baby Habs

MONTREAL (CP) — Niagara Falls Flyers defeated Montreal Junior Canadiens 5-2 in an Ontario Hockey Association Junior A semi-final playoff before 11,995 fans Sunday night.

The win gave Niagara Falls a 2-1 lead in games in their best-of-seven playoff series.

Tom Webster and Doug Brindley led the Niagara Falls' attack with two goals apiece, while Ross Webley scored once.

Canadiens jumped into an early lead on Houle's goal in the eighth minute of the first period, but Webster tied it up on a power-play effort at 15-38.

Webster's second goal of the night came in the second period while Jean-Pierre Bordeleau was off, and Brindley's goal was scored while Norm Descoteaux was sitting it out for cross checking.

Nancy Heads For Final Event of Career; Cup Within Grasp

ROSSLAND, B.C. (CP) — Nancy Greene's last ski race in Canada is over, her international career almost ended and she spoke for more than herself Sunday when she said "it will be very sad."

She heads for California Tuesday and the last ski meet of the season, at Heavenly Valley, next weekend, where the 24-year-old star has her last chance to sew up her second skiing World Cup for women.

Her fast victory in the women's giant slalom here Sunday was not quite enough: Isabelle Mir of France has an outside chance to tie her.

Miss Greene, the Olympic star from Rossland, said she hadn't changed her mind about retirement. After Heavenly Valley, she will return to university, travel to Europe and consider career offers.

Her performance closed the first four-day meet in Canada sanctioned for World Cup points. A fall Friday robbed her of next honors. Fernandez Bochatay of Switzerland and Jean-Pierre Augert of France took those.

Miss Greene has 186 points in cup standings. Miss Mir, 19, has 150 and Florence Steuber of France, 144. When Miss Greene won the title last year, she had 176 points.

In the other final event Sunday, Herbert Huber of Austria came from behind to win the men's giant slalom. Reinhard Tritscher, a team-mate, was second and Guy Perillat of France third.

In earlier events, Jean-Claude Killy of France took his second World Cup by winning the slalom. He also plans to retire. Marielle Goitschel of France won the women's slalom Thursday.

World Cup scorers have announced Miss Greene had won the 1968 cup, but after several checks of figures insisted that a tie in the race is possible.

To do it, Miss Mir must win both slalom and giant slalom races at Heavenly Valley, and rival coaches doubt she can.

In men's events on 5,800-foot Red Mountain, Killy brought his cup total to 200, 25 fewer than his perfect 1967 count. Dumeng Giovanolia of Switzerland has 119 and Hergard Nenning of Austria 102.

Miss Greene displayed perfect relaxed control Sunday as she zipped down a 5,200-foot course in 1:26.85. Miss Steuerer conquered the cup in 1:26.41, and Gertrud Gabl of Austria in 1:29.41.

"It's sure nice to do this at home," said Miss Greene. The hometown crowd showed its approval, screaming "Go Tiger, go" as she raced, mobbing her when she left the hard, icy course.

"It's another story in places as she zipped down the mountain. Miss Steuerer conquered the cup in 1:26.41, and Gertrud Gabl of Austria in 1:29.41.

"It's sure nice to do this at home," said Miss Greene. The hometown crowd showed its approval, screaming "Go Tiger, go" as she raced, mobbing her when she left the hard, icy course.

"It's another story in places as the visiting player left the sin - bin, Mike Rollins put Belleville up 1-0 on Smith's assist. That was at 10.55.

Walzeburg got the equalizer at 14.05 when Stew Maynard's screened point shot deflected in off a Belleville defenseman's skate.

Early in the third the Kinsmen threatened but first Mulvihill then Meagher—raced through and shot wide.

Tim Arrssen won it for Wallaceburg at 6.40, blasting a shot from the side beneath goalie Roger LaMorre's arm. The visitors survived four of the five minor penalties between 9.00 and 18.33. The Kinsmen failed to get the equalizer with an extra attacker and Wallaceburg shorthanded in the final seconds.

Wallaceburg drew seven of 13 minor penalties.

Bobcaygeon Wins Over Tweed, Madoc

TWEED — Bobcaygeon hockey teams moved in to this area over the weekend and took two playdown wins home with them.

In OMHA midget activities they defeated Tweed 7-3 to take a 2-0 lead in the best-of-five series.

The third game is slated for this village on Wednesday night.

Tweed scorers were Mike McCormick with two and David McPherson.

In a high scoring game before 1,300 fans Bobcaygeon stopped Madoc - Marmora Combines 11-8 to square their best-of-seven series at three all.

The seventh and deciding tussle is slated for Bobcaygeon tomorrow Tuesday at 8.30.

Fuels Win, Bantams Lose Openers

By GARRY ALEXANDER

Puck control produced a Smith Fuels victory but lack of finishing punch cost the Kinsmen a narrow defeat as two OMHA provincial final series opened here yesterday.

The Fuelmen outscored Wallaceburg 5-1 in peewee "AA".

Wallaceburg gained the spill by nipping the Kinsmen 2-1 in bantam "AA".

Second games in both 2-of-3 sets are slated for Wallaceburg Saturday. Third games will also be played there, on Sunday, if necessary.

Belleville outscored Wallaceburg 2-1 in the second period of the peewee tilt and rammed home three more to wrap it up in the third.

The Fuelmen turned in a solid game in all departments, controlling the puck much better than their opponents on both offence and defence. Goalie Terry Marek played well and but for a fine effort by the visitors' John Lamarsh, the victory margin would have been higher. Belleville had a shooting edge in every period for a 40-32 total.

After close calls at both ends in the scoreless first, Smith Fuels opened the scoring when Grant Goegan whipped home a powerplay backhander 53 seconds into the middle frame, aided by Steve Kirby.

Pint - sized Peter Crawford cashed a rebound on a play with Kirby and Wally Dainard at 7.03 and minutes later Marek came up with two big saves. He toppled backward making a save, unable to recover in time to stop Tim Shepley's rebound drive for a 2-1 count at 11.35.

Peter Fuller stepped in alone, deked Lamarsh but shot wide early in the third before Goegan scored one of the winners' "good little men" banged home another powerplay goal and Tim Goegan and Andy Ricketts. That came at 11.34 and it stayed 3-1 until late in the period.

Danny Menard, on a powerplay with Smrke and Richard Menard, and Peter Crawford's second tally, with Dainard helping, iced the cake in the dying minutes.

American League

Finals Decided Tonight

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

A disputed game Quebec Aces hoped they wouldn't have to play has prolonged the windup of the American Hockey League schedule.

The Aces, walloped 8-0 by Rochester Americans Sunday night, slipped into third place in the AHL Western Division, a point behind Buffalo Bisons.

A victory tonight at home against Cleveland Barons would give the Aces home-ice advantage in their best-of-five quarter-final series with the Bisons.

The disputed game evolved from a Cleveland victory over the Aces last Tuesday. Quebec protested use by the Barons of an ineligible player. The protest was upheld by the league and a replay of the game ordered if its outcome had a bearing on the standings at the end of the season.

It did.

Elsewhere Sunday, Hershey Bears defeated the Springfield Kings 12-8 to finish first in the Eastern Division with 76 points. The Kings were second with 70 followed by Providence Reds with 69 and Baltimore Clippers with 66.

Rochester won the Western Division standings, but the next two playings depend on the outcome of tonight's game. Buffalo is second after 72 games with 76 points while Quebec has 75 after 71 games and Cleveland 70 after 72.

The league playoffs open Wednesday night with Rochester-Hershey opening a best-of-seven semi-final, the winner getting drawn into the final.

Cornwall Juniors Win Title

CORNWALL (CP) — Cornwall Royals won their third consecutive Central Junior A hockey championship by defeating Smith's Falls Bears 6-0 Sunday.

The victory gave the best-of-seven series to Cornwall 4-2.

The Royals Friday face North Bay Trappers, Northern Ontario Hockey Association Junior A champions, in the first game of the best-of-seven Eastern Canada Memorial Cup quarter-finals.

Senior Finals

Marlies Blank Hornets

TORONTO (CP) — Toronto Marlboros Sunday blanked Galt Hornets 4-0 to tie their best-of-seven Ontario Hockey Association Senior final 1-1.

In the first game in Galt Saturday night, Galt Hornets won 1-0 on two goals by Don Snider.

Snider scored late in both the first and second periods and a goal with less than four minutes to play by Joe Hogan, sewed up the win.

Bob Forhan scored Toronto's only goal while his team was a man short in the opening period.

Forhan scored twice in Sunday's game.

With the score 1-0 going into the third period Marlies put the game on ice with two goals 17 seconds apart. Chris Evans and Forhan were the scorers. Paul Laycurs got Toronto's final goal on a breakaway.

Oshawa Juniors Trounced

MARKHAM, Ont. (CP) — Markham trounced Oshawa 10-1 Sunday night to even their best-of-seven Ontario Hockey Association Junior B semi-final series at one game each.

Oshawa had won the opener 6-3 in overtime Saturday. The third game is scheduled for Oshawa Wednesday night.

Invest In Annabelle

A Buck Could Bring Luck?

TORONTO (CP) — It sounds like an April Fool gag, but, no fooling, Annabelle The Wonder Horse will be syndicated today.

Paul Rimstead and Fred Ross, owners of the three-year-old filly, have rented a room in Toronto's Royal York Hotel in Annabelle's name and she will be there when $2,000 shares she offered for sale.

For those who take the plunge, there's the hope of getting a share of the $100,000-plus purse in the Kentucky Derby to be run May 4 in Louisville, Ky.

Rimstead, in an interview Sunday, said they need the money to help cover the expenses of entering Annabelle in the Derby. Nobody will be able to buy more than one share at $1, Rimstead said. For a dollar investors can expect a return of perhaps $10 if Annabelle comes in first, he said.

The odds against Annabelle winning are conservatively estimated at about 5,000 to 1. Her lifetime winnings now total $200 for one third-place finish in four races.

The horsing around at the Royal York Monday will start from 4 to 9 p.m. To get plunges in the proper investment mood, the hosts will be offering mint juleps with mint flown in directly from Kentucky.

Int. B Semi-Finals

Picton Elmvale Tie 5-5

If the opening game of the OHA Intermediate "B" semi-finals was a true indication, it should be some series before Picton Merchants and Elmvale come up with a winner.

The clubs fought to a 5-5 decision in the two series opener, in Elmvale, Sunday afternoon.

Date of the next game, likely in Picton, was not available here.

The contest was a see-saw affair from start to finish as Picton goalie Tom O'Halloran and counterpart C. Turner faced 39 shots each.

Elmvale opened the scoring and led 3-2 after one period; Picton jumped in front 4-3 after forty minutes; Elmvale again took the lead 5-4 in the third before the Merchants bagged the equalizer at 18.36. Turner kicked out six shots and O'Halloran five in the scoreless overtime period.

Syd Faulkner was the Picton hero when he scored on a solo effort to get the tie in the dying seconds of the third period. He also had an earlier assist.

Larry "Pocket" Pero fired two Picton tallies with Moe Hunter and Carl Stacey notching the others. Stacey also collected two assists with losers for Sam Mahoffee and Joe Scott.

Centre S. McKenzie was a two - goal performer for Elmvale. H. Barrett, L. Smith and C. Edwards scored the other goals.

The home team struck quickly on McKenzie's initial goal with the game just 45 seconds old. Stacey at 4.53 and Pero at 5.50 put Picton ahead but McKenzie at 10.05 and Barrett at 15.36 made it 3-2 by period's end.

Pero tied it at 4.17 of the middle heat and Hunter made it 4-3 at 15.54. Smith scored the tying goal at 2.25 of the third and Edwards put Elmvale in front for the final time at 13.10 - then came Faulkner.

Elmvale took six of 11 penalties. Included was a first - period misconduct to Larry Pero and a second - period misconduct to G. Ritchie of Elmvale.

Player Lack Hurt Hoop Squad

Intermediate basketball took took another kick in the teeth in this area on the weekend.

Trenton - Belleville - Carm's were also to take only six players to the Ontario Basketball Association Intermediate "C" championship tournament, in Athens, Saturday.

Earlier in the season, at least twice that number of players were lined up for the team roster. But, as happened last year, only half dozen were able to get away for the titular tournament.

Carm's lost the opening game in the eight-team tourney, 70-68 in overtime to Owen Sound, leaving the club into the consolation series where they defeated Toronto 78-67.

In the consolation final, Carm's lost an 82-70 decision to the host Athens club.

Brantford won the provincial championship.

Carm's spokesman, Clare Leahy, said this morning: "It hurts to see this happen every year. This time, we had a good enough team to win the championship if all our players had been able to go.

"There just doesn't seem to be enough interest. This may be the final effort. It is not fair to our sponsor to have this happen," Leahy concluded.

In the team's three games, Jeff Ravesdale scored 36 points, Gord Anderson 33, Joe Theriault 32, Dennis Clark 31, Clare Leahy 26 and Doug Daye 7.

Day 7.

Novices Win Peterborough "B" Title

Food City novices came up with a highly creditable showing at the Peterborough Novice Tournament over the weekend, winning twice, losing once and bringing home the "B" consolation championship.

All three games were shutouts, the Food City youngsters bowing to Oshawa 2-0, defeating Bobcaygeon Perry 1-0 and shutting out Chinguacousy 6-0.

Ross McLeod scored twice in the 6-0 victory with Tony Meagher, Eddie Grills, Eric Powell and Mike Meeker also scoring.

Mike Crawford and Bobby Crawford each had two assists with Eddie Grills, Meagher and Larry Waite getting singles.

Bruce Hamilton and Brent Babcock shared the shutout. Hamilton also had the shutout in the 1-0 victory over Port Perry.

Eric Powell assisted by Roger Chapman was the loce goalgetter

Annabelle, currently quartered at Toronto's Woodbine race track, will be taken to the hotel's convention floor by way of a freight elevator. But once in the room, Rimstead said, it will be strictly first class, with many celebrities and bands to launch her drive to the Derby.

Sandra Sinks Hole-in-One, Wins $1,000

BOYNTON BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Sandra Post of Oakville, Ont., won the top prize of the day with a hole-in-one during Saturday's second round of the $12,500 Palm Beach County open golf tournament.

Miss Post picked up $1,000 in special prize money when she blasted a three-wood shot 180 yards against the wind and into the cup on the 11th green. She became the ninth woman pro to pick up the prize since its establishment in 1965.

The first Canadian to have joined the women's U.S. PGA tour, Miss Post's ace helped her to a second-round 76 and a tie for fifth spot at 150.

Western Playoffs Wednesday

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The four playoff clubs took turns winning on home ice during the weekend as the Western Hockey League ended its regular season.

San Diego Gulls bumped Seattle Bombardiers 6-2 before 11,259 fans Sunday and Phoenix edged San Diego 3-2 before 9,358 Saturday night fans to finish.

Portland Buckaroos nipped Seattle Totems 3-2 Sunday before 6,121 fans to go first for a 2-1 defeat before 12,085 fans in Seattle Saturday night.

Phoenix Roadrunners will meet third-place San Diego in one best-seven semi-final and second-place Seattle takes on fourth-place Phoenix in the other. First games are Wednesday in Portland and Seattle.

Vancouver Stars

Capture Singles Title

VICTORIA (CP) — Bruce Rollick and Sharon Whittaker, both of Vancouver, captured singles titles at the Canadian Open badminton championships Saturday as surprising Canada won three of five events.

Foreign competitors had been expected to dominate Open play.

Rollick, third seeded Canadian singles player, upset Chuchai Sarasas Siang-suang of Thailand 2-15, 18-15, 17-14.

Miss Whittaker, 21, Canadian Closed champion, defeated Tyna Barinaga of Phoenix, Ariz., the U.S. Open champ 11-5, 11-8.

Miss Whittaker and Mimi Nilsson, also of Vancouver, defeated defending champions Pat Moody and Jean Miller of Montreal 17-14, 12-15, 15-8 in the Canadian women's doubles final.

Sangob Rattanusorn, and Chuchai Sarasas-Siang-suang of Thailand, Asian doubles champions, won the men's doubles by defeating Vancouver's Wayne Macdonnel and Rolf Paterson 15-12, 15-11.

Sangob and Lois Alston of Los Angeles won the mixed doubles over Channtarong and Miss Barinaga 15-11, 15-7 in the only final that did not feature a Canadian.

Palmer, Jack Nicklaus, Gary Player and Ben Hogan, but with no idea of patterning himself after any one of them.

He said he was nervous, but he never showed it as he faced down Palmer in the final round of the greater Jacksonville Open Sunday. He acquitted he utilized "a little of my game" as his own battery-charger to a 15-under-par 273 and the $20,000 first money.

It was the first time a golfer from England had ever won on the Professional Golfers Association tour.

Even before Jacklin hit the last putt, Player was calling him potentially the greatest English golfer since Henry Cotton and the man most likely to halt his country's No. 1 sports hero.

Jacklin, second in the Masters and the previous week, stumbled slightly after going over par Sunday on the 14th and 15th. But he recovered to thwart any challenges to the title.

Toronto's Al Balding pocketed $1,800 after finishing with three others at 278, good for 13th place and just five strokes off the pacesetter.

Gardner Dickenson, Don Jaunary, Chi Chi Rodriguez and Doug Sanders bunched in second place at 275 while Palmer, just one stroke off the pace going into Sunday's final round, was fifth at 276.

Nicklaus, a contender throughout the 72-hole event finished at 280.

MONKEY TRICKS

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — A wart on the lip of a monkey's nose led to larceny charges against three men. The prosecutor said the three tried to sell a stolen rhesus monkey to a pet shop. The charges were filed after the owner identified the monkey by the wart.

Senators Complete Eleven-Game Sweep Over National Leaguers

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

The National League has parted company with the Washington Senators. It's the best thing that's happened to the National League all spring.

Washington pushed over an uneven run in the eighth inning Sunday and edged Houston Astros 3-2, completing an 11-game exhibition sweep over National League opposition.

The victory gave the Senators an over-all record of 15-5—best in the exhibition circuit.

Bernie Allen scored the winning run on one of seven errors committed by Hector Torres, the Astros' rookie shortstop.

Ralph Robison, Baltimore's all-star third baseman, was hit below the left ear by a Steve Blass pitch in the fifth inning of Pittsburgh Pirates' 3-1 victory over the Orioles. Robinson, wearing an ear flap on his batting helmet, escaped serious injury but will miss tonight's game against the Senators.

Cincinnati Reds pounded New York Yankees 8-2, scoring seven runs off Mel Stottlemyre in the first three innings.

Tommy Davis' three-run homer and the shutout pitching led Chicago White Sox to a 6-0 victory over Philadelphia, ending the Phillies' winning streak at five games.

Detroit Tigers, Minnesota Twins and California Angels won extra-innings struggles.

The Tigers nipped St. Louis Cardinals 6-5 in 12 innings; Rod Carew's 12th-inning homer gave the Twins a 3-2 nod over Boston Red Sox and the Angels spotted Cleveland Indians two runs in the top of the 11th, then rallied in the bottom of the inning for a 6-5 victory.

Los Angeles Dodgers clipped Ron Herbel for six runs in the first three innings and held off San Francisco Giants 9-7.

Atlanta rookie Ron Reed scattered four hits through seven innings and reliever Claude Raymond completed a seven-hit, 2-0 victory for the Braves over New York Mets.

The Indians' 8 squad peppered Ken Holtzman for six runs in five innings and ripped Chicago Cubs 9-2 while the White Sox B's edged Oakland Athletics 4-3 on Rich Severson's RBI single in the 10th inning.

In games Saturday, Philadelphia blanked St. Louis 3-0, the White Sox nipped the METS 2-0, Phillies B team took a 4-0 pitching from Cincinnati, Washington doubled the score on Houston 8-4, Detroit edged Atlanta 6-5, the Yankees took Boston 5-4, Chicago Cubs ripped Cleveland 6-1, Minnesota loosed 7-6 to Oakland, Baltimore took Pittsburgh 3-2 and Los Angeles bombed San Francisco 9-3.

Lacrosse Leagues Organized

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — The Ontario Lacrosse Association streamlined its senior series Sunday with the makeup of a four-team Senior A league and two four-team B groupings.

The A series will consist of Brooklin, Brampton, Mississauga and Hastings.

Competing in the western section of the B series will be Windsor, Sarnia, Wallaceburg and the new franchise of Brantford, defending Canadian B champions, Orangeville, Owen Sound and Fergus will play in the eastern division.

Each club will play 20 games and the first games to be played the second week in May. Schedules will be announced soon by OLA secretary Brian Higgins of Peterborough.

At Greenwood

Gomez Won Big Money

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario's troubled thoroughbred racing season finally got off the ground wood racetrack and for most of the 16,846 fans the season's first card was a big success.

It was reminiscent of the 1967 season when two apprentice riders, Richard Grubb and James Kelly, finished first and second respectively in the leading rider standings. Gomez, a 34-year-old Cuban who became a Canadian citizen, was Canada's leading money winner.

Saturday, Grubb and Kelly were pushed out of the spotlight by two new riders, Marty Gibson, 18, of Hamilton and Robert Platts, 19, of Toronto. Gibson had three winners while Platts had two.

Gomez, however, was on board with the big money on the line. He brought Elsie Rule to the wire on top in the invitational at 32 seconds flat and set a track record for the 6½-furlong distance.

New young jockeys swept five of the eight races on the opening card, but veteran Ismael Gomez was home first in the biggest race of the day—a $5,000 invitational.

All Vote Open Tennis

PARIS (AP) — In an historic decision for the sport, world officials voted unanimously Saturday at a special meeting to permit open tennis tournaments.

The full meeting of the International Lawn Tennis Federation approved without dissent the proposal, pioneered by the British, to allow professionals to compete against amateurs in tournaments.

But the British failed to win over the ILTF to the abolition of all distinction between amateurs and pros.

The ILTF decided to limit the number of open tournaments and divided players into four categories:

1. Amateurs—those who play for no prizes.

2. Registered players — top stars who will be allowed to receive big expenses and make profit from the game without making it their profession.

3. Contracted professionals—those who compete in touring groups and operate under their own control.

4. Other professionals, including coaches, who still come under the authority of their national associations.

Ashe Stuns Emerson

NEW YORK (AP) — U.S. Army Lieut. Arthur Ashe gave former world champion Roy Emerson a sad farewell to amateur tennis by stunning the Australian 6-4, 6-4, 7-5 Saturday night for the Madison Square Garden Challenge Trophy.

Emerson, 29, winner of two Wimbledon, U.S. and French titles and six-time champion of Australia, will sign a $100,000 pro contract Monday in Los Angeles.

Nancy Richey of San Angelo, Tex., beat Judy Tegart of Australia 7-5, 7-5 for the women's crown and established herself as No. 1 contender for world tennis queen honors—succeeding Billie Jean King, who is slated to turn pro in the same package with Emerson.

Five-Pin Bowlers Organized

Ed Lugtenburg, Belleville, was elected president of the newly formed "Bay of Quinte Bowlers' Association" here Sunday. Other officers elected were: Lloyd White, Belleville, secretary; Harold Rattan, Napanee, treasurer; Dan Neal, Trenton, vice-President; Marg. Lugtenburg, Belleville, recording secretary.

The new association hopes to be fully organized by the start of the 1968-69 five pin season. To assist in the organizing of leagues in the area under the association's jurisdiction, the following regional directors were appointed: Kingston: Bill Fagan and Bob McLean; Napanee: Reg Vick; Odessa: Harvey Smith; Campbellford: Jack Stocker; Trenton: Don Crosbie; Bancroft: Belleville: Geraldine Fobert, Marg. Rattan, Madeline James, Ken Cannon and Bill Canning. Jim McKenzie, Belleville, was appointed publicity director.

Chosen to represent the new association at the Ontario Bowlers' Congress annual convention, were: President Ed Lugtenburg, Jack Stocker and Madeline James. The O.B.C. convention is being held this year at Haliburton, June 14th, 15 and 16th.

BEATLE STYLES?

In 1095, the Council of Rouen, France, passed a law against long hair for men, but Normandy courtiers continued growing their hair long and using curling irons on it.

Skaters Set 27 Records At Winnipeg

WINNIPEG (CP) — Three Winnipeg girls led an all-out assault on the record book during the weekend at the Canadian indoor speed skating championships, contributing a major share of the 27 records established.

Cathy Carpenter, Cathy Priesner and Marianne Cumming, all of the host River Heights Speed Skating Club, crashed seven old marks during the two-day competition attended by 150 skaters.

Miss Cumming, is winning the bantam girls' title, set records in the 220, 330 and 440 yard events, while Miss Carpenter established a new mark in the juvenile girls' 440 and shared a record time with Cheryl Rey of Winnipeg in the 220.

Miss Priestner set records in the midget girls' 220 and 330 events, but lost the championship to Winnipeg's Laureen Johnstone, who set a record in the 440, finished second in the 220 and third in the 220 to edge out Miss Priestner by one point.

Minor Hockey

Elk Hawks and Leafs used entirely different methods to reach the Bantam Minor Hockey Association's midget finals last night.

Hawks whipped Canadiens 9-0 and Leafs edged the Wings in a 2-1 thriller.

The winners meet in the first of the finals Wednesday.

G. Bridge and R. Pearson scored the Leaf goals. R. Goulah made it close for the Wings.

Hawks romped to victory on two goals each from H. Wilkinson, B. Codling and R. Mitchell and singletons by T. Pope, N. Pope and B. Marshall.

Runner Admits Taking Drugs Returns Medal

LONDON (CP) — Runner Alan Simpson, British record-holder for the mile, says he took drugs at the last Commonwealth Games and is returning the silver medal he won.

Simpson also lays in an article in the Sunday newspaper The People that he will not try for a place on the British team for the Olympic Games in October.

Simpson, 27, holds the British record for the mile run with a time of 3:55.7 and has run the distance in less than four minutes 11 times.

He finished fourth in the 1,500-metres at the 1964 Olympics and was second to Kenya's Kipchoge Keino in the Commonwealth Games in Jamaica two years ago.

Wins Second Atlanta 500

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Cale Yarborough thundered to his second straight Atlanta 500 victory Sunday, winning a duel of Ford champions over Lee Roy Yarbrough.

Yarborough, 29-year-old racing veteran from Timmonsville, S.C., averaged 144.809 miles an hour to claimed his second major triumph of the year. He won the Daytona 500 in Florida last month.

Lee Roy battled Cale head to head throughout the race and thought he had grabbed the lead on the 301st lap, but officials ruled that he passed Cale while the caution flag was still out, and he was penalized a lap, which dropped him out of contention for the first-place payoff of $19,175.

CRABGRASS

THERE'S ONLY ONE ANSWER . . .

Pre-emergent chemical herbicide; weed killer that acts on the seed before germinate in the soil. Crabgrass is a summer annual weed, germinating in early April and late summer. It grows in July, extremely aggressive in August, then dying out completely with the cool moist temperatures of September. Crabgrass fits its life cycle to the dormant cycle of all desirable lawn grasses.

The problem is that this particular weed can produce viable seeds in as few as 8 days from sprouting of the original plant. These seeds fall on the ground and, despite cutting and raking, they lie dormant over the winter only to sprout and grow new plants in the first daylight of the next season. Killing the mature plants in July or August is no good because the seeds are still planted ready for the next year's infestation.

The only way to control crabgrass is through the use of pre-emergent chemicals . . . thoroughly proven in farm use . . . which are applied as a protective barrier on the soil's surface during April and left undisturbed until the crabgrass seeds start to sprout in May and June. Apply as evenly as possible after the grass has been cut and be sure that this barrier need not be disturbed again. Most popular 'crabgrass preventers' are from 90 to 95% effective.

We recommend an application of regular turf fertilizer now, then a treatment of crabgrass preventer (it comes mixed with fertilizer for ease of spreading) as a follow-up application any time in April or up to May 15th.

Leeds United Reach Semi-Finals

LONDON (CP) — Leeds United, the favorite, reached the semi-finals of the English Football Association Cup Saturday with a 1-0 victory over Sheffield United at Leeds.

Leeds, already winner of the Soccer League Cup and also in the running for the Inter-cities Fairs Cup and English League Trophy, were indebted to a goal after 12 minutes by Paul Madeley for their place in the last four.

Leeds goes into the draw Monday with Birmingham, which beat Chelsea 1-0, and Everton, 3-1 winners over Leicester. West Bromwich Albion and Liverpool played a goalless tie.

It was also cup day in Scotland where both Scottish Football Association Cup semi-finals were held. Dunfermline and St. Johnstone tied 1-1 and Hearts and Morton finished with the same score. Replay dates were announced.

Leeds, in its 38th straight home game without defeat, reached the cup semi-finals for the third time in four seasons.

Madeley was on the spot to score from close range when Sheffield goalkeeper Alan Hodgkinson went full length to save from Billy Bremner but could not hold the ball. The tough Leeds defence made sure of victory.

Everton fielded six players under 20 years of age in its game against Leicester. Jimmy Husband got two goals for them.

Fred Pickering, a centre forward tried and cast aside by Everton and England, was responsible for the upset result of the quarter-finals. A 6ft 2 minute header by Pickering enabled beat Chelsea, last year's finalist. It was Chelsea's second defeat in the last 17 games.

Liverpool is the favorite for the fourth semi-final place after Saturday's goalless game against West Bromwich.

Oilers Shade Blazers

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Danny Johnson scored on a 40-foot shot Sunday night with 32 seconds remaining to give Tulsa Oilers a 3-2 victory over Oklahoma City Blazers in the opening game of their best-of-seven Central Pro Hockey League semi-final.

The series between the league's two division champions will resume Wednesday night in Oklahoma City.

In games Saturday, Dallas Black Hawks defeated Fort Worth Wings 3-1 to even their quarter-final series 1-1 and Kansas City Blues downed Memphis South Stars 4-2 in the opener of their quarter-final series.

They're all so pretty, you'll want to send more Easter cards this year than ever!

Foreign Policy Control Indispensable Attribute For Unified Country

POTTERS, France (Reuters) — Fisheries Minister Hedard Robichaud said Sunday the Canadian government would preserve the unity of its foreign policy—"an indispensable attribute for a state that does not want to let himself be divided."

He told the France-Canada Association meeting here that it was essential to make changes in the British North America Act. These changes needed the agreement of federal and provincial authorities and were recognized as essential by the majority of Canadians, whatever their ethnic origin.

"These changes are fundamental if we want to establish and guarantee the principle of equality for the two communities who speak the two official languages of our country," Robichaud said.

"For us, it means giving to the liberties of all Canadians the biggest and surest foundations," he said. "That is the principle which must guide our steps in the formation of a constitutional bill of rights valid for all Canadians."

"The Canadian government, then, is ready to assume its responsibilities and desires always to conserve its right to co-operate in the research and development of the culture just as to assure the unity of its foreign policy—an indispensable attribute for a country which does not want to let itself be divided."

Quinte Club's School Days Thrills Weekend Audiences

"School Days." That was the theme of a figure skating show that delighted more than 3,200 people at the Belleville arena at three performances over the weekend.

Over 100 skaters combined to provide two hours of solid entertainment for those in attendance.

Starring in the colorful performance, which was presented by the Quinte Figure Skating Club, were Kenny Polk and Nadine Turner of Toronto.

The "school days" theme was used throughout the performances and was greeted enthusiastically by the audiences.

The shows got underway with a number designed to take the audience back to the days of their youth.

In the event Holly Machum starred as the teacher and was assisted by about 50 other skaters in the Quinte club. The performance continued on the same theme with a number titled the "new math".

Shirley Sinclair also provided plenty of thrills in a solo number.

Carol Fitzgibbon and Patsy Jean Allore were outstanding in the initial pairs number at the performances.

Spelling and the ABC's was instrumental in a number called "Teach Me". Kenny Polk of the Lakeshore Skating Club provided the audience with the thrills of any ice show in his solo number.

"Story Time Celeste," a number produced and edited by Osborne Colson, starred special guest Nadine Turner as Celeste. She performed with a large number of the skaters.

Following a short intermission the skaters returned to the ice for a event entitled "recess" — with Holly Marchum as the teacher.

Then came Michael Fitzgibbon, a member of the Quinte Club who achieved success as novice champion in western Canada last summer, as the school monitor.

A dancing class number was provided by 14 members of the club. Patsy Jean Allore entertained as the supervisor.

Continuing the school theme several youthful participants skated a number on languages and Peggy Fahey turned up as the Latin author.

After an event involving mathematical problems, Pat Baker and Denise Gillespie entertained with a question and answer session.

Then came gym time and a number by 18 of the club's skaters. Evaline Pallisca provided a beautiful interpretation of the current hit song Love Is Blue when she performed as the posture Queen.

Then it was back to guest star Kenny Polk as the gymnastic winner.

Following a crowd pleaser called the graduation ball, Nadine Turner performed as the valedictorian. Then it was time for the whole cast to appear on the ice for the finale.

One of the hidden aspects of arranging a show like the ones performed at the arena on Friday and Saturday is the large number of costumes and the necessity for two or three changes of clothing during a performance.

But the youthful skaters came through with flying colors in this department.

The Quinte Figure Skating Club professionals are Gordon Crossland and Mrs. Bonnie Boundy and much of the credit for the two excellent performances must go to them.

Hula-hooping Skaters

Figure skating can be fun — and it can be exciting for the audience as well. More than 3,200 persons attended three performances by the Quinte Figure Skating Club over the weekend. These two youngsters were on hand with hula hoops for the presentation.

Corby Library Film Highlights

Phoebe, 28 minutes, color.

A sympathetic and dramatic portrayal of the state of mind of a teenage girl when she realizes that she is pregnant and must tell those nearest her.

Trail Ride, 20 minutes, color.

A group of boys from the city and an equal number from the Blood Indian Reserve share a taste of life in the Canadian West. The boys of two cultures mix and learn from each other.

Flyway North, 10 minutes, color.

For every lover of nature, this film shows the wild geese in migratory flight, with a study of the Canada Snow Geese, who inhabit the region of the St. Lawrence estuary.

Searching Man, 21 minutes, color.

How Canada's vast natural resources are developing as research in mining and metallurgy. Of interest to all Canadians.

Adventure in Newfoundland, 16 minutes, color.

Flight — An Anthology, 14 minutes, black and white.

The film traces the basic freedom of getting above the clouds with an anthology of verse, prose, music and film.

I Know An Old Lady, six minutes, color.

Song by Burl Ives, this nonsense song has been animated in a manner which will delight both adult and child.

Red Kite, 19 minutes, color. Based on a collection of short stories by Hugh Wood, this beautiful film contemplates the whole meaning of life.

Winner of several awards, this film is for all for whom the romance of journeying is still strong. A fresh and delightful story from the book by Holling C. Holling.

Life in the Woodlot, 17 minutes, color.

The film outlines a natural law which demands respect — the pyramid of life, where the lower orders support and sustain the higher orders, including man, who crowns the peak. Winner of a Canadian Film Award in the children's category.

Ameliasburg to Spend $50,900 on Road Repair

AMELIASBURG — A total of $50,900 will be spent this year on the upkeep and maintenance of roads in the township council decided at a special meeting last week.

Clerk William Nightingale was instructed to send a letter requesting permission of the Department of Highways for special by-law in connection with the proposed construction of a bridge on the Carrville sideroad in lots 91 and 92 in the fourth concession.

In a separate request the council is asking the Department of Highways to rebuild the road between the Carrville church and Highway 14 under the road development program sponsored by the province.

If the council proposal is accepted the provincial government will pay the entire cost of the reconstruction undertaking.

The township would have to pay for additional land requirements along the right of way and fencing both sides of the road.

Skating Club Will Present Ice Revue

TWEED—Tweed Kiwanis Skating Club has made it possible to hire a professional skating instructress for this season. Thanks to Miss Doreen Lister of Toronto, Brenda Jones, Nancy Rashotte and Lorna Roy passed the Dutch Waltz and Canasta Tango, two in a series of compulsory dance tests of the Canadian figure skating association. Miss Judy Lewis of Tweed, who spent many hours assisting Miss Lister, accomfanied the happy trio to Port Hope where the tests were held Monday of this week.

Other girls will be encouraged to take tests during the next season.

There will be over 80 skaters from Tweed and six from Cloyne, presenting the first all-evening ice Revue on April 6th, at the Tweed - Hungerford Community Centre, sponsored by the Kiwanis Club under the leadership of Campbellford Simpson, and Mrs. Gail Brown, president of the skating club.

Chamber of Commerce Elects New Officers

TWEED — The Chamber of Commerce, of Tweed held its annual meeting, March 26th, when Kenneth Little, last year's vice-president was nominated president at this meeting, and David Morton, who was chairman of civic development and the Santa Claus Parade committee for 1967, was elected vice-president.

Treasurer, Phil Cockburn and secretary, Clyde Bell were both re-elected to the offices they held last year as Bob Hanna, who returned to the chairmanship of the tourism and publicity committee, who were responsible for the operation of the Tourist Information Booth at the southern end of the village on Victoria Street. Keith Cotton acted in the capacity of chairman for the election of officers.

The treasurer's report showed a balance of approximately $1,221.70 on hand. The proposed budget to operate the Information booth for the coming 1968 season, plus the advertising would amount to approximately $700. The balance of $500. will be spent on local improvements, the members attending the annual meeting decided.

Directors elected included, membership, Keith Cotton, (this is the same as last year); program, Barry Hunter, last year's president; other directors were elected, but their election must be confirmed before the names can be officially announced by the president. The directors will hold a noon luncheon meeting at the Hotel Tweedsmuir on Monday, April 1st, 1968.

Film Council Plans Special Showing

A film showing entitled An Hour With the Oscars will be held at the public library on Tuesday evening, April 2 at 7.30 under the sponsorship of the Belleville and District Film Council.

This year three Canadian 16 mm films have been nominated for Hollywood Oscars. The Film Council has obtained these films for viewing prior to the academy awards' presentation April 8. The three films are Paddle to the Sea, What on Earth, (both National Film Board productions) and A Place to Stand, the marvelous film produced by the Ontario Government for use at the Ontario Pavilion at Expo.

Paddle to the Sea is a colorful story of a little Indian canoe and its trip through the inland waterways of Ontario to the sea. Winner of several awards, this film is for those for whom the romance of journeying is still strong. A fresh and delightful story from the book by Holling C. Holling. This film is Tuesday evening, April 2 at 7.30 under the sponsorship of the Belleville and District Film Council.

What on Earth, a 10 minute color film, treats the earth as the visiting Martians would view it. The auto has inherited the earth and highways are dotting on the earth. This delightfully droll animated film will amuse all while treating a serious subject.

To round out the program, Neighbors, Oscar-award winner of 1955, will be shown. This film produced by Norman McLaren portrays a simple parable about two people who, while living side by side in mutual friendliness and respect, come to blows over the possession of a flower that one day grows where their properties adjoin.

Those in attendance will be able to vote on which film they think will win an oscar.

Helped Save Life

CHICOUTIMI, Que. (CP) — Telephone operator Nicole Bergeron gave some timely advice that probably saved a life. When an anxious mother called asking her to find a doctor for two-year-old Carrol Perron, having difficulty breathing following a throat infection, Nicole quickly instructed the mother in mouth-to-mouth resuscitation. The baby survived.

Marble Church 104 Years Old

Converted School A History Lesson

By BARRY GRILLS
Staff Reporter

ACTINOLITE — The township councillors of Elzivir-Grimsthorpe Townships have found a method of uniting the beauty of the past with the practicality of the present.

Exemplifying the past is a school house, constructed of marble mined not more than the length of a city block from where the two buildings now stand.

During Centennial year the two townships decided collectively to make the school house into a township and community hall.

The decision to transform the school into its present capacity followed the opening of a new school in the area. The marble one had been used for about 100 years as the Actinolite school. . .

A Toronto woman, Mrs. William Spitzer, bought the building after it was left unused and donated it to the townships and plans were realized for its conversion.

According to William Creditcott, a councillor, the community hall was a Centennial project, officially opened in the fall of 1967.

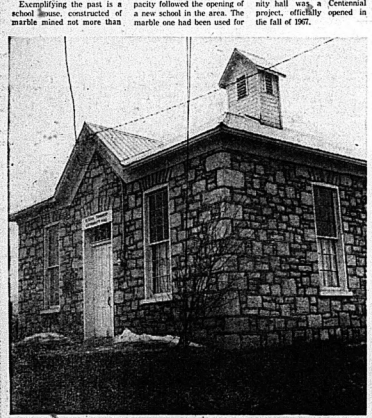
All funds and labor for the extensive project were donated co-operatively by both townships and the community of Actinolite. Now it is used, not only as the meeting place for the township councils, but for a recreation area as well. Over 100 people donated time and money.

The modern conveniences of the hall include electric heating, and all the machinery needed to illustrate a twentieth - century kitchen.

The church is the epitome of historical beauty. Research informs us that the cornerstone was laid on June 21 in 1864. The building still stands despite a damaging fire about the turn of the century.

The site for the church was donated at that early date by Actinolite's founder, Billa Flint, then a senator.

After two years of labor on the part of the Actinolite citizenry, the church was finished, complete with a seating capacity of 500, a bell and tower, and an organ in the choir loft.



The walls of the building are 23 feet in height from floor to ceiling on a base 68 feet by 39 feet. A Sunday School room stands in the rear.

The bell tower, before it was destroyed by fire, rose to a height of 101 feet. The seats in the church were cushioned and the floors were carpeted.

Disaster befell the church, as it did most of Actinolite, on May 24, 1899, leaving only the walls of the church standing.

Due to only $2,000 in insurance the restoration of the building was not completed until 1902.

Today Actinolite's marble church is one of the historical sites that is being discovered by the Department of Tourism and Information.

To Your Good Health

What Makes A Human Heart Pump?

By Dr. Joseph G. Molner

Dear Dr. Molner: The question arose around our dinner table. What causes a human heart to pump?

The first answer was "impulses." But were impulses verified. What is the nature of the impulse? Is it electrical? And if so, does it conform to the widely accepted electron theory of electricity? — M. H.

Baseless your question doesn't differ much from asking, "What keeps you breathing when you are asleep?" Or even, "If you wiggle your finger, what makes it wiggle?"—

In either case, nerve impulses from the brain travel along the nerves and cause certain muscles to contract—it is the brain giving the orders, whether consciously or not.

What makes the brain operate? What strange power regulates thought? These are mysteries yet to be solved.

But as to the heart, we know that a nervous impulse causes the heart muscle to contract, and the contraction of the muscle squeezes blood through a series of chambers equipped with one-way valves, so the blood has to flow in the right direction only.

To some extent, the course of the nervous impulse has been traced. It is apparent in what is called the A-V node, the tissues at the juncture of the atria, or upper chambers, and the ventricles, or lower chambers of the heart.

Then the impulse passes through the heart tissues — probably along nerve fibres.

We know that some kinds of heart damage interfere with transmission of the impulses, slowing down the heart action or the flow of the impulse (heart block).

In cases of severe heart block a faint electric current can be introduced to the heart tissues, and at such pulse of stimulation, the heart muscle contracts. This, indeed, is the explanation of the "pacemaker," which are used to regulate a faulty heart beat. These pacemakers have been made so small that the whole thing, including a tiny battery, can be implanted in the body.

This is ordinary electricity — except that it is very faint, and arranged to flow in brief, rhythmic surges. So far as we can tell, it follows all the accepted rules of electrical flow, and there is no apparent reason to doubt the electron theory of electricity.

Wasn't it Galavini who discovered that he could make the leg of a frog twitch by applying electricity?

There's also a connection between chemistry and electricity, but I wouldn't be so bold as to try to explain it. But still, a flashlight battery is just a mixture of chemicals.

This may explain why — as during open heart surgery — introduction of certain drugs into the bloodstream will make the heart stop beating; washing them out lets the heart beat again.

If you want a final puzzler, it has been found that if you remove the heart of a turtle and suspend it in a suitable solution, it will keep on beating for days. So where, in that case, does the impulse to beat come from?

Science has learned a lot, but what an overwhelming amount there is yet to learn!

Dear Dr. Molner: My mother eats frost from the refrigerator all the time. She seems to forget a lot. Does it harm the brain? — Mrs. C. B.

The frost is just frozen moisture — no more dangerous than crushed ice. It has nothing to do with your mother's forgetfulness.

Note to Mrs. L. H.: Chronic bronchitis very often occurs along with emphysema — in perhaps half the cases. But, obviously, bronchitis also can occur without the presence of emphysema.

Canada, U.S. Renew NORAD Agreement

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada and the United States Saturday signed an agreement to continue for another five years the joint defence of North America from the threat of bomber attack.

Prime Minister Pearson's office released the text of notes exchanged in Washington renewing the North American Air Defence Command agreement first signed May 12, 1958, for a period of 10 years.

The renewed agreement may be reviewed at any time within the next five years at the request of either government and may be terminated by either government after such review following a period of notice of one year.

It means that the two countries will continue to operate the Acting Social Credit Leader vast underground air defence base at Colorado Springs in Colorado and the northern headquarters at North Bay, against a possible attack of Russian bombers prepared to rain down nuclear destruction on the North American heartland.

The value of NORAD has been a subject of controversy for years. The New Democratic Party has been one of its severest critics, arguing that the defence system contributes nothing to the protection of Canada in the age of missiles.

In the 1967-68 fiscal year, ending Sunday, NORAD has cost Canada an estimated $139,470,000. The estimate for next year is $134,683,000. The United States spends about $1,700,000,000 annually on the defence scheme.

David Lewis, deputy leader of the New Democratic Party, said in Ottawa Sunday his party regrets that Canada has renewed the NORAD agreement.

"It seems to me clear that once again the government has yielded to the pressures and blandishments of Washington instead of having the courage to pursue a sensible, independent policy," he said in a telephone interview.

Opposition Leader Stanfield said he wanted to have a good deal more information before expressing approval of the NORAD agreement. He agrees in principle that Canada should share in North American defence arrangements.

Look at the Broiler Board . . . there is Broiler Board in Ontario with quotas in force . . . there is no Broiler Board in Quebec . . . hence no quotas. The broiler prices are held higher in Ontario than those in Quebec BUT Ontario has LOST at least 18 per cent of its broiler market to Quebec . . . LOWER PRICED, equal quality Quebec broilers are now sold almost solely in Eastern Ontario . . . freely in Toronto, beginning lately in London.

With a 77% quota, they have had only an 85% kill of available birds in January and February . . . the balance are carried to the next week as HEAVIES. Yet they claim to be making more money than before. They are, but it is like putting your head in the sand and living from your SAVINGS ACCOUNT. Either they take the SAME PRICE as out-of-province birds or LOSE THEIR MARKETS SOON. Quebec was supposed to hold tentative vote after Ontario voted . . . they were too busy TRYING in broilers to Ontario.

Also, 15 to 20% of broiler quotas in feed co.'s or dealers' hands already IN JUST THREE YEARS. This could happen to the egg industry, quite easily, under a quota plan.

Smallwood's Pay-for-Students Scheme Is Hard Hit by Budget

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — Newfoundland's system of free university tuition and "salaries" for many of its university students, which drew national attention when introduced three years ago, was hard hit in Friday's "tough" 1968-69 provincial budget.

Touted as a North American precedent and one of Premier Joseph Smallwood's proudest boasts, it would have drained $2,100,000 in its current form from the hard-pressed provincial treasury during the next 12 months.

Finance Minister James McGrath announced in his budget speech that a needs test would be applied in the future and any student who could pay his own tuition would do so. Likewise, any student who didn't need the salaries would not get them.

A special committee will study each application for this assistance, he said. It might be the same one that handles applications for loans under the Canada Student Loan Plan.

This represents the first major revision of a program that has cost the government about $3,886,000 in the last two years and which promised to cost a lot more as the number of students receiving salaries and free tuition grew.

Free tuition was given to first-year students in 1965-66 and to all students beginning in 1966-67. Allowances of $50 and $100 monthly were paid fourth- and fifth-year students beginning in 1966-67. Students from outside St. John's received the higher allowance.

The plans were to phase in another year of the student body at regular intervals until all eventually were receiving the allowances. Those are now paid to third, fourth- and fifth-year students.

The cost of salaries to the province rose to an estimated $800,000 last year. Some 1,300 students are being paid to attend Memorial University, only degree-granting institution in the province.

As well, paying the tuition fees of all students cost the government an estimated $1,000,000 in 1968-69 and this rose to an estimated 1,700,000 in 1967-68. Memorial, with 3,000 students, is the populous university campus in the Atlantic provinces.

Premier Smallwood says no student who qualifies academically will be prevented from attending Memorial for lack of money. He says only those getting free tuition and salaries when they don't need them will be cut off.

"That's as fair as fair can be," the premier said Sunday in an interview.

Mr. Smallwood declined to say, if the needs test would be abolished at some future date, should the economy improve. That would depend on the future needs of all sectors of the economy, he said.

Mr. Smallwood said the new policy did not represent any basic change in education policy or financial formulas—"it's just being done to balance the budget."

Students at Memorial University feel the proposed needs test will prove more expensive to administer justly than a universal system of free tuition and salaries.

RAF, with Its Wings Clipped, Observes Fiftieth Anniversary

LONDON (Reuters) — The RAF, which saved Britain from Nazi conquest in 1940, celebrates its 50th anniversary today—with its wings clipped up.

Once the most famous and powerful air force in the world, it now faces a radical reconstruction to fit a shrinking British role in world power.

But today its future is less important than its past. Golden jubilee ceremonies will be marked in hundreds of cities and towns throughout Britain and at air bases at home and abroad. They will last a month.

In 1940, when Hitler hurled the might of the German Luftwaffe across the English Channel, it was met by 2,368 pilots of fighter command in spitfires and Hurricanes. Between July and September, 49 pilots were killed. But they had beaten the Luftwaffe and smashed German hopes for invading Britain.

During the war the RAF dropped more than 1,000,000 tons of bombs on enemy Europe and the Middle East; destroyed 243 blockading submarines; sank 1,218 enemy ships and destroyed the Luftwaffe.

When the war ended, it had 55,500 planes on active service.

Today, with only 2,000 planes, its various sections are going through another merger to create an even more streamlined force.

Quebec Liberals Disagree with Poll

MONTREAL (CP) — Two groups of Quebec Liberals Saturday issued statements in disagreement with the results of a Liberal leadership convention delegates poll conducted by a Montreal newspaper and affiliated stations of Standard Radio News Ltd.

A copyright story analysing the results of the poll, which appeared in The Gazette's Saturday edition, was described by one group as a "travesty of the truth" and by the other—14 Liberal members of the Quebec legislature—as an "inaccurate report."

The Gazette said a projection based on the results of a cross-Canada survey of 244 of the more than 2,400 delegates to next weekend's convention shows Justice Minister Trudeau will have at least 708 votes on the first ballot, 310 more than his nearest rival, External Affairs Minister Martin.

Eric Kierans, former Quebec Liberal Federation president, had "minimal" Quebec delegate support and ranked eighth among the nine major candidates treated by the poll with 34 projected first-ballot votes.

"The Gazette article is a travesty of the truth," one group said. "Eric Kierans, we are confident, will be supported on the first ballot alone by at least 30 per cent of the Quebec Liberals."

The statement was signed by Paul Tellier and Come Lapierre, regional directors of the Quebec wing of the Liberal Federation of Canada, and by 10 other Quebec members of the Liberal party.

The 14 MLAs, representing ridings scattered over a wide area, said:

"What is true for Liberal members of the legislature is true for Liberals throughout the province. We are convinced that Eric Kierans will command the support of not less than 30 per cent of the Quebec delegates to the Ottawa convention. . . ."

Strictly Personal

Multiple Meaning A Flaw

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Despite the many virtues of the English language, as compared to many others, one of the just complaints that foreigners bring against it is the multiple meanings of words — and common words, at that.

If you take a simple verb at random, the word "break" has nine distinct and different meanings as a transitive verb, and 12 different meanings as an intransitive verb. And the noun "break" has at least eight different meanings, ranging from prosody to electricity to sports.

It is even worse with idiomatic phrases in English. It is hard to believe, but true, that the large Oxford Dictionary cites 32 meanings of the phrase "take up," and 61 meanings of the phrase "set up." How can any foreigner learning the language ever possibly distinguished among these multifarious meanings?

Our language is perverse in tending to use one and the same word to describe a multiplicity of different actions—the most common and frequently abused of which is the little word "got," which is often made to do the work of dozens of other, and better, words.

As far back as the first publication of Brewer's "Dictionary of Phrase and Fable," in 1870, the relentless fooling of the word "got" was parodied in the following passage:

"I got a letter back within ten minutes after I got your letter. When I got to Canterbury I got a chaise for town; but I got wet through, and have got such a cold that I shall not get rid of it in a hurry. I got to the Treasury about noon, but first of all got shaved and dressed. I soon got into the secret of getting a memorial before the Board, but I could not get an answer then; however, I got intelligence from a messenger that I should get one next morning.

"As soon as I got back to my inn, I got my supper, and next morning, I got my breakfast and, having got dressed, I got out in time to get an answer to my memorial. As soon as I got it, I got into a chaise, and got back to Canterbury by three, and got home for tea. I have got no thing for you, and so adieu."

"Make" is another all-purpose maid in the language: we make friends, make money, make up, make out, make do, make over, make a speech, make known, make fast, make two, make a will, make 30 miles an hour, make the rounds, make the team, make a game, make merry, make free, make believe, make no bones, and how can anyone make head or tail out of such a language?

Jeane Dixon's Horoscope

Your birthday today: You face a year of profitable but emotionally stressful involvement with long-term responsibilities. The work you do this coming year will never leave your memory, and its results will endure. No easy or early dividends are in sight, however. Today's planets give you some strong intuitive faculties and often excel in athletics.

ARIES (Mar. 21 — Apr. 19): The work load clears up somewhat today, and everybody takes time out for a bit of humor. Avoid practical jokes, fulfill your obligations smoothly. Rest early tonight for a big tomorrow.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 — May 20): You may have to think carefully to keep today's social relations on an even keel. Your budget may be under strain. Your dream of what things cost is apt to be over-optimistic today.

GEMINI (May 21 — June 20): If you feel lazy today, accept it as normal for you. Take time out to refresh yourself, do some light exercise. Check up on your health, indulge your favorite hobby.

CANCER (June 21 — July 22): Spending to advertise oneself is more apt to repel than to attract people today. The consistent use of what you have checked out is better than a new experimental approach. Meditate this evening.

LEO (July 23 — Aug. 22): Today is no time to leave anybody in doubt about recent difficult questions. Say what you can to clarify the situation; take your responsibility and carry it with dignity.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 — Sept. 22): Have patience with a wild story today; it may be a lot more to it yet and it does not end as expected. This is a good day to go to the office or at least work out one's own plans directly.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 — Oct. 22): Expect more demands on your cash resources today than you had planned. Friends and associates are likely to fill up more of your time than usual. Retire early tonight.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23—Nov. 21): Today your intuition is all-important and, if you can keep wishful thinking out of it, very accurate. Expect a complex day, with too many things going at once.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 — Dec. 21): The tendency today is to let things drift. Inefficiency costs more than you may realize. Take a long look at your budget tonight.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 — Jan. 19): Plan today for the distant future; act for those too far away to be heard. Have patience with petty rivalries nearby. Continue research and study efforts.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 — Feb. 18): Be skeptical of business offers today, particularly from people new to you. Press for collection of bills due you.

PISCES (Feb. 19 — Mar. 20): Today is not great for glamor or adventure — just hard work. Avoid any unnecessary travel, and arrange your schedule to miss rush hour traffic if you can.

NOTICE
CITY OF BELLEVILLE

At the request of the Council of the City of Belleville, the Ontario Water Resources Commission has investigated the possibility of acquiring existing sewage works and installing extensions to these works. The sewage works project will be jointly owned by the Province of Ontario and will consist of treatment facilities, a sewage pumping station and forcemain. It is now proposed to abandon the Front Street pumping station and forcemain, the primary sewage treatment plant and outfall sewer at an estimated cost of $228,372 and construct such additional works estimated to cost $2,450,000, making a total cost of acquisition and construction of $2,678,372. To recover the cost of the acquisition, construction and operation of the sewage works, it is proposed to impose a sewage service charge rate of 16 cents per 1,000 gallons for sewage accepted from the municipality.

It is proposed to meet the annual charges for the sewage works as follows: a flat rate charge of $3.00 per month on all domestic water services as well as a mill rate levy of 1 mill on the assessed value of all lands within the municipality and in addition, a 44 per cent charge on all commercial and industrial water services.

On the basis of these levies, a typical home having an assessment of $8,000 would pay the following annual charges:

Flat rate of $3.00 per month on the water bill	$36.00
1 mill on assessment of $8,000	8.00
	$44.00

Any ratepayer may within twenty-one days after the first publication of this notice, send by prepaid post to the Clerk of the City of Belleville, at the address given below, a notice in writing stating his objection to such approval or to the imposition of the special sewage rate.

The Ontario Municipal Board may approve the said special sewage rate and may approve of the said works, but before doing so it may appoint a time and place for a public hearing when any objections will be considered, but notice of such hearing will be given only to those persons who have given notice of objection as provided for above.

DATED AT BELLEVILLE and first published this 25th day of March, 1968.

The Leadership Race

Winters Finally Gets Free Hand—Attacks Tax Policies

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

With the election of Canada's new Liberal party leader and prime minister only a few days away, candidates continued to blitz the nation during the last weekend of campaigning.

Prime Minister Lester Pearson's successor will be chosen at the party's three-day Ottawa convention which opens Thursday.

Robert Winters, whose resignation as minister of trade and commerce was accepted Saturday, used his freedom from the cabinet and attacked recent federal tax increases.

In Lindsay, Ont., he said Saturday that failure to operate within a balanced budget forced the federal government to raise taxes and take drastic measures that could have been avoided.

He said his call for a balanced budget in January had been based on the fear that confidence in the Canadian economy was being threatened by continued deficit financing by the government.

In Trois-Rivieres, Que., Justice Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau said tension and rivalry between federal and provincial governments are inevitable and healthy.

At a news conference, he said: "Confrontations between the two levels of government are not only inevitable, but positively desirable, a useful and necessary element in a healthy federal system.

"They (confrontations) were not invented by Johnson and Trudeau," he added, referring to his difference of opinion with Quebec Premier Daniel Johnson which flared up after the Feb. 5 federal-provincial constitutional conference.

Health Minister Allan MacEachen, speaking in Halifax, advocated establishment of a federal agency or department of Atlantic affairs.

He said that with such an agency, joint action by the four provincial governments and federal and bodies could be undertaken.

He said if he were chosen prime minister one of his priorities would be the removal of the inequalities between the Atlantic region and the rest of Canada.

Mr. MacEachen gained the support of Alex Campbell Saturday when the P.E.I. premier announced that the health minister "appeals to me as having the most constructive and effective approach to the solution of Atlantic region problems."

External Affairs Minister Paul Martin told a Rimouski, Que., audience that a federal-provincial body should be set up at the ministerial level to establish fiscal policies for the country.

He also said Quebec should have a say in foreign policy and in matters of education and culture when Canada deals with French-speaking countries.

In Montreal, Senator Jean-Paul Deschatelets, former public works minister in the cabinet of Prime Minister Pearson, announced his support for Mr. Martin, saying that the minister was "aware of domestic as well as world problems."

Finance Minister Mitchell Sharp said in Sudbury that Canada had just passed through the worst financial storm in memory.

He referred to Canada's increased taxation in relation to the recent devaluation of the British pound, and the attack on the American dollar primarily because of the war in Vietnam.

He said the world was looking at the Canadian dollar and its value in relation to the value of the U.S. dollar.

"We had to take mild measures early," he said, "so the wouldn't have to take drastic actions later."

Chances Improving: MacEachen

BOTHWELL, Ont. (CP) — Health Minister MacEachen said Saturday his chances of winning the Liberal leadership race "are getting better all the time."

Mr. MacEachen told a handful of delegates from Lambton, Kent, Elgin and Middlesex counties he expects good support from Ontario as well as the Maritimes.

He would not predict, however, who might have the edge in the leadership race.

"There's no way of knowing who the forerunner is, except what I read in the press and I don't know that it's indicative."

Mr. MacEachen said he favors establishment of free trade with the United States to promote Canadian production.

U.S. involvement in Canadian trade, providing subsidiaries of foreign corporations in Canada conform to Canadian interests, is necessary for "rate of growth," he said.

Quebec Should Have Say: Martin

RIMOUSKI, Que. (CP) — External Affairs Minister Martin said Sunday that Quebec should have a say in foreign policy in matters of education and culture when Canada deals with French-speaking countries.

Speaking to supporters, the Liberal leadership candidate said "Canada can have only one foreign policy, but in matters which are within their constitutional rights the provinces will have a role to play through new machinery" which would be created in this end.

Mr. Martin said a new partition of authority should be accompanied by a new sharing of tax revenues.

"The federal government must retain sufficient funds to play its role as regulator of our economy and to assume a certain initiative as, for example, in the development of northern resources."

He said a federal-provincial body should be set up at the ministerial level to establish fiscal policies for the country.

Regional economic disparities and the "traditionally inferior economic status of French Canada" were the roots of what is known as the Canadian crisis.

Mr. Martin said the next leader of his party, as prime minister, would be called upon to play a fundamental role in solving this crisis.

Trudeau Says Tension Inevitable But Healthy

TROIS-RIVIERES, Que. (CP) — Tension and rivalry between federal and provincial governments are not only inevitable but healthy, Justice Minister Trudeau said Saturday.

At a press conference following a meeting of Liberal party members here, the Liberal leadership candidate said:

"Confrontations between the two levels of government are not only inevitable, but positively desirable, a useful and necessary element in a healthy federal system."

"They were not invented by Johnson and Trudeau," he added, referring to his difference of opinion with Quebec Premier Daniel Johnson which flared up after the Feb. 5 federal-provincial constitutional conference.

"Quebec is still a 'poor' province. We need a strong central government, capable of meeting its obligations towards Quebec and at the same time towards the other provinces.

"Do not imagine that if I am elected prime minister and leader of the Liberal party, I will give up everything to avoid tension with Quebec."

Worse Measures Needed Than Expected: Winters

LINDSAY, Ont. (CP) — Robert Winters said Saturday that failure to operate within a balanced budget forced the federal government to raise taxes and take other drastic measures that could have been avoided.

Mr. Winters, a candidate for the leadership of the Liberal party whose resignation as minister of trade and commerce was accepted Saturday, said his call for a balanced budget in January had been based on the fear that confidence in the Canadian economy was being threatened by continued deficit financing by the government.

"I felt we were spending beyond our means, that we were heading for a loss of confidence in our economic position and losing economic strength," Mr. Winters told Liberals from five ridings in the Lindsay area.

"I felt that we were heading for the position that in fact we ended up in a few weeks ago," he said. "The government had to take worse measures than I had hoped we would—cutting back government programs and raising taxes.

"I had hoped in January that we might do the things necessary before the situation reached crisis proportions," Mr. Winters said.

He said he does not favor any massive cutback in government spending. The government should "hold the line" on introducing new programs until revenues have caught up with current expenditures.

Tweed District News

TWEED — The Women's Institute meeting of Cloyne was held recently at the home of Mrs. Percy King, in the village, with a good attendance.

It was decided that as many as possible would attend the next council meeting in Cloyne. Plans for the dinner in the hall were discussed. Lunch was served by the hostesses, Mrs. King and Mrs. J. Henry.

The Community Club meeting was held at the home of Mrs. William Brownlee, Cloyne and it was decided by the group that they purchase new dishes and more tables so that they can hold more community activities.

Winners at the Tuesday night euchre were Don Wood, Bert Carrol, Bob Longmuir, Edna Longmuir, Irene Carrol.

AWAYS A BARKER

FREDERICTON (CP) — When Lt.-Gov. A. R. McClelan of New Brunswick appointed H. S. Barker as his official secretary Feb. 9, 1893, he started something. There have been 13 changes in the post of lieutenant-governor, but the official secretaries have always been Barkers. And when Lt.-Gov. Wallace Bird was appointed in February, he reappointed Mrs. T. C. Barker as his secretary.

Trudeau Tops Poll

OTTAWA (CP) — A CBC television poll has given Justice Minister Trudeau a substantial first-ballot lead in the race to pick a new Liberal leader.

Results of the poll released Sunday night on the public affairs program The Way It Is.

Mr. Trudeau was given 606 delegation votes, less than half the simple majority required for victory.

There were 357 delegates uncommitted, for a delegate total of 2,476.

Commentators emphasized that the results were the delegates' feelings at the moment, and minds could change by the time they cast their ballots at the leadership convention April 6.

Soviet Envoy in London Cool to Call for Talks

The War

- SAIGON (AP) — U.S. planes are stepping up their attacks on the southern part of North Vietnam during President Johnson's ban on bombing of the Hanoi-Haiphong industrial heartland, it was learned today.
- WASHINGTON (AP) — Air Force officials say the North Vietnamese are likely to take advantage of the U.S. bombing restrictions by preparing a massive supply run southward.

LONDON (AP) — The Soviet ambassador to Britain has turned a cold shoulder to a British overture for Vietnam peace talks based on President Johnson's bombing limitation, but Moscow and Hanoi maintained official silence today.

Seeking a resumption of the Geneva conference on Vietnam, of which the Soviet Union and Britain are co-chairmen, British Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart met for 45 minutes Monday night with Ambassador Mikhail Smirnovsky and told him he was ready to fly to Moscow to see Foreign Minister Andrei Gomyko.

"Mr. Smirnovsky restated some of the familiar Russian and North Vietnamese positions so you could not say I was encouraged," Stewart said in a television interview afterward.

Smirnovsky told reporters Johnson's limitation of the bombing of North Vietnam was "incomplete" and "not unconditional," as the North Vietnamese had demanded.

The delay in official reaction from Moscow and Hanoi was not unusual, but various unofficial comments indicated Moscow and Hanoi would reject Johnson's overture for peace negotiations.

Officials in Europe familiar with Vietnamese affairs predicted that Hanoi would reject peace talks on the ground that parts of North Vietnam were still being bombed.

In Cairo, a member of a visiting Viet Cong delegation said the regime's special interest in "the Americans mean no peace and our people have no choice but to continue fighting."

The Chinese, long opposed to any settlement in Vietnam short of a complete Communist victory, also were expected to reject or ignore the Johnson overture. The Peking correspondent of Japan's Kyodo news service said the Chinese interpreted the Johnson announcement to mean the Americans had lost confidence in their ability to win the war.

In Hong Kong, both Communist and anti-Communist newspapers agreed that the bombing limitation spelled U.S. defeat in the fight against communism in Asia.

Politics: McCarthy, Nixon Tested at Polls

McCarthy All Smiles

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Democrat Eugene J. McCarthy and Republican Richard M. Nixon checked their White House credentials today in a Wisconsin presidential primary that offered only shadow contests.

Chief among the shadows: Lyndon B. Johnson, the president whose announcement that he will not run again turned Wisconsin and Democratic politics from a battleground into a maze.

Republicans and Democrats, even men in the McCarthy camp, said the president undoubtedly would get more votes in Wisconsin than he would have had he remained in the presidential race. Johnson's name remains on the ballot.

The primary was the first test of voter sentiment toward a president who has decided to stand aside. Wisconsin politicians in both parties expected a sizeable vote of sympathy.

Should that Johnson vote be large, McCarthy said, he would have to "go on to Indiana and say this was not a real political test, I suppose."

Wisconsin voting begins in some areas at 8 a.m. EST and winds up at 9 p.m.

In Madison, the state capital where the University of Wisconsin campus has been several anti-war demonstrations, a municipal referendum faces voters on Vietnam issues.

The referendum question asks whether there should be "an immediate ceasefire and withdrawal of the United States troops from Vietnam, so that the Vietnamese people can determine their own destiny."

Nixon was virtually assured all 30 Republican presidential nominating votes in Wisconsin.

McCarthy was seeking 57 votes from the Democratic nomination, to add to the 20 he captured in New Hampshire's presidential primary, to the 72 he expects to reap in the contested Massachusetts primary, and to 16 or more he is likely to obtain in Minnesota.

Four Democratic votes go to the winner in each of 10 congressional districts, 17 to the state-wide victor.

Indiana holds the beginning of the real Democratic contest. New York Senator Robert F. Kennedy will run there May 7 against McCarthy in a Democratic primary matching the two dissenters who have suddenly become the top contenders.

McCarthy said he could not guess whether Vice-President Hubert H. Humphrey would now join the battle for the Democratic nomination.

In a broadcast which cost his campaign a treasury $17,000, McCarthy said Johnson was a man committed to peace and had proved it by announcing Sunday night that he would not seek or accept renomination.

McCarthy said his intention to fight for the Democratic nomination is unchanged and will stay that way, "no matter who may come into the contest with me," and no matter what happens in the primary elections.

Hanoi Man Sees Paris Official

PARIS (Reuters) — Mai Van Bo, North Vietnam's highest ranking official in the West, had a meeting today with the head of the French foreign ministry's Asian department, Vietnamese sources said.

They declined to disclose what was discussed at the meeting but said it was "routine."

Bo is North Vietnam's delegate-general in France.

The North Vietnamese delegation previously dismissed as "pure invention" a report it asked the French government for a text of President Johnson's announcement Sunday of a bombing restriction in Vietnam.

French foreign ministry officials declined to confirm or deny the report which said the text was passed on to Hanoi.

The delegation did not deny it was studying a text of the president's speech.

Humphrey Sees Johnson

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice-President Hubert H. Humphrey, who has not said whether he will seek the presidency, met with President Johnson today for the first time since Johnson announced he does not want a second term.

Humphrey, who arrived here late Monday from a diplomatic mission to Mexico City, told a crowd of supporters meeting his plane he will say "later on" whether he will be a candidate.

Johnson also has on tap a meeting with Senator Robert F. Kennedy, who already is contending for the Democratic nomination, with no date announced. Kennedy requested the meeting to discuss national unity following Johnson's announcement Sunday night that he won't seek or accept renomination.

An Associated Press poll showed that some Democratic national committeemen and governors would look toward Humphrey, although a large percentage of them expressed hope Johnson would change his mind and a few mentioned a draft-Johnson attempt.

Anti-Stalinist Found Hanged

PRAGUE (Reuters) — Josef Brestansky, a Czechoslovia's Supreme Court judge missing since March 28, was found today hanged in a wood near Prague, it was officially announced.

The 42-year-old judge, who disappeared Thursday after he left the Supreme Court building here, was working on the rehabilitation of persons persecuted under Stalinism.

Observers believed that under the rehabilitation campaign, ordered by the new reforming leaders of the Communist party, a number of officials concerned with the purges between 1949 and 1954 would face legal action themselves.

He Is Spending $72,000 Does He Owe $85.10?

TORONTO (CP) — Lionel Lamframboise, a candidate for the leadership of the federal Liberal party, drew only one reporter to his Toronto news conference Monday.

He told his audience that he has "377 delegates pledged to me."

The 53-year-old Elliot Lake, Ont., mine developer said he travelled coast to coast and will have spent $72,000 by the time the leadership convention ends Saturday. The convention opens in Ottawa Thursday.

VANCOUVER (CP) — Justice of the Peace W. A. Townley said Monday he signed and issued a warrant for the arrest of Lionel Laframboise, a Liberal leadership candidate who is alleged to have left here without paying a hotel bill.

Frank Bernard, owner - operator of the Georgetown Towers Hotel, said in a complaint laid with police that Mr. Laframboise did not pay $85.10 for a weekend stay.

He was here last week seeking support as a candidate in the leadership race.

War Critics Pleased By LBJ's Retirement

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic senators openly critical of President Johnson's Vietnam policies are privately expressing relief that he has decided against running again.

Many had viewed Johnson as the party's likely nominee and felt they would be hard-pressed to run under his political mantle with their opposition to his war policies.

In this presidential election year, Democrats face stiff fights in both the Senate and House of Representatives.

For some weeks, Senate and House Democrats who oppose Johnson on the war have been without a political tightrope, afraid to offend either wing of their divided party and worried about the possibility of having to campaign on a ticket headed by a president whom they were critical.

This is the major reason for the widespread neutrality of congressional Democrats. Only a handful supported Minnesota Senator Eugene J. McCarthy or New York Senator Robert F. Kennedy.

World Questions Effect of Withdrawal

By Reuters

Although most newspapers in the free world praised President Johnson for his decision not to seek re-election in his bid for peace in Vietnam, press reaction today was mixed on its likely effectiveness.

Most newspapers said the decision now placed the onus for negotiations on North Vietnam. But opinion was divided on whether Hanoi would react positively or whether it would wait until the presidential election in November on the theory that Johnson now is politically weak and has limited his opportunities for action.

In Britain, there was widespread sympathy for Johnson's action.

The Times says Johnson "has opened a door and it is up to Hanoi to keep it open even if talks do not actually begin until a new president has come to Washington."

The Daily Express warns: "Russia may think that, by hardening driven the U.S. so far, she and her friend may, by continuing the war, push America to complete capitulation. This would be a foolhardy assumption."

The Guardian says: "The burden is now plainly on Hanoi to show that all its talk of peace is not just cynical propaganda."

In France, the official Gaullist La Nation says much could happen before the Democratic party's August convention and no one could say before then whether Johnson "has really opened the door to peace or simply shown his political will in the face of a difficult electoral game."

Le Figaro says his decision to "continue bombing the demilitarized zone was purely tactical and could not be considered as evidence he was acting with ulterior motives."

In West Germany, the Welt says the bombing restriction makes unlikely to bring peace talks because Johnson's renunciation of a re-election bid "must strengthen the Communists' conviction that America is near to moral collapse."

In Formosa, the influential English-language China News doubts Johnson's peace offer would be fruitful. "The North Vietnamese are likely to conclude that if Johnson has gone this far, he subsequently may be prepared to go further," the paper says.

In the Philippines, The Evening News says Hanoi's refusal to negotiate would relieve the U.S. of any moral responsibility to achieve peace through military means. The Manila Bulletin sees no reason for his decision was the realization that American public opinion could not be dismissed for long.

In Thailand, the English-language Bangkok Post says it hopes Johnson is right in his decision. "If he is not, the consequences of his action may cause any amount of damage not only to his party and the country but also for the entire free world."

In Australia, the Sydney Sun says while Australians feel admiration for Johnson, his speech was an admission of failure. The Age of Melbourne says the bombing decision was a risk, but one well worth taking.

In India, The Statesman said the de-escalation felt short of what Hanoi wanted, but also of what was reasonable. The Times of India said it was possible Johnson was withdrawing because "of what he has hinted at—his disgust at the prospect of a nasty and bitter intra-party quarrel."

In Japan, The Asahi Shimbun, long a critic of the bombing, welcomed the decision but says, "It came too late and the halt to the bombings should have been total, unconditional and permanent."

North Vietnam: LBJ Still Misleading Public

MOSCOW (Reuters) — The North Vietnamese Army newspaper, quoted by the Soviet news agency Tass, today charged the Johnson administration with "still looking for ways and means of misleading public opinion."

The newspaper, as quoted by Tass, said in an editorial:

"The Johnson clique, although it has openly declared its intention to overhaul the strategy of its war of aggression in Vietnam, is still looking for ways and means of misleading public opinion and does not agree to stop the bombing and other military actions finally and unconditionally throughout the Democratic Republic of Vietnam.

"Our people want peace, but real peace must go with genuine independence and freedom. As long as our beloved homeland is overshadowed by American aggression, our country will not have genuine freedom and independence."

Animal Shelter Shelved

Sidney Township council yesterday decided that they were not interested in the proposed consolidated animal control shelter because of the high costs it would entail.

The proposed amalgamation of dog pounds is figured on a per capita rate but the council estimated the project would increase the tax rate by half a mill.

Building permits issued for the month of March in Sidney township amounted to $721,950 for a total of eight permits. Clerk J. B. Harder pointed out that many of the permits were due to Loyalist College.

Ontario Hydro was given permission by the council to extend their hydro lines on Montrose Ave. and finally in these days of rising costs it was noted by council that the welfare accounts for the month were the lowest that have ever been on record.

The rest of council business was taken up with small accounts and correspondence, some of which had to be put over until the next meeting.

Provincial Parks Will Open May 10

PICTON (Staff) — The seven Provincial Parks in the Tweed forest district will be officially open for the 1968 season on Friday, May 10.

Ben Dale, Outlet Beach and Sandbanks provincial parks are open year round. The sale of provincial park vehicle permits commences Friday, May 10, and ends Sunday, September 15, in all Southern Ontario Provincial Parks.

Additional facilities will be available at Outlet Beach Park including a new water pressure system in the camping area; eighty additional campsites adjacent to Lake Ontario and the Sand Beach; many campsites enlarged to accommodate travel trailers and a central travel trailer sanitation station.

west city area west of Sidney Street and south of 401 highway.

As a property owner in the area council opposed an application for rezoning of the property to allow the slaughter house operation.

At the same time it voiced no objection to the request of the property owner for a land split — dividing it into two to used as the site for a slaughter house or meat packing plant.

Council made it clear that it didn't want a slaughter house in the north Sidney Street area and doubt was expressed that there was any area within the city limits where such an operation would not be objectionable.

"Residents must be protected," said Mayor J. R. Scott. "We couldn't allow a slaughter house even in an open area because we don't know what the development might be.

Allowing a slaughter house in the city could be akin to a skunk at a garden party, he said.

Alderman Gerald Joyce wanted it made clear that the Belleville Industrial Commission did not support the request for a slaughter house in the Sidney Street location. However, it did offer to assist the principal in locating in the Belleville area.

Ald. Arnold Orr said the planning board had not supported the Sidney Street location.

Alderman Keegan said location of the slaughter house in the Sidney Street area would hurt development of the entire area.

"On the other hand," he said, "Thurlow township would be happy to see the slaughter house locate there."

A public hearing on the request for rezoning of the area is scheduled by the Belleville and Suburban Planning Board for April 8.

Moira Beverages

Council to Assist Financially Firm Re-locating Hydro Line

Belleville city council must decide on whether financial assistance should be extended to existing industry as well as to new industry as an incentive for it to locate here.

This is the feeling of Mayor J. Russell Scott who feels that the city should be prepared to help "old friends" as well as the new acquaintances.

He said the question was a philosophical one but suggested the city might consider helping present industry even more than the newcomers.

The question arose yesterday in council as a result of a recommendation from the Belleville Industrial Commission requesting the city to pay $812 toward the cost of relocating a hydro transmission line to allow Moira Beverages Ltd. to construct a new building on Wallbridge Crescent.

The $812 represents one-third of the cost of re-locating the line.

Alderman Gerald Joyce as council representative on the city industrial commission said that Moira Beverages intended to build a 22,000 square foot building on the Wallbridge Crescent property which would return about $8,000 annually to the city in taxes.

Alderman Douglas Boyle said this was an expense item request from a firm already in Belleville and would be a direct subsidy toward removing a hydro line which the firm knew would have to be re-located.

"I'm in sympathy with the request but I cannot support it," he said.

However, council went along with the request to assist the firm in relocating the line.

During the discussion Mayor Scott said that "colossal sums" were being handed out across Ontario under the provincial program of equal industrial opportunity. He said he intended to make a statement on the matter at a later date.

Also during yesterday's meeting council voted for the city to assume the entire assessment levied against American Superior Electric Co. Ltd. in respect to the installation of a sanitary sewer.

The city will pay the amount of $6,549 subject to Superior Electric granting the necessary sewer easement at no cost to the city.

The recommendation that the city pay the $6,549 was proposed by the Belleville Industrial Commission which felt the city was obligated to fulfill covenants contained in the agreement negotiated with Superior Electric.

The Industrial Commission report said Superior Electric was not objecting to the watermain charge but strongly questioned the sanitary sewer charge.

City manager J. R. Reynolds said it was originally assumed the sewer would follow the road allowance but it was later found that the easement was necessary.

The company, which constructed a new plant in the northeast Belleville area last year, objected to paying the local improvement charges on the easement.

Could Cost $2,300,000

Madoc School Expansion

A construction project doubling the capacity of the Madoc high school may cost more than $2,300,000.

That was the snap estimate offered by its architect last night as Bay of Quinte District High School Board members viewed a blueprint concept of the scheme.

The project, including additional building and renovation to the existing high school, is designed to house more than 1,200 students.

It will accommodate students in the central Hastings area for the 1969-70 terms.

The board's planning and building committee spent more than three hours last night poring over the blueprints at Quinte Secondary School.

The cost estimate on the work contract was approximated by architect Irving Boigon, of Toronto.

Mr. Boigon believed the addition might cost about $2,000,000 and renovations to existing school areas roughly $310,000.

The architect described the blueprints as a "concept plan" of the project and sought full board approval as soon as possible.

School superintendent Donald Stirling, who thrashed out details and suggestions along with the committee, said the architect had made good use of the site available.

Committee chairman Bruce Portt agreed.

"I think, taking into question the site we have, it's quite a yeasgnable approach," he said.

The committee agreed with the chairman that tentative approval be given the blueprint concept and presented to a special general board meeting, probably next week.

Council Action

Grants Considered in Budget

Belleville city council will no longer consider grant requests prior to its annual budget discussions.

At least that will be the intention as a result of a recommendation passed yesterday by the city fathers.

City Manager J. R. Reynolds says that has been the policy all along but unfortunately council sometimes decrees otherwise.

"Because of internal pressure," commeneted Mayor J. R. Scott.

The proposal to discuss grants only at the annual budget session resulted from a request from the Belleville Chamber of Commerce for an increased grant this year.

The request was turned over to a special committee which yesterday recommended an increase of $1,000 over the $4,000 city grant voted last year.

The special committee of Alderman Robin Gaffney and Arnold Orr reported the Chamber budget this year was for $42,380 of which $8,100 was chargeable to community service leaving a deficit of $7,180.

The committee said it appreciated the valuable service provided by the Chamber of Commerce and was sympathetic to its request but at the same time was reluctant to recommend the full grant requested.

Accordingly it recommended a grant of $5,000 be paid.

Alderman Gerald Joyce said if the Chamber grant request was for $7,500 some of the Chamber program would have to be left out.

Mayor Scott recommended that the matter be referred to the city manager for budget discussions with a minimum grant of $5,000 being assumed.

Alderman Williams said all grant requests should be left until the budget discussions and the recommendation to this effect was later passed.

Council Directs Negotiations Be Opened for Connecting Road

Despite the fact that the Belleville and Suburban Planning Board doesn't feel the roadway is necessary, city council has directed a close look be taken on the need and cost of a connecting link between Wellington and Sidney streets in the city's west hill district.

Yesterday council directed that negotiations be entered into with Albert College and American Optical to determine the possible cost of acquiring the needed right-of-way, and also that cost estimates for the roadway construction be provided.

The Belleville and Suburban Planning Board has told council that it cannot support the suggestion that the roadway be constructed at this time.

But pressure by residents in the area have caused council to take the further look into the request for the road-way.

Yesterday Mr. Armin Quickert from Reid's Dairy presented a petition to council carrying the names of more than 200 area residents. He said that 99 per cent of the residents in the area would support the petition for the connecting roadway.

Mr. Quickert said the deadending of Highland Ave. would seriously affect Reid's Dairy cash and carry business.

And several aldermen also felt there was a need for the roadway.

Alderman Don Williams said that considering the amount of money being spent to bring new industry into the city, it was only right that some consideration be given to existing firms.

Two weeks ago when the request for the roadway was first heard, it was pointed out that Reid's Dairy and Carm's Beverages were situated in an area zoned for residential use.

But Alderman Art Keegan said yesterday there was no objection by residents to the long established commercial enterprises.

He said that if council refused the roadway it could result in "chasing" Reid's Dairy to Trenton.

Mayor J. Russell Scott, attending his first meeting since undergoing surgery said that council two years ago had considered the roadway but had turned it down.

"At that time, however, council did not realize that Highland Ave. would be cut off," he said.

"This," he said "puts a different complexion on the matter."

IN MEMORIAM

POST — In loving memory of a dear mother Mrs. Ruby Post who passed away April 8th, 1967. And while she lies in graceful rest

Her memory we shall always keep —Always remembered by Bob and his brothers, sisters and families.

HENDERSON — In loving memory of our dear father Wesley Henderson, who passed away April 2, 1967. Those whom we love go out of sight,

But never out of mind,
They are cherished in the hearts,
Of those they left behind.
Loving and kind in all his ways,
Upright and just in all his days,
Sincere and true in heart and mind,
Beautiful memories he left behind.
—Sadly missed by wife Nellie and family.

POST — In loving memory of our beloved mother, Ruby Post, who passed away April 2, 1962.
Mom left the ones she loved the best,
Without a last goodbye,
And in our sad and lonely hearts,
Memories never die.
There's a reason hidden somewhere,
In the path God has planned,
We must believe and trust in Him,
And somehow we'll understand.
—Dearly loved, sadly missed by Carol, Ray and Debby.

CARDS OF THANKS

I would like to express my sincere thanks to the staff of Duffin Funeral Home, friends and neighbors of my dear wife Anne Isabel Nicholson. Also for the many beautiful floral tributes, cards, expressions of sympathy and kind deeds during the loss of my loved one. Special thanks to the staff of Ward 4 of the Belleville General and Tories and the nursing staff of the Intensive Care Unit of the Belleville General Hospital for their kindness and wonderful service.

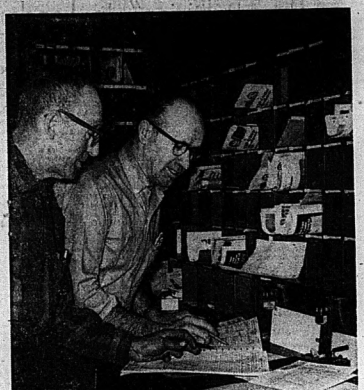
Foxboro Postmaster Retires

Nearly 28 years as postmaster at the village of Foxboro was ended last week for Clayton Hamilton who has turned the job over to the man who for the past two years has worked as his assistant.

The new postmaster is A. R. Reilly who will combine the postmaster's duty with the operation of his general store and tea room.



Mr. Hamilton took over the post office back in May, 1940 following the death of W. R. Prentice.

Since then he has seen the volume of mail greatly increase and has also seen rural delivery expanded along three additional roads in the Foxboro area.

But at 69 Mr. Hamilton is not thinking of complete retirement. He will continue a part time role of being plumbing and other installations an extra curricular activity which in the past two years has seen him turn jobs.

A former general merchant in the village, Mr. Hamilton sold his store to Mr. Reilly two years ago.

The store, known as the R. B. Hamilton and Son General Store, was purchased by Mr. Hamilton and his father from the late John Shaw nearly half a century ago.

Postmaster 27 Years

Clayton Hamilton (left) postmaster for more than 27 years at the village of Foxboro, goes over records with successor A. R. Reilly. Mr. Hamilton retired last week — just a month short of 28 years in the office.

Mail Courier Given Medal For Service

Rawdon Township council convened at the municipal hall in Harold yesterday, to hold their regular meeting.

Reeve Burton Morton officially presented William Runnals with a centennial medal in recognition of his 40 years as a mail courier in the township. During that time Mr. Runnals missed only one day because of illness — the rest were due to weather conditions.

Bids Asked For Resort Property

Elzevir Township Council will invite offers for the purchase of the former Hastings County Rod and Gun Club now owned by that municipality.

The club property some years ago was seized by the township for taxes and is now being put up for sale.

The Moira River Conservation Authority for some time has been interested in the property and last night a delegation attended at a township council meeting to negotiate an offer for the property.

However, three other delegations attended the meeting with offers to purchase the property.

As a result, council decided to invite public offers for the property.

Lennox and Addington District Health Unit Formed

NAPANEE — Monday of last week Lennox and Addington County Council approved a by-law to amalgamate its health unit with those of Frontenac and the city of Kingston. Friday the agreement was signed by Mayor Robert Fray of Kingston, William Halligan warden of Frontenac and Ray Gaffney, warden of Lennox and Addington. The agreement is the climax to four years of negotiations.

The new district health unit hopes to be in operation by July 1, 1958, with headquarters in or near Kingston and sub-offices in Napanee and Sharbot Lake, and probably elsewhere eventually. If the district unit is in operation on that date 75 per cent of the cost of operation will be available from the provincial government, as against 25 per cent under the old system.

Each of the two counties will have two representatives on the new joint board of health, the city of Kingston will have three. The Ontario Government will appoint a representative for each municipality. Edgar Thompson of Odessa is at present the government representative for Lennox and Addington.

Harold Creighton, Reeve of South Fredericksburgh, and present chairman of the Lennox and Addington Board, and William Briscoe, Deputy-Reeve of Ernestown and last year's warden, were appointed to represent Lennox and Addington at Monday night's council meeting.

Tripp Threatens Resignation As Council Rejects Formula

By MAURICE SWITZER
Staff Reporter

TRENTON — Councillor Paul Tripp threatened to resign as chairman of a special co-ordinating committee and tried to disband the body after last night's council session rejected his formula for hiring a planning consultant.

The town's industrial commissioner made the threats after councillors Douglas Kinney, Duncan McDonald, Ed. Todd and Gerald Weaver refused endorsement of what was termed an "open-end" contract with Toronto consultant Eric Hardy.

Only Councillor F. M. "Ted" Parker voted with Mr. Tripp's resolution that Mr. Hardy be hired for $2,400 (an increase over a previous estimate), plus an additional "reasonable sum" for Mr. Hardy's consultations with Project Planning Associates, the firm conducting an urban renewal study here.

Council had previously approved in principle the hiring of Mr. Hardy, on the recommendation of the special Co-ordinating Committee for the Expansion of the Boundaries of Trenton, of which Councillor Tripp is the chairman.

The special committee was set up last November at Councillor Tripp's suggestion to deal with the industrial and residential merits of expanding existing town acreage. In addition to the town's industrial commission, the committee contains representatives from the realty field and local retail merchants.

"We're rapidly running out of sites," stressed Mr. Tripp in trying to get council approval to hire the consultant. He told newsmen after the meeting the co-ordinating committee had recommended retaining the Toronto consultant's services to add substance to their "amateur" opinions.

The majority of council objected to the planning "reasonable sum" in Councillor Tripp's bid to hire Mr. Hardy. The industrial commissioner said there was no way he could definitely pin down how much Mr. Hardy's consultation with Project Planning Associates would cost the town, although he estimated $200.

"I think we should leave that up to his discretion—he represents a reputable firm."

Councillor Gerald Weaver said he, for one, wouldn't endorse the signing of any "open-end" agreement.

Immediately after the motion was defeated, sending the reseking of prepared resolutions, Councillor Tripp snatched up a piece of council stationery, hastily scribbled something onto it, got a seconder, and handed it before Mayor James MacDonald.

The item was a motion to disband the special co-ordinating committee. Councillor Tripp said he regretted the defeat of his recommendation to hire Mr. Hardy as lack of confidence in the committee.

"Are these your sentiments or those of the rest of the committee? queried Councillor Duncan McDonald.

"They're mine!" snorted Mr. Tripp, requesting a vote be taken on his new motion.

Mayor MacDonald cast a tie-breaking vote to keep the Co-ordinating Committee in existence. Councillors Tripp, Parker and Kinney voted for the Tripp resolution to disband the committee; the mayor and councillors Weaver, Todd and McDonald defeated the motion.

"Then I want council to set down the terms of reference of this committee or accept my resignation," snapped Councillor Tripp.

"We'll do that," said Mayor MacDonald in adjourning the meeting.

A councillor said afterwards that, in his opinion, all that would have been required to pass the Tripp resolution for hiring a consultant was a clear statement of how much his services were expected to cost.

"It would have given council something to refer to," he added.

Parker Reacts

Trenton Land Policy Illegal Says Councillor Weaver

TRENTON — Councillor Gerald Weaver's persistence in his claim that town industrial land policy is "illegal" was termed "unforgivable" by Councillor E. M. "Ted" Parker last night.

Councillor Parker had harsh words for his colleague across the table when Mr. Weaver demanded that a letter from the Department of Municipal Affairs be read aloud at last night's regular council session.

The letter from Municipal Affairs Minister W. Darcy McKeough, billed itself as "a clarification for him (Councillor Weaver) from the Department as to whether or not the Municipal Act permits a municipal corporation to sell land acquired in this manner at less than fair."

The brief, four-paragraph communication "invited attention" to section 248A of the Municipal Act, which states:

"Notwithstanding any general or special act, a council shall not grant bonuses in aid of any manufacturing business or other industrial or commercial enterprise."

Two weeks ago Councillor Weaver had vehemently objected to sale of two acres of industrial property at $100 an acre to Future Factories Ltd., a local firm building factory shells for assortment to potential industry. Under questioning by Councillor Weaver, it was revealed that the town had paid $1,000 an acre for the north Sidney St. land.

"I'm not a lawyer to understand why it was necessary to have this letter written," said Councillor Parker. "It's a clear statement to make us look bad."

"I think it's unforgivable," Councillor Weaver replied he thought it is only proper that council would operate within the framework set down by the Department of Municipal Affairs.

He had been the lone objector to the March. 18 resolution to sell the property to Future Factories for the $100 per acre price established as town policy of selling potential industrial land.

At that time, he termed council's policy for selling industrially - designated land "illegal" under what he understood were the provisions of the Municipal Act.

In offering the $100 per acre price, council usually attaches a rider that construction on the site must begin within six months and be completed within a year from the purchase date.

Mayor James MacDonald said council administers its industrial policy "for the betterment of all."

"Before council acted, they were well aware of what the Municipal Act said and of what they were doing," he told Councillor Weaver."

There was no further discussion of the issue.

Amalgamation of County Boards Predicted Within Two Years

TRENTON — "An amalgamation of school boards in Hastings and Prince Edward Counties may take place within two years," Macdonald Smith, chairman of the Belleville public school board, said last night.

He presented his view to members of the interim committee on the reorganization of school areas at Trenton High School.

"But it is up to the Prince Edward County organization to make the first move," he said.

The interim committee was set up to recommend changes and prepare a report on education in Hastings County for the new county wide board of education which will take over education on Jan. 1, 1969.

Chairman of the interim organization, James Clarke, said he believes the amalgamation will take place within five years. "Amelisburg has been very active in the attempt to attach Prince Edward to Hastings County," he said.

Mr. Smith said both Prince Edward and Lennox and Addington Counties are below the recognized size to provide a complete education program.

"If we're going to amalgamate in two years maybe we should give some thought to doing it now," he declared.

Chairman Clarke said he believed the matter was outside the jurisdiction of the interim committee.

The interim committee is composed of one representative from each of the public and high school boards in Hastings County.

The committee also announced at last night's meeting that Peter Cote has been named chairman of a secretariat which will gather information on school organization and policy for the interim organization.

The secretariat is composed of all superintendents and inspectors involved in the Hastings County school set up at the present time.

In other business the committee:

- Discussed the possibility of having a representative on the separate school ratepayers on the interim organization.
- Ironed out the duties of the secretariat in collecting information needed by the present school systems.
- Rejected making a commitment on the purchase of the 100 acre Hastings County Rod and Gun Club property for use as a conservation school.
- Requested a weekly notice from any delegations which intend to appear before the committee.
- Rejected the idea of appointing business administrators to the secretariat.

It was pointed out by Chairman Clarke that the committee would require a consolidated statement on the finances of the district.

T. S. Ketcheson, chairman of the Trenton Board of Education said the information gathered by the interim committee and the recommendations should be presented to the new board in book form.

Picton Firemen

Grass Fires Cause Problem

PICTON (Staff) — Over the past weekend many grass fires have been reported. Brighton and Trenton Fire Departments have both reported serious grass fires and Wellington village has also had its share. One major and three serious grass fires kept Chief Jack Ogilvie and his men on their toes.

Saturday afternoon about 2.30 the department answered an alarm to the home of Clifton Gamble, R.R. 2 Consecon, where fire gutted the upstairs area of the frame dwelling. The Gamble residence is located on the South side of Consecon Lake and is a summer resort.

When the fire was first discovered the flames were visiting friends not far from home. They have no children now living at home. About two-thirds of the contents of the dwelling were removed before they were damaged by fire which is believed to have been caused by a faulty chimney. This is the second major fire in a matter of weeks for the Wellington department. Fire Chief Ogilvie and his men also did a fine job of controlling a fire in the Wellington home of Joseph Stevens. This fire was very similar in that it too was caused by a faulty chimney.

The first of the grass fires occurred near the old Hillier School on Thursday — then a serious grass fire called the department to the property of Lewis Wight, located just west of Wellington where cottages were endangered on Friday.

At 1.45 on Sunday afternoon and just preceeding the Gamble fire the Wellington Department answered a call to the farm of John Rennie where a barn was threatened. The firefighters had only time to catch their breath from this one when they had to dash off to the Gamble fire at Consecon Lake.

Association Makes Offer

TRENTON — The local Community Concert Association membership drive continues until Saturday, with a bonus offer to those purchasing season tickets by tomorrow.

Anyone obtaining tickets for the 1968-69 concert series, (at $7 per adult, $3 for students), by tomorrow will be entitled to admission to the final concert of the current season.

Baritone Simon Estes rings the curtain on the 1967-68 concert group tomorrow evening.

Concert Association members meanwhile are planning "at least three" events for the new season, and seeking to boost their last year's membership of 672.

Already booked for a Trenton concert are the popular Robert De Cormier Folk Singers, making their third appearance before a local audience.

Season tickets are available at David's Furniture, or from and Concert Association member.

Mr. Johnson's Decision

The trouble with President Johnson's announcement of "de-escalation" of the war in Vietnam is that in all probability it will not be matched by a comparable move by the communists.

Clearly Johnson is bowing to the continuous clamor among so-called "peace" groups both in the United States itself and around the world. However, events may prove Johnson's decision a weak one. Vietnam is a relentless war. It conceivably could be won — militarily at least — by an all-out effort. It certainly will not be won if the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese are afforded further breathing spaces like the cessation of bombing Mr. Johnson has just announced.

There has been no indication in the past of the Hanoi government desiring any solution to the conflict other than by withdrawal from the Vietnam scene of the United States. True, they have let it be known that no negotiations are possible without a halt to the bombing, but this is really no more than a move to lure the U.S. into thinking they might negotiate sometime.

The communists all along have indicated they can and will fight on indefinitely. During the last break in the bombing they have responded by stepping up their movement of troops and supplies. It was the same during the new year holiday period. They used that occasion to launch savage attacks on Saigon and other cities.

As for President Johnson's decision not to seek renomination it is scarcely necessary to repeat that the free world has been taken aback. It is a measure of his sincerity, however, that he feels the office of president, in the midst of conflict in Asia and civil disobedience and disorder at home, should not be allowed to become involved in partisan politics.

The President, who not surprisingly looks a very tired man, now devotes himself almost exclusively to seeking peace in Vietnam and to combatting civil strife at home. What Senators Kennedy and McCarthy say or do now in the presidential primaries is their own business, but obviously the rug has been pulled from under them by the president's decision.

For his own part, President Johnson did well to quote the words of his predecessor, John Kennedy, to the effect the United States would bear any burden and pay any price to ensure the cause of liberty. There are many who have forgotten those words of President Kennedy, among them, apparently, his brother.

Vietnam Tragedy

Much of the tragedy of Vietnam can be discerned in a report from Elizabeth Brown, director of Foster Parents' Plan in Saigon.

"One has the awful impression that there is nothing left over here. Four, five and seven years of Plan's help has been wiped out overnight. And it is disheartening to have to begin again with the certain knowledge that you will have to begin a third and fourth time also. How much can these people stand?

So many houses have been wiped out that on many streets there is no way to keep up with a family's earnest efforts. Many of them are living in temporary shelters or wandering around homeless."

Miss Brown, a Canadian, is quoted by Bill Bantey of The Montreal Gazette. An unknown number of the 1,500 Vietnamese children "adopted" by Canadians, says Bantey, are dead in the wake of the recent Viet Cong attacks on the Vietnamese capital.

The situation is such that Foster Parents' Plan has been unable to cope with 200 further offers by Canadians since the beginning of the year to adopt Vietnamese children.

Of all the wars in history this is surely the one in which innocent children have suffered the most grievously.

New Jet Lost

As if to emphasize the fact that firepower and equipment superiority are not everything — a fact amply demonstrated in Vietnam — the loss of an American F-111A fighter bomber to North Vietnamese gunners is a case in point.

The revolutionary swing-wing plane was one of a group of six that saw combat for the first time only last week.

Far more serious for the Americans than any military advantage they had hoped to gain with the aircraft is the fact that the communists may now gain the benefits of a billion dollars worth of United States research and development work.

If any proof were needed that in anti-aircraft defence at least the communist side's effort is more concentrated and effective than anything known in the last war, this is it.

Paul Martin — The "Complete Politician" In Leadership Bid

By CARMAN CUMMING

OTTAWA — CP — When Paul Martin is visiting a foreign capital, the resident Canadian diplomats try to get to bed early.

The external affairs minister's penchant for early-morning swims and tough early-morning questions is legendary and both have been known to raise shivers of anticipation on the part of late-rising diplomats.

If Mr. Martin succeeds Prime Minister Pearson, it could mean a whole new wake-up schedule for Ottawa.

It could also mean a rash of ulcers on Parliament Hill because no one claims that Paul Martin is an easy man to work for.

The soul of easy-going geniality when campaigning, and he campaigns whenever he is exposed to the public — Mr. Martin can be quick and unpredictable with his own people.

While aides of Mr. Pearson give an impression of genuine affection for their chief, those who work for Mr. Martin tend to an attitude of nervous respect.

Mr. Martin has often been called one of the most complex men in Canadian politics. The title is well earned.

The same people who chuckle at his Rotarian tactics on the hustings in revel at his tactical skill in diplomacy and politics.

Those who despair at the pompous circumlocutions of his public statements are impressed by the breadth of knowledge he shows in private conversation.

Tactically, he has been known to take years to curve a policy line through gradually changing statements, each one only slightly different from the one before.

But his two greatest coups in foreign policy were accomplished with blitzkrieg speed.

The first was in 1955 when he led the Canadian delegation to the United Nations and was credited with breaking the membership "logjam."

With a marathon series of meetings, phone calls and private talks, he brought off a deal that added 16 new members.

The second coup was in 1964 when Canada, in a piece of audacity that left diplomats chewing their fingernails, sent troops to Cyprus four days before the UN Peace Force for the island was legally constituted.

The action broke another logjam and got other hesitant countries to commit men to the force, possibly heading off a Greek-Turkish war. But if the force had not been set up, the embarrassment could have been acute.

The episode showed that Mr. Martin can be daring if the circumstances demand.

On the other hand he can play a waiting game that lasts for years.

For more than three decades, for example, he has advocated membership in the Organization of American States and in its predecessor, the Pan - American Union. It was a key point of his maiden speech in the Commons after his election in 1935.

But Mr. Martin has been in charge of Canadian foreign policy for five years and Canada remains out of the OAS. He says membership is part of Canada's "ultimate" destiny, but the timing is not yet right.

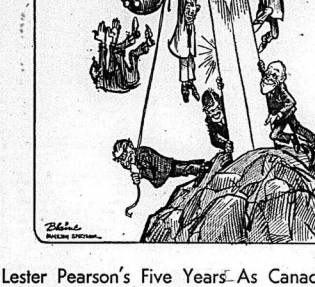
For a man who has been making public addresses for more than 30 years, Mr. Martin is seldom caught in a policy contradiction.

Yet his own personal performance can be contradictory.

Many of his Commons replies on foreign policy are held up as supreme examples of the art of saying nothing in elegant terms.

But a 1966 Canadian Press poll of MPs rated him the best speaker in the Commons.

He has been called the complete politician, the ranking expert at remembering the name of a lowly campaign worker or framing a message of congratulation or condolence for a constituent.



He is a man who has been for years — both an extrovert and a bookworm.

Aides say he is often awake by 6 a.m., reading a book on history or politics, before taking a brisk swim in the pool of his apartment building and making the first calls to get caught up on overnight developments.

His interest in international affairs has also been a continuing thread through his career. He served as alternate to the League of Nations in 1938 and was acting chairman or chairman of the UN delegation from 1952 to 1955.

With Mr. Pearson's retirement, the rumor is that Mr. Martin, at 64, is too old for the top post. The capital's favorite pastime in the winter came with the rumor that he had dyed his hair black.

Mr. Martin himself notes that he is about the same age as Mr. Pearson and Mr. St. Laurent, when each of them became prime minister.

Lester Pearson's Five Years As Canada's Prime Minister

Peterborough Examiner

Mr. Pearson has unofficially set his retirement date at April 23. On that day he will hand over the reins of government to his successor to be chosen at the Liberal convention next week. What his future plans are — after he has taken a well-deserved rest — have not yet been revealed but it may be fairly assumed that he will continue to make an important contribution to his country and to the world. For this has been his life, and it would be difficult to imagine a Lester Pearson who was not actively engaged in some way or other in better-ing the lot of others.

Like most great men, Mr. Pearson's career has not always run smoothly. When he accepted the leadership of the Liberal Party after its upset defeat in the 1957 election, there were many who believed he had chosen unwisely in trying to cap a career as a diplomat, known all over the world, by entering politics, a world that many felt was not suited to his abilities. When in 1958 the party suffered a shattering defeat at the hands of John Diefenbaker, there were those who felt this was the end of Lester Pearson, politician.

But they reckoned without his tenacity and resolve, his confidence and resourcefulness. In five years he rebuilt and revitalized his party. Astounding those who had predicted his quick end, he not only survived in the harsh arena of domestic politics but he prospered — and in 1963 the Liberals were returned to power, although without a majority.

It was here in Peterborough — a happy time in his life, Mr. Pearson recalls — that the boy started on his way to becoming a man. It was during his early upbringing in parsonages here and elsewhere in southern Ontario that there formed in Lester Pearson the stubborn, deep-rooted set of ideals and principles that left no room for retreat, for easy answers or for surrender. His love of sports, evident at an early age, later translated itself into an urge to compete, to attain the highest goals by the fairest means.

To these qualities must be added his unshakeable faith in his fellow man, in people. This is what makes him the eternal optimist.

Public School Oral French

Brantford Expositor

In again rejecting a proposal backed by its administrative staff to introduce oral French in the elementary school curriculum, Brantford board of education is bucking the current trend in the province. According to figures given at the board's meeting last week, two-thirds of English - speaking pupils in Grades 7 and 8 in Ontario are now taking French.

It is apparent from the objections raised that some trustees see the proposal as an attempt to make Canada a bilingual area. Trustee Jack MacDonald, for example, said he could not go along with the idea that it would be for the betterment of all if "we used two languages." It is absurd to suppose that 20 minutes of oral French a day in two elementary grades will make much of a contribution to bilingualism in homes where French is not spoken. The advantage of the program is the groundwork it will give to those who will later require a knowledge of French.

Hospitality Suites Happy Havens for Freeloaders

By RICHARD JACKSON

OTTAWA, — They call it the hospitality suite.

But don't let the name fool you.

For actually it is the place where by established convention custom, any serious political candidate must run torture tests on himself for the entertainment of the professionals of the party he aspires to lead.

The hospitality suite is that series of adjoining rooms along the hotel corridor where they are all making so much noise nobody can hear what the delegate — more likely the freeloader — next to him is saying.

The place is blue with smoke, stale, and smells by day and by night like a morning-after ashtray.

The air really never has time to clear between the departure of the last swaying stay - up - late awash with warm rye - and-ginger, and the arrival of the first hangover painfully lurching in for the ice-and-fire medication of a Bloody Mary.

Each room in the suite could comfortably hold perhaps one-fifth the number shoe-horned in back to back, belly to belly, shoulder to shoulder.

They are there just standing there. They are perched on the dressers and tables. And the only reason a couple aren't parked atop the TV is that it is piled high with trays of sandwiches and bowls of beer.

With maybe as many as a dozen other hospitality suites going full blast on other corridors, the hotel's room service, if it isn't about ready to give up, is running flat out.

Out in the hall, in messy disarray, stands a line of room service tables the best waiters haven't had time to wheel away.

But there is where the action is. In the main room of the hospitality suite.

There stands the sweating candidate, looking like the head greeter in an old-time saloon.

The place is jumping with red-faced, perspiring people, most of them smoking, and all of them drinking and asking one another what do they think, huh and who is going to get it, huh.

All of them drinking, that is, except the candidate.

He is the harassed - looking character over there in the wilted collar and the rumpled suit, standing with his hand out, greeting a lot of people he never laid eyes on before.

If he is Paul Martin, he murmurs "Hello, I know you. Good of you to come. Want to talk to you later."

If he is Mitchell Sharp he smiles "Hello there, I'm Mitchell Sharp."

But whether it is Mitchell Sharp, Paul Hellyer, Allan MacEachen or any of the others, Liberal or Conservative, there he stands, tense with the unrelenting effort to be seen in a sober glow of amiability, sincerity and dedicated purpose.

Poor stunned guy, everyone else may be sloshing it up, but not him.

He doesn't dare. For if he does, he is done.

Because ahead of him there is the exhausting schedule of hosting a Bloody Mary eye-opener bash, a boozy bacon - and - eggs breakfast, a mid-morning reception, a pre-luncheon cocktail and other wringing-wet events on through the weary afternoon into the long, long night.

That is apart altogether from the speeches, the parades, the clowning, the conferences, the statements and all those other things he has to do.

It is just the business of the hospitality suite, and he may be running as many as four of them, one in each of four different convention hotels.

Man, it is murder. Physically and financially.

It cost George Hees an estimated - and - underlined $150,000. Just to lose. But lose well, smiling and making like it was all great good fun and didn't matter.

They don't all do it up quite like George.

Few can afford it.

And anyway, it really isn't worth it. Because for every voting delegate who shows up in the hospitality suite, 20 freeloaders will horn in like they've known the candidate since he was this high.

The bartender in one of George Hees' four hospitality suites last September at the Conservative convention was pouring a drink every 10 seconds one mid-afternoon.

Busy, huh, somebody asked.

Naw, he said, it's dead now. Wait till the five o'clock crowd hits us. There will be four of us pouring the stuff and not keeping up.

What is the bar bill running, somebody else enquired.

I figure a thousand a day, he reported, and the boss is running three other joints like this.

That is hospitality for you. Political convention style.

Ford Strike Deadline Thursday Over Relief Break Issue

TORONTO (CP) — The third in a series of strikes over workers' relief breaks in the Canadian auto industry is set for Thursday morning.

At that time 11,576 employees of Ford Motor Co. of Canada are scheduled to walk off their jobs unless their union, the United Auto Workers, can obtain a settlement.

Ford spokesman, asked to comment Monday on progress of the talks, were non-committal but said intensive negotiations are continuing.

Main issue is the Canadian system of workers' relief breaks, the union claims that was at the root of strikes against Chrysler Canada Ltd. and General Motors of Canada Ltd. earlier this year.

These strikes were settled when the companies gave in on the relief-breaks issue.

The nine-day Chrysler strike in January involved about 9,000 workers. The GM strike lasted 47 days and involved more than 22,000 employees.

Ford wants to introduce the reliefs system used in the United States—in which workers are relieved individually while production continues.

Details of the wage settlement also must be worked out but a general agreement to give Canadian workers equal wages with United States auto workers was signed last year in settlements between the UAW and the U.S parent companies of Ford, Chrysler and General Motors. Wage parity is to be achieved by 1970.

A strike against Ford would involve 5,656 employees at the company's car and truck assembly plants in Oakville, 4,177 workers in a foundry, engine plant and transmission and chassis plant in Windsor, 1,033 at an auto assembly plant at St. Thomas, 230 in a glass fabricating plant in Niagara Falls and 491 at parts depots throughout Canada.

The St. Thomas plant is new and workers there are not now covered by a union contract.

Present basic wage rates at Ford are $3.13 an hour for production employees and range up to $3.95 an hour for toolmakers.

In the settlement of the strike at Chrysler Feb. 1, production workers got an immediate wage increase of 20 cents an hour, while skilled tradesmen got a 50-cents-an-hour increase.

The General Motors strike ended last Wednesday with an agreement to provide five pay increases totalling $1.34 an hour for production workers and $1.60 an hour for tradesmen.

The increases over the term of the agreement bring production workers up to $3.65 an hour and skilled workers to $3.04 an hour.

Trenton Council

Dock Issue Again Argued

TRENTON — Councillor Gerald Weaver was literally "shouted down" when he again brought the controversial Trenton Cold Storage issue to the council table.

Mr. Weaver's objections to firm's proposal to rent dock-ing facilities to the town was the prime factor in withdrawal of the offer by Bert Janes, Trenton Cold Storage president.

A long-standing James-Weaver feud surfaced over the dock issue. Councillor Weaver claimed Mr. James had not honored a 1965 pledge, for which he was crededed the Albert St. portion of land that eventually made the dock proposal possible.

"We've gone over this four times now," Councillor E. M. "Ted" Parker interjected into Mr. Weaver's discussion last night. "What purpose does it serve?"

"It's's going to find its way back onto the agenda time after time, why isn't a resolution drawn to take some action.

"Why do we continue to discuss it . . . unless to get more coverage in the newspaper?"

Councillor Weaver seemed to wilt in the face of Mr. Parker's unexpected tirade. He reiterated his claim that Trenton Cold Storage was to extend a storm sewer and build a retaining wall along the south side of the firm's bayfront site in return for the deed from the town for a triangular piece of Albert St. property, then town-owned.

"If that had been adhered to, the people of Trenton would have a dock 150 feet long today along the bay front," Mr. Weaver said.

Mr. Weaver's contention that Mr. James' firm did not carry out its end of the bargain to the town's satisfaction was squelched by records searched out in engineering department files by clerk - controller D. W. Larry.

The documents showed the town granted title of the Albert St. property to Trenton Cold Storage March 6 of last year, 10 days after the transaction was approved by Eric Alderney, then town engineer.

The sewer had not been extended into open water at Mr. Alderney's recommendation, because it was a "dead" sewer, and the proposed wall, although not to original specifications, was as good or better than the one Mr. James had originally intended to construct.

Debate tapered off after last night's Weaver-Parker encounter, and no further action was taken by Mr. Weaver. Mr. James withdrew an offer to rent the town docking space for 40 boats at $3,000 annually after Councillor Weaver had said he wouldn't vote for any expenditure of public funds for private enterprise.

The Trenton Cold Storage president had made unanimous council approval a condition of his proposal, saying he didn't wish to become embroiled in any controversy.

The marina proposal had been recommended by the ten - member Industrial Committee, the Chamber of Commerce, and an independent consultant.

'Less Casual Approach' Says Station Manager

TRENTON — Before they do the town's business over the airwaves, beginning April 22, Trenton councillors will have to become "a little less casual."

This was the opinion of Radio CJBQ manager Frank C. Murray who attended last night's meeting at which the April date was set for the initial council broadcast.

A flat - out laying - off of respect for the chair, and in general, a lack of discipline were Mr. Murray's main criticisms in his observations of local council sessions.

In response to a suggestion by Councillor Paul Tripp that the matter be deferred for discussion by a general government committee of council, Mr. Murray said he could see no way broadcasting couldn't begin almost immediately . . . "with slight modifications."

"I'd hate to think that broadcasting would seriously affect council's handling of business."

On the contrary, Mr. Murray said, Belleville council has found the broadcasting of meetings has lent a more business-like atmosphere to sessions, and improved decorum.

Councillors agreed to have their sessions fall on alternate Mondays to those of Belleville council. At present, Trenton council meets on the first and third Monday each month.

Where Monday falls on a holiday, meetings will be rescheduled for the following day.

Trenton broadcasts will be live, as opposed to the taped delayed presentations of Belleville meetings.

Councillors indicated they were giving serious consideration to the creation of a chamber decor, replacing the lone meeting table with individual desks.

Welfare Unit Endorsed

TRENTON — With one dissenter, town council has endorsed joining the Hastings County Welfare Unit by its May 1 inception.

Council approved a resolution to that effect by Councillor Douglas Kinney, chairman of the Welfare and Community Services Committee.

Councillor Paul Tripp flashed a bit of his "reform-backward" form in voting against the motion. He hinted at the possibility of an eventually joining the welfare unit, but was overruled by other councillors.

Councillor Tripp has made similar overtures for a "waiting period" Trenton policy towards Hastings and Prince Edward county-wide health and welfare organizations.

He had made it clear his opinion was that Trenton's destiny lies with Northumberland County.

Christmas Lighting Draws Sparks

Christmas street - lighting drew sparks at the Belleville Downtown Businessmen's Association meeting yesterday.

A small turnout to talk a cheerier Christmas Front ended in short-circuited briefly to a debate on downtown apathy.

A total of 17 merchants turned up for the meeting called by DBA president Stan Albert at Mollie's travel theatre.

The attendance caused Front Street druggist Cleo Colling to comment that interest in the DBA might be dwindling.

"There's not too much interest in it, perhaps because most of us are content with business," he said.

Mr. Albert said at times he agreed.

"But I'm not ready to pack it in," he added. "I don't gauge interest in our association any longer by the number of people we have at . . . meetings. I don't think the association is lacking in leadership."

The association has a membership of 40 from about 90 merchants. Financial organizations and professional practices bring the number of general business houses to about 140, Mr. Albert later estimated.

Cost-sharing with downtown business community was projected in the Christmas street-lighting plan unveiled yesterday.

The fee structure proposed DBA pay up to $50; banks, finance companies and professional men $25 and service organizations $15.

The levy on DBA members includes a $25 membership fee.

The meeting agreed with a proposal from Mr. Colling for a survey of Front Street business, measuring support for the project.

BRITISH WOOL FEATURED IN NEW PARIS STYLINGS — Bute Looms of Scotland wove the pretty green and white tweed for the little spring suit by Torrente of Paris on the left. Torrente calls the model "Cresson" — watercress. Note the white binding and the white Bonnie (and Clyde) beret. Classic overchecks are all the thing this season and Louis Feraud chose a black and white wool and worsted mixture by Hare of England to produce the gay little spring dress with its shirt-waist top and zip-up skirt (second from left.) The "twins" are Patou models wearing almost but not quite identical outfits in clerical gray cloth from Yorkshire. One chooses a sweater top to the dress, and the other a sleeveless jacket over a pinafore dress. And far right, one of the prettiest suits in Paris this season is this outfit by Nina Ricci. It is a gay rainbow colored lightweight tweed with the accent on blue, pink and green from Garigue, the British woolen merchant.

Women's Institutes

CARMEL WI

The March meeting of Carmel Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. A. Douglas Shaw, with the president, Mrs. J. Lucas, in charge.

Mrs. Arthur Treverton, convener for agriculture and Canadian industries, was in charge of the program and introduced Dennis Juliet, who gave an illustrated talk on maple syrup making in the bush belonging to Charles Treverton.

He hangs 1,400 to 1,500 buckets on trees in the 15-acre bush. The trees are tapped from the March 15 to 20, depending on the weather each season. Average yield is 100 to 150 gallons of syrup and it takes 40 gallons of sap to make one gallon of syrup. Mr. Treverton's bush has been tapped each spring for about 100 years.

Mr. Juliet also gave an illustrated talk on birds, with slides and recordings.

Mrs. Treverton conducted a contest on agriculture.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Russel Ritz.

REDNERSVILLE WI

The March meeting of Rednersville Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. A. Gates with the president, Mrs. C. McFaul, in charge.

A food forum, entitled Never a Dull Meal, was announced for April 3 in St. Mary Magdalene Church hall, Picton.

Mrs. C. McFaul reported on the visit to the County Home Auxiliary and the group sent in 10 to renew its membership for another year.

Mrs. L. Jeffers, district president, gave a talk on the folk school.

Miss A. Brickman, convener for Canadian industry, introduced a member of the staff of Mika Silk Screening Ltd., Belleville, who demonstrated the silk screen printing process.

Walk Aids People of India

OTTAWA (CP) — On a beautiful day last spring, Mr. Brian Weston and Prime Minister Pearson started about 3,500 people on a 40-mile walk which collected $20,000 for food and a water well for the people in Bihar, India.

Although she had been working almost constantly for days organizing the walk, Mrs. Weston, head of the Ottawa committee of Oxfam of Canada, was seven miles before stopping.

She and her committee are planning another 40-mile walk April 20 for foreign aid.

Interviewed in her quiet and tasteful suburban home, Mrs. Weston seemed at first glance an unlikely marcher.

A young mother, petite Mrs. Weston, aided by laughing brown eyes and a warm smile, somehow managed to create an impression of enthusiasm coupled with serenity.

Now a Canadian citizen, she came to Canada from Turkey in 1950 to study for a bachelor of science degree in geophysics at Carleton University here.

She later married and worked at the Dominion Observatory.

"One day I heard a news item on the radio about Oxfam aid to earthquake victims," she said, explaining how she became interested in the relief organization.

After reading information provided by Oxfam's Toronto office, Mrs. Weston found she agreed with the organization's philosophy that the biggest job is not merely to provide monetary aid, but to set up long term projects designed to remove the causes of hunger and suffering.

"Teach a man fishing and you will help him feed himself all his life . . . in other words, help people to help themselves."

As a result of her new interest, Mrs. Weston and her husband held a meeting. Two people came. But things got better and the committee grew.

A week before Christmas in 1966, it held its first hunger lunch. More than 1,000 people attended, were served soup and bread, and donated $1,600—later raised to $4,500 by further donations.

In the spring the walk was held. Each entrant had sponsors —sometimes pages of them— who had agreed to contribute so much for each mile the entrant walked.

We were a little hesitant about how many people would turn up," Mrs. Weston recalled, laughing, "because the Canadian doesn't like to walk.

"It was hard to believe that 3,500 people turned up.

"When we went to Parliament Hill it was a sight. We started to walk at 8 a.m. and the spirit was wonderful.

"Many of the walkers helped each other on the last part of the 40-mile stretch. They just didn't want to give up when they were so close. The last person—an 11-year-old boy—came in at 3:30 a.m.

"I think the walk was an experience no one can forget. As a result of it, 22 walks were held by various organizations across Canada. In all, they involved 99,000 people and raised $1,200,000."

TYENDINAGA RESERVE — The March meeting of the Women's Missionary Council of the Bethesda Reserve Pentecostal Church was held at the home of the president, Mrs. Ivan Powless, who also had charge of the devotional period, assisted by Mrs. Fred Futers and Mrs. Ray Wilson.

Turning to the practical side of their missionary work, the women packed two boxes of clothing. The first was for a Toronto area, en route to the Union of South Africa, to take up work there. Mr. and Mrs. Carl Verhulst have two daughters, and summer clothing for all members of the family went into the box. The garments, as well as the household linen, had all been made by the members.

The second box contained a complete layette for Rev. and Mrs. David Strome of Hope, B.C., all of it the work of the members. March is "parsonage month," and the members had been busy sewing for the parsonage. After the boxes were packed, the group made quilt blocks.

The president closed the meeting and a social hour was spent over refreshments.

Husband's Inadequacy Results in Accusations

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have written three letters to you in the last three days and torn them all up. This one is going in the mail.

My husband and I have been married for 19 years. I should only count the first 10, because these last nine years shouldn't happen to a dog.

In 1958 Bill showed definite signs of slowing up sexually. In 1960 I decided something must be wrong. It didn't seem normal for a man in his 30's to be tired for a year and a half. He refused to see a doctor.

ANN LANDERS

I was very nice about it, didn't nag or embarrass him or make him feel inadequate. Since I was raised in a home where marriage vows were considered sacred I decided to make the best of it.

Yesterday the roof fell in. Bill suddenly announced that I must be cheating on him. He said, "No wife could put up with a situation like ours. You are unquestionably seeing someone on the side." His accusations are an insult and I'm a nervous wreck. What should I do? — A.B.U.

DEAR A.B.U.: Tell Bill he must get professional help. His physical inadequacy is one thing, but the accusations suggest he is also mentally disturbed. The sooner he gets going the better. And good luck to both of you.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Two years ago I married a widow with a 10-year-old daughter. The girl hated me from the beginning. I tried everything under the sun to win her over, but today she is meaner and more spiteful than ever.

Last January we had a little boy. The girl is so jealous of the baby I am afraid one day she may do him serious harm. Both my wife and I have attempted to give her more attention than ever before, but she refuses to let us be nice to her. The girl is a very poor eater, has nightmares, does miserably in school and cannot get along with other children. Please tell us how to deal with this child. — DEFEATED DAD.

DEAR DAD: I cannot tell you in one paragraph how to convert a disturbed youngster into a happy, well-adjusted human being. Obviously she has been mal-adjusted since early childhood. Call the Family Service Association and make an appointment to see a counsellor. The girl's "meanness and spitefulness" are symptoms of a deeper problem.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I work in an office and am considered "the jolly type." My jolliness has encouraged people to take advantage of me and I am fed up.

Every day someone borrows my scissors, my stapler, my paste pot or my ruler. I don't mind this too much, but when they want to borrow my pen I see red. I am an old-fashioned girl who uses a fountain pen. In the last six months, I have lost three pens — and they were far from cheap. How do I say "No" without sounding like an ol' meanie or worse yet, a nut? — FOURTH FLOOR.

DEAR FOURTH: Since you're an old-fashioned girl here's an old-fashioned remedy. Keep the cap and hand the borrower the writing end. Nobody would put an uncovered fountain pen in a pocket or a purse. The cap will remind you to get the rest, should some lushhead walk off with the part that writes.

Successful Living

Where Love Is, There Is A Happy Ending

Dear Doris: After reading "Lonely and Far From Family", I couldn't help but think how much this sounded like my own situation three years ago. We married young also (19 and 20) and things took a long time improving, but if there is rest love, it will outlast all the immaturity and hemmed-in feelings.

My husband is a very healthy man, whereas I had a miserable pregnancy and at least the normal "new mother" blues. He seemed not to understand how I felt nor care.

I'm happy to say this all has a good ending and since we found out about my present pregnancy and also my husband finishing a long apprenticeship, he is really a changed man. When I think of how close we came several times to ending our marriage, I shudder, knowing now that with patience and tolerance the major wrinkles are smoothed out.

My advice is to hold on and talk out the differences as much as possible. This may not work the first time but my three years don't seem a very long time to me now. — Sympathetic Reader.

Dear Sympathetic Reader:

Anyone who will take the trouble to write in like you did to help another reader, a stranger, deserves the full allegiance and love of a husband. Not only I, and F. F. F. will read and take heart—but so will other disheartened youngsters who happen to be married. . .

* * *

Dear Doris: Recently in your column you mentioned a special pen-pal club for handicapped persons who use tape recorders if they are unable to write.

Please send further information. My wife is handicapped and cannot write due to multiple sclerosis. We have a small tape recorder we use to send messages to other family members. — Just Jack.

Dear Jack: You don't have to be handicapped to enjoy talking instead of writing letters. It's so much faster; and so friendly! You can croon to your "pen pal" with your guitar, or give him the voice of your tiny son on tape.

Chicken for Weekend Meals

By MARY MOORE

One chicken went a long way to provide our weekend meals. I made Chicken Soup, Tea Biscuits (using chicken fat) and Chicken Chop Suey.

Today I will give you two of these recipes and follow up Thursday with Chicken Chop Suey.

Determined budgeters should clip today's and Thursday's columns.

HOMEMADE CHICKEN SOUP (Serves 6)

one 3½-lb. chicken
8 cups hot water
1 bay leaf
1 teaspoon salt
2 chicken oxo cubes
2 medium carrots cut into ¼" dice
2 tablespoons raw long grain rice
1 small onion, chopped finely
¼ cup finely chopped celery including some leaves
2 cups fine noodles (tamped down)
1 cup canned tomatoes (or tomato juice)
2 cups water (second amount)

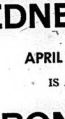
In soup pot cover chicken with hot water, add bay leaf, salt and chicken oxo cubes and simmer, covered, 3 hours removing bay leaf after first half hour and turning chicken at halftime. Lift chicken to utility tray. Strain and chill broth. As soon as you can handle it, slip off all bones and skin. Chill chicken meat. I had three cups. Skim all fat from broth, (I had six cups of broth). Reserve fat, chill it for 2 teaspoons sugar

Reserve fat and chill it for biscuits later. Return broth to heat and add carrots, rice, onion, celery, noodles and tomatoes and 1 cup of the chopped chicken meat, and simmer, covered, 1 hour. Reserve remaining 2 cups chicken meat for Thursday's Chicken Chop Suey.) Taste. Mine was too thick and rich so I added the 2 cups hot water, reheated it and it was perfect for a main course for lunch served with

TEA BISCUITS SUPREME
(using chicken fat)

2 cups sifted but not sifted all-purpose flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon cream of tartar
½ teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons sugar

TUESDAY



Dinner Menu

Ham Steak Hawaiian; Creamed Carrot Coins; Brussels Sprouts; Tossed Greens; Apple Crisp with Cereal Cream (see Monday); Tea.

½ cup hardened chicken fat (or butter or margarine or good quality shortening or combination) two-thirds cup milk

Sift together into mixing bowl the flour, baking powder, cream of tartar, salt and sugar. Cut in chicken fat with pastry blender until size of peas. Add milk all at once and quickly stir in. Turn out onto flour - sprinkled board, pat smoothly to ¾" thickness and cut out with 2" floured cutter. Bake on ungreased baking sheet at 450 deg. Fahr. for 10 min. Unsurpassable. NOTE: See Thursday for Chicken Chop Suey.

Points for Parents

By MARY BEYSON

Mother: "I'm ashamed to admit it but there are times when I can't stand the constant activity and demanding of the children. I scold them all day. I must really be an unnatural mother."

If you enjoy your young most of the time, don't feel guilty because you are occasionally cross or impatient. A short spell away from the turmoil may be all you need.

The best of parents become exhausted and frustrated at times. It's probably more natural than constant sweetness and calm.

Mrs. S. Nicolson, convener of health, gave a paper on food. Mrs. C. Garrison won a contest on Ontario vegetables.

EGG PRODUCERS

What form of DIRECT SELLING will the board bring us — to control the situation you know . . . they must have direct selling. WHY after nearly two years of study are the details NOT READY? . . . what is there that is new that has not been tried and where has it been tried and been successful in the marketing of eggs? MAYBE IT IS IMPOSSIBLE.

It seems our present board does NOT UNDERSTAND OUR NEEDS, the government does not . . . do we, the producers, understand . . . or should we have more details, more time, before such a vote . . . such a change.

THE LITTLE WOMAN

"You don't have to shout. I can hear you."

Canadians Will Communicate By Domestic Space Satellites

OTTAWA (CP) — Policies that could make Canada the world leader in domestic space satellite telecommunications were announced by the government Monday.

Industry Minister Drury released a policy white paper that proposes Canada be in the space satellite telecommunications business by 1971 or 1972.

The policies call for a mixture of government and private funds—the proportions not yet decided—in a $100,000,000 venture to give the country a system that would make television, telephone and data communications available coast to coast and into the far North.

As much as possible, every component in the system, from the satellites in orbit to the ground stations feeding and receiving from them, would be made in Canada.

Distribution point for the system would be a pair of satellites in synchronous orbit 22,300 miles above the Equator. Synchronous orbit means they stay in the same relative position to a point on the earth's surface, as a point on a wheel's rim does in relation to a point on the hub.

One satellite would operate at a time, the other serving as a backup in case of failure and to step in during times when periodic solar interference can black out one satellite. A third satellite would be on the ground, ready to be shot into orbit as a further backup.

Releasing the white paper at a press conference, Mr. Drury noted that if all plans materialize Canada could have a domestic satellite system operating by 1971 or 1972, depending on how complex a system is selected.

The only country with a domestic system now is Russia. Its system is based on a series of non-synchronous, lower-orbit satellites, each in use for only a short time it is above the horizon.

If Canada acts now, Mr. Drury said, it could have the first domestic synchronous system.

Mr. Drury said he hopes the special corporation to run the operation can be created by next fall.

The white paper conveyed a strong sense of urgency on nthe whole question.

It noted that there is limited space available for the satellite parking orbit that Canada needs over the Equator and that international regulation of frequencies and other communications matters tends to be on a first-come, first-served basis.

Three Plays Chosen For Drama Festival

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Three regional winners have been chosen to compete in the Dominion Drama Festival final in Windsor, Ont., next month, while three more have yet to be declared.

The final competition, May 20-25, will include winning theatre companies from central Ontario, western Quebec, and western Ontario.

The other three competitors are to be selected from among regional winners in the Atlantic provinces, the western provinces and Eastern Quebec-Quenta (Quebec-Northern Ontario).

Central Ontario will be represented by the Scarborough Players of Toronto and their presentation of William Naughton's All in Good Time.

The Montreal production of Pierre Voyer's Girafoire under the direction of Robert Sickler will represent western Quebec.

The London Little Theatre group of London, Ont., has won the right to represent western Ontario with their presentation of Peter Weiss's The Persecution and Assassination of Jean Paul Marat as performed by the Inmates of the Asylum at Charenton under the Direction of the Marquis de Sade.

Adjudicator Davill Gardner of Toronto has yet to announce his choice from among three productions in the Western provinces.

Strictly Personal

Mortorists Should Change Attitudes

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

It is obvious that Americans think more of their cars than any other people in the world; it is even possible that Americans think more of their cars than they do of people — including their own families.

We not only kill 50,000 fellow citizens a year, and injure millions more, but we spend a sizeable amount of our disposable income in buying or financing, and keeping up, a car. With the exception of a house, it is our single largest expenditure.

Many of our primal feelings are channeled into the car: pride and aggression and envy and competitiveness and sexual dominance and social status. Most of these emotions are given a negative outlet behind the wheel; that is, we use the car to demonstrate our superiority or to compensate for our sense of inferiority.

All of this is illicit, and basically ungratifying. What is needed, it seems to me, is something on the order of Great Britain's "Institute of Advanced Motorists," formed there about a dozen years ago by the minister of transport, as a non-profit organization to promote, recognize and reward better driving.

Here is the way it works:

There is a payment of a small fee for taking the initial test, and annual membership dues of only $2. A 12-hour basic course is given, and those who pass are presented with a diploma, a car badge, and membership in the High Performance Club.

These evidences of advanced driving ability have more than token value. Members can obtain insurance for their cars at rates substantially below average, the reductions being about 15 per cent for the first year, and 20 per cent for subsequent years — no mean inventive.

Further, these cars sporting the badges are regarded with respect not only by other motorists but by traffic police and officials as well. They have no need to show off or to drive recklessly to demonstrate their dexterity — in fact they tend to set a good example to other drivers by the kind of courtesy that only experts feel inwardly secure enough to indulge in.

As the lead editorial in the magazine, "Car and Driver" said in a recent issue: "We have to change our view of the automobile and of the rules which govern its operation. We need to train our drivers better; we need to be far, far more stringent in our decisions about who will and who will not drive." And we need a way of giving the capable motorist some tangible proof of his prowess, so that the badge says far more than any acrobatics on the highway.

Announce New Healing Substance... Shrinks Piles, Checks Itch

Exclusive healing substance proven to shrink hemorrhoids...and repair damaged tissue.

A renowned research institute has found a unique healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids painlessly. It relieves itching and discomfort in minutes and speeds up healing of the injured, inflamed tissues.

One hemorrhoidal case history after another reported "very striking improvement." Pain was promptly and gently relieved . . . actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

Among these case histories were a variety of hemorrhoidal conditions. Relief even occurred in cases of long standing, and most important of all, results were so thorough that the improvement was maintained over a period of many months.

This was accomplished with a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) which quickly helps heal injured cells and stimulates growth of new tissue. Bio-Dyne is offered in ointment and suppository form called Preparation H.

In addition to actually shrinking hemorrhoids, Preparation H lubricates and makes elimination less painful. It helps prevent infection which is a principal cause of hemorrhoids.

Just ask your druggist for Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H Ointment (with a special applicator).

Satisfaction or your money refunded.

SPORTS SLICES

By Geo. H. Carver
Sports Editor

In the early fifties they were a team of sprightly youngsters who loved to play hockey just for the fun and the helavii.

You never saw any of them trooping to the bank with wallets bloated with hockey pay.

"Pay?" hollered one yesterday, "if we won a game we got a quarter for a ham sandwich — if we lost they gave us 15 cents for a hamburger without the trimmings."

In the days when they were known as "Toots Helway's Juniors" they were slimwaisted, heads full of hair, speedy afoot and played the game for the sheer thrill of the sport.

And I think I'm safe in saying that they form the only hockey team in the country to observe eighteen reunions in consecutive years.

An unbreakable bond of camaraderie nurtured nearly two decades ago has not only held them together but grows stronger with the passing years.

Their average age is a round forty, give or take a year or so. Sunday, some 16 of these olden youngsters with former officials, observed the annual shindig — on the ice and off it.

Time has taken its toll physically from these grand guys — but the joy of reunion more than made up for any bodily discomforts caused by unaccustomed chasing of a puck.

That's right, some fifteen of them garbed in nondescript uniforms actually got out there on arena ice and showed a number of wide-eyed kids that they will look like thirty years from now.

And they gave unbelieving demonstrations of the art of stickhandling, shell a trifle crazy but something that is rarely seen in these modern days.

Oh they huffed and they puffed. Most of them did not have to brush hair from their eyes, there was none to brush. They wheezed and they squeezed and rested on the ice at the slightest provocation. They got up a lot slower than they went down.

Coach Toots was unable to be on hand but that grand guy Doug Green who watches over this ice-rink the year round like a Mother Biddy over her chicks again chalked up a marked reunion success.

Time again rolled back the years for the former "Ill-Speeds", at the post-game get-together. The hair is becoming thinner; waists showing expanding bulges and muscles moaning in louder protest; but the memories have not faded.

One of them when reminded of a fifty-cent debt incurred sixteen years ago, promptly paid up with the remark "Sorry, I hadn't got around to it yet."

Three of the brother acts of the club were there, Doug and Bobby Green, Jack and Harry Wardhaugh and Bernie and Al Mezgher.

Coach Jack Doran, young as ever, came in from Sisseling. Jim Markle was "desperate" was there from St. Mary's Cut. The one and only "Nobber" Day spry as a colt came from Brampton.

"Junior" Dou Barrett white mane waving like a battle flag coverted on the ice, Johnny Semark, lively as a spring lamb teamed with Huck Reeves and Bruce Bishop. Bill Hickey and "Moe" Rollins cha-cha'd on the ice. Tim Cook was one of the targets for the day.

The club's official referee Don Lee with the famous 18-year-old whistle tooted the first puck. Former executive Fred "Musty" Reid had himself a ball.

Fortunately there was no need for the professional services of the former club physician "Doc" Allore, but the trusty medico shot the entire gang down with his ever-present cameta.

And less we forget the slim spectacled goalie Art Plumley came from Napanee to meet the gang.

Friendships cannot be bought nor can Time erase the memories of the days that "used to be."

As an old Cockney friend once put it "It'ts things like these that warms the cockles of me 'eart, myte."

"Will Go Six Or Seven" — Sinden

TOE BLAKE

BOSTON (AP) — Coach Harry Sinden of Boston Bruins figures that the Stanley Cup Eastern Division semi-final hockey playoff series with Montreal Canadiens will go "six, possibly seven, games."

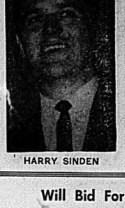
"We have played even all year and are just about even in goals scored," Sinden said Monday in preparing for the National Hockey League series opener in Montreal Thursday night.

"Montreal might have a slight edge in front line speed, but we have an edge in defensive quickness," Sinden said. "I think our lines can match theirs any way they are paired up."

The third-place Bruins, who had a 5-5 record against the champion Canadiens in NHL play this season, plan workouts today and Wednesday before heading for their first playoff appearance in nine years.

Sinden said he will use the workouts to help him decide whether to start Gerry Cheevers or veteran Eddie Johnston in goal against the Canadiens.

"If I decide to become a hunch player, it could be Johnston," the coach said. "Eddie was real sharp in Montreal in our 2-1 victory Saturday night— and his record against Montreal up there has been great. But he has played only two games in six weeks and I'm undecided right now."



Under NHL rules, the Bruins will be permitted to dress an additional player for the playoffs. Ron Murphy, a veteran winger sidelined most of the season because of shoulder trouble, probably will get the nod over rookie Wayne Cashman.

"I'm leaning toward Murphy's experience," Sinden said. "But it really is no problem. We have the manpower, so it really doesn't matter who dresses."

Sinden said he will go with his regular lines of Phil Esposito, Ken Hodge and Eddie Shack; Fred Stanfield, John McKenzie and Johnny Bucyk, and Derek Sanderson, Tom Williams and Ed Westfall.

Skip Krake and Glen Sather are set for penalty killing duty with Murphy or Cashman.

"We're set, but, I won't hesitate to substitute the spares for anyone who is not doing the job," Sinden warned.

Women's Softball Planned

An attempt is being made to restore women's softball to a prominent position in the Belleville district sports program.

Following the operation of a four - team league last summer, a committee has been appointed by the Belleville and District Ladies' Softball League to look into the possibility of organizing the sport on a much larger basis for the approaching season.

The committee will investigate the possibility of organizing a district league, a city league and a junior league.

An open meeting will be held on Monday, April 8, at the Belleville Recreation Centre, at 8 p.m., to discuss team sponsorship and player participation.

All persons interested in women's softball in any capacity are requested to attend. Anyone interested but unable to attend this meeting is asked to contact the Recreation Centre, Pinnacle St., telephone 962-1403.

M. Reid is chairman of the committee for the promotion of women's softball.

Opens Player Pension

TORONTO (CP) — Jake Gaudaur, as his first official act on taking over as Canadian Football League commissioner Monday, signed into the books the first player pension the league has ever had.

Gaudaur signed on behalf of the CFL; Ron Stewart, Ottawa Rough Riders' halfback, signed for the players.

Under the new plan, players contribute $220.80 by payroll deduction each season with the clubs matching it. A player may raise his contribution to a total of $1,500 "or such other maximum amount as may be permitted by the Income Tax Act from time to time."

Benefits under the plan will be available when a player reaches his 65th birthday. However, under a separate provision, a player may retire at a lower rate anytime following his 55th birthday.

With The Trotters

BATAVIA, N.Y. (CP) — Roaring Wave, owned by the H and B Stable, London, Ont., became the top trotter of the Batavia Downs meet Monday night, winning his fourth race and second in a row.

Driven by Bill Harvey, Roaring Wave came home first in the sixth and paid $4.80, $4.40 and $3.40. His time for the mile was two minutes 10 seconds.

Sport Miniatures

TORONTO (CP) — Jockey James Kelly suffered minor injuries and his mount, Lightning Rullah, had to be destroyed as a result of a spill Monday in the second race at Greenwood. Kelly, a 19-year-old apprentice, went down on the stretch turn of the 4½-furlong second race when Lightning Rullah bobbled and fell. Finnish Princess tried to jump over Lightning Rullah but stumbled and spilled apprentice jockey Lloyd Duffy.

Cards' Bob Gibson In Series Form!

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bob Gibson, St. Louis Cardinals' World Series hero last year, pitched seven overpowering innings against Chicago White Sox in an exhibition game Monday, His only regret was that manager Red Schoendienst didn't let him finish.

"I felt fine and could have gone nine innings," the right-hander said after the Cardinals' 2-1 victory. Gibson gave up only five hits and no walks while striking out four. In addition, he retired the last 13 batters he faced.

In other games Monday, Boston Red Sox beat Atlanta Braves 1-0, Houston Astros edged Oakland Athletics 2-1, New York Yankees shaded Detroit Tigers 6-5, Pittsburgh Pirates nipped New York Mets 4-3, Philadelphia Phillies crushed Minnesota Twins 8-1, Baltimore Orioles took Washington Senators 5-2, Chicago Cubs outslugged Los Angeles Dodgers 9-8 and California Angels nosed one Cleveland Indians 10-9.

Gibson, who won three World Series games over the Red Sox last year, has been named by baseball writers to the Red Sox team for the Cardinals next week against Atlanta.

Mike Shannon provided the muscle in the St. Louis attack, with a homer and a double among his four hits.

Reggie Smith, who had three hits for Boston, drove in the only run of the game in the first inning with a single.

Bob Aspromonte scored the winning run for Boston, coming in on Hector Torres's squeeze bunt with one out in the ninth after he had doubled and moved to third on the throw to second.

Steve Whitaker's two solo home runs off Denny McLain beat the Tigers. Ray Oyler and Jim Price hit homers for Detroit. Ron Fagan's run-scoring single in the eighth, his third hit of the game, drove in Pittsburgh's winning run. Manny Jiminez had a two-run homer for the Pirates.

Bob Maiza of Cleveland, executive secretary of the USLTA, said he thought Cleveland had a good chance of getting what he termed "the big one."

Will Bid For $100,000 Net Tourney

CLEVELAND (AP) — A bid to hold a $100,000 open tennis tournament in Cleveland this summer will be presented to the U.S Lawn Tennis Association in Dallas Saturday.

The United Lawn Tennis Federation voted for open tennis in a special meeting last Saturday, and there could be as many as six open tournaments around the country this year.

Bob Maiza of Cleveland, executive secretary of the USLTA, said he thought Cleveland had a good chance of getting what he termed "the big one."

Hurt Harper Happy!

MONTREAL (CP) — Rugged Terry Harper, who quite easily could have lost an eye to an errant hockey stick in a National Hockey League game against Boston Bruins March 17, says the incident and earlier season injuries have not dimmed his enthusiasm for the Stanley Cup playoffs.

"I went five years through junior and minor pro hockey without serious injury and I figure I've had enough this season to even things out," Harper says.

The craggy-faced Montreal Canadiens defenceman suffered a severe concussion and a shoulder separation in his preseason exhibition in Boston.

In the March 17 accident, Harper suffered damage to the front chamber of his left eye and wall forced to spend a week in a Boston hospital with both eyes covered before returning to Montreal.

Apart from a slight case of double vision the big defenceman expects to be as good as new when the Canadiens open against the Bruins here Thursday in their best-of-seven East Division semi-final round.

Corner Brook Leads 2-1

CORNER BROOK, Nfld. (CP) — Corner Brook Royals took a 2-1 lead in the Eastern Canada Allan Cup quarter finals Monday night, defeating Morrisburg, Ont., Combines 4-1.

Reg Aselin scored twice for the Royals to lead his team to its second straight win in the best-of-five series. The Royals downed the Combines 6-4 Saturday after dropping the first game Friday 7-4.

A capacity crowd of 3,000 watched the Royals take the lead at the 12:11 mark of the first period on a goal by Harry Kayrynuk. The Royals dominated play throughout the game.

Jacques Allard scored for the Royals at the 57-second mark of the second period to make it 2-0. Aselin scored the first of his pair at 1:15 of the third period. The Combines got on the scoreboard at 13:05 when Lyle Ellis scored.

Aselin came back for an insurance tally at 17:36.

THEY RE-GREW HAIR!
IN 12 MONTHS
IN 3 MONTHS
Hair Specialist Here Thursday
Will Show Men and Women How to Save Hair and Prevent Baldness

OTTAWA, Ont. New home treatment methods for saving hair and improving its quality will be demonstrated in Belleville on Wednesday, February 14, 1968 from 1 to 5 P.M.

Specialist J. Alberti will be in charge representing the dynamic Roberts Hair & Scalp Specialists organization. He will personally examine hair-worried men and women from 1.00 to 5.00 P.M.

This new treatment is neither "mail order" nor "cure-all". It is adapted to the individual after a personal examination and progress is checked at regular intervals by a Roberts Specialist.

Who Can Be Helped?

Will the new Roberts' treatment cure baldness? "No!" For we cannot help men and women who are bald-headed after years of gradual hair loss. But if you still have fuzz and your scalp is still creative hair, you can at least save and thicken what you have. Some conditions, such as "spot baldness" usually have complete coverage if caught in time!

Other conditions that usually bring on excessive hair-loss — dandruff, itching, over-oiliness or dryness, follicle clogged with sebum or seborrhea — can be corrected by the Roberts home treatment if caught in time.

"DON'T WAIT UNTIL IT'S TOO LATE."

Baldness won't wait for doubters to be convinced, so we're going to keep right on losing hair 'til you're bald — unless you get your scalp in healthy, hair-growing condition again.

Examine You Free

We want to make it clear that you incur absolutely no charge or obligation by coming in for a free examination.

Your only obligation is to yourself. We do not accept cases that will not respond

Guarantee Satisfaction

The Roberts' Specialists will give you a written guarantee that you must be satisfied within 30 days or it will cost you nothing.

For a free examination and discussion of your hair problems ask the desk clerk for Mr. Alberti's room number. Mr. Alberti does not make appointments as he is here at your convenience.

Consultations are given in private.

NHL Eastern Division Players Take Home Second-Half Gold

MONTREAL (CP) — Stan Mikita, Chicago Black Hawks centre ace, was his fourth National Hockey League scoring championship in five seasons and the goaltending pair of veteran Lorne Worsley and rookie Rogatien Vachon have given Montreal Canadiens the Vezina Trophy for the 5th time in the 42-year history of the award.

Final regular season statistics released by the league Monday show six clubs with players receiving monetary rewards from the NHL for the second half season and final winners in the two individual races. All are from the established East Division.

Mikita, who finished the 74-game schedule with 87 points, had 46 goals for the first time in his nine-season career. He picks up $1,000 and the Art Ross Trophy as scoring champion plus another $253 he received as runner-up to team-mate Bobby Hull in the first-half scoring race.

Phil Esposito, the rangy centre Boston Bruins picked up from Chicago in the off season, failed in a last-week attempt to catch Mikita. However, Esposito finished second with 84 points to pick up $500 as over-all runner-up to Mikita.

Jean Ratelle of New York Rangers was the second-half leader with 46 points, including 22 goals and wins $300. Ratelle had a season total of 78 points on 32 goals and 46 assists, to finish third over-all.

Gordie Howe of Detroit Red Wings, completing his 22nd season in the league, finished third in the individual standings. He had 82 points and tied Ratelle in points for the second half. However, the New Yorker had one goal more and Howe had to settle for $250.

Ratelle's right winger—flashy Rod Gilbert—finished the season with 77 points for fifth spot.

Bobby Hull, who did not play in any of Chicago's final three games, was the goal-scoring leader for the third straight season.

Hull punched in 44 goals among his 75 points, which placed him sixth in the over-all scoring parade.

Others included in the top 10 were Norm Ullman, recently acquired by Toronto Maple Leafs from Detroit. Ullman scored 30 goals and 25 assists in 58 game, with the Wings. He added five more goals and 11 assists in 13 games with the Leafs for a season total of 71 points.

Former team-mate Alex Delvecchio followed Ullman with one point less, while Boston's John Bucyk and Chicago's Ken Wharram tied with 69 points each.

Worsley had the best personal average among the goaltenders with 1.98 and combined with Vachon to win the $1,000 as Vezina Trophy winners. The Montreal-ers combined average was 2.26.

However, the pair failed to take the second-half prize of $250 which went to Ed Giacomin of New York Giacomin, the shutout leader with eight, allowed 80 goals in the second half, one fewer than the Montreal pair.

Toronto combination of Johnny Bower and Bruce Gamble slipped into the over-all runner-up position in the goal-tender's race on the final week-end to win the $500 award. The Bower-Gamble duo beat out youngsters Doug Favell and Bernie Parent of Philadelphia Flyers by three goals.

Bower's personal 2.25 average was the second best in the league. Gamble's 2.31 mark, it gave the pair a combined 2.28 average against Philadelphia's 2.42.

Veteran Andy Bathgate, Pittsburgh Penguins' right winger, was the scoring leader in the West Division. He finished 18th in the final list with 39 points including 20 goals.

The dubious honor of NHL lukeman went to Barclay Plager of St. Louis Blues. Defenceman Plager was assessed 153 minutes, comprising 49 two-minutes minors, one five-minute major and five 10-minute misconduct penalties.

Boston Bruins led the league in team enalties with 1,043 minutes, an average of 13.9 minutes per game. The Penguins were the least-penalized team with 552 minutes.

Twins Gave The "Mudcat" Cold Shoulder

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Pitcher Jim Kaat thinks statements attributed to former team-mate Jim (Mudcat) Grant about dissension on Minnesota will serve to unify the Twins in the 1968 baseball season.

Kaat, who Monday wound up three days of x-ray treatments of his ailing left arm, hinted that Grant had not endeared himself to his ex-team-mates by his comments.

"When we played the Dodgers in an exhibition game," Kaat related, "everybody was very friendly to Ziolo Versalles. But nobody had any conversation with Grant."

Versalles had been traded along with Grant to Los Angeles.

"Money Talks" Tennis Stars Turn Pro!

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) — "I don't think people look on a sport these days unless money is involved," says Billie Jean King, the tennis queen who could make $70,000 playing the game during the next year.

Mrs. King, Ann Haydon Jones of England, Francoise Durr of France and little Rosemary Casals of San Francisco signed contracts Monday to play with the new National Tennis League.

Also joining the pros was Australian Roy Emerson who could earn up to $100,000 for each of the next two years.

Contracts for the five were announced by George MacCall, former United States Davis Cup captain who is now president of the pro group.

Five players previously under contract are Rod Laver, Ken Rosewall and Fred Stolle, all of Australia, Andres Gimeno of Spain and former U.S. champion Pancho Gonzales.

The NTL makes its United States debut in a tournament at the Forum here, April 7, 9 and 10 with much of the interest centered on the gals.

Billie Jean believes the entry of the women will bring more interest in tennis among younger girls.

Take Second Place Aces Batter Barons

QUEBEC (CP) — The hungry Quebec Aces battered Cleveland Barons 8-2 in the last American Hockey League game of the season Monday night to grab second place in the league's western division standings.

The victory before 4,788 hometown fans lifted the Aces one point above Buffalo Bisons and gave them a home-game advantage in their coming best-of-five playoff series against the Bisons.

Simon Nolet set the pace with four goals as the determined Aces built up a commanding 8-4 lead in the first period and held on.

The game was a replay of last Tuesday night's disputed contest, which the Barons won 3-2. The Aces objected on grounds that Cleveland had used an ineligible player.

Americans Bears Go Tonight

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — The American Hockey League playoffs for the Calder Cup open Wednesday night with two best-of-five quarter-final series and a best-of-seven semi-final set between division winners Rochester Americans and Hershey Bears.

The first two games will be played in Rochester Wednesday and Friday before the series moves to Hershey Saturday and Wednesday, April 10.

Other games, if necessary, would be played in Rochester Friday, April 12, at Hershey, Saturday, April 13, and at Rochester, Sunday, April 14.

Bobcats Top Darts Standing

Temple's Bobcats finished the Belleville City Darts League schedule atop the league standings, with 178 points, when regular play was completed last night.

In lost night's games, Bobcats topped Simpson Sears 7-4 with runner-up Ellis Printers defeating ANAF Warriors by the same score. In other games, Black Diamond nipped Bob's Sports and ANAF Dukes nudged Legion by 6-5 scores, Gameshots whipped Wildcats 10-1 and Sawdusters defeated RCAF Association 8-3.

Ken Carr-Brant had high three dart score of 140 while A. Young had 135, R. Workman 130, Ted Griffon 132, T. Deeote 126, S. McNish 122, N. Burrage 115, R. Beal 120, and T. O'Brien 125.

The final league standing is as follows: Bobcats 178, Ellis' 166, Legion 140, Black Diamond 126, Simpson Sears 120, ANAF Dukes 118, ANAF Warriors 110, Sawdusters 110, RCAF Assoc. 104, Bob's Sports 101, Gameshots 100 and Wildcats 77.

Playoffs will commence next Monday, April 8, at ANAF and Legion. Schedule will be published in the sports calendar.

Registration For Minor Baseball

The registration date for the Belleville Minor Baseball Association has been set for Saturday, April 6th at the Recreation Centre on Pinnacle Street.

Registration hours are from 9 a.m. to 12 o'clock noon.

Divisions include tadpole, tyke, peewee, bantam, and midget.

Registration forms will be available in all city schools tomorrow Wednesday, according to BMBA president Bill Hurst.

Annabelle's Party All That Money Made The Mare Go!

By BRUCE LEVETT
Canadian Press Sports Editor

TORONTO (CP) — Annabelle announced her decision Monday to run in the Kentucky Derby next month—and the same day the mighty Vitriolic, the winter book favorite, dropped out.

Annabelle is a three-year-old filly, whose ears join her head at right-angles and whose owners are newspaper men Paul Rimstead and Fred Ross.

They felt in love with her at a horse sale a year ago and scraped together the $1,000 asking price. From then on, what happened to Annabelle shouldn't happen to a dog.

Rimstead and Ross formed a jazz band to follow her around; they enlisted the services of wrestler Sweet Daddy Siki as a bodyguard; entertainers wrote songs about her; she was the subject of a coming-out party.

Monday night they threw a press reception at the Royal York Hotel, in the Manitoba room, to announce her entry into the derby, to serve mint juleps—the mint came from Cleveland—and, incidentally, to sell shares.

About 500 reporters, camera men, entertainers and hotel officials, along with half Toronto's city council, turned up.

Jim Santha, the Brooks, Alta., trainer who now lives in Hamilton, fielded questions about his wonder horse.

"She's eating well, about 10 to 12 quarts of oats a day. She is in fine shape, resting well. In fact, eating and resting is what she does best.

Rimstead and Ross own Byline Stables—Annabelle is their only horse—and their partners Rimstead describes as "white with black blotches."

They brought Annabelle up the convention floor in the gigantic freight elevator built to take 30,000 pounds.

Annabelle was a good girl. She hung her head quietly as aldermen, entertainers, newspaper men and horsemen paid tribute. She didn't blink as the television lights scorched her and the flashguns flickered like summer lightning.

She stood it as long as any lady could be expected to, then registered her displeasure in one of the few ways left to a horse. The green carpet, emblazoned with the Manitoba coat of arms, may never recover.

Annabelle was led out in disgrace by a tight-lipped hotel employee.

Aces, Tigers Meet in Final

Aces and Tigers will meet for the Belleville Minor Hockey Association's juvenile championship.

Tigers clawed Melrose 3-0 and Aces trumped O.S.D. 4-2 to gain their finals berths last night.

Sero, Lentini and Garland potted the Tiger goals. Sero assisted on the other pair and Lentini had two on one.

Penalties were numerous in the other game where Aces despite taking the lion's share of the sentences. Terry scored the winners' final two goals after team-mate Boulter and Sullivan. Rivers had the lone assist.

Manderville was the trigger-man on both O.S.D. goals, Goulet assisted on one.

ANAF Ladies' Sports

The finals are as follows:

Hippies won the A trophy, Captain, Alice Storms, Mary Northan, Marion Drake, Mari Haines, Shirley Welch, Jean Gannon.

Spinners won the B trophy, Captain, Roby Fitzgibbon, Peg Ronsky, Mabel Galbraith, Donna Deming, Janet McDonald, Edna Sills.

The high three darts were won by June Newlands, score 133.

BOAC 500 Canadians In Big Race!

TORONTO (CP) — Two Canadians-Craig Fisher of Toronto and Jacques Duval of Montreal-will be on the starting line Sunday in the BOAC 500 car race at Brands Hatch in England.

Fisher, a 31-year-old, Edmonton-born driver, co-drove to third place and first in class at the 12-hour Sebring endurance race last month.

Duval, a radio and television personality, was ninth at Sebring. Fisher will drive a Lola T70, owned by Sid Taylor and entered by the Steering Wheel Club of West Bromwich, England, an exclusive race-drivers' organization.

"They got in touch with me right after Sebring," Fisher says. "I'd like to think I had something to do with my driving."

Duval will drive a Porsche in the 5?0-mile event, partnered with Brian Hart of England.

Fisher's co-driver will be Dave Charlton of South Africa.

Sutherland Heads Minor Hockey

"If you want the job done, give it to a busy man."

And that's exactly what's happening in this city's minor sports program.

Hugh "Sarch" Sutherland, head of the city's minor softball program, was also named president of the Belleville Minor Hockey Association on the weekend.

The election of officers is for the 1968-69 season.

Serving with Sutherland will be 1st vice-president Russ Soule, 2nd vice-president Roy Payne, 3rd vice-president Lou Smirle and secretary-treasurer Mrs. W. McLeod.

According to vice-president Soule, however, Mrs. W. McLeod's position may be reduced to secretary since current plans are for the treasurer of the Belleville Minor Sports Association to handle the money for all participating bodies.

Landscapers Beaten In Tournament

Belleville Barrigage Landscapers found the going pretty tough in the annual Junior Girls' Hockey Tournament, in Allison, Saturday.

The landscapers were routed 8-0 by the defending champion Port McNichol club in the opening game.

Dropping the consolation, they suffered a disputed 4-2 loss in a see-saw game against Dixie. Two Belleville goals were disallowed in this game.

Darlene Cross and Charlene Quinn scored the Belleville goals and Sharon Drummond drew one assist.

"They Weren't Kidding"

Belleville Smith-Fuels defeated Wallaceburg 5-1 in a game at Belleville arena Sunday afternoon. Here the teams face off in the action-packed game.

FEED TURF GRASSES NOW
The root development established in April and May stays with your turf all season long. This is the most important single application of plant food for the year.
FARM FERTILIZER OR A SPECIAL TURF FORMULATION?
You get your money's worth either way. Cheaper Commercial fertilizers such as triple ten (10-10-10) and Arrsprills (33% Nitrogen) may be applied only when the grass is dormant. They will "burn" after the grass starts to green up. These fertilizers provide just as much plant food, but are too soluble and release nitrogen faster than the grass can absorb it, so much nutriment may be wasted and the feeding period is relatively short.
On the other hand proper turf formulations, although more expensive, derive their nitrogen from slow-feeding forms (urea), so that the feeding period is far longer and regular, keeping pace with the rate of growth of the grass plants, and avoiding damage from "burning". Fireweeds you are probably further ahead to apply to proper turf fertilizer because it is safer and last longer so that a second application will not be needed until much later.
COMBINATION FERTILIZER-WEED KILLERS
If you plan to employ one of these relatively new products for weed control (either broadleafed weeds or crabgrass) you might be well advised to apply a less expensive fertilizer now and then follow it up with a "booster" application of combination material later on. Remember, the Crabgrass Killer goes on in April; the Broadleaf Killer in May or June.

Clean Hands Way to Fight Worms

By Dr. Joseph G. Molner

Dear Dr. Molner: I consider myself a meticulous housekeeper. However, my son, six, has just recovered from his second episode of pinworms in nine months. Both times the doctor told me, after a course of medication, that nothing more need be done.

The druggist, however, suggested cleaning the toilet with disinfectant each time the child used it, changing sheets daily, airing the rooms, etc. He also said the mattress must be burned since it contains millions of eggs from the worms. He said his own son had the worms four times, and after he got a new mattress it stopped.

What is your opinion? I know the most important thing is cleaning hands and nails after a bowel movement. — Mrs. F. G.

I'll go along with everything you mention except burning the mattress. Doubtless you have a mattress cover on it. If it is cloth, a good washing should be sufficient — or a thorough scrubbing if it is plastic. Or if you don't have a cover on the mattress then get one.

As to disinfecting the toilet every time the child uses it well, that sounds like a lot of work and I'm not too sure that it gets at the root of the problem.

If you understand the life cycle of the pinworm, you'll see why. (Read my booklet, "The Commonest Pest: Pinworm, if you haven't already done so. Send 20 cents in coin and a self-addressed, unstamped envelope, plus 5 cents for postage to Dr. Molner, in care of the Chicago Sun-Times Syndicate, P. O. Box 158, Dundee, Ill. for a copy.)

The worms infest the intestinal tract, and lay their eggs near or just outside the anus. The eggs don't hurt anything — unless they are swallowed, and hatch in the intestine.

How do eggs get swallowed? They are so small you have a hard time seeing them. They get on the fingers, or under the nails. And — kids being kids — the eggs are carried to the mouth on unwashed fingers.

Aside from medication to get rid of the pinworms in the body, the most important goal is to prevent children's fingers from carrying the eggs.

A child (and everyone else) should wash the hands after every use of the bathroom, before every meal, before putting the hands into or near the mouth.

Keeping nails trimmed short and clean obviously is part of it.

You can disinfect toilets until you are blue in the face, but if isn't the toilet bowl that is important. It's the seat — or anything else that the youngster may touch and perhaps deposit some eggs.

Put the fullest emphasis on clean hands and nails.

It may be, too, that the source of the worms is outside your home — possibly a playmate of your son's.

Dear Dr. Molner: I get up at five o'clock and have my breakfast, go back to bed and am ready to eat again at eight o'clock. If I don't, I have gnawing pains. Does this mean I didn't eat enough or should eat bigger meals? — Mrs. S. P.

I haven't the slightest idea — but I would suggest that you start by having an examination to see whether perhaps you have an ulcer.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am six months pregnant and my hair is falling rapidly. I have a bald spot in back. I was told this could be due to pregnancy and will stop after the baby is born. If this is so, will the hair come back? — Mrs. A. A.

This happens sometimes but we do not know why, except that in some women it is related to the change in hormonal activity. In such cases, the hair ordinarily grows back to the condition that prevailed before the pregnancy. It takes a bit of time, of course.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Estes' Appealing Concert Fitting Climax to Series

By EUGENE LANG

For the fourth and final concert for the 1967-68 series of the Belleville Community Concert Association the large audience in attendance was favored by the initial debut here of the Negro Bass-Baritone, Simon Estes. Winner of the silver medal in the First Tschaikowsky International Vocal Contest in June 1966 Mr. Estes has been a featured artist in operatic performances both here, and abroad as well as concert appearances with leading American orchestras. He has numerous grants and scholarships to his credit and at present is making recital tour that encompasses a good portion of the country.

The program of last evening was of a varied nature that spanned three centuries of vocal music from Henry Purcell of the late 17th century to George Gershwin of the present era. Mozart's delightful love song in concert aria from "Le Nozze Questa bella" (K. 612), a tuneful outpouring of fidelity in comfortable 6-8 gait was the opener which Mr. Estes traversed with careful phrasing and artful voicing. His fine resonant tones easily hurdling the musical pitfalls that Mozart cunningly sprinkled at random throughout the piece.

Two short songs of Henry Purcell followed with regal flavor in Strike the Viol and lively motion in I'll Sail upon the Dog Star. The well-known Catalogue Aria, Madamina from Mozart's Don Giovanni, was given an idiomatic performance that tended to have the singer elongate certain phrases (for example the phrase 'mille e tre') which gave a feeling of effort instead of caprice so necessary in this fast spirited aria.

German Lieder was represented by three Schubert and two Brahms songs that elicited many of the fine qualities of Mr. Estes' rich sounding voice. The emphatic opening of To the Lyre was balanced by the tender melody which the soloist lovingly vocalized. Forlorn and foreboding was the styling of In the Distance, and a complete reversal followed in the carefree manner that Mr. Estes spun around The Way of a Fisherman. In the Churchyard was sung with funereal fervency in dull grey sounds that turned suddenly into lighthearted jollity in Brahms' second song, O Beloved Cheeks.

The aria Cielo Giammai M'amo from Don Carlo of Verdi, was sung with dramatic dejection in the singer's portrayal of King Philipp's recognition of love and happiness. Range and inflection were ably demonstrated in this powerful aria.

In the Ballata del Mondo from Mefistofele of Boito Mr. Estes again gave ample showing of his flair for the tragic in opera as his stentorian voice handled this passionate aria with vibrant delivery.

Three Russian songs, two by Tschaikowsky and the familiar satirical Song of the Flea made up the next group with lacrymose depths of Not a Word, Oh my Friend were probed with fine-tuned nuance as a foil to the liquid lilt of the suave waltz song At the Ball that flowed in the same style. Moussorgsky's Flea (because it was known and was peppered with humor) was given a large hand by the listeners.

The nostalgic Shenandoah was endearingly (envisaged, and Gershwin's I Got Plenty of Nuttin' had life, lift and lustiness in Mr. Estes' presentation. Three Spirituals of varying moods brought the enjoyable concert to a close. Naturally, Mr. Estes vocally painted decided feelings of subjective emotion into each of the three. He elicited applause by the audience one short encore, another Spiritual entitled Weeping Song was soulfully sung.

Sincere praise must be given to Lowell Farr, the excellent accompanist that Mr. Estes has with him on this tour. His piano accompaniments were honed and tonally carved with great attention to detail and the enhancement of the voice of the soloist. All his piano pointings were very fine and two that readily come to mind were the first Mozart number and the Brahms' songs.

Mr. Estes has a fine voice, a feeling for the inner meaning in each of his offerings and an appealing stage personality. At times though, his enunciation was not always clear to ear. Otherwise a fitting conclusion to the present series.

Following the recital members of the executive of the Association and the soloist with accompanist were entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Linton Read, Rosewood Avenue.

A sold out house for the forthcoming season was mentioned by Dr. J. Demers previous to the recital last evening, so another interesting series awaits us this coming fall. And thus ends the thirty-third season.

Scouting activities

3RD BELLEVILLE
(St. Michael's)

Members of the 3rd Belleville Group, numbering 47 Cubs and Scouts, and 12 Leaders and Group Committeemen, spent an enjoyable hour at the Belleville Arena playing a "potpourri" hockey game.

Everyone got into the game and song, interesting and amusing situations developed. Sometimes the Cubs were playing the Scouts, then again the Cubs and Scouts were playing the adults. No one seemed to know what the score was, but then, the game was not "for real" but an hour of good fun and fellowship. An outstanding player on one of the teams was Cubmaster, Ronald Mrs. Sheila Wright who showed excellent co-ordination and reflexes, stopping "most 1" of the shots fired at the goal.

Thanks are due Dr. R. Allore, Chairman of the Property Committee, for arranging the Arena for the game.

A "pat up" ceremony, which is a special ceremony in which the Cub "goes up" into the Scouts, took place during the week. Cubs Pat Callaghan, Scott, John Lynch, Pat Allore, David Holland, Jerry Pawlowski and Tim Hopper went up to the Troop. Scouter Hopper and Jim Whitty received the new Scouts and welcomed them on behalf of the Scouts, who would in turn welcome, to become full fledged Scouts.

CORBYVILLE

Ten Cubs of the Pack sponsored by Canniston (Akela) Mrs. Donaldson and Helper Miss Cheryl Stoliker, attended the Cub Circus on the "Jungle Story" by Rudyard Kipling. This was a special treat by the Akela's Council, the movie was much enjoyed by the boys and reminded them of the adventure outlined in Kipling's "Jungle Book" used in the Wolf Cub training.

FIFTH BELLEVILLE
(College Hill United)

The annual Father and Son Banquet of the Fifth Group held in College Hill United Church Hall on Wednesday, was attended by almost one hundred percent of the boys and fathers of the group.

The Ladies' Auxiliary excelled themselves in serving the delicious supper, which was consumed with gusto by the boys and fathers alike. The fun enthusiasm prevailed that is always present in all activities of the group.

Special guests at the head table were Rev. Roy Vesey, Doug Rollins, Group Committee Chairman, Scoutmaster Basil Kirby and Assistant Nelson Fitzgerald, Cubmaster (Akela) Jerry Jenkinson and Rovers Kip Kirby and Jeff Lathers and Simon and the guest speaker of the evening, Mr. L. R. Andrews, president of the District Council.

A feature of the evening was the presentation of Cubmaster Jenkinson and Asst. Joe Shields to a large number of Cubs, with a variety too numerous to mention.

Scoutmaster Basil Kirby took pride in presenting Proficiency badges to Scouts Nigel Roulet and Larry Enright. (Winter Sportsman); to Scout Jeffery Clappel (Bronze Swimmer) and Nigel Roulet (Bronze Swimmer).

Mr. Andrews gave a short talk concerning the new Boy Scout program to become effective next September. Emphasis was placed on the important part the parents could play in the development of the program and Scouting. A few minutes encouragement and help would do wonders to make the new program a success. Parents were urged to get behind the boys and "back them up".

The evening was brought to a close with a number of western songs played by "The Mac Graham" group.

Bank Cheaping Systems May Give Way to Phones

MONTREAL (CP)—The Bell Telephone Co. of Canada predicts that push-button phones and talking computers may ultimately make cheqing systems in banks obsolete.

The company, looking into the future, says banking by telephone—using push-button phones of the type already installed in many homes across Canada—may become the common, "everyday way for people to handle their money."

The push buttons, the company says, can be used as a "touch tone" pad. They can be used to give instructions to a computer regarding payment of an account and specify the exact amount of money to be transferred.

The customer would pick up the phone and "dial" the number of his bank by pressing the buttons, then an access code number to connect him to the computer followed by a number code instructing the bank to transfer funds from the account to a department store, public utility or any other recipient.

The bank's computer would make the transaction in a split second, then reply to the customer with the new balance of his account.

A computer programmed to provide simulated human voice answers to queries is in operation in Cooperstown, N.Y., and has been used in demonstrations of the telephone banking system.

Computers, of course, are already in extensive use in the Canadian banking system to provide tellers with up-to-date statements of the balance on file in each customer's account.

About 4,000,000 cheques are handled every day by banks in Canada, representing an immense volume of paperwork for both businesses and individuals. Banking by phone could provide a dramatic reduction in this load of paperwork and also speed the movement of financial information.

The key to the system, says Bell Telephone, is the concept of money being financial information rather than simply coins or bills or cheques.

It could enable bankers to devote more effort to the role of advisers to their customers rather than merely that of keepers of the vaults.

The push-button phone, in addition to eliminating the need of writing cheques to pay bills, could also enable the customer to make use of the computer's ability of calculating mathematics.

For example, it could compute interest rates on request to advise customers whether it would be more advantageous to pay an account immediately and receive a cash discount or postpone payment until a later date.

Customers may find that overdrawing their bank accounts will be more difficult under a banking by phone system. One of the simultaneous messages programmed into the computer's memory will probably be:

"Unable to complete transaction due to lacks of funds."

All Seats Already Sold Out For Liberal Show at Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP) — A sign at Liberal federation headquarters —right under the picture of Prime Minister Pearson—proclaims: "C-A," meaning three days until the convention starts.

And in a back room, Executive Secretary Paul Lafond is turning them away in droves from the hottest show in town.

"No way at all—I'm sorry—all on seats now," he tells repeated callers.

Mr. Lafond, a dark, stocky 43-year-old who has been with the federation for 20 years, answers the phone about once a minute, then, it's about seats.

His office is a focal point of ordered chaos in the party headquarters, an ancient, three-storey mansion of grey-painted brick, on mid-town Cooper Street.

Mr. Lafond, a bilingual native of Hull, Que., and an air force veteran, said last-minute preparations for the convention are going well, with no major problems.

From a physical point of view, he says, the party could have found a better site than Ottawa's new Civic Centre, with maximum seating of about 10,000.

"But the advantages of holding it in Ottawa are tremendous —especially when we've been in a tight parliamentary situation."

Living accommodation is "tight—but it'll work out." Many observers will have to stay in private homes.

For eating, Mr. Lafond says the cafeteria at the centre itself will accommodate 1,200 to 1,500 people at a time.

A special fleet of 80 buses is being chartered to shuttle delegates between the centre and the main hotels. A $2.50 pass will cover the three days.

Mr. Lafond worked on liberal conventions in 1948 and 1958 and says this one differs mainly because it's a tight race with a large field of candidates. The earlier ones were "nearly foregone conclusions."

Since the beginning of March, Mr. Lafond has been working on convention preparations—seven days a week, from 8:30 a.m. until 7 or 7:30 p.m.—"I'm a morning worker."

Senator Likely President

OTTAWA (CP) — Senator Richard J. Stanbury of Toronto, a 64-year-old newcomer to the Senate but a veteran of party organization, likely will be named Saturday to head the Liberal Federation of Canada.

Party sources say they know of no others likely to oppose his bid for the party presidency, now held by Senator John Nichol of Vancouver.

Senator Stanbury himself confirmed Monday that he will allow his name to be placed in nomination. He said he knows of no one planning to oppose him, but added: "That doesn't mean there can't be one."

The choosing of a president is normally a routine action in the Liberal party and party sources indicated they do not expect a contest this year.

Jeane Dixon's Horoscope

For APRIL 3

Your birthday today: Re-education is your key word. The coming year will involve many new contacts with fellow-workers, neighbors. There is a special opportunity to come to a better understanding of oneself with new courses of study, new books. Today's natives tend to overeat, and to work off the calories in exercise or physical work. This year should be for them a time to protect their health.

ARIES (Mar. 21 — Apr. 19): Some balance must be struck between personal responsibility in your work and the temptation to seek pleasure. Travel, commuting takes more time than planned, and is likely to bring new acquaintances.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 — May 20): Today's personal hunches seem farfetched, but may contain the beginnings of very practical methods of high earnings in the future. Keep careful notes for later development. Restrain impulse buying today.

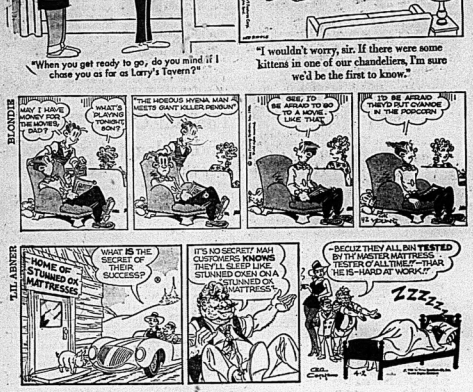
GEMINI (May 21 — June 20): Skip the bickering and go on to work early. Take the time to hear the ideas of older people, friends of long acquaintance.

CANCER (June 21 — July 22): Nothing seems quite ready for use today, although promising well for the near future. Business should be normal, with no great excitement over new deals. Relax with light entertainment tonight.

LEO (July 23 — Aug. 22): Plan today for the distant future, but take time to attend immediate personal needs. Shopping should be rather easily completed this morning. Survey your personal resources.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 — Sept. 22): Collect your funds today while the opportunity is clear. Make sure your asking prices are high enough to reflect the quality of what you do, or what you sell. Buy clothing today.

LIBRA (Sept. 23—Oct. 22): Today is low-pressure day, but course your opportunities consistently. Domestic and marital co-operation should improve with the asking.



SCORPIO (Oct. 23—Nov. 21): Strive for the best today with careful attention to details. Check contracts and manuscripts for unexpected loopholes. Advertise or make your offerings known in correspondence.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 — Dec. 21): Show the world a pleasant face and spirit today, and receive in return inspiration and profitable support. Good news is likely to show in your mails.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 — Jan. 19): Continue your attentions to your home and your work area. Help arrangements will save immense amounts of time and effort later. Sell off any excess or surplus equipment.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 — Feb. 18): Public relations is the concern for today. Do correspondence, advertising, personal contact. Any serious effort is likely to be well rewarded. Relax with a good show tonight.

PISCES (Feb. 19 — Mar. 20): Round up the petty cash today, tidy the loose ends of accounts and errands. Shopping is quick and faster than usual if you can start early. Pay no attention to rumors today — the facts will come out in full later.

Quinte Delegates Split First Votes
But Most Await Ottawa Developments

Close contact reveals no general Quinte trend favoring a specific candidate for the Liberal leadership.

No positive pattern of choice emerges as the party's grass roots representatives pack their bags for Ottawa and the convention opener Thursday.

A poll of delegations from the Quinte ridings of Hastings and Prince Edward-Hastings reveals a number of possibilities. Some candidates are positive, others non-committal, keeping their own confidences.

Trudeau, Martin, Hellyer, MacEachen, Turner, Winters are among the names of the day, but not necessarily in that order.

Here is how the delegates responded:

Prince Edward-Hastings

D. R. Fraser, Trenton and riding president — For Hellyer, "at least on the first ballot."

Dr. Lionel Dockrill, Picton — "Hellyer, all the way."

George Cunningham, Consecon — Favors John Turner for "his youth and dialogue with Quebec." Mr. Cunningham believes Canada needs to move away from "old-line" politicians. His second choice would be Trudeau.

Donald Bond, R.R. 1 Milford — Is non-committal, but has narrowed choices to Hellyer, Martin, Trudeau and Winters. He doesn't see "how anybody could make up his mind so quickly when there are so many good candidates to choose from."

Miss Enid Rogers, Colborne —supports Trudeau as a "man of the times." Miss Rogers is impressed with the Justice Minister's revision of the Criminal Code in a most "liberal fashion. "Constitutionally, he showed his metal in the dominion - provincial conference."

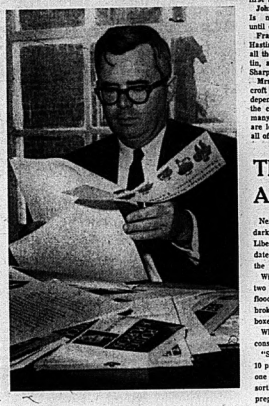
Jack Hill of Colborne, is a Queen's University student, was not available for comment.

Charles Bates, Shannonville, riding president. — Approaching the convention with an open mind. "I feel that the last ballot will be between Trudeau and Martin. But Winters is a dark horse. "Many delegates from rural ridings may also give Agriculture Minister Joe Greene their first ballot, he feels.

John O'Flynn, Belleville — Is not committing himself until convention contact.

Frank Folwell, former MP Hastings South — "Hellyer all the way." After that, Martin, and "if he goes I'm for Sharp then Winters."

Mrs. Rea Callaghan, Bancroft — "So much is going to depend on what happens at the convention. There are so many things that we delegates are looking for. We're trying, all of us in our different way, to get a perfect man all rolled up into one.".



Rod Cameron, Belleville — Waiting until making personal contact with the convention. "Sometimes it's more satisfactory to get impressions first hand from talking with people."

Don Bristol, Young Liberal representative — "There are two men foremost in my mind and I don't put preference on one or the other. They are McEachen and Trudeau." Both men "bear out the true ideas of our party's progressive ideals." But there are "a few other things I want to find out first before I make a commitment to one or the other."

Sorry! We're Filled

Secretary Paul LaFond of the Liberal Federation tells a caller it will be a full house for this weekend's convention. It promises to add an extra dash of excitement to the choice of the country's next prime minister.

They Get Letters!

Mail has been piling up in homes of Liberal convention delegates across Canada as leadership candidates canvass support. Before departing for Ottawa, John O'Flynn, Belleville lawyer and Hastings delegate, takes a final survey of literary output.

The Mail Comes Through And Delegates Swamped

Neither rain nor snow nor dark of night have stayed the Liberal leadership candidates reaching out through the mails.

With the convention only two days away the paper flood has now crested and broken through the mail boxes of voting delegates.

Which is quite a break — considering the volume.

"Sometimes we averaged 10 pieces of mail a day," said one Quinte-district delegate, sorting through a paper tide preparatory to an early Ottawa-bound departure.

Multiply that by more than 2,400 delegates and the national outpouring grows to gigantic proportions.

The volume was as diverse as it was prolific.

There were folders of speeches and photographs from almost every candidate.

There were glossy full-size pocket books from the campaign headquarters of John Turner, Pierre Trudeau, Paul Martin.

Trudeau's mailing included national magazines that carried features on the runaway contender in the leadership race.

Martin campaigners and organizers for Agriculture Minister Joe Greene hit on the same device: a plastic phonograph record.

But the most effective may have been the simplest.

It was a notebook, containing an easy-reference map of Ottawa, all the city's hotels and phone numbers, a convention itinerary and a balloting guide.

Despatched from Robert Winters' headquarters it was designed to easily fit an inside pocket. Many delegates likely will take it to Ottawa — for ready reference at least.

ROBERT TEMPLE

Temple Campaigning; This Time for Martin

Pictures and Stories
By Harry Mulhall
Staff Reporter

For one leading local politician Paul Martin is the man to take the Liberal leadership.

So much so, Robert Temple has been part of the Martin campaign team in Southern Ontario in the final preconvention bids for delegate votes.

The former MP for Hastings South has ranged far beyond his Quinte-area political bailiwick in the Martin cause.

"Mr. Martin is a man of great experience and a true Liberal," believes Mr. Temple.

Espousing the Martin bid, he spent time last week flying between Ottawa and various points west of Toronto with campaign organizers.

The Belleville barrister has checked out centres like Kitchener, Goderich, Kincardine, Walkerton, Hanover, flying back to Ottawa each night.

From the reception given Mr. Martin he believes the External Affairs Minister is "getting across to the delegates."

"He's an outstanding politician," claims Mr. Temple. "He's one of the best organizers — perhaps the best organizer — I've met. He's also a man of young ideas, and it's been particularly gratifying to see the number of young people he has supporting him and taking an active part in his campaign."

Now, as he prepares for the convention, the local political veteran believes his man will share the last ballot.

"I think it'll come to Mr. Martin and Mr. Trudeau on the last ballot. Mr. Trudeau has obviously a very good mind — but I prefer a man of proven ability, Paul Martin."

Quinte-area PC Members Favor Martin In Vote for Liberal Leadership

OTTAWA — Most Quinte-area parliamentarians give priority to Paul Martin to win the Liberal leadership.

And they're all Conservatives.

The lone exception is a man who has fought the bitter fight for political leadership — George Hees.

The MP for Northumberland believes Justice Minister Pierre Trudeau may emerge Canada's next prime minister when the country's Liberals cast their last convention ballots here Saturday.

Mr. Hees' three Commons colleagues who give External Affairs Minister Martin the edge are Lee Grills (Hastings South); Rod Webb, (Hastings-Frontenac) and Douglas Alkenbrack (Prince Edward - Lennox).

Discounting any polls and pundits inferring a Trudeau runaway, the trio seem to agree that Martin's experience and sheer political savvy may swing the day.

However, Mr. Hees seems more sensitive to the polls.

"It's really impossible to figure out how those delegates will vote," he confesses. "But the polls seem pretty well agreed that Trudeau has the lead."

"I'm willing to go along with that. He (Trudeau) appears in the lead — although I've no real way of knowing."

Mr. Hees ponders another justification for a possible Trudeau victory: the mystique of new departures in politics.

"The thing that does seem strange to me is that he's so far ahead. He wasn't even a member of the (Liberal) party three years ago. It's quite extraordinary."

Mr. Hees has had personal experience of such an environment of political challenge. The former trade minister was an unsuccessful contender at last year's Conservative convention that elected a parliamentary outsider—Robert Stanfield.

"They seem to want something new these days — and it's going to be an interesting week."

However, mystique rates lower than shrewdness with the three other Quinte MPs.

"Paul Martin is a shrewd political manipulator who knows all the tricks in the book," says Lee Grills.

"I've a very strong feeling that when he gets the Liberal gates all together he will be the most persuasive."

Trudeau he places second on the list, "a hippy socialist, a bachelor, and unknown quantity."

Rod Webb supports Paul Martin's chances because "there is a need for a man of experience, familiar with all aspects of the economy and running of the country."

"I think the Liberal party is quite apt to nominate Martin," agrees Douglas Alkenbrack.

The party's hierarchy will "have some control" of convention trends while Martin's French-Canadian family ties will also be an asset, the MP believes.

However, he sees Trudeau a "close second" and Robert Winters a strong contender to be reckoned with on those last ballots."

Whoever emerges victorious Saturday leads the government in the next election.

One Quinte MP volunteered a guess on that one.

Said Rod Webb: "In view of the turmoil, unrest and uncertainty in the country today, a general election will not be called until the spring or fall of 1969."

Strength Widespread

The Polls Say Trudeau But Convention Manoeuvring May Be Key

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The polls say Justice Minister Trudeau will top the first ballot at the Liberal leadership convention in Ottawa this week with a comfortable margin over Paul Martin, minister of external affairs, and Transport Minister Hellyer.

A Canadian Press survey covering 1,045 of the 1,584 delegates constituency associations will send to Ottawa agrees with the first three placings in earlier polls published by the Montreal Gazette and on the CBC's television program The Way It Is.

Constituency delegates represent 64 per cent of the 2,481 eligible voters at the convention. To win, a candidate needs a simple majority of 1,241 votes.

The three polls give Mr. Trudeau a comfortable first-ballot lead with Mr. Martin second and Mr. Hellyer third, but the margin between those two is close and votes of delegates not yet committed could reverse the order.

The CBC talked to 1,000 delegates and gathered information on the remainder by checking clearing points for campaign information. The Gazette projected its figures from a poll of 244 delegates conducted by the newspaper and affiliates across Canada of Standard Radio News Ltd.

CP's survey was made mainly through presidents of the 264 electoral districts that send six delegates each to the convention. A total of 529 delegates in this group of 1,584 declined to say how they will vote or could not be reached.

Other voting delegates come from varied fields such as the Privy Council, Senate, House of Commons and party federations, clubs and associations.

There also is representation from provincial legislatures and from defeated Liberal candidates in the last federal and provincial elections.

CP did not project its figures to a final total but showed this breakdown of 1,045 delegates:

Trudeau 328; Martin 156; Hellyer 151; former trade minister Winters 110; John Turner, minister for consumers affairs, 80; Health Minister MacEachen 77; Finance Minister Sharp 65; Agriculture Minister Greene 29; Eric Kierans, former Quebec cabinet minister, 25.

CBC's breakdown of 2,119 votes showed:

The Gazette's breakdown of 2,115 projected votes showed: Trudeau 708; Martin 309; Hellyer 257; Winters 254; Turner 161; Sharp 142; MacEachen 54; Kierans 34; Greene 16.

Both said about 350 delegates were uncommitted or unavailable for comment.

The CP survey covered all provinces except Newfoundland where Liberal organizer J. B. Ashley said none of the 84 delegates has given any commitment. Mr. Ashley said it has not yet been decided whether delegates will vote in a bloc or as individuals.

Figures for other provinces in the CP survey:

Nova Scotia (66)—MacEachen 43, Winters 2, no reply 21.

New Brunswick (60)—Trudeau 7, MacEachen 7, Martin 6, Hellyer 5, Winters 5, Sharp 5, Turner 2, Greene 1, no reply 22.

Quebec (444)—Trudeau 198, Martin 63, Winters 44, Hellyer 19, Sharp 17, Kierans 11, Turner 9, MacEachen 1, no reply 82.

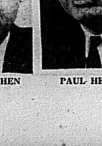
Manitoba (78)—Hellyer 23, Trudeau, Martin 13, Winters 10, Sharp 8, Turner 4, Greene 3, no reply 3.

Saskatchewan (28)—Martin 12, Winters 9, Trudeau 5, Sharp 4, Greene 4, Hellyer 2, Kierans 3, no reply 10.

Alberta (114)—Trudeau 23, Turner 13, Hellyer 12, Sharp 6, Martin 6, Winters 2, Kierans 1, no reply 49.

British Columbia (138)—Turner 28, Hellyer 20, Trudeau 12, Martin 10, Kierans 10, Sharp 2, no reply 56.



Yukon/NWT (12)—Turner 6, no reply 6.

A Recipe for a Happy, Homey Life...

GET THAT "DREAM HOME" OUT OF YOUR DREAMS AND MAKE IT A REALITY - RIGHT NOW!

A charming woman we know buys all the magazines about homes. She has a fat scrap book, loaded with ideas she wants in the home her family will buy some day. She hasn't asked us for advice about buying a home, but we wish she would. We'd say something like this: "You've moved four times in eleven years. Your kids have never really felt put any place. You dream and dream about your own home, but that's as far as it goes."

We would go on to say: "Stop your dreaming and live! Because you haven't a home to invest your money in, you buy new cars too often, you buy far too many new gadgets and over fancy appliances. You've paid out over $20,000 in rent — and have exactly nothing to show for it. Much of what you've frittered away could have gone into a juicy equity in your own home."

RECIPES TRIED AND TESTED IN THE KITCHENS OF THE QUINTE AREA

COOK BOOK

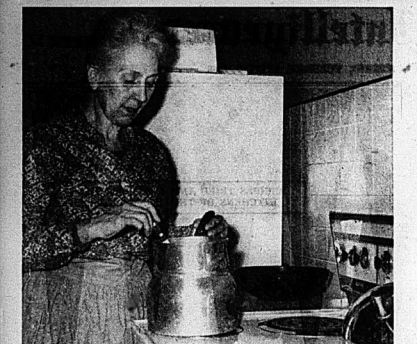
A WHOLE WIDE WONDERFUL WORLD OF BRIGHT NEW IDEAS IN COOKING

Cook Is Artist In Own Right

By Mrs. Dorothy (Batchelier) MacKinnon
Home Economics Director

Imagination is one of the most important ingredients used in cooking. It can lift a recipe out of the ordinary and make meal preparation interesting and fun.

An artist starts with a blank canvas and a lot of paints and creates a picture. A homemaker starts with empty pots and pans and a collection of foods and creates a meal which can also be a picture.



However her picture, unlike the artist's, is a success when it disappears quickly.

A survey was conducted a few years ago in the United States and it revealed that a large percentage of homemakers used up their menu ideas in a week.

It seems incredible that this could be so when one considers all the menu suggestions, cooking tips, recipes and new products available to the modern homemaker.

Are Canadian women more knowledgeable than their counterparts to the South? Let's hope so.

The 1968 version of the Intelligencer Cook Book supplement would suggest more homemakers, at least in Hastings County, enjoy cooking and are knowledgeable about their art.

Meat Dishes

MEAT LOAF

¾ lb. minced beef
¼ lb. minced pork shoulder
1 egg, beaten
1 cup milk, tomato juice or diluted gravy
2 tbsps. finely chopped onion
½ cup rolled oats
1 tsp. salt
⅛ tsp. pepper
⅛ tsp. sage

Preheat oven to 375 deg. Fahr. Combine minced beef and pork. Beat egg. Add liquid, remaining ingredients. Combine with meat. Pack lightly in loaf tin, 8½" x 4½". Cover with greased paper; tie securely. Bake in moderate oven for 1 hr. 15 min. Yield: 6 servings.

Carolyne Abrams,
R.R.1, Marysville, Ont.

FRENCH FRIED FRANKFURTERS

Makes 12.
Combine in a bowl:
1 cup pancake mix
2 tsps. cornmeal
1 tsp. sugar

Add 2-3 cup milk. Mix well. Beat until smooth. Add, one at a time, 1¼ lbs. frankfurters in pancake mix until well coated. Fry in deep hot fat 375 deg. Fahr. until golden brown.

Mrs Kirk Downey,
82 Wallbridge Crescent.

BARBECUED SPARERIBS

Ure 3 lbs. ribs, cut in 3" pieces 3 ribs each. Place on rack in roasting pan. Bake in centre hot oven (425 deg. Fahr.) for 30 min. Pour off fat. Remove from rack and cover with 2 cups barbecue sauce. Reduce oven temperature to 325 deg. Fahr. and continue baking 1½ hrs., covered. Baste several times with sauce. 4 servings.

BARBECUE SAUCE

2 tbsps. brown sugar
1½ tsps. dry mustard
1½ tsp. chili powder
1 tsp. salt
¼ tsp. pepper
1½ tbs. spicy meat sauce
3 tbsp. vinegar
¼ cup finely chopped onion
2 cups tomato juice

Mix brown sugar and seasonings. Add remaining ingredients and mix. Simmer 10 min. Makes 2 cups.

Beat served with boiled rice

Mrs. H. W. Knight,
R.R.3, Belleville.

SPAGHETTI and MEATBALLS

On one or two pounds of hamburg sprinkle garlic, salt and pepper. Roll in small balls and brown in frying pan. Put these in a large pot and add a large can of tomato juice, large can of tomato paste and a can of tomatoes. Add green peppers if preferred. Simmer about 3½ hours. Add two or three pounds of spaghetti to boiling water. After cooked, drain and rinse in cold water. Add sauce and a little more garlic if desired.

Buns Are Fun ... to Make and Eat

LEMON BREAD

6 tbsps. shortening
1 cup sugar
2 eggs
1½ cup flour
½ tsp. salt
1 tsp. baking powder
½ cup milk
Grated rind of 1 lemon

Cream shortening, sugar and lemon rind. Add eggs and beat well. Add dry ingredients alternately with milk. Put in well-greased loaf pan and let stand for 20 min.

Bake approximately 1 hr. at 375 deg. Fahr.

Mix together ¼ cup white sugar and juice from ½ lemon. When loaf is removed from oven pour sugar-juice mixture slowly over loaf. Let cool.

Mrs. Jean Sine,
R.R.1, Frankford, Ont.

YEAST BUNS or BREAD

2 pkgs. yeast
1 tsp. sugar
½ cup warm water

Let set till rises about 10 min.

4 cups sweet milk scalded and cooled
4 tsps. sugar
2 tsps. salt
6 tbsps. melted butter
10 cups flour

Beat all together adding yeast mixture. Knead on floured board then make into large ball and place in greased parts and cover. Let rise double in bulk, approx. 1½ to 2 hrs. Knead on board again, cut and shape in loaves or buns. Let rise again about 1 hr. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for 1 hr for bread; for buns 30 min.

Mrs. Ruth Titterson,
R.R.1, Harold, Ont.

MUFFINS

2 cups sifted flour
2½ tsps. baking powder
1 tsp. salt
1 tsp. paprika
¼ cup butter
1 beaten egg
1 cup milk
1 cup grated cheese
2-3 cup raisins or currants

Resift flour with baking powder, salt and paprika. Cut in butter, stir in the remaining ingredients and stir only until the dry ingredients are moistened. Spoon onto greased muffin pans. Bake at 425 deg. Fahr. for 25 min. Yields 12 tasty muffins.

Mrs. C. H. Harvey,
Frankford, Ont.

IRISH SODA BREAD

3 cups flour
3 tbsps. sugar
½ tsp. baking soda
1½ tsp. salt
3 tsps. baking powder
1 cup currants (boiled 5 min.)
1½ cups buttermilk

Sift dry ingredients together, dry currants on paper towel and add to dry ingredients. Add buttermilk and mix then knead on floured board or wax paper. Shape into two round loaves and bake on greased cookie sheet for about 40 min. at 350 deg. Fahr. Brush with the following glaze:

2 tbsps. sugar
2 tbsps. boiling water

Mix well. Brush over bread, and put in oven for about 5 min.

Mrs. Lorna Walsh,
51 Sinclair Street.

JAM FILLED BISCUITS

2 cups once sifted pastry flour
3½ tsps. baking powder
½ tsp. salt
3 tbsps. fine granulated sugar
6 tbsps. butter or margarine
1 egg well beaten
1-3 cup milk
¼ tsp. cinnamon
Thick raspberry jam

Grease a cookie sheet and preheat oven to 425 deg. Fahr. Mix and sift once then sift into a bowl the flour, baking powder, salt and 2 tbsps. sugar, cut in butter. Combine well beaten egg and milk. Make a well in the flour mixture and add liquids. Mix with a fork adding milk if necessary to make a soft dough. Knead for ten seconds on floured board and roll out to ½ inch thick. Shape with floured 2½ inch round cookie cutter. Arrange well apart on cookie sheet and make a deep hole in the centre and add jam. Brush dough with a little milk and sprinkle with a mixture of remaining sugar and cinnamon. Bake 12 min. Serve immediately with butter or eat as is.

Mrs. Pearl J. Woodcox,
72 Great St. James Street.

FEATHER BUNS

½ cup lukewarm water
1 envelope granular yeast
1 tsp. granulated sugar
¼ cup shortening
1 egg, well beaten
3-4 cup water
3 tbsps. sugar
1 tsp. salt
1 tsp. lemon juice
3 cups all-purpose flour

Combine water, sugar and shortening. Stir over heat until sugar, salt and shortening are dissolved and shortening melted. Cool to lukewarm. Measure the ¼ cup of water into a large bowl and add the 1 tsp. sugar. Sprinkle over the yeast and let stand for 10 min. Next stir and add the sugar-shortening mixture. Stir in lemon juice and beaten egg. Sift 2 cups flour, and add into yeast mixture, gradually work in the other cup of flour to make a soft dough and grease top. Cover and let stand in warm place until doubled and light. Punch dough and spoon tbsp. of dough into greased muffin tins. Grease tops and let rise again until very light. Bake at 425 deg. Fahr. for 20 min.

Mrs. Alice Turpah,
204 North Front Street.

ORANGE DATE BREAD

2 eggs
1 cup brown sugar, packed
1 tbsps. cooking (salad) oil
1 tbsp. grated orange rind
2½ cups sifted, all - purpose flour
2 tsps. baking powder
1 tsp. soda
1 tsp. salt
¾ cup orange juice
1½ cups cut-up dates

Heat oven to 350 deg. Fahr. Grease a 9 x 5 x 3" loaf pan.

Beat eggs and sugar together until light and creamy. Beat in oil. Stir in orange rind. Sift flour, baking powder, soda and salt together. Add to first mixture alternately with orange juice, stirring just to blend after each addition. Stir in dates.

Spoon into prepared pan and bake about 50 min. or until a toothpick stuck in the centre comes out clean. Turn out on rack to cool. This can be freezer wrapped and kept in freezer.

E. Thrasher,
46 Linton Park Road.

PRUNE NUT BREAD

1 cup uncooked prunes
Juice of 1 orange
Hot water
1 tsp. grated orange rind
2 cups all-purpose flour
3 tsps. baking powder
½ tsp. salt
½ tsp. cinnamon
½ cup sugar
1 tbsp. melted shortening
2 eggs, beaten
¾ cup nuts, chopped

Cut prune meat from pits with a sharp knife or scissors. Add enough hot water to orange juice to make 1 cup liquid. Pour over prunes. Add the orange rind and let stand while preparing the remainder of batter. Sift flour, measure and resift 3 times with the baking powder, salt, cinnamon and sugar. Add the shortening and eggs to the softened prunes, then add flour mixture and beat thoroughly. Stir in nuts. Pour into well-greased loaf pan, 8 x 4 x 2½". Cover with a second pan of the same size and bake in moderate oven. 350 deg. Fahr., for 15 min. Remove upper pan and continue to bake for 45 min. or until done. Cool on wire rack. Makes 1 loaf.

Mrs. H. Carl Reid,

MODERNIZE YOUR KITCHEN
AT A REASONABLE PRICE

WANT TO KNOW HOW TO MAKE EVERYTHING TASTE BETTER?

If you're not a very good cook, we doubt if we can improve the meals you serve! However, we sure can improve the surroundings in which you serve the meals. Come to thing of it — maybe we can improve your cooking. We'll bet a lot of ladies could be superb cooks if they delighted working in a kitchen that was bright, cheerful and convenient. A kitchen that has plenty of cupboards, acads of counter space and appliances set in out of the way. We think successful cooking, like many endeavors, is partially contingent on a good frame of mind. Yes, that's what we wanted to say! For surprisingly little money we can give you a good frame of mind!

Before you cook another thing, call Mr. Mel Abel at 962-9184. Mel will be happy to visit you at your convenience to give you an estimate on your particular requirements with no obligation whatever.

Seriously, if your cooking didn't improve, your family would certainly enjoy it more in a cheerful new kitchen!

Even Angels On Budgets Want To Look Heavenly Too!

Extravagence isn't essential to heavenliness. Come see. Tell us your desires. Discuss your budget with us. Trust us to provide you a dream gown to suit your particular needs. Bring the bridesmaids too, we want your wedding to have the unified look that experience brings. The fact that we help plan many weddings where price is no object, gives us the standards we know must also be met where money is limited.

So, as we said, even angels on budgets want to look heavenly too, and we love to prove that they can. Come in and talk things over — no obligation of course.

DON'T BUY CANADIAN... UNLESS YOU WANT TO PAY LESS

Al Terry

TORONTO—(HB)—"Don't buy Canadian unless you want to pay less money!" proclaimed Canada's leading appliance retailer during a recent conversation. "A high price does not always determine the true value of a television set or washer and dryer." He continued, "the fact that you pay a lot of money for a TV set, washer or dryer does not necessarily mean you buy a better machine or cabinet. For example: a television set made in the U.S.A. and brought into Canada can cost the Canadian buyer approximately 30% more than it cost the U.S. purchaser for the following reasons: The Canadian buyer pays an Import Duty of 20%; Excise Tax 10%; Canadian-U.S. Exchange Rate is over 8%; Freight Rates up to 8%. These charges are not individual but are compounded because each percentage is added to the previous total. In addition," he added, "the American parent company must also show a profit when the parent company in the United States sells to its subsidiary Canadian company or when the American company sells to a Canadian company and the Canadian company must, in turn, show a profit after paying all the above costs, duties, taxes, freight charges, brokerage fees, exchange rates and administration costs, etc. Many Canadian standards are more rigid than the American standards and the Canadian people want more value for their money. If the value is there, many Canadian goods here in with better prices, and above all, more employment, why shouldn't we shop Canadian?" "In conclusion," said the millionaire retailer, "keep in mind that every part brought in from the U.S.A. is subject to the similar above tariff plus a possible long waiting period for parts."

McINTOSH'S HOLD THE "TRUMPH CARDS" IN THE "GAME" OF LOOKING SMART!

We believe everyone is happy to welcome the feminine female back. Women are to be pretty again — not only as a reaction from the hard and kooky look. But also because there is more individuality in flowers and feathers and jewels and frills, in ruffles and colors and textures and laces.

Most girls like to express their individuality and their fashion knowhow. McIntosh's really let them do it! Here you can find everything to do it with! Fashion now is a little more frivolous and certainly softer and more feminine. Mind you — you'll still find simple things, classics, some of the "hard" lines of recent fashions . . , but with a feminine touch!

Come in and see them. Revel in the new look, and be more looked at. Come in and pick up a few "Trump Cards" for yourself. At McIntosh's we play the "game" for keeps — you can't lose!

Pastry for That Sweet Tooth

NEVER-FAIL CREAM PUFF SHELLS

1 cup sifted all - purpose flour
1 tsp. baking powder
½ tsp. salt
1 cup water
¼ cup butter or margarine
3 eggs

Sift flour, baking powder and salt together. Bring water and butter just to boiling point stirring until the butter is melted. Remove from heat and add unbeaten eggs one at a time beating after each addition until egg and flour mixture are thoroughly combined. Drop in mounds about the size of an egg well apart on prepared cookie sheet. Bake in preheated oven for 15 min. then lower oven heat to 375 deg. Fahr. and bake until puffs are light and delicately browned, about 25 min. Turn off oven heat and leave door open to allow puffs to dry a few minutes.

Yield: 1 doz.

Mrs. Pearl L. Woodcox,
72 Great St. James Street.

NEVER FAILING PIE CRUST

5 cups flour
4 tbsps. brown sugar
½ tsp. baking powder

Try These Vegetable Dishes for A Change

BOSTON BAKED BEANS

4 cups beans
¼ lb. salt pork
½ cup molasses
1 tsp. mustard

Soak beans in cold water over night. In the morning put them in fresh water and simmer until soft enough to pierce with fork being careful not to let them boil enough to break. If you like, boil one onion with them.

When soft, turn into a colander, pour cold water through them and put into a bean pot.

Pour boiling water over salt pork, part fat and part lean. Scrape the rind till white, cut the rind in ½" strips, bury the pork in beans, leaving only the rind exposed.

Mix 1 tsp. mustard with ¼ cup molasses, and fill the cup with hot water, when well-mixed pour over the beans. Add enough more water until the last hour, then lift the pork to the surface and let it crisp.

Bake eight hours in moderate oven.

Mrs. Goldie Burley,
4 Holloway Street.

COLE SLAW (Cabbage)

1 large head of cabbage
2 med. onions chopped
1 green and 1 red pepper (sweet) chopped fine
2 cups white sugar
1 tsp. mustard seed
1 tsp. celery seed
1 salt
2 cups mild vinegar

Combine ingredients; pack in jars and seal. Will keep 3 or 4 weeks.

Mrs. Sid Demorest,
Box 279, Marmora, Ont.

QUICK DUCHESS POTATOES

To serve 4 or 5, heat together in large saucepan:

1 1-3 cups boiling water,
½ cup milk
2 tbsps. butter
½ tsp. salt.

When this comes to boiling point, remove from heat and stir in vigorously with a fork 1 pkge. or ½ cup instant potatoes until thick; add 2 eggs while stirring, then beat with rotary or electric beater until smooth. Turn into a buttered casserole. Sprinkle with paprika, salt and pepper and a few dots of butter. Bake at 425 deg Fahr. until puffed up high and tinged with gold, about 15 to 20 min.

Sprinkle grated cheese over top, if desired.

Mrs. Mabel Vardy,
Stirling, Ont.

STUFFED ONIONS

METHOD: Remove skins and clean off bottom of large onions. Do not cut bottom. Place in cold water and boil gently for 15 min. Drain, scoop out centre with a grapefruit spoon. Retain centre to chop and mix with stuffing.

FILLING: Hamburg meat, seasoned with sage, salt, pepper, minced celery, 1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce, garlic, marjoram, thyme, etc., and added bread crumbs.

Bake in shallow dish. Baste occasionally with onion liquid from boiled onions, and butter. Bake covered 40 min. — uncovered approximately 20 min.

Eileen Whitmore,
Roslin, Ont.

TURNIP PUFF (serves 6)

Applesauce gives this turnip casserole a mild flavor and the eggs make it fluffy.

Preparation time: 15 min.
Baking time: 35 min.

1 med. turnip (5 cups diced)
10 -oz. can applesauce
2 tbsps. butter or margarine
2 eggs, beaten
3 tbsps. flour
1 tbsp. brown sugar
1 tsp. baking powder
¾ tsp. salt
¼ tsp. pepper

Peel and dice turnip. Cook in boiling salted water until tender — 20 to 30 min. Drain and mash (3 cups mashed turnip). Beat in applesauce, butter, eggs, flour, sugar, baking powder, salt and pepper. Transfer to 1½ qt. greased casserole. Chill.

Three-quarters of an hour before dinner, heat turnip casserole in 350 degree oven for 35 min.

Mrs. Frank Tucker,
R. R. 2, Belleville

VEGETABLE SUPPER DISH

1 lb. hamburg
1 large onion chopped
Diced carrots, potatoes and turnips
2 handfuls of macaroni
1 can tomato soup
Salt and pepper

Mix hamburg and onion and fry loosely in frying pan. Add diced vegetables and just cover with water. When boiling add the macaroni and soup. Boil slowly for 40 min. Add salt and pepper to taste. Stir occasionally.

Mrs. James Kehoe,
Read, Ont.

STUFFED CABBAGE or CABBAGE ROLLS

1 onion
½ lb. minced beef
½ lb. minced pork
6 ozs. partly cooked rice
1 egg, beaten
Salt and pepper to taste
1 medium sized cabbage

Wash cabbage; soak 15 min. in hot water or until soft enough to roll. Cook meat and onion in a little dripping to brown. Mix meat, rice, egg, salt and pepper together. Put a tbsp. on a cabbage leaf and roll. Pin together with toothpicks, lay in dish. Pour water over, bake in moderate oven 1 hr. Serves 6.

CORN RELISH

4 cups corn (raw, just cut from the cobs
2 cups cucumbers, put through food chopper
2 cups onions, put through food chopper
1 sweet red pepper
1 green sweet pepper (remove pepper seeds, and cut in tiny pieces)
1¼ cups vinegar (white wine)
¾ cup water

Bring all this to a boil. Then mix in a bowl:

2¼ cups white sugar
1 tsp. salt
1 tbsp. turmeric
5 tbsps. flour
2 tbsps. mustard (dry)
2 tbsps. celery seed.

Mix well and wet with a little cold vinegar and a little water to make a fairly thin paste. Pour over the corn, cucumbers and other ingredients. Stir steadily until it comes to a boil and thickens (about 15 min.) and seal.

Mabel Vardy,
Stirling, Ont.

CORN PICKLES

Pick field corn — the small ones 2" long. Cook until soft — about 5 mins. Drain and pack in pint sealers.

Use:

½ cup sugar
1 cup white vinegar
1 tsp. pickling spices to each pint.

Bring to a boil, pour over pickles (corn) in jar and seal.

Ruth Richmond,

DROP DOUGHNUTS

Sift together 2 2-3 cups sifted all-purpose flour with 4 tsps. baking powder, ½ tsp. salt and 2-3 cup sugar. Combine 2 beaten eggs with 1 cup milk and 2 tsps. Vanilla and 2 tbsps. melted shortening melted and cooled. Add dry ingredients, and stir only enough to mix well. Heat shortening slowly to 350 deg. Fahr. in a deep kettle. Dip teaspoon of batter into hot shortening. Fry a few at a time, 3 - 5 min. until delicately brown. Turn doughnut balls when they come to top. Drain, then place on absorbent paper. Cool and coat in confectionsnut sugar if desired.

Mrs. Martha Golka,
112 Pinnacle Street.

PICKLED EGGS

3 cups white vinegar
1½ cups water
1½ tsps. salt
1 tsp. whole cloves
1 tsp. ground black pepper
½ tsp. celery seed

Put spices into a small cotton bag made from several thicknesses of cheese cloth. Put the bag into the vinegar with salt and water and boil 10 min.

Reuse bag and let solution cool.

Hardboil a dozen eggs, dash into cold water to cool rapidly and remove shells. Pack eggs into half-pint, pint, or qt. pint sealers. Pour cold vinegar solution over eggs to cover, then seal jars. Store in cool place. Let stand in pickling solution at least 2 days before using.

Pickled eggs may be sliced as a garnish, in salads, as a relish, served whole, or cut in half.

Mrs. Douglas Francis,
Crookston, Ont.

CORN FRITTERS

Heat shortening slowly to 375 deg. Fahr. in a deep kettle

Sift together 1¼ cups flour (all-purpose), 1½ tsps. baking powder, ½ tsp. salt.

Combine 2 beaten eggs, ½ cup milk and 1½ cups drained whole kernel corn. Add to flour mixture all at once. Stir only enough to mix thoroughly. Drop from tsp. into hot shortening. Fry 5 - 7 min., drain on absorbent paper. Serve hot as a meat accompaniment.

Mrs. Martha Golka,
112 Pinnacle Street.

POTATO DOUGHNUTS

¾ cup white sugar
2 eggs well beaten
1 cup mashed potatoes
½ cup sweet milk
2½ cups flour
2½ tbsps. melted shortening
½ tsp. salt
½ tsp. nutmeg
1 tbsp. baking powder.

Beat mashed potatoes until smooth. Add melted shortening, eggs and milk. Sift dry ingredients together and add to potato mixture. Dough should be soft enough to roll. Chill to firm up dough. Roll to thickness of ¾" and cut. Fry at 365 deg. Fahr.

Shake if paper bag when cool with white sugar and cinnamon to cover outside. Double this recipe if desired as they freeze well.

Mrs. Harold McAvoy,
R.R.6, Belleville.

ENGLISH YORKSHIRE PUDDING

1 cup flour
½ tsp. salt
1 cup milk
2 eggs, well beaten

Mix flour and salt, add milk and eggs, beat entire mixture vigorously several minutes with rotary beater or electric mixer. Pour batter into deep pan and bake 45 min., it puffs up like popovers-It must be beaten well as lightness of mixture depends upon air beaten into it.

Mrs. Pauline E. Foster,
66 Pinnacle Street.

CHEESE ROLLS

2 cups flour
4 tsps. baking powder
2 tbsps. butter
1 cup milk
½ tsp. salt

Mix as for piecrust. Roll out thin ker than for piecrust. Spread with cheese spread and roll as for jelly roll. Slice and bake as hot biscuit. Good with salads.

Mrs. Angus Mumby,
Moira, Ontario.

MACARONI DISH

Cook macaroni and drain. Dice an onion and brown in a little butter and add 1 can tomatoes and heat. Mix into the macaroni and serve. This gives a little different flavor.

Mrs. Douglas Matthews,
R.R.3, Napanee, Ont.

NUTS AND BOLTS

1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
½ tsp. garlic powder
2 cups shredded rice cereal (bite size)
½ cup pecans or walnut meats
1 tsp. salt
3-2 cup salad oil
2 cups shredded wheat cereal (bite size)
1½ cups pretzel sticks

Heat oven to 300 deg. Fahr. (slow). Measure oil in cup, add sauce, salt and garlic powder, beat well with fork. Put cereals and nuts in shallow pan, approximately 13 x 9 x 2", stir gently to cover all pieces, bake 30 min. stirring 10 min., keep from side of pan as these may have a tendency to get more brown than at the centre of the pan.

Spread on a paper to cool.

You may substitute other cereals if you wish, anything except the too sweet ones. Add other nut meats or twisted pretzel sticks.

R. Spencer,
Box 421, Tweed, Ont.

EGG NOG

Whip the whites and yolks of 8 eggs into a stiff cream, adding ½ cup sugar. Pour into a quart of milk, adding a half pint of brandy and a little flavoring of nutmeg. Stir up and thoroughly mix the ingredients and add the whites of three additional eggs well whipped.

Mrs. Howard French,
451 Thomas Street, Deseronto.

TIPS ON ICING

Instead of sprinkling chopped nuts, peel, shredded coconut, etc. on small cakes, melt ¼ cup margarine and ¼ cup brown sugar in the bottom of your cake pan. Arrange a combination of these or sliced apples, canned peaches etc., over this, add the cake batter and bake. Presto—upside down cake.

White of egg. If kept closely covered in a cool place, will keep over a week, and is as good for meringue as when fresh. Some people put the meringue on a pie when it is still hot. This causes the eggs to liquefy and spoils the effect.

It is well to remember that anything to be mixed with the white of an egg must be done with a light lifting motion of the spoon rather than stirring which may liquefy the eggs.

A little flour spread over the top of cakes before they are iced will prevent the icing from running.

Mrs. Douglas Matthews,
R.R. 3, Napanee, Ont.

TOMATO JUICE COCKTAIL

30 cups tomatoes
8 tbsps. chopped onions
8 tsps. salt
8 tbsps. sugar
1 tsp. pepper
16 cloves

Boil altogether 1 hr. Strain. Reheat to boiling. Bottle and seal.

Helen B. Sulman,
145 Bridge Street East.

STUFFING — 12-LB. BIRD

1-3 cup butter
1¼ cups finely chopped onion
1¼ cups celery
1 to 1½ tsps. salt
2 tbsps. white sugar
¼ tsp. pepper
½ tsp. poultry seasoning
6 cups bread cubes
½ cup milk (more if needed)
1 egg, well beaten
1 apple, diced
1 cup mashed potatoes

Melt butter, add onion and celery. Cook over low heat until vegetables are tender. Remove. Combine salt, pepper, sugar, seasonings and mix. Place bread in bowl. Add vegetable mixture, then seasoning mixture and toss lightly. Add milk and beaten egg and toss.

Mrs. Howard Cooney,
5 Wallbridge Crescent.

GRILLED PIZZAS

12 slices bread
1 can tomato paste
2 slices ham
6 slices Swiss cheese
Garlic
Salt
Oregano
Soft butter

Spread tomato paste on 1 slices of bread. Top six slices with ham and cheese. Sprinkle to taste with garlic, salt and oregano. Top with remaining slices, paste side down. Spread outside with butter. Grill until toasted (easiest in the oven under broiler.)

Jams and Pickles Part of Every Meal

ICICLE PICKLES

Peel and remove seeds from a six-quart basket of cucumbers. Make a brine of salt and water, add cucumbers and stir. Let stand overnight. For seven days drain and add fresh water. On 8th day, drain and cover with boiling water and 1 tbsp. alum. Let stand 24 hrs., and drain.

Syrup can be made with six pints of vinegar, one dessertspoon of spices tied in bag. Pour over pickles on 9th day. Let stand 24 hrs. Reheat this syrup for four mornings, adding ½ cup sugar each morning. Cut pickles in half and lengthwise. Reheat syrup, pour over pickles in jars and seal. These pickles are nice and crisp.

Alice Turpah,
204 North Front Street.

GOLDEN SALAD PICKLE

1 qt. peeled chopped ripe cucumbers
1 qt. peeled chopped ripe tomatoes
1 qt. peeled chopped onions
1 bunch celery chopped
1 qt. vinegar
2 tbsps. flour
1 tsp. mustard
1 tsp. turmeric
1 tbsp. salt
2 cups white sugar

Cook first five ingredients until cucumbers look clear. Mix rest of ingredients. Cook until thick. Add to first mixture and cook 5 min. longer. Seal while hot in sterile jars.

Mrs. L. E. Leavitt,
Wooler, Ont.

ROSY PEACH JAM

3½ cups mashed ripe peaches
1 cup mashed ripe bananas
½ cup drained, chopped Maraschino cherries
2 tbsps. lemon juice
1 box powdered pectin
6 cups sugar

Measure peaches, bananas, cherries, and lemon juice into large saucepan. Stir in pectin, mix well, cook over high heat stirring until mixture comes to rolling boil. At once stir in sugar and boil hard one min., stirring constantly. Remove from heat, skim and stir for 5 min., immediately ladle into hot sterilized jars. Seal at once. Makes 7 cups.

Mrs. E. H. Rainboth,
40 Namao Drive, Trenton, Ont.

PEAR MARMALADE

24 pears
1 can crushed pineapple
4 oranges
1 bottle cherries

Put all ingredients through food chopper. Add 3 cups sugar to four cups fruit. Boil until thick about 1 hr. and bottle.

Mrs. Lorne Carter,
Foxboro, Ont.

DILL PICKLES

12 pints water
3 pints white wine vinegar
1 lb. pickling salt
1 tsp. alum

Pack cucumbers in sterilized jars in which has been added dill weed, 2 or 3 chili peppers and clove garlic. Pour hot brine over and seal.

Mrs. Jean Moore,
Box 76, Wellington, Ont.

COMPANY BEST PICKLES

10 med. cucumbers
8 cups sugar (granulated)
2 tbsps. mixed pickling spices
5 tsps. salt
4 cups cider vinegar

Cover whole cucumbers with boiling water, allow to stand until next morning. Drain. Repeat this procedure next three mornings. On the 5th day, drain and slice in ½" pieces. Combine sugar, spices, salt and vinegar. Bring to boiling point and pour over cucumbers. Let stand 2 2days on the 3rd day, bring to boiling point and seal in hot sterilized jars.

Mrs. R. Jeffery,
103 Division Street, Trenton.

Fish Dinners Provide Welcome Change

SALMON RING

16 oz. can salmon (2 cups)
½ tsp. grated onion
½ cup soft bread crumbs
¼ cup chopped stuffed olives
1 thsp. finely chopped parsley
1 tsp. salt
Few grains pepper
1 thsp. lemon juice
½ cup thick white sauce
2 eggs, slightly beaten
Drain salmon and flake. Add remaining ingredients. Place in greased ring mold; (1-qt. capacity). Bake in moderate oven (350 deg. Fahr.) for 40 to 45 min. Unmold to platter. Fill centre with cooked peas, string beans or rice. Serve with egg sauce. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

THICK WHITE SAUCE

(Used in Salmon Ring)
6 thsps. butter
8 thsps. flour
1 tsp. salt
¼ tsp. pepper
2 cups milk
Melt butter over low heat; add flour, salt and pepper. Stir until well blended. Remove from heat. Gradually stir in milk and return to heat. Cook stirring constantly until thick and smooth. Makes 2 cups.

EGG SAUCE

(For salmon ring)
4 thsps. butter
4 thsps. flour
1 tsp. salt
¼ tsp. pepper
2 cups milk
Directions are the same as for Thick White Sauce.
When Sauce is thickened, add 2 chopped hard cooked eggs and 1 thsp. chopped parsley. Serve on Salmon Ring.

Mrs. Roy Payne,
11 First Street.

BAKED FISH

Place one pound of fish fillets in a lightly greased shallow baking dish, combine 1 can cream of celery soup, ½ cup shredded mild process cheese, dash of pepper. Pour over fish. Bake in moderate oven 375 deg. Fahr. 45 min. Serves 4.

Mrs. Wilfrid Forestell,
Eldorado, Ont.

PICKLED SALMON

4 lbs. fresh salmon in one piece
6 thsps. salt
3 thsps. sugar
1½ tsps. pepper
½ tsp. ground allspice
¼ cup cider vinegar
2 bunches fresh dill washed and drained
Salmon must be in one piece with skin and bones. Scale fish wash and pat dry. Using a sharp knife, cut along either side of the centre bone, leaving 2 large boneless fillets. Mix salt, sugar, pepper and allspice, spread over cut surface. Sprinkle with vinegar. Put ½ dill into deep earthenware dish large enough to hold pieces of fish side by side. Put fillet skin side down on dill, topwith remaining dill, reserving a bit for garnish. Cover dish closely with plastic wrap and press down with a heavy weight. Refrigerate for 2 days. Remove dill and drain fish. Cut in thin, diagonal slices, garnish with fresh dill and serve with lemon or mustard on thin slices of toast or pumpernickle.

Mrs. Martha Golka,
112 Pinnacle Street.

FISH AND CHIPS

1 lb. halibut or cod fillets
1 cup flour
½ tsp. salt
1 tsp. baking powder
1 egg beaten
⅔ cup milk
1 tsp. melted butter
Fat for deep frying
Cut prepared fillets into fairly small pieces. Sift together flour, salt and baking powder. Add egg to milk and stir into dry ingredients. Stir in melted butter. Dip pieces of fish into batter and drop a few pieces at a time into hot fat. French fry potato chips.

Mrs. Clayton Blackburn,
Madoc, Ontario.

SCALLOPED SALMON and POTATOES

1 lb. salmon
3 potatoes, sliced thinly
1 med. onion, minced
4 thsps. flour
2 cups milk
Pepper, salt
Drain liquid from salmon, reserving ½ cup. Flake salmon, arrange layer of potatoes in greased baking dish; sprinkle with half the salmon, onion and salmon liquid; sprinkle with 2 thsps. flour, salt and pepper. Make another layer of potatoes, add remaining salmon, onions and 1 thsp. liquid, sprinkle with the rest of flour. Pour on milk, then pour remaining thsp. of liquid over top and dot with butter. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for 1 hr., till potatoes are done. Sprinkle with paprika and garnish with parsley.

Mrs. Kirk Downey,
82 Wallbridge Crescent.

TUNA BURGERS

½ cup cheddar cheese chopped
1 small tin flaked tuna
3 hard boiled eggs
2 thsps. each:
green peppers
Olives and celery
Green onions
Green pickle
Mix in ¼ cup mayonnaise, put mixture into hamburg buns, wrap in tin foil; put in oven at 250 deg. Fahr. for 30 min. Makes 7 dozen servings.

Mrs. Garry Macelow,
100 North Park Street.

STUFFED WHITE FISH

3-4 lbs. white fish. Clean and wash fish thoroughly. Stuff. Place on foil to wrap. Bake at 400 deg. Fahr. 10 min. per lb.

STUFFING:
1 cup sliced celery
1 thsp. onion flakes
1 cup water
3 cups bread crumbs
¼ cup margarine
¼ tsp. pepper
½ tsp. thyme
½ tsp. salt
Cook onions and celery in water for 5 min. Add remaining ingredients and toss lightly to mix. Stuff fish and bake.

PAPRIKA BUTTER SAUCE (Optional)
½ cup margarine
½ tsp. salt
½ tsp. pepper
¾ tsp. paprika
1 thsp. lemon juice.
Melt butter. Blend in seasonings. Add lemon juice gradually. Pour on fish when ready to serve.

Mrs. Douglas Matthews,
R.R.3, Napanee, Ontario.

FISH FILLETS and POTATOES

To serve 6, you need 1½-2 lbs. fish fillets. Could use whitefish, cod, haddock (fresh or frozen) pickerel, mackerel or flounder.

Place fish in a single layer, or slightly overlapping in a large shallow buttered baking dish. Now boil 1 scrubbed, but unpared potato for each person to be served. For 6 persons, boil 6 potatoes until tender. Drain and remove skins. Cut each into 6 pieces. Make 2¾ cups white sauce by melting 5 thsps. butter or margarine, stirring in 5 thsps. flour, 1¼ tsps. salt, pepper to taste and then 2¼ cups milk. Stir until thick. Add the cut potatoes and pour over the raw fish fillets in baking dish. Over top of this sprinkle 1½-1 cup grated old cheese. Bake at 375 deg. Fahr. about 20 min. or until sauce bubbles. If fish is more than 1" thick at its thickest part, bake for ¼ hr. Serve with green vegetables such as spinach, broccoli or green beans.

Mrs. Marina Bird,
177 Pine Street, Belleville.

SKILLET CHEWS

2 eggs beaten
2 cups packed brown sugar
1½ cups chopped dates
2 cups crispy rice cereal
¼ cup sugar
½ cup chopped walnuts
3 tbsps. evaporated milk
1 tsp. vanilla
½ tsp. almond extract
¼ tsp. cinnamon

Combine eggs, brown sugar, dates, rice cereal, walnuts and milk in a large heavy skillet. Set over medium heat and cook slowly stirring often until very thick, about 25 min. Remove from heat. Stir in vanilla and almond extract. Cool to lukewarm. Shape into tiny balls or logs. Combine sugar and cinnamon and roll each chew in mixture. Let stand on waxed paper until set. Store in covered tin in refrigerator. Makes about 6 dozen.

Rose Marie Payne,
11 First Street.

PINEAPPLE CHEESE SQUARES

2-3 pkge. pimento cheese (½ lb. pkge.
½ cup butter

Blend. Add 2 cups flour. Divide in half. Put half mixture into an 8 x 8" greased pan.

Spread generously with pineapple marmalade. Crumble rest on top. Bake in slow oven till light brown.

Helen B. Sulman,
154 Bridge Street East

TEA TIME BARS

½ cup butter
5 tbsp. cocoa
½ cup sugar
1 egg slightly beaten

Blend well and heat slowly. When cool add:

2 cups Graham Wafer crumbs
1 cup coconut
½ cup broken walnuts
1 tsp. vanilla

Mix and spread in square pan. Blend 2 cups icing sugar and ¼ cup melted butter, add 2 tbsps. instant vanilla pudding combined with 2 tbsps. milk.

Spread this over basic layer. When cool and set spread 2 squares semi-sweet chocolate squares melted with 1 tbsp. butter over top. Keep in refrigerator.

Linda Genereaux,
Box 74, Tweed, Ont.

CHOCOLATE MARSHMALLOW ROLL

1 cup chopped nuts
1 cup icing sugar
2 tbsp. butter
2 squares (semi - sweet) chocolate
1 egg
24 small (colored) marshmallows

Melt butter and chocolate in pan, cool slightly. Add beaten egg and other ingredients. Divide into 3 parts. Sprinkle coconut on wax paper and roll mixture in coconut. Put in frig and cool overnight or until firm.

Susan Duff,
R.R.5, Belleville.

DANISH DAINTIES

These are rich but delicious.

½ cup butter
½ cup granulated sugar
1 egg yolk
1 whole egg
1½ cups sifted all - purpose flour
1 tsp. baking powder
¼ tsp. salt

Cream butter and sugar until light and fluffy. Beat egg and egg yolk well and add to creamed mixture. Sift flour, baking powder and salt twice and mix well with creamed mixture. Place about 1 tbsp. of this mixture into well greased tart or muffin tins and with fingers mold around the tin to form a case, being careful not to have it too thick. Place a good tsp. of the following mixture in each case:

½ egg white
1 cup brown sugar
1 cup chopped dates
1-3 cup chopped candied cherries
½ cup bleached sultana raisins
1-3 cup chopped walnuts
1 tsp. vanilla

To the beaten egg white gradually add the sugar. Fold in dates and the balance of the fruit and vanilla. Bake at 375 deg. Fahr. about 15 - 20 mins.

Viola Nyberg,
R.R.1, Carrying Place, Ont.

SNOWBALLS

1 tbsp. shortening
½ cup white sugar
2 eggs
Vanilla, lemon or almond flavoring
1 cup milk
2½ cups all-purpose flour
3 tsps. baking powder
¼ tsp. salt

Cream shortening. Add sugar, beaten eggs, flavoring and milk. Add flour sifted with baking powder and salt. Beat well and drop by tsps. into boiling fat an fry a golden brown. Drain on unglazed paper and roll in powdered sugar before they cool.

One advantage about these "do-nuts" is that they are mixed in a bowl, with no rolling — the secret of good do-nuts or snowballs is to get the product to the hot grease in as soft a condition as possible. After being put in the hot fat, when cooked on one side, these pop over of their own accord, which eliminates the task of turning them over as with ordinary dough nuts.

Mrs. Harvey Spencer,
Box 421, Tweed, Ont.

FRUIT BARS

¾ cup sifted flour
½ tsp. baking powder
½ tsp. salt
1 cup packed brown sugar
½ cup melted shortening
2 eggs well beaten
1 cup chopped nuts
1 cup chopped dates

Set oven for 350 deg. Fahr. Grease a 9" square pan.

Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Add sugar and mix well. Combine shortening and eggs. Stir into dry ingredients and blend well. Stir in nuts and dates. Turn into greased pan and bake 30 min. or until browned. Cool slightly and cut into bars. Makes about 16 bars.

Pearl Beaudrie,
Canniton.

"SWEET MARIE" BARS

½ cup peanut butter
½ cup corn syrup
½ cup brown sugar

Melt together in double boiler and while still warm add 2 cups Rice Krispies, 1 tbsp. butter and ½ cup chopped peanuts. Mix well and press in greased, 8 x 8" pan. Ice with chocolate icing.

BLUEBERRY BUCKLE

½ cup sugar
2 cups all-purpose flour
2½ tsps. baking powder
¼ tsp. salt
1 egg
½ cup milk
¼ cup melted butter or shortening
2 cups fresh blueberries, or 1 11-oz. pkge. frozen, unsweetened blueberries

TOPPING

½ cup sugar
1,3 cup flour
¼ cup soft butter
½ tsp. cinnamon

LEMON SAUCE

1 tbsp. cornstarch
1,3 cup sugar
Grated rind of 1 lemon
1 cup cold water
1 tbsp. butter

Juice of 1 lemon, strained

Sift sugar, flour, baking powder and salt together in mixing bowl. Make a well in centre and break in the egg. Add milk and melted fat. Beat liquid ingredients in centre with a spoon, then stir slowly just enough to combine with the flour mixture.

Turn batter into a greased, shallow baking dish (8" or 9" square). Spread with blueberries. Combine the topping ingredients to make a crumbly mixture and sprinkle over the blueberries. Bake in moderate oven, 350 deg. Fahr., for 40-50 min. Serve as dessert, plain, or with pouring cream or lemon sauce. Makes 9 servings.

Sauce:

Mix cornstarch, sugar and lemon rind. Slowly add water. Stir. Cook, stirring until sauce is thick and clear. Serve hot, adding butter and lemon juice just before serving.

Sharp Withdraws, Throwing His Support to Trudeau

"Heads I'll be Prime Minister tails you'll be leader of the opposition!"

OTTAWA (CP) — Finance Minister Sharp today withdrew from the Liberal leadership race and called on delegates to the leadership convention to unite behind Justice Minister Trudeau.

Mr. Sharp told a news conference his support for Mr. Trudeau is without condition. It was the first withdrawal of a major candidate for Prime Minister Pearson's job.

The finance minister said he had had no conversations with Mr. Trudeau on the leadership issue until he had telephoned him Tuesday about 11:30 p.m. and informed him he was going to withdraw and back the Justice minister.

Mr. Sharp said his first-ballot support was better than the polls indicated and that he believes a "high proportion" of his delegates will follow his lead and back Mr. Trudeau.

Mr. Sharp told reporters his conversations with delegates across the country have convinced him that it is Mr. Trudeau who has both broadly-based support and the qualities to lead.

The 57-year-old minister said he had a duty to be realistic in his assessment of his chances for victory in the April 8 balloting. And this assessment had led to his decision to go.

He felt Mr. Trudeau could attract to his cause the kind of people who can give a new vitality, energy and thrust to the political system.

The finance minister's decision followed a late-start campaign which had been interrupted by defeat in the Commons of a government tax bill, necessitating his presence in Ottawa while other candidates toured the country.

Several workers for other candidates attended the news conference in the National Press Building. Workers for former trade minister Winters and Consumer Affairs Minister Turner were conspicuous.

Mr. Sharp said he was taking his action now to release his workers to work for Mr. Trudeau.

He said his campaign workers were unanimous in following his lead when he met them for breakfast today.

"I would have preferred to beat Mr. Trudeau but I prefer him to the rest," Mr. Sharp said.

He said he gathers talks are going on among some other candidates.

Mr. Sharp said his relationships with Mr. Trudeau have always been good. They had supported each other on vital issues in cabinet.

Mr. Sharp also said he is willing, no matter what happens at the leadership convention, to continue to work for his country in whatever capacity.

The minister said he and Mr. Trudeau had discussed their differences on constitutional matters in their conversation Tuesday night.

Mr. Sharp believed the differences had been exaggerated in public discussion, and centred more on the approach to negotiations over constitutional reform, rather than over the aims.

Hanoi Is Prepared To Talk of Talks

Relief Drive Opens'

SAIGON (CP) — U.S. and South Vietnamese troops have opened a drive to lift the North Vietnamese siege of the marine base at Khe Sanh and have met no resistance, the American command said today.

The relief force was expected to push through soon to the battered fortress in the northwest, where 6,000 marines and 1,000 South Vietnamese have been encircled since January by from 16,000 to 20,000 North Vietnamese regulars.

The lack of resistance on the road to Khe Sanh and three days of inactivity elsewhere puzzled U.S. officers, who pointed out this has happened before. One senior U.S. officer said it was too early to tell whether the enemy was de-escalating in response to President Johnson's order curtailing the bombing of North Vietnam.

In the advance on Khe Sanh, U.S. 1st Cavalry Division troops were co-operating with marines and South Vietnamese troops. In all, 8,000 troops were engaged in the drive.

The advance is west over National Highway 9 from Ca Lu to Khe Sanh, and the relief force has covered about one-third of the distance, the report said.

As marines pushed along the highway, cavalry units made helicopter assault landings on each side of the highway but ran into no resistance, field reports said.

Bombing Area

Halt to All Attacks Asked

WASHINGTON (AP) — North Vietnam said today in a broadcast monitored here it is ready to send representatives to meet with U.S. representatives to decide about an unconditional halt of the bombing of the North so that peace talks could begin.

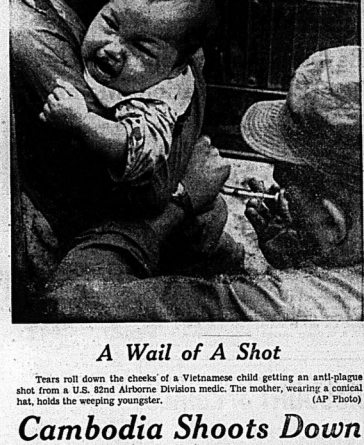
A state department spokesman had no immediate comment on the Hanoi announcement and it was not immediately clear whether the United States would regard the North Vietnamese statement as responding to President Johnson's newest offer.

The radio broadcast, in the Vietnamese language, said as translated here:

"It is clear that the U.S. government has not correctly and fully responded to the just demand of (North Vietnamese) government, of U.S. progressive opinion, and of world opinion.

"However, on its part, the DRV government declares its readiness to send its representatives to make contact with U.S. representatives to decide with the U.S. side the unconditional cessation of bombing and all other war acts against the DRV so that talks could begin."

Presumably the North Vietnamese statement was to be an official response to Johnson's move for peace talks which he announced in his Sunday night speech.



At the White House, there was no official reaction pending a close look at the Hanoi pronouncement as monitored here.

The broadcast did not say that North Vietnam would be willing to go to the conference table outright. Instead, it said Hanoi envoys are willing to make contact with American representatives to decide on "unconditional cessation of bombing — so that talks could begin."

The North Vietnamese have long demanded a complete and unconditional stop to the U.S. air attacks as a price for entering into peace talks—and the initial portion of Hanoi's broadcast today indicated the Communists are still taking that line.

That phrasing indicated that the North Vietnamese may still be hewing to their prior condition of a bombing halt before peace negotiations—a condition that has been unacceptable to the United States.

The U.S. position has been that the North Vietnamese would be getting something for nothing if they won a bombing halt just upon entering into discussions.

Jets Attack North Cities

SAIGON (Reuters) — Carrier-based U.S. jets today bombed targets within a mile of the centres of Thanh and Vinh in North Vietnam, as the military command again boosted the number of missions flown in the wake of President Johnson's announcement of a partial bombing halt.

The U.S. defence department said Tuesday that U.S. bombing attacks are being conducted against North Vietnam from the 20th parallel south, but said 90 per cent of the strikes have been limited to within 60 miles of the so-called demilitarized zone.

Canada Said Facing 'Another Algeria'

PARIS (CP-Reuters) — A French-speaking Canadian said Tuesday independent-minded organizations must form a united front and take over French-Canada in the Quebec elections of 1970.

Andre Dagenais said in a press conference here that unless there is a peaceful takeover in 1970 the extremist leaders will sweep into action.

If that happens, he said, "we will then face another Algerian war of independence or a bigger Vietnam war."

"This is our last chance."

Dagenais is a member of the general committee of the Estates General of French Canada, a private organization founded in 1961 with representatives from a variety of organizations, including school boards, professional organizations, nationalist societies, trade unions and chambers of commerce.

Dagenais also called for French living in Montreal from being "absorbed" by Anglo-Americans in the next five years.

British Press Critical of Raids

LONDON (Reuters) — The British press today reacted with disappointment and anxiety to the news of more American air raids deep inside North Vietnam.

Newspapers carried headlines such as "Hopes of peace fading." "U.S. bombing pause not yet limited." "Bombers put peace bid in peril."

The Times said in an editorial: "President Johnson's unilateral decision to stop bombing North Vietnam begins to look less dramatic and generous than when he first made it.

Cambodia Shoots Down U. S. Plane Over Gulf

SAIGON (AP) — A U.S. Navy patrol plane with a crew of 10 aboard was shot down by a Cambodian Navy vessel in the Gulf of Siam off the western coast of South Vietnam, it was learned today.

The 10 crew members were reported missing. It was assumed that a large-scale air and sea search was under way.

The four-engined turboprop jet went down Monday, informed sources said. It was on a coastal surveillance mission to intercept gun-running Viet Cong trawlers.

The U.S. command refused to discuss the fate of the plane, presumably because of the ticklish situation between Cambodia and the United States.

Cambodia's chief of state, Prince Norodom Sihanouk, broke relations with the United States in 1965 and has repeatedly accused U.S. and South Vietnamese forces of violating his borders and attacking Cambodian border villages.

The United States, in turn, charges that Viet Cong and North Vietnamese forces use Cambodia as a sanctuary from pursuing American and South Vietnamese forces and a safe supply route to South Vietnam.

Prince Sihanouk has on exhibit in Phnom Penh, his capital, the wreckage of an American helicopter and a C-123 cargo transport which he says were brought down inside Cambodian territory two years ago.

Two More Murdered By Montreal Gangsters

MONTREAL (CP) — Police in suburban Pierrefonds Tuesday night discovered the bodies of a man and a woman thought to be the fifth and sixth gangland slayings in the Montreal area in five weeks.

Earlier Tuesday the battered body of Albert Labrie, 33, was found near the banks of the Riviere des Prairies in northend Montreal. Labrie had been beaten, shot several times and run over by a car.

Pierrefonds police were summoned to a private home along the banks of the same river by an anonymous caller who said there were two bodies in the basement of the house.

Police found the bodies of Eric McNally and Susan Clark, both 30, in the basement playroom. McNally had been shot three times, twice in the stomach and once in the head while Miss Clark had been shot twice, once in the stomach and once in the head. Investigating officers said they believed both were underworld murders.

Labrie, police said, was "taken for a ride" and, after being beaten and shot, he attempted to run from his attackers when they drove over him with a car dragging him 20 feet.

McCarthy Gets 57 Per Cent of Wisconsin Democratic Vote

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Democrat Eugene J. McCarthy triumphant with 57 per cent of the vote in Wisconsin's presidential primary, turned toward the arenas which pose the real test of his claim that he can win the White House in November.

And Richard M. Nixon added another trophy in his march toward the Republican presidential nomination.

"We have demonstrated here in Wisconsin the ability to win in November," McCarthy told his youthful volunteer workers after he trounced retiring President Johnson Tuesday in the season's second presidential primary.

Johnson got 35 per cent of the vote, but isn't running anyhow.

"As you know, this is only a preliminary victory," the Minnesota senator said, "we have to go on to primaries in other states—some of them perhaps more difficult than this one." For in those other states, McCarthy will be matched against New York Senator Robert F. Kennedy.

Nixon built a towering 80 per cent of the Republican vote to match his showing in New Hampshire's opening primary three weeks ago. He had no real opposition in either race.

At stake in the primary were 60 Democratic and 30 Republican national convention votes, bound by law to the winner when the nominating conventions roll around in August.

McCarthy won 32 delegate votes and Johnson eight. Nixon took all 30 in the Republican column. McCarthy won eight of 20 Congressional districts, each with four delegate votes, and took the 20-at-large delegate votes as the statewide winner. Johnson won two districts.

Nixon took all 10 districts each with two delegate votes and the statewide 10 delegates-at-large.

Senator Robert F. Kennedy, the rival McCarthy will have to overcome if he is to be nominated, drew six per cent of the votes. But those were write-in votes, for his name was not on the ballot. And Kennedy had urged that people who favor him vote for McCarthy in Wisconsin.

Johnson's eight votes came in two Milwaukee districts, both bulwarks of organized labor strength. His slice of victory was in districts including the predominantly Negro sections of the state's biggest city.

McCarthy won a third district including some of the state's suburbs and carried the other 71 counties in the state.

Picton Mayor Speaks Out

McFarland Would Support Bobby Hull on Liberal Ticket

OTTAWA — Mayor Harvey McFarland of Picton said today he would support Bobby Hull for parliament — even if the hockey ace ran as a Liberal.

McFarland, a delegate to last year's Progressive Conservative convention, said Hull would make a great member of parliament and he would support him regardless of politics.

"We've got to stop and think who is the best man for Canada," said the mayor who has a hospitality suite here for the duration of the Liberal leadership convention.

"It doesn't make any difference to me. If he's a good Liberal and makes a good man for Canada I'm behind him. Canada comes first."

The mayor's comments were sparked by reports that Hull, an all-time National Hockey League great and Golden Jet of Chicago Black Hawks, may enter politics when he hangs up his skates.

Hull was quoted in New York as saying he had received overtures from political organizers while resting at his farm on Big Island on the Bay of Quinte shoreline.

Hull admitted talking with "some of the big people from the Liberal party in our section" and that he was considering to take political proposals seriously.

Mayor McFarland confirmed he and Hull are "very close" friends and had had several discussions.

He said they would be "talking again in the next two or three weeks."

Hull's farm is in the federal riding of Hastings — Prince Edward and Mayor McFarland's support would be a political ace whatever party Hull might choose to represent.

A major contractor, mayor of Picton for more than a decade and sponsor of Belleville McFarland's world hockey championship team, he is an influential public figure in the Quinte district.

Publicly, he has been recently associated with Conservative politics. By virtue of his nomination to the party's Monmorency thinkers conference, he was accorded a delegate vote at the September leadership convention. His failure to attend Montmorency later caused controversy over his right to vote at the convention.

That convention also provided a common link between Hull and the mayor.

Mayor McFarland supported John Diefenbaker "because of old friendship. I'm one of those who won't let down a friend," he said today.

At that time, Hull publicly supported Diefenbaker because of his contribution to national sports.

If Hull did enter politics — and chose the Liberal party — how would it affect the mayor's own political attitudes?

"As far as the party is concerned they know I'm one who will always support my friends —and he is one of my friends," said the mayor.

Municipal Board Approves Belleville's Capital Budget

The city's 1968 capital works budget for $2,108,900, has been approved by the Ontario Municipal Board, it was reported today by City Manager J. R. Reynolds.

Mr. Reynolds said the year's capital works budget was approved in its entirety by the O.M.B.

"There was no change or no comment. It looks as though we hit it right on the nose," said Mr. Reynolds.

Major items in this year's capital works budget are provisions for a grade crossing over the GN tracks on Station road, a bridge on northeast Belleville at a local cost of $200,000, and an item of $238,000 as the city's share of phase 1 (grade separation) and phase 2 (river bridge) of the Dundas Street bridge and roadway project.

The estimated city share for the grade separation is $73,000 and for the river bridge $165,000.

Local improvements (roads, watermains and sanitary sewers) will cost $227,800 and trunk sanitary sewers $430,000.

The Utilities Commission will spend an estimated $645,100 in extension of its water and electric facilities, while a new public school will be built in Hillcrest with costs estimated at $225,000.

Another $100,000 is being provided for land purchases and development to aid the industrial commission's drive for new industry.

H. W. Karn, manager of the Canada Manpower Centre in Belleville, and Claude D. Tice, city editor of The Intelligencer, talk immediately following the presentation of plaque to the newspaper for outstanding service in providing employment news.

Intelligencer, CJBQ Honored for Service

The Intelligencer and CJBQ radio station were the recipients of two awards presented this morning by the Canada Manpower Centre for "outstanding public service in the interest of providing employment information for their readers in the Belleville area."

When H. W. Karn, manager of the manpower centre here in Belleville, gave the award to Dr. Gerald A. Morton, publisher of The Intelligencer, he commended the newspaper for its work in the manpower field.

"In my 22 years in the employment field of the Federal Government, I have managed five offices. I have never at any time had the same co-operation and free publicity which I have received since I assumed the management of the Belleville office."

"This plaque," he said, "is presented, not only by the department, but on behalf of people in the area who are able to read or hear broadcasts through the newspaper and the radio. The value of this service cannot be measured in dollars."

Barbara Allen 'Shakes Up' Tourist Association Members

PICTON (Staff) — Tweed Reeve Barbara Allen, shook some of the main members of Quinte's Isle Tourist Association last night at their annual banquet.

"Why can't men set the table, when the wife is working. Also, why can't they do dishes or for that matter wash dishes".

Mrs. Allen's topic the "Role of Woman in Modern Society" kept the 75 men on the edge of their seats. An enthusiastic speaker whose personality flows over her audience she even brought the odd muffled "bravo" from unidentified men in the crowd.

Mrs. Allen said she was pleased to be in Prince Edward County and was told before she left Tweed she should have her passport in order because she was coming into a completely different country.

Her good natured humor evident throughout her talk eased the blow to male vanity somewhat but it was evident that beneath the charm there was a serious note in her message.

What I hope to say to you tonight, she began, is that I hope will irritate you and shake you out of your complacency, I hope to stimulate you into thinking in other channels.

"My contention is, she continued, that to lump all women together as housewives is wrong. It should not be understood that all women should be housewives. Women are intended to be mothers-yes, but not all women are equipped emotionally or intellectually to be housewives. This ,is like suggesting that all men should be farmers.

In closing her address Mrs. Allen said, "The family should work together with a common purpose."

Mrs. Allen was thanked by Wellington resort operator Clare Campbell.

Also present for the occasion were A. Douglas Aikenbrack M.P., for Prince Edward-Lennox, Warden of Prince Edward County Gordon Dennery, Garth Reid of the Department of Tourism and Publicity and Donald King President of the Prince Edward Chamber of Commerce.

All brought greetings and best wishes from their various organizations. Master of ceremonies for the evening was immediate Past President George Shipman who announced the new directorate for 1968 as follows: President Al Owen, Bayeree Flats Island; Mrs. N. MacDonald, Merle Pearsall, Clare Campbell, Bernice Fetterly, William Smith, David Whattam, Charles Hepburn, William West and George Shipman.

Heart Fund Reaches Total Of $6,300

Local donations amounted to $6,300 during last month's heart foundation drive, it was announced by J. E. Uhlley, drive chairman.

The drive was put on by the Belleville Chapter of the Ontario Heart Foundation.

Contributions are still being accepted, and may be placed with J. B. W. Curtiss, manager of the Royal Bank.

Parks Fee $1 A Day, $10 A Year

TORONTO (CP) — The annual charge for vehicles entering provincial parks has been increased to $10 from $5 because of sharply rising costs, Lands and Forests Minister Rene Brunelle said in a statement Tuesday.

Announcement that park fees would be increased was made in the provincial budget statement last month.

The campsite permit now will be $2.50 a day, but will include both the former daily vehicle entrance fee of $1 and the former daily camping fee of $1.50. Electric power at individual campsites will cost 50 cents a day.

The daily vehicle entrance fee for use by picnickers and swimmers will remain at $1.

Persons camping overnight at unorganized campsites on canoe or hiking trails must obtain a camping permit at a cost of $5 for two weeks.

Group camping on designated campsites for recreational, religious, charitable or educational institutions will cost 10 cents a day a person.

COSTLY BLAZES

EDMONTON (CP) — Fire damage in Edmonton increased $945,936 in 1967 over 1965, says Fire Chief James Graham. The 1967 figure was $2,338,270 and the costliest blaze was a $988,975 fire that destroyed a hangar at Edmonton Municipal Airport.

BIRTHS

COONEY — Eric and Joyce (nee Richardson) are pleased to announce the arrival of their son Mark Eric, 8 lb. 2½ oz., on Tuesday, April 2, 1968 at the Belleville General Hospital. A brother for Dawn.

IN MEMORIAM

GENEREAUX — In loving memory of a dear mother and grandmother, Mrs. Ethel Generaux, who passed away April 3, 1967.
Our hearts still echo with sadness,
And tears will flow,
What it meant to lose you,
No one will ever know.
They say time heals all sorrow,
But time does not,
For each year and always remember how much we miss her yet.
God gave us memories to fight it,
And courage to bear the blow.
What it meant to you Mother,
No one will ever know.
Oh God, how we miss and lonely,
And everything goes wrong,
We seem to hear you whisper,
"Cheer up, and carry on."
Each time we see your picture,
Each time we think of you,
We wish you were here Mother,
We will meet again someday."
Mother sweet and always remembered by daughter Theresa and grandson Freddie.

CARDS OF THANKS

We wish to offer our sincere thanks to friends, neighbors and relatives for their kindness in making our twenty fifth wedding anniversary such a happy occasion.

Albert and Lee Allen.

I wish to thank the orderlies and all the nurses, a special thanks to Dr. Henry Bateman and all other doctors who gave such good care to me during my stay in the Intensive Care Unit of Belleville General Hospital.

Mrs. Samuel Kirker.

Potter Suggests Extension Of Ontario Hospital Benefits

Government hospital benefits should be extended to nursing home patients, Dr. R. T. Potter has told the Ontario Legislature.

The Quinte MPP said patients should be assured of care while freed of the means test and financial worry.

"I believe this to be one of the greatest areas of need at the present time," he said, presenting a resolution calling for Ontario Hospital Services, Commission coverage of nursing homes.

Dr. Potter said nursing homes care for persons not sufficiently ill to justify general hospital treatment — are not covered under the OHSC Act.

Once specialized treatment is not required the patient has his own area or qualify for social assitance.

The province now is encouraging municipal nursing home construction by sharing half the building costs and 70 per cent of any operating deficit. At present space for 420 beds is under construction in Ontario, but ineligible for OHSC coverage.

"Once again, we find the facilities are being provided," said Dr. Potter, "but the patient must have these facilities without spending his last dollar or submitting to the means test in order to receive assistance."

Dr. Potter also proposed the government consider merging its departments of health and social and family services.

There was difficulty he said in defining exact jurisdiction of each department.

New Traffic Lights Now in Operation

The city's three new sets of traffic lights — at Victoria and Farley, Bridge and Church, and Coleman at Catherine — are now in operation.

City Engineer Wilbur Purcell said the lights at Victoria and Farley went into operation yesterday afternoon, while the two other intersections were expected to be in full operation some time today.

No problems are expected and at least at Church and Bridge streets, traffic quickly became accustomed to the lights.

But there could be a slight hitch at Farley and Victoria.

The lights there are the semi-activated type and Mr. Purcell said it was quite possible that a bicycle may not have sufficient effect on the buried cable device to trip the lights.

The lights at this intersection remain green for Farley Ave. until they are tripped by a vehicle approaching on Victoria Ave.

If a bicycle does not trip the light, a rider approaching on Victoria might wait all day for the lights to change.

If this is the case the rider would have to go to the post and press the manual button to get a green light for Victoria Ave."

Area Animal Shelter Service Endorsed by Town Councillor

TRENTON — Quinte area communities are working toward a streamlined system of stray animal control, including legislation for a $50,000 district pound.

Councillor Gerald Weaver has recommended to his Trenton colleagues that this town participate in the new program, which will offer animal shelter service at 50 cents per capita to district municipalities.

Mr. Weaver, chairman of council's Protection to Persons and Property Committee, attended recent meetings with representatives from Sidney, Thurlow, and Ameliasburg townships, and Belleville.

He said delegates were told the Ontario Humane Society will make the estimated $50,000 capital expenditure required to construct an area shelter. This amount would include provision for a 1,700 square - foot structure, proper euthanasia equipment for humane destruction of animals when necessary, an incinerator, and a "rabid wing" where animals suspected of having the disease can be quarantined.

Four radio - despatched vehicles would pick up injured or dead animals on a 24-hour basis, Councillor Weaver reported.

The Humane Society also has suggested provisions for municipal fines of $5 to pet owners letting dogs or cats run loose; and raising the price of dog licences from $2 to $3.

Under the new program, the Humane Society would assume responsibility for enforcing local animal control bylaws, including the sale of dog licences, the revenue of which is returned to the municipality.

Municipalities are being asked to contribute half of the $1 estimated per capita operating cost of the service.

For Trenton, this would mean between $2,000 and $7,000 as opposed to the $2,700 animal control cost the town during 1967. This included a $1,200 salary to a Stirling man who contracts as a dog-catcher to several municipalities.

Councillor Weaver said the Humane Society will guarantee not to increase the per capita rate for at least 10 years.

His recommendation was deferred until the new edition of the town budget is struck, probably sometime this month.

Solution in Sight For Marina Problem

A solution to the problem of overcrowding and lack of dockage in Belleville's inner harbor may be just two years away.

Construction of a marina on reclaimed land created by the city's sanitary land fill project east of highway 14 is now under investigation by the parks board.

It has appointed Belleville lawyer J. D. Templeman to look into the possibility of marina construction when public works completes the land fill operation in about two years.

He will present tentative ideas to a gathering of interested bodies in the city within two weeks.

Under study is a plan to build a spit or series of islands at the southern end of the reclaimed land. The breakwater would extend eastward across the bay to the foundation of the old lighthouse off Victoria Park. The breakwater would create a sheltered mooring area between the garbage dump and Victoria Park.

"A series of islands might be the best solution," Mr. Templeman says. "We could control the flow of water through the channels between them and prevent build-up of large sand bars."

Also involved would be dredging of the channel, provision for shore moorings, and a building of washrooms, telephone booths and electrical outlets on the reclaimed land.

"Expo-type, floating metal finger docks have been suggested," says Mr. Templeman. "They would be removed in the winter so we wouldn't have to fight the ice."

Public works employees took depth soundings of the bay east of the garbage dump this winter. Silt deposits as deep as 3 feet were recorded. Indications are that dredging would deepen the channel sufficiently to accommodate most keel boats.

"If this marina concept is accepted, it would be one way to draw in the waiter - borne tourists whizzing past us now," claims Mr. Templeman.

Council Endorses Resolution Seen to Be 'Unenforceable'

TRENTON — Endorsing an unenforceable bylaw is about the only role town council can assume in trying to combat the problems of dilapidated housing.

In endorsing a resolution from the town of Lindsay, councillors were reminded they have no means at present to force property owners to keep up the appearance of their dwellings.

The Lindsay resolution, being distributed to municipalities throughout the province, would permit a municipal council to pass bylaws authorizing pulling down, renewal or repair (at the owner's expense) of any building, fencing, or scaffolding deemed to be in a ruinous or dilapidated state.

Bidding communities of eyesores and potential fire hazards which can reduce adjacent property values is the stated objective of the resolution.

Councillor Paul Tripp reminded his colleagues that many of the factors that such legislation would affect will came in for council discussion last year when consideration was being given a minimum housing standards bylaw.

This discussion was prompted in the summer of 1967 by complaints from Cedar St. area residents of the menace of skunks and rodents.

Clerk - comptroller O. W. Larry said one over-riding factor rendered any such legislation ineffective at this time.

"We simply don't have a section to enforce minimum housing standards in the town's official plan. Our solicitor says it's fine on paper, but enforcing it is another matter."

Mayor James MacDonald agreed the town is in a bad position to enforce this type of bylaw.

"Right now we can have the fire chief or building inspector condemn structures . . . but we can't enforce it."

Councillor E. M. "Ted" Parker noted "If we don't state our approval in favor of this resolution, we might not be in a very good position in the future to pass similar legislation."

Councillors unanimously approved the Lindsay motion, which will be submitted to the Department of Municipal Affairs after response is obtained from the municipalities throughout the province.

Members of the Wellington Fire Department responded to a Bloomfield call yesterday at the residence of Ross Parks, R. R. 2, Bloomfield. A two-storey garage behind the Parks' home caught on fire and was noticed as soon as the children came home from school. The firemen arrived in time to prevent the flames from spreading to the nearby home and barn.

2-Storey Garage Burns

"Almost a complete disaster," said one bystander at the scene of a garage fire at R. R. 2, Bloomfield yesterday afternoon.

The fire, at the residence of Ross Parks on Highway 33 (just west of Bloomfield) broke out some time before five o'clock in the garage behind the Parks' home.

Nobody was home at the time the fire ignited and it was not until the children returned from school on the bus that it was noticed. Luckily, it was caught in time and the Wellington Fire Department, responding to the call, managed to prevent the flames from spreading to the house or nearby barn.

It was too late, however, to save the two-car, two-storey garage, used also for storage. The vehicles and a few other major articles were removed from the building as soon as the fire was noticed.

The cause of the fire is not known and no estimate of losses is available. Besides the garage itself some furniture and grain went up in smoke.

CAP. ALLAN PIPER

Amputee Vimy Dinner Speaker

The complete loss of both hands during a wartime accident failed to keep Captain Allan Piper from completing a career in the military, industry and civil service.

He will be the speaker at the annual Vimy Day banquet, April 9 to be held at the Legion Hall.

At present, Mr. Piper is the general manager of the War Amputations of Canada key tag service. He has held that position since 1956.

Prior to that time he served as first vice-president and as president of the Ottawa Branch of the War Amputations of Canada.

Mr. Piper lost his hands in a grenade explosion in England in 1941. At that time he was a lieutenant. Through the special permission he was allowed to remain in the service, and was later placed in command of an infantry training service.

He has been very active in Legion work, having served as third and second vice-president to the Dominion Council.

At the banquet, colored slides of the 1967 Vimy Memorial Service at Vimy will be shown as well.

They were taken by Earl Fleming, of the Belleville Branch.

Everett Liddle is chairman for the banquet, George Carberry, co-chairman and Don Ridley, entertainment chairman.

Trees to be Removed

TRENTON — The town will assume the cost of removing diseased elm trees from public, or private property.

Town council accepted a public works committee recommendation to this effect, which will involve cutting of about 100 diseased elms from private property around town.

Councillors were told the town will recover 75 per cent of the labor cost of the tree removal, since the work will be done before the April 30 Winter Works grant deadline.

High School Costs

City to Pay 56.5 Per Cent

With approximately 47 per cent of the students in the school system, the city of Belleville this year will pay 56.5 per cent of the municipalities' share of costs in the enlarged Bay of Quinte High School District.

The 56.5 per cent cost figure is the award of arbitrators, who met last month to decide on the share of costs to be borne by the member municipalities.

Belleville city council this week approved the arbitration award submitted by the district high school board business administrator Roy Dulmage.

As of January there were 4,996 high school students attending classes in the district high school system with just over 2,350 being from Belleville.

Last year before the Quinte district was enlarged to take in the Stirling-Marmora and Centre Hastings High School districts there were 4,031 students — 58 per cent of them from Belleville — and the city paid 66.5 per cent of the local costs.

Next year the school district will again be enlarged under the provincial department of education scheme to combine elementary and secondary schools in one administration area with boundaries along county lines.

Until this year the Quinte high school district was comprizes of Belleville, the rural municipalities of Sidney, Thurlow, Tyendinaga and Ameliasburg and the village of Frankford.

With the amalgamation the total enrolment in the district jumped to 4096 with schools in Madoc, Marmora and Stirling being operated as part of the Bay of Quinte High School District.

Plans are to close high schools at Stirling and Marmora and sell them for use as elementary schools. A new high school addition costing more than $2,000,000 is planned for Madoc.

Following are the school levy percentages for 1968 as agreed to by the member municipalities:

City Bel'ville	56.50 (66.65)
Village Madoc	1.12
Village Marmora	1.21
Deloro	.68
Stirling	1.80
Frankford	2.16 (2.51)
Huntingdon	1.88
Madoc Twp.	1.04
Marmora-Lake	2.16
Tudor and Cashel	.34
Elzevir and Grimsthorpe	.48
Rawdon	1.90
Sidney	10.86 (10.16)
Thurlow	10.58 (12.00)
Tyendinaga	2.16 (2.61)
Ameliasburg	5.75 (6.67)

A formula of equalized assessments, multiplied by a provincial equalizing figure is used, in arriving at the cost percentages to be paid by the member municipalities.

Leadership Campaign

Overshadowed perhaps by President Johnson's recent decisions regarding Vietnam and his own political future, history nevertheless is in the making on the political scene here.

We refer of course to the Liberal party leadership campaign, now in its final stages. There are nine official candidates for the top position in the party. By virtue of the fact the Liberals hold the ascendancy in the House of Commons and form the government of the country the winner will become prime minister.

Mr. Pearson meanwhile has left the Commons for the last time as prime minister. When the House resumes on April 23 the Liberals will have a new leader. Mr. Pearson will continue to sit in Parliament as a private member but says he will not seek re-election.

These are historic days indeed. We are witnessing a turning point in Canadian history. Mr. Pearson's own tenure in office has been an interesting one, ranging from such events as the flag debate to the taking of the initial steps toward a new constitution.

The future, too, promises to be of unusual interest. There are great days ahead of Canada and they will demand vigorous and imaginative leadership.

Germany and Israel

Considering what occurred during the last war, relations between Germany and Israel might today be in a state of irrevocable estrangement. This is not so however, as a reading of the current issue of Deutschland-berichte, a German publication from Bonn, reveals.

Here are some of the features of the issue: "International Furriers in Congress in Israel . . . Israeli Fashion Week in Straubing . . . Participation by Israel in fairs and exhibitions . . . Israel Week in Essen . . . The intellectual pasture of Dedi Zadek's Jewry (in reference of the Catholic Academy in Bavaria) . . . eternal Jerusalem . . . Germany's way to Israel." And so on.

Quite a contrast from the days of Hitler, Nazism, the "master race," persecution of the Jews and all the attendant horrors of the concentration camps.

Today Germans are concentrating on more peaceful pursuits. Deutschland-berichte noted for instance that the Sallinger fashion house of Straubing will be putting on an Israeli fashion week this month and the restaurant at the store will serve Israeli food specialities. At the Israeli Week in Essen there will be a ball in aid of blind people in Israel.

Ironically the same issue contains some stark reminders of the carnage of more than twenty years ago. Under the heading "Prosecution of Nazi Criminal Acts," there are details of no fewer than 16 murder trials in various German cities. They concern the extermination of thousands of Jews in such notorious camps as Auschwitz.

In the Frankfurt diplomats' trial" one of two men accused of complicity in the deportation of 11,350 Bulgarian Jews to Treblinka and of 20,000 Greek Jews to Auschwitz is a former Nazi ambassador to Sofia.

If those days are over, the trail of misery involving refugees, families who have lost loved ones, and litigation to this day is proof that for some even time itself can never heal the wounds.

Hospital Facilities

That Belleville's new hospital extension is going to be a distinct asset to the community and surrounding area is unquestionable.

This fact has now been given further emphasis by hospital administrator Philip Rickard, in his report to the board of governors.

Mr. Rickard said conditions in the existing hospital remained overcrowded. He described the patient accommodation to be demolished this year as "very poor."

Demands upon hospital facilities are increasing here. There were 90 more admissions in 1967 than in the previous year, and the number of surgical operations, X-ray examinations and laboratory units of work increased by 14 per cent.

Meanwhile, it is interesting to note the increased work load being imposed on hospital facilities generally. For instance, the operation of Ottawa's two publicly-owned hospitals will cost more than $25 million this year. The combined figures for both the Civic and Riverside hospitals are $1,151,000 higher than in 1967.

Mitchell Sharp's Rise From Errand Boy to Finance Post

By CARMAN CUMMING

OTTAWA (CP) — If the Liberal leadership race has a Horatio Alger angle, the hero is Mitchell Sharp, the messenger boy who became finance minister.

If it has a hard-luck story, Mitchell Sharp is victim.

Seldom have so many problems showered down so fast on the head of a man who only wanted to keep the economy rolling nicely while he collected delegate votes.

Through it all—the defeat of his tax bill, the government crisis and the current troubles in the economy—the 56-year-old finance minister has kept his formidable cool.

The opposition seemed to take particular delight in getting to Mr. Sharp because he is easily the most unflappable occupant of the treasury benches.

His crisp and even precision, and his command of detail, sometimes have caused him to be compared favorably with a computer.

The computer image, built on years of work as a top civil servant and businessman, may be at ease; Mr. Sharp's biggest asset and his biggest liability.

His campaign staff seems to be caught in the dilemma of exploiting this strength to the full while at the same time trying to make him come over as a likable human being.

Their literature describes him as a man of "strong intellect and personality . . . who dislikes trivia but who maintains a disciplined patience whatever the circumstances."

It calls him a forthright, lucid and courageous man who thought nothing of working 14 hours a day, seven days a week, in the public service.

If this seems a little forbidding, the picture has been softened by references to his red hair and "craggy" face, and his fondness for playing Chopin on the piano.

And the literature makes full use of the success story in Mr. Sharp's rise from a 14-year-old messenger boy in Winnipeg who left school to help support his family.

"From the outset young Sharp showed a capacity for work and an intensity of purpose which was to characterize his subsequent career."

His employers and other patrons encouraged him to study part-time and to go on to university and to post-graduate work at the London School of Economics. He returned to Winnipeg as a grain economist.

"But Sharp never forgot those early years of struggle for existence and education," the campaign literature says. "Ever since, poverty and economic insecurity have been more than theoretical evils to him."

At the outbreak of war, he went through officer's training and then joined the finance department in 1942.

In 1947 he became director of the economic policy division. He moved to the trade department as associate deputy minister in 1951 and became deputy minister in 1957.

In this department, the campaign literature says, "he established a worldwide reputation as a brilliant economist and as a top-flight negotiator, noted for his toughness, skill, patience—and success at international bargaining tables."

"In enchantment with the new Diefenbaker government led him to resign in 1958 to become a vice-president of Brazilian Traction, Light and Power Co.

He was elected in Toronto Eglinton in 1963, after being narrowly beaten the year before, and was immediately named trade minister in the Pearson government. He moved to the finance portfolio in 1965.

He has supported existing social security programs but has said it is time to shift to concentration on pockets of poverty.

And he has called for greater foreign aid and a reassessment of Canadian defence alliances.

Letter to the Editor

Mass Killing Envisaged

Editor,
The Intelligencer.

In your issue of March 25, you have a news item headed "Horses, people, unaffected". It pertains to the 6,000 Utah sheep killed by gas. It seemed to have come from the Nerve Gas Testing Laboratory of the United States at Skull Valley.

It does not take much imagination to see what is ahead of civilization, in view of the concentration of modern science on the technique of mass killing, in future wars.

Are we heading into a period of life when we can anticipate millions of people put to death by scientific destruction by poisons, dropped from the air, by planes going 1800 miles an hour? It looks like it.

This is the sort of thing we read, and then we are told this is the "Age of Man's Triumph!" Last year, 1967, the civilized world spent two hundred billion dollars on munitions, and spent ten billions on the backward nations. We are very progressive — toward a civilized Hell!

Nurse in Doctor's Office Finds Patients on Welfare Are the Bane of Her Life

Letter to Hamilton Spectator

Re welfare and bonuses, Spectator, March 16, 1968.

Would anyone like my job? I can no longer afford to "work and why should I? I work to support them on welfare — not to give my child and myself benefits! I am a nurse in a doctor's office and may I present some facts:

* Welfare patients take cabs to and from the office — good weather or bad;

The women come in with their hair done by a hairdresser and with the latest fashions (I'm a do-it-yourself kit out of necessity);

* The men nine times out of 10 are drunk or very nearly so;

* A neighbor takes cabs to and from bingo five or six nights a week while her husband used to drive his car to and fro and each night (Can you afford this?);

* A couple on welfare owns their home — they have two boarders as well. Who pays the taxes on their house?

A man with six children says "Why should I work for $75 to $100 a week and pay my own bills? They pay and I take cabs!" He's laughing;

* Welfare patients treat the secretary and me like scum — we are often told off because they must wait their turn as do paying patients.

I could go on all day with incidents as these but I give up in disgust! OMSIP and OHSC are going up; we the working people must pay more to pay for welfare patients. These people receive glasses, teeth, medical benefits and now possible bonuses at Christmas! I received a bonus for Christmas and had to pay pension and tax on that bonus.

I work hard to supply my child and myself — necessities only — not luxuries and I resent working for someone else's lack of ambition. I realize it is necessary for some families to be on welfare but who investigates these people? Who decides they must receive my money and yours? I'd be better off on Mother's Allowance: So — my job is free! I'm going "on strike" against these taxes!

A TAX-LADEN MOTHER

The Fine Art Of Politics

Peterborough Examiner

Seldom has the art of politics been so vividly demonstrated as in the cases of two Liberal leadership candidates recently.

First there was Agriculture Minister Joe Greene photographed as he walked away from his crashed aircraft to shake the hand of a farmer who he thought might just happen to be a convention delegate. Talk about your cool performers! Here was a man whose plane had just flown over us in one unnerving experience for most — carrying on as though nothing out of the ordinary had happened.

Then there was the case of External Affairs Minister Paul Martin who also is known to have an interest in the prime ministership. Campaigning in Calgary, Mr. Martin was asked to clarify a vague reference about making use of Mr. Pearson's diplomatic skills. "This," he solemnly declared, "is not the time to particularize." As everyone knows, Mr. Martin has never particularized in his life. And it is this uncanny skill that makes him as one of our great politicians.

Economics and the Student

Kingston Whig - Standard

A few months ago we took a resounding crack at a badly-conceived economics text put out jointly by the Ontario Department of Economics and Development and the Ontario Department of Education. It was intended for "secondary school students of average ability and general reader" and we pointed out that it was not only inadequate but misleading in that it taught such nonsense as that supply and demand in an open market determine prices.

Our point was simply that future citizens should be given the truth about economics as about all other aspects of life in Canada. And one of the facts is that big business sets prices according to management decisions with little or no reference to costs or competition.

The difficulty of presenting economics to high school students was the subject of a recent article by J. W. Popkin in Canadian Business. Mr. Popkin who is chairman of a special committee of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, predictably stated gracefully around such obstacles to this teaching as we have briefly mentioned, but he did do a fairly useful job of presenting some of the practical difficulties. He pointed out for instance, that graduates in economics do not turn to high school teaching — they go to universities or business. Also, nobody can seem to agree on what kind of economics should be taught at this level. Economics is not an exact science and since there is so much disagreement among its priesthood about its fundamentals this for instance to come to an agreement on basic teaching is understandable.

It appears also, that the curriculum is now so crowded that official opinion is against adding another subject.

Our frank opinion is that economics should be read as and when the intelligent student becomes aware of economic problems. If we can produce students capable of analytical thinking and with open minds we can expect that they will take economics seriously by the time they get to university. They can then enter the war of economic theories on their own and make of it what they will.

Ontario's Women Politicians

Peterborough Examiner

Determination and dedication to ideals have made Mrs. June Marks stand out among Toronto city politicians. The same can be said for two other female municipal politicians in Eastern Canada — True Davidson and Charlotte Whitton. They have illustrated that it is possible to achieve success for their causes by sticking to their guns and attracting enough public support to get themselves elected. If the people of June Marks, Charlotte Whitton and True Davidson serve to steer others into public life they will have done a worthwhile duty for municipalities that have been their own. Any city politician who can overcome the complacency of the voters to take an interest in community affairs would have to be thoroughly committed because complacency is the single greatest cause of any city's vulnerability to social ills, often expressed in physical ways.

Bible Texts Come in Handy

Kitchener - Waterloo Record

Wanting to find exactly the right words to describe his feelings on the marriage, the Democrat MP, went to his Bible.

His purpose was to frame a private bill for Parliament which would prevent lawyers who happen to be MPs from collecting fees for work that other MPs do for free.

In the Sermon on the Mount to St. Luke, Mr. Herridge found what he needed. As a sub-title to, his bill he quoted the passage: "And he said woe unto you also ye lawyers, for ye lade men with burdens grievous to be borne, and ye yourselves touch not the burdens with one of your fingers."

His private bill suffered the fate of most private bills. It was talked out, hovered in the bottom of the list, and will probably expire on the order paper when this Parliament expires. However, he got in his dig and called public attention to his point.

The Canadian MP has good, solid precedent for looking to the Bible when framing legislation. A little more than 101 years ago, when a group of Canadian legislators were framing the British North America Act, they went to the Bible to find a title for the country they were stalled in the search for a word to use instead of "kingdom". The answer was in Tilley quoted a phrase from the 72nd Psalm: "And he shall have dominion from sea to sea."

There should be endless opportunities for our public men to follow the example set by Tilley and Herridge. Biblical texts have already said succinctly many things that our public men say at great length.

Prestige Versus Realism

New Statesman

"Britain withdrew from Cyprus after an unequivocal "never" — and from a score of other positions Britain made peace in Vietnam itself and again in Algeria. China abandoned her attack and tacitly abandoned her claim op offshore islands to which her legal rights are indisputable The USSR wound up the Berlin blockade, abandoned the Greek civil war and beat a peculiar retreat from the brink in the Cuban missile crisis.

These were all bitter pills to swallow. The world is crowded with proud nations. But for that very reason, few are likely to accept the view that the U.S. alone can claim exemption from the need to recognize a hopeless position, from the penalties of a wrong and miscalculated venture."

Liberal Convention

Rumors Abound as Ottawa Focuses on Back Room Deals

OTTAWA (CP) — Against a backdrop of deal rumors among candidates, the big warmup began today for the Liberal leadership convention as delegates flooded into the capital for the Thursday start.

Candidates began making earnest pitches for delegate support in an explosion of hoopla, demonstrations, arm-twisting and gentle persuasion in hotel hospitality suites. It was to be the kickoff for the big show.

Meanwhile, backroom talk flourished on the eve of the convention about possible swings by some candidates behind others with better chances of winning.

One popular story suggested an arrangement between External Affairs Minister Martin and Transport Minister Hellyer. It involved one throwing support to the other during the balloting if events warranted. But both camps firmly denied there is a deal.

At the same time, there was no public evidence of a stop-Trudeau movement, which some observers suggested as a possibility because of the justice minister's first-ballot lead in the polls. The balloting comes Saturday, following two days of speeches and policy discussions.

But organizers for various candidates made it clear that there is an open line between the camps. And the dialogue includes sounding-out approaches about support switches after the first ballot. At least three support-seeking approaches have been made to Health Minister MacEachen, raised near the bottom of the big-name slate of nine.

By the rules of the game, the approaches are made by the organizers of one candidate to those of another. The candidates themselves are said generally to stand apart from the process.

Eric Kierans, former president of the Quebec Liberal Federation, said in a television interview broadcast Sunday that three approaches have been made to him.

His organizers maintained Tuesday, however, that he won't come to a conclusion until just before the balloting on whether to swing and when. Mr. Kierans, put close to the bottom in most polls, expects to have a firm idea of the level of his support by that time.

As the 2,500 delegates began jamming convention hotels, workmen sweated to finish the job of refurbishing the Civic Centre for the three-day selection process.

Party planners say the arena, which will house the main events including the balloting, is too small to permit the public in after all the delegates, other party members, press, and invited guests have been crowded in.

But the public can watch it in comfort at home on television.

Each of the main candidates has a special room of his own next door to the rink.

A televised closed-circuit report of the convention, courtesy of Mr. MacEachen, who has bought the use of the system, is available to candidates. Full coverage, which will also be piped into convention hotel rooms, begins tonight with a televised press conference.

Bulk of the Saskatchewan delegates have been lodged in a suburban motel, where the Hellyer hospitality suite is operated by a Saskatchewan senator, A. H. Macdonald.

Senator Macdonald is a close associate of Premier Ross Thatcher of Saskatchewan, himself politically neutral.

It's Hoopla and All Systems Go

OTTAWA (CP) — Paint, signs, buttons, uniforms and paper, probably tons of it, are being marshalled into the hoopla of the convention that will choose a successor to Prime Minister Pearson as national Liberal leader.

Campaign headquarters are operating in high gear as workers toil to make their man a winner at the three-day convention, which officially starts Thursday at Ottawa's Civic Centre.

Although the aims are the same, candidates' headquarters vary in size and sometimes in activity.

Both Transport Minister Hellyer and John Turner, the consumer affairs minister, moved their headquarters Tuesday afternoon to hotels where they can be nearer delegates. Others were moving their information centres to Lansdowne Park, where the Civic Centre is located.

Campaign offices for both External Affairs Minister Martin and Justice Minister Trudeau resembled a wargames operational centre. Aides seemed to be in constant motion. A uniformed security guard scrutinized persons entering the upstairs areas of the headquarters.

Mr. Martin appeared to be the only candidate who would not be serving drinks. One reason was the "terrific backlash" over drinking at last September's Conservative leadership convention, a Martin aide said.

His supporters would be publishing a daily eight-page newspaper during the convention. Other candidates have similar plans.

But not Mr. Winters. A supporter said he has "another gimmick in mind." Demonstrations would be aimed at "creating a presence" for the former trade minister throughout the capital. Drinks would be available, but only during "cocktail hours."

Mr. Winters' headquarters was decked with campaign signs and paint, mostly green, was everywhere.

Robert Winters' offices were filled with workers preparing material for convention delegates. It was the same at Health Minister MacEachen's centre-town quarters.

Headquarters for Justice Minister Trudeau resembled a newsroom. Aides seemed to be in constant motion. A uniformed security guard scrutinized persons entering the upstairs areas of the headquarters.

Aims, Gains of Arts Council Explained to Kiwanis Club

Murray Irwin, vice-president of the Quinte Arts Council, addressed the weekly luncheon meeting of the Belleville Kiwanis Club on the aims and gains of the council over the past year.

Mr. Irwin mentioned that the council was formed at the end of September last year as the direct result of the Arts Festival '67, one of Centennial Year's celebrations.

He said the Arts Festival brought together various visual art groups and musical organizations and finally involved about 500 people.

"The council was set up to concern itself with four counties — Hastings, Prince Edward, Lennox and Addington, and Northumberland." This factor has made it unique.

"The purpose of the council is to encourage and stimulate development of arts in the area — to help these and supplement the work that is already being done."

"Belleville is becoming much more arts conscious," he said. "It is becoming aware that it needs activities of this sort to maintain a well-rounded community."

To epitomize his statements Mr. Irwin forewarned the Kiwanians of activities, concerts and plays, that are coming up in the near future here in Belleville.

He mentioned centres for craft groups and musical, drama and painting programs.

One of the chief aims of the Quinte Arts Council is to inaugurate a musical festival in the area.

"We hope that this will be a reality next year in Belleville."

Concerning the Arts

Murray Irwin, vice-president of the Quinte Arts Council, tells Kiwanians yesterday of the objectives and accomplishments of the Quinte Arts Council.

One-way Streets Suggested

PICTON — One-way streets may be brought into Picton following the recommendations of a traffic and parking survey conducted in the town last year.

Other recommendations made following the study included suggestions for parallel parking on both sides of the main street, and a further study of crosswalk locations.

It was pointed out to the town council that the one way system would be the most practical, and economical approach to traffic improvement.

Parallel parking would greatly increase available spaces. Crosswalks may be rearranged and even reduced. It was stressed that new signs, warning of the walks be erected as well.

Obituaries

MRS. WILLIAM MACDOHERTY

A longtime resident of Belleville, Mrs. Lillian MacDoherty, of 218 Dundas St. East, passed away at Belleville General Hospital on Tuesday in her 64th year.

She was born in Shannonville to the late Mr. and Mrs. Marshall W. Scrimshaw and was predeceased by her husband, William MacDoherty. She is survived by her son Norman, of Lasqueti, B.C., and her brother Myles of Belleville and sisters, Mrs. Ralph (Mabel) Hubbs of Picton and Mrs. Louis (Geraldine) Stapley of Kingston.

Mrs. MacDoherty was a member of the Anglican Church. Funeral services will be held Friday afternoon from the chapel of the John R. Bush Funeral Home with interment in Riverview Cemetery at Shannonville. Archdeacon A. S. McConnell will officiate.

DANIEL JOSEPH BARRY

Service will be conducted for Daniel Joseph Barry at the MacKenzie Funeral Home, Madoc on Friday, April 5 and it will proceed to Sacred Heart of Mary Church for requiem high mass.

Mr. Barry, 85, died April 2, after a lengthy illness at the Wellesely Hospital in Toronto.

He was born and educated in Queensboro, and had resided in Madoc although he had spent the last 27 years in Toronto.

He was a former employee of the Ontario Department of Highways, and was a member of Our Lady of Perpetual Help Church in Toronto.

He is survived by his wife, the former Frances Anne St. Charles, and a brother, Frank, of Queensboro.

Three brothers predeceased.

Interment will be in the Sacred Heart of Mary Cemetery.

EDMUND (PAT) PATRICK

Service was conducted for Edmund (Pat) Patrick from the Bennett-Weaver Funeral Home, Campbellford on Tuesday. Service was officiated by Rev. A. E. Toombs, and Rev. L. E. Siverns.

Mr. Patrick, 58, was born in Campbellford and was an elder of the St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church. He was a member of the IOOF for 25 years.

He had been in failing health for the last seven years and died at the Campbellford Memorial Hospital.

He is survived by his wife, the former Daisy M. Bateman, two stepdaughters, Betty (Mrs. Sid Kavanagh), Toronto, Doris (Mrs. Brian McCleery), Kars, Ontario, three stepsons, Clarence, David and Lisle Robins all of Campbellford, one sister, Violet (Mrs. Jack Staples), Baltimore, Ontario, and a niece Kathleen (Mrs. Ron Brideson), Windsor.

Interment was in the Mount Pleasant Cemetery. The bearers were Ray McCulloch, Francis Long, Tom Mein, Alex MacKenzie, Alec Rutherford and Archie McCook.

Second Installment Of Taxes Due Apr. 30

The second instalment of the city's initial tax billing is due on April 30, but ratepayers of Belleville taxpayers have paid approximately 57 per cent of the total interim levy.

City Tax Collector J. Grohn, said today that $900,000 of the total interim billing amounting to $1,550,000 has already been received at city hall.

He said it was gratifying that tax payments on the interim billing were being received so promptly, but at the same time noted the second instalment was due April 30.

"Payment of the second instalment before the due dates avoids interest charges for late payments," he said.

The purpose of the interim tax billing is to provide the city with money to meet current expenses early in the year without excessive bank borrowing.

City tax payments are divided into five instalments —two based on the interim billing and due Feb. 29 and April 30, and three on the final billing after the mill rate has been set.

But with 57 per cent of the total interim billing already paid, it means that some city taxpayers must have paid both instalment when the first one was due.

Ann Landers

Postal Employee Fed Up with Complainers

ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm fed up with listening to people knock "the lousy Post Office." It's time people realized that a great deal of the slow service and inefficiency is caused by their own stupidity or carelessness. If these complainers could peek into the back rooms and see what unbelievable lengths postal employees go to salvage items that belong in the garbage, they would be ashamed.

I work in the San Francisco Post Office and not a day passes that I don't see envelopes with handwriting which is 100 per cent illegible, letters with no addresses, envelopes with no contents, contents with no envelopes, letters with the right city and the wrong state or the right state and the wrong city — such as Sioux Falls, Iowa, or Sioux City, South Dakota.

Of course there is some inefficiency in the Post Office. We have employees who are incompetent, lazy and careless. But so does General Motors and General Electric and General Foods because that's the way some people are. If the public wants better postal service, they can improve it by using their heads. Thanks for letting me have my say. I feel better already. — ANONYMOUS.

DEAR ANON: You're telling me about the things people put in the mail? I have received letters written on paper bags, toilet tissue, garbage liners, paper towels . . . just name it and I've seen it.

Thanks for your letter, friend. I hope it does some good.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a college student with a million pressures. I feel is if the world is closing in on me. Please help me hang on to my sanity.

I was going steady with Freddy and we were very much in love — or at least I was. When we decided to go to different colleges we agreed to call off the steady arrangement and date others. It was to be a "testing period."

My closest girl friend asked our experiment as an opportunity to make a play for Freddy. I am sorry to say she succeeded. I still value her friendship but my faith in her is shattered. As present I feel betrayed, rejected, depressed and friendless. I still find it hard to believe she would do such a rotten thing to me.

I realize this freakish thing is as old as the hills and probably not worth space in your column, but I need some words of wisdom to keep from cracking up.— MISS CALCULATED.

DEAR MISS: Don't blame the girl. Freddy was ready. If it hadn't been your girl friend it would have been someone else.

By your own admission, you and the young man had agreed to call off the steady arrangement. This means he was free to date others — and so were you. Pick up the pieces and build something.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am going with a very attractive girl. She has a lot on the ball but has changed jobs five times in the past year, which has made me wonder about her stability. After three months of steady dating I have decided she is a wonderful person, but slightly alcoholic. Do you think marriage would help her? — DANNY BOY.

DEAR BOY: There is no such thing as "slightly alcoholic — It's like being "slightly pregnant." Don't count on marriage to "help" her. A girl who won't stay off the sauce for her sweetheart is less likely to do so for her husband. Suggest A.A.

Points for Parents

By MARY BRYSON

Father: "Teen-agers today are such 'kooks.' Why do you all have to dress so silly? Kids couldn't possibly look more atrocious. And that ghastly music you all live by!"

Father: "Most teen-agers are fine young people and they are more aware of and concerned about the world than we were at their age. They also are genuinely interested n creativity and originality in their music and dances."

Parents can help to close the "generation gap" by examining the values of youth and finding things to praise. Then if the need for criticism arises, your child will not feel it is a part of your blanket indictment of teen-agers.

Dublin Designers Fall For Maxi-skirt Styles

DUBLIN (CP) — Ireland shows every sign of taking the hemline plunge long before swinging England abandons her beloved mini-skirts.

Judging from the fifth Irish Export Fashion Fair, which opened to international buyers here Sunday, Dublin designers have fallen for the maxi-skirt without having had more than passing flirtation with the mini.

Short skirts only came in here late last year, and never rose higher than four inches above the knee.

Some cynical Irishmen predict the maxi will appeal to modest colleens—"those convent girls of ours"—who were always unwilling to go as thigh-high as their exhibitionist sisters in London.

Many of the 80 designers at the fair were placing heavy bets on the maxi-length Bonnie and Clyde looks for autumn—despite Ireland's actors-happy censor, the gangster movie has had tremendous impact here.

As always, the vivid native tweeds dominated—green, purple, brown and orange were big color combinations.

But the designs made startling leaps into Carnaby Street territory, with culottes, knickerbocker suits and spaceness jump suits standing out among Ireland's famous classic country clothes.

Clodagh O'Kennedy, noted young Dublin designer who now works for a manufacturer as well as running her couture boutique business, showed striking short coats with a military air, dark blue with scarlet facings and brass buttons.

Opening the show, Trade Minister George Colley said the annual fair had increased Irish fashion exports to £12,000,000 ($36,000,000) in 1967 from £7,000,000: ($21,00,000).

About 80 buyers from some 20 countries, including Canada, will be flooding into Dublin this week to place orders for styles.

Fashion now accounts for 10 per cent of Irish exports and Canada is sixth among buyers. Britain is by far the biggest customer.

One Who Knows, Offers Advice to Unwed Mother

Dear Doris: This is concerning the letter from In Trouble.

This 18 - year - old girl does not know which way to turn because her parents are strict towards her. Because she is five months pregnant, they will notice pretty soon. Go to your parents. They will understand you, if they love you, and remember, everyone makes one bad mistake in their lifetime.

I hope this girl does have baby up. My doctor said that my baby had a good home, good parents, I will probably not see my baby again but when I close my eyes I can see her, just as if we were side by side.

When you carry your baby for nine long months, sure you want it; it is part of you. But now think of the baby also, and ask yourself: "What will my baby think of me when she is older? What will I say happened to Daddy?" Can you watch the other kids tease her?

You gave your baby life. Now give her a reason for living.

Please, In Trouble, do the right thing. Think! — Wish to Help Others.

Dear Wish: That's just it. When we think about the grave responsibility we hold in our hands in deciding the fate of a tiny bundle of humanity it gives us pause — I hope.

• • •

Dear Doris: People who get pestered every time they see a bottle are not just being rebellious. They are very sick people. They have a disease called alcoholism.

Information about this disease can be had for the asking at A. A. centres, and for the relative or friend of the alcoholic they can go to Al-Anon. Usually listed in the telephone directory, or from a priest, minister, etc. — Anon.

Dear Anon: — Or from any social agency. Every word you say it true. There are foundations for the research and treatment of the disease called alcoholism in every Canadian province.

Church Groups

RAWDON — The Messenger group at Mount Pleasant held a potluck dinner meeting at the church hall Sunday following the morning service.

About 180 people were in attendance for the event, arranged by the leaders, Mrs. Raymond McConnell, Mrs. Ralph Joslin and Mrs. Stanley Williams.

A short devotional service was given after the meeting. Joan Jeffs, president, welcomed the group and Rosalie Williams was pianist. Linda Hoard and Margaret Hoard gathered the offering. Mrs. Joslin read the story and those who assisted in the devotional served around community life were Frank Hubble, Kenneth Sharp, Jill McAdam and Debbie Graff.

Yellow Eye Shadow to Be Popular

NEW YORK Reuters — American beauticians predict the 1968 season will be a yellow eye shadow for the first time and generally adopt a radiant, tawny look for all seasons.

They see no future for the Twiggy look of one flowered eye, mini - skirts and textured stockings.

Most of the beauticians believe that women's cosmetics are taking a conservative turn and the transigent bronze look is back.

"The 1968 woman is bronze age," says Diane McNamara, a leading New York beauty adviser.

"Cosmetics products are half as heavy as they were before, with lime and lemon colors most popular."

Pahlo, beauty director for Elizabeth Arden, says: "Women must learn to be individual, to emphasize their best features and learn to change their faces to fit in with some perfect concept of beauty."

Pahlo, an Italian who has a tremendous influence on American and European women, claims women have been brainwashed by the recent fashions o' British model Twiggy.

"Eyes are the focal point of a woman's face," he said. "She talks with her eyes."

Eye lashes still feature as the most important part of a woman's face, says Greg Martine, beautician to Goubaud of Paris.

"Several years ago it was considered theatrical to wear lashes," he adds. "Today, every woman wears them, even to the supermarket."

Goubaud eye lashes are made from real hair, either Spanish or Korean. Eye shadow colors accent the subtle look, and come in brown, beige and coffee shades.

The corkscrew curl look for the hair, and emphasis on lace ruffles and femininity, has influenced Helena Rubinstein's beauty message. The little-girl-look is fashionable, with accents on warm skin tones, softly sensual eyes and lips.

Dress up pork chops the Canadian way topped with apple slices. Mary Moore gives details for this luscious platterful of meat with its tangy sauce.

Kitchen Tested Recipes

Meals Using A Variation of Pork

By MARY MOORE

Week after week at the meat counters there are "specials" on pork. Husband and wife shopping teams look over the packages and usually agree to include one in their baskets. I stopped being an observer and got on the pork band wagon too.

To vary them we made — GLAZED PORK CHOPS WITH APPLES (serves 6)

six 1" thick pork chops
1 cup sliced onions
2 tablespoons fat or oil
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon pepper
¼ teaspoon cloves
1 tablespoon brown sugar
1 cup boiling water
1 oxo cube
6 thick slices (¼") unpeeled cored apples
1 tablespoon corn starch
1 teaspoon lemon juice

In large frying pan saute onion in fat or oil until limp but not brown. Remove from pan. Brown chops in pan on both sides — about 5 minutes. In a small bowl dissolve oxo cube in boiling water. Reserve ¼ cup. To remainder add seasoning and sugar and stir. Pour over chops and simmer gently covered for 15 minutes. Turn chops over and top them with the reserved sauteed onions. Gently cook chops 10 to 15 minutes longer or until meat is tender. Place an apple slice on each chop and cook covered 5 or 7 minutes longer, until apple slices on each chop are becoming tender. Carefully transfer apple - topped chops to preheated platter. Stir corn starch into reserved oxo water until smooth and stir into pan gravy until thick and clear. Remove from heat, add lemon juice and pour over chops and serve.

When frozen pork tenderloins were a "special" at 99 cents per pound I prepared one that career girls can make in less than an hour for dinner.

PORK TENDERLOIN WITH APPLE SLICES

If your pork tenderloin is frozen thaw it before you leave for the office. Mix together 1 tablespoon flour, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon paprika, ¼ teaspoon sage and rub all over thawed tenderloin. In 2 tablespoons butter saute the whole tenderloin until dark gold on all sides. Top with slices from one unpeeled cored apple. Add 1 tablespoon sherry to ½ cup table cream or milk and carefully pour over all. Put lid on pan and simmer for one-half hour. Transfer to hot platter pouring pan gravy over and slice at table with (a razor-sharp knife, being sure each guest receives a piece of apple.

Women Will Share Limelight at Convention

OTTAWA (CP) — Women delegates and wives of delegates to the Liberal leadership convention, which begins Thursday, will have their share of the limelight.

Every candidate is preparing some social functions for delegates and their husbands or wives. Like Mr. and Mrs. Eric Kierans, several will hold these events Thursday evening.

Most of the main contenders or their wives plan special receptions just for women Friday.

Probably a "must" for many will be a reception and question period Justice Minister Trudeau is to hold at the National Library.

Other highlights include a luncheon to be given by Mrs. Paul Martin, followed by an address by her husband and a fashion show, and a reception at the parliamentary restaurant by Mrs. J. J. Greene.

Candidates Assisted By Women in Campaign

OTTAWA (CP) — Women are the backbone of a candidate's campaign, says Mrs. B. E. MacDonald, president of the Women's Liberal Federation of Canada.

"It is the women who do so much voluntary work. They don't mind doing the groundwork . . . going from house to house or preparing campaign literature. .

"I just don't know how candidates could run a campaign without the women."

Mrs. MacDonald estimates that at least 300 delegates to the Liberal leadership convention, which begins Thursday, will be women.

There has been a definite increase in women's interest in politics in recent years, she says. "The 1965 election started them in real earnest."

Progress could be seen in the stipulation made before this convention that at least one of the six delegates from each riding should be a woman.

Women were interested in politics mainly because they want to see a better country. "I don't think they want too much of the social aspect."

Discussion was held on selection and care of hats, gloves and jewelry. The leader demonstrated how to cover cording and several members practised the technique.

SOCIAL And PERSONAL

ENGAGEMENT NOTICE

The engagement is announced of Barbara Karen Gray, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Gray to Mr. Alex John Watt Taylor of the Canadian Forces Base, Trenton. The marriage will take place at the 6 R.D. Protestant Chapel, CFB, Trenton on Saturday, May 18, 1968 at 2 p.m.

• • •

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Alford of Corbyville were pleasantly surprised at two events to mark the occasion of their silver wedding anniversary. A number of friends and relatives gathered at their home and presented them with an appropriate gift and further celebrations were held at the Canniton Hall where dancing and a mock wedding were enjoyed. At this time the couple received a purse of money.

MARRIAGE NOTICE

At the Church of St. Michael the Archangel, Belleville, Friday, March 22, 1968, Vera Lorraine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Provins, Belleville, and Edwin James Alfred Burke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Burke, Belleville, were united in marriage by Rev. D. C. Cummings. They were attended by Joseph Stevens and Mrs. Bob Chappell. Mr. and Mrs. Burke will live at 232A Charles St., Belleville.

Mrs. James Shannon, Maple Haven Nursing Home, Belleville, celebrated her 90th birthday Aug. 6. Among those sending congratulatory messages were Prime Minister Lester Pearson and Acting Mayor Douglas Boyle, Belleville. Telephone calls were received from her daughter and son in Rochester, N.Y., who were unable to be present.

Club Activities

CONTACT CLUB

Members of the Contact Club of Christ Church met for their regular meeting on Monday evening with president Lillian Middleton in charge.

During the business portion, secretary Irene Grills read the minutes of the previous meeting and Edith Pringle, treasurer reported on the club's finances.

Mrs. Joan Miller, another new member was introduced and welcomed to the Club.

President Middleton expressed thanks to all who participated in the social evening of Club members and their husbands on March 25 and reported a most successful event.

Edith Pringle gave a favorable report on the rummage sale held March 22 and expressed appreciation to all members who assisted with the sale. It was discussed and unanimously agreed to make a donation to a very worthwhile cause, Camp Nyanto.

As Contact Club hosts the party for the confirmation class and their families, plans for this event were discussed with the convenor, Irene Weatherstone, in charge.

Due to other commitments secretary Irene Grills reluctantly announced her resignation. This position was voluntarily filled by Laura Stafford.

The balance of the meeting was in the form of an auction sale with Jackie Gilbert as auctioneer.

The evening was brought to a close and social convenor, Grace Hall assisted by Jean James, served refreshments.

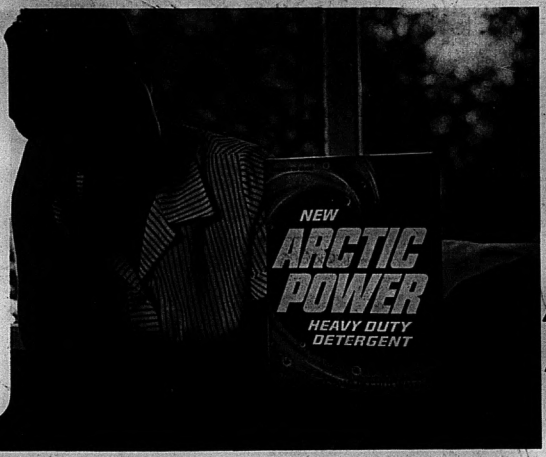
New ARCTIC POWER gets out the worst kind of dirt in cold water.



"Cold water washing left me cold, until I saw the results," says, Mrs. R. Patterson, Oshawa, Ontario.

"I didn't think Arctic Power would work, because my mother had always taught me to use hot water."

"But when you do 14 loads of washing a week in cold water, you've got to believe Arctic Power is fantastic. I put different coloured clothes in the same load and nothing faded or ran. And for the first time, my husband is happy with the way his work clothes look. He doesn't understand why I wasn't able to get the oil out of his shirts before. When you can get clothes this clean with cold water, I don't think I'll ever wash in hot water again."

Mrs. R. Patterson

"You wouldn't believe the difference ARCTIC POWER has made to my laundry," says, Mrs. D. Lilley, Oshawa, Ontario.

"I have 4 children and a mechanic husband to wash for, so I was ready to try anything. And I'm glad I tried Arctic Power."

"I've never been so pleased with my wash. Everything is so clean. The whites are just beautiful. I don't seem to have any problem with the girls' socks shrinking any more. My husband's work shirts which are coloured and always covered with grease are just amazing. The colours haven't faded and the grease comes out everytime I wash. I don't know why everybody isn't using Arctic Power."

"I thought it was just another one of those ideas. You know, it's going to do this and it's going to do that."

"But when it got the grease out of my husband's shop coat I thought a miracle had happened. Arctic Power really works!"

"Another thing I found with Arctic Power is that the children's socks don't shrink when I wash them in it. And I just don't seem to have any trouble with the fading of coloured things now that I'm using Arctic Power. I think it's tremendous."

Drapeau Unveils Raffle Scheme to Balance Montreal Budget

MONTREAL (CP) — "What lottery? It's not a lottery."

Montreal's resourceful Mayor Jean Drapeau was still refusing to be pinned down Tuesday night after announcing his startling new lucky-chance scheme for raising municipal revenues without bolstering taxes.

Whatever you call it, the aim of the game for the city is a budget-balancing $28,000,000 and for players a chance at a cool $100,000 first prize on a $1 "donation."

Montreal's budget for 1968-69 amounts to a record $283,473,992, much of it to go into renewal of blighted urban areas, water purification plants and extension of the subway.

It represents a rise of $32,875,320 over last year's total expenditure and, said the mayor, despite some minor revenue increases would have meant a 20-per-cent hike in municipal taxes without the lottery-like scheme.

His "exercise of chance" is the first of its kind in Canada and perhaps a first in North America for a municipality. The states of New York and New Hampshire operate lotteries based on horse racing to help pay for education.

Montreal's game is intended to stay within Canadian law by requiring the 151 winners each month to answer a "skill-testing question,"—an "easy one," Mr. Drapeau explained with a twinkle.

In addition to the top $100,000 prize for the holder of the lucky receipt for his donation, there will be 30 prizes of $1,000 each, 20 prizes of $500 and 100 prizes of $100, for a total $150,000 giveaway each month.

"There are absolutely no legal difficulties attached to this institution," the mayor said.

In Ottawa, meanwhile, a spokesman for the justice department agreed, saying the department had no plans at present for challenging the idea.

Donation blanks to get in the game will be printed in major newspapers and magazines across North America before the first drawing May 20. There will be no sales.

Mr. Drapeau said his "voluntary taxpayers" will be allowed to send in as many $2 contributions each as they wish.

"And by the way, the millions of visitors we expect to come and see Man and His World on the Expo site this year will certainly be voluntary contributors."

It all added up to a light-hearted scheme aimed at curtailing taxes and boosting the economy of the Montreal area, which the mayor said, is suffering of late from a climate of "cautious austerity."

"Our intention is not to emphasize the climate of austerity which may prove damaging psychologically and emotionally."

If the game, expected to cost $4,003,000 a year to operate, didn't bring in expected revenues, then new taxes would be proposed.

But, in any case, such new taxes would be considerably less than the 20-per-cent raise that originally seemed a certainty.

In a similar effort to raise money, New York State started a lottery last June, but sale of the $1 tickets produced less than one-third of the $30,000,000-a-month gross that was anticipated.

When the New York plan started, tickets were sold through banks. But a ban on bank sales passed by the U.S. Congress went into effect Monday. However, the state passed a law last month allowing sales, through such outlets as supermarkets, movie theatres and tobacco shops.

New Hampshire started a state lottery in 1964, but as with New York's, it has not produced as much revenue as expected.

In New York, there are 240 monthly prizes ranging from $100,000 down to $150 for each $1,000,000 worth of tickets sold. Each month, 225 tickets held by winners of the smallest prizes and 200 held by non-winners are set aside. Each March, bonus prizes ranging up to $250,000 are awarded on tickets drawn from this pool.

Proceeds of the New York and New Hampshire lotteries are earmarked for education.

Income Tax Computer Churns

OTTAWA (CP) — Computer processing of 1967 income tax returns now is hitting its full stride and the revenue department should have caught up with the backlog in two or three weeks, a department spokesman said Tuesday.

Processing of the 1967 returns was delayed by problems encountered in introducing a new high-speed machine at the taxation data centre here.

The spokesman said about 850,000 returns have been assessed so far. The department expects the number of returns to be filed this year to reach close to 8,000,000. It was more than 7,500,000 last year.

When the data centre is working full-out, it will handle 250,000 returns every two days. The data centre is geared to handle five complete cycles every two weeks.

A cycle is one complete run-through on the computer of the department's income tax files, entering the 1967 figures with earlier reports and cross-checking them.

The spokesman said the delay in getting the new computer into operation did not halt all of the department's work. The manual work of transferring information from income tax returns to punched cards, to be fed into the computer, went ahead as usual.

This meant that the data centre piled up a backlog of information to be fed into the computer.

The official said, however, that the department has not yet obtained significant figures from this year's run of returns to indicate the number of errors being made by taxpayers.

Last year, with the introduction of Canada Pension Plan payments information on income tax return, the number of errors made by taxpayers are hopeful that the error rate will be lower this year.

Provincial Premiers Are Wary Of PM's Prices Review Board

OTTAWA (CP) — Provincial reaction to Prime Minister Pearson's proposal for a wages and prices review board range from guarded "no comment" to at least one pledge of full co-operation.

Mr. Pearson wrote last month to the premiers suggesting consultation between the federal and provincial governments on ways to fight inflation, including the establishment of a board that would act as a watchdog to give publicity to unwarranted increases.

Federal finance department and other government officials have been visiting provincial capitals to pursue the matter, and action is expected to be taken soon on the result.

But so far, at least four of the 10 provinces have declined comment.

Premier Joseph Smallwood of Newfoundland says he won't comment until his cabinet has had a chance to study the idea. Premier G. I. Smith of Nova Scotia wrote to Mr. Pearson saying he could not commit his government until there are specific proposals.

Premier Alex Campbell of Prince Edward Island said his government has not yet had time to study the federal suggestion, and so declines comment.

Similarly, Labor Minister H. H. Williams of New Brunswick said the suggested board is currently being studied by his province.

Premier Daniel Johnson of Quebec said Ottawa is taking the right approach in consulting the provinces at the official level before going further.

His comments and those of Premier Walter Weir of Manitoba, W. A. C. Bennett of British Columbia and Smith of Nova Scotia were tabled in the Commons last month when Mr. Pearson made his suggestion public.

Premier John Robarts says Ontario is "definitely interested" in the wages and prices review board, but he wanted more detailed discussion on how the plan might best be implemented.

Premier Weir said any studies of anti-inflationary measures should take into account the work of a royal commission studying food retailing in the Prairie provinces, headed by Judge Mary Batten.

Premier Ross Thatcher of Saskatchewan said he has indicated he will co-operate, but "far stronger reaction" is needed to rising prices and wages. He would not comment further.

Premier R. C. Manning of Alberta told the provincial legislature that any wages and prices review board would need "meaningful indices for measuring productivity." He thought Ottawa's proposed board would be primarily advisory and educational.

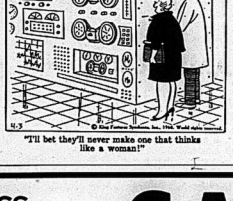
Accused Freed of Charge

After hearing evidence from Detective Donald Yearwood of the Belleville Police department magistrate T. V. Wills yesterday morning dismissed a charge of possession of housebreaking instruments against Kenneth Hewlett, William Storms and Barry Barriage.

The trio were apprehended on Church St. on Feb. 15 while they were riding in Hewlett's car. Upon searching the car Det. Yearwood found four ligatures of various shapes and sizes and took the accused down to the station for questioning. They were charged and released on bail.



Appearing for the accused before Magistrate Wills Tuesday morning were Barristers Louis Marshall and Thomas Lally.

An explanation that the irons were necessary to operate the jack in the trunk and even to open it influenced Crown Attorney John Pringle not to ask for a committal.

Disunity LBJ Deplored in Nation Extended Into Own Party

WASHINGTON (AP) — The national disunity, which President Johnson cited as the controlling factor in his withdrawal from the 1968 election campaign, extended far into the structure of his own Democratic party.

An Associated Press survey, carried out just ahead of the president's announcement Sunday night that he will not run again, showed about 400—perhaps more—nominating convention votes that could be counted as probably anti-Johnson.

And there were eight audible rumblings or defections from Johnson by influential figures in states with enough national convention votes to knock Johnson forces dangerously close to the 1,312 required for nomination.

Johnson, in announcing his decision, did not discuss such political mathematics.

The AP survey started as a simple head count, before Johnson's Sunday announcement, of Democratic state chairmen. It showed a virtual solid front for Johnson among the chairmen.

The next question was how much control the chairmen would have over their convention delegations and the more detailed study represented an effort to find out. Results were still trickling in after Johnson's withdrawal.

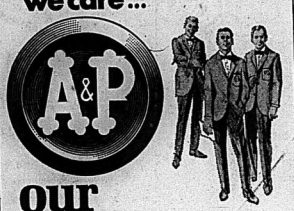
The big burden Johnson appeared destined to carry into the Chicago convention in August showed up in four states with a total of 480 convention votes—California with 172, Iowa with 46, Massachusetts with 72 and New York with 190.

California was rated definitely lost to Johnson. Jesse M. Unruh, the state's most powerful Democrat, is heading the drive for Senator Robert F. Kennedy of New York.

New York was in an uproar. Kennedy had in his corner leaders from such key areas as Brooklyn, Manhattan, Queens, the Bronx, the populous suburbs in Nassau and Westchester counties, and Erie, the biggest upstate county.

Members of the New York congressional delegation were predicting most Democrats in that group would go Kennedy.

Massachusetts, with 72 convention votes, was definitely McCarthy's since he was the only Democrat on the ballot in the April 30 primary. State law requires the delegation to vote for him on the first ballot at the national convention.



Massachusetts State Chairman Lester S. Hyman is for Kennedy.

Iowa was something of a surprise. Nothing was fully firm at the time of the survey, but State Chairman Clark Rasmussen, backing Johnson, looked lonely. An estimated 70 per cent of county convention delegates were anti-Johnson. Gov. Harold E. Hughes had spoken of quitting Johnson unless Vietnam policy was changed.

He Describes War

KHE SANH, Vietnam (AP) — A Seabee dodged into his bunker as another North Vietnamese barrage began hitting this much-bombarded U.S. marine outpost. He offered a reporter a can of rations with the comment: "This describes Khe Sanh." The label read: "Mixed nuts, shelled and salted."

New Bird Joins Air Command At Trenton--French Made Jet

By MAURICE SWITZER
Staff Reporter

TRENTON — A new bird has joined the Air Transport Command flock, and has made skies over the Canadian Forces Base here more familiar with the jet age in recent weeks.

The sleek, metallic brood consists of seven French-made Fan Jet Falcon aircraft—the new look in Canadian Armed Forces VIP flying.

Seating 10 — (eight with two card tables) — the Falcons will be assigned to special flights, like getting senior military or government officials from one place to another in a hurry.

And it will be in a hurry.

The long nin-propellor aircraft is capable of speeds up to 530 miles per hour, and can touch down at 130. If the pilot is in a jovial mood, he can make a passenger wish he had a smaller breakfast by wheeling into a "3-G" bank, tripling the force of gravity, and, therefore, weight.

These demonstrations of flight capability are not, however, usually performed for prime ministers or major-generals.

Checking out future pilots for the newest airborne additions to Canada's military arsenal is the job of Captain Max Misener.

Captain Misener is the chief, and at this time only, pilot instructor for men who will be assigned the roles of flying Falcons.

CFB Trenton being the home of No. 4 Operational Training Unit, all of the 18 pilot trainees under Captain Misener's tutelage put in their air time (48 hours of it) in these skies.

This is in addition to a three-week ground school course. Captain Misener is currently putting pilots 4, 5, and 6 through their aerial paces.

Since the Falcons will be based at CFB Uplands in Ottawa — as good a place as any to be handy to dignitaries — all of the potential pilots are members of Uplands Squadron 412.

Students of the Misener school of Falcon flying will all be graduated by June, and some of these will later become instructors in their own right.

Captain Misener first sat in the cockpit of the new sweptwing jet in Bordeaux, France, last April. After a seven-week course, he qualified on an instructor, and it's not hard to tell he's tickled with the performance of the twin-engine utility plane.

It's with genuine zeal that Max will detail the Falcon's performance chart: Initial climbing rate — 3,000 feet per minute; maximum cruising altitude — 42,000 feet for six hours; and range — 1,000 miles against a 70-knot headwind, "with still some to spare."

What really brings them to the newness of the Falcon is not necessarily the quiet compartment of the jet era, or even the five minute Trenton-Picton flight.

It's what Captain Misener calls "a study in harmonics."

In addition to flashing lights the Falcon's instrument panel emits different warning sounds to correspond to diverse malfunctions that can occur.

If, for instance, the undercarriage isn't behaving properly, the pilot might hear a "beep." Flap trouble might be a "chop."

The Falcon is definitely an aircraft to appeal to all the senses.

New Plane to Carry Senior Government Officials

New Telecommunications Satellite

May Get Contract

Northern Electric Company in Line

By ROGER WORTH
Staff Reporter

Northern Electric Co. officials in Belleville are greatly encouraged over a government announcement yesterday that a $100,000,000 fund will be set up to operate a domestic space satellite telecommunications system.

It's important to Belleville because the local plant has been designated to construct portions of the system if Northern gets a part of the contract.

Manager of research and development, Bud Thompson, said yesterday the decision to set up the system that will make television, telephone and data communications available coast to coast and into the far north was encouraging.

"We wouldn't anticipate that any space contract would be a major part of our business but we are concerned that we get a contract for part of the satellite system.

Northern's Belleville plant produces a wide variety of products at the present time but a space contract would help to maintain the labor force evenly.

"Our position will be greatly enhanced if we manufacture any portion of the space system," general manager Walter Galt said.

"Development work would be handled by our research and development department in Ottawa and our plants would manufacture and assemble various sections of the ground stations and satellite components if we get part of the contract."

The Northern officials explained that the satellite would be sent into orbit over the equator moving at the same rate as the earth. This means the satellite would always be in the same relative position to a point on the earth's surface — as a point on a wheel's rim does in relation to a point on the hub.

Television, telephone and data communications would be transmitted from one point in the country, bounced off the satellite and picked up by a ground station in another section of Canada.

For instance a telephone message or messages could be beamed from Montreal to the satellite which would re-transmit the message to a Vancouver ground station where it would be picked up and relayed to the party in the western city.

At the present time such messages must be transmitted by wire or radio which tends to be much more expensive — especially in northern areas.

Government officials expect the satellite system, which will orbit 22,300 miles above the earth's surface, to be completed by 1971 or 1972.

Canada would seek outside assistance for the rocket launch of the satellites.

But for the Northern plant in Belleville, the decision to launch the satellite program could be a real shot in the arm for business. It would project the company into an industry that will become increasingly important in the future.

"We made a concerted effort to be designated as the Northern Electric plant to handle the space satellite manufacturing program," Mr. Galt said.

A major part of the manufacturing which could be handled at the Belleville plant includes ground stations to transmit and pick up signals from the satellite. "More than 40 of these stations may be required before the system is completed," Mr. Galt claimed.

Before the decision to set up the system with a mixture of government and private funds was reached, several groups requested permission to launch the satellite on a private basis.

Niagara TV Ltd. and Power Corp. as well as the combination of Trans Canada Telephone system and CN-CP presented briefs on the subject. RCA were also interested in the project.

But in the white paper handed down by Industry Minister Drury yesterday the government decided on a mixture of public and private funds for the special corporation which should be created by next fall.

"The air has been cleared tremendously," Al Shukster, Northern's engineering manager said. "We've been waiting for a decision for some time."

Mr. Galt said the satellite system could provide television and communications to many inaccessible areas of Canada.

Northern's local plant is involved in the space business to a limited degree at the present time. They are producing components for a Bell Telephone ground station at Bouchette, Quebec.

Lawrence Kells, Superintendent of Public Schools and the Retarded Children's School, watches with interest as two students, Garry Baldree and Gerald Thrasher participate in a game of steeplechase.

Standard for Living Is More Important Than Standard of Living, Speaker Says

Our standard for living is far more important than our standard of living, Christian Science lecturer Norman B. Holmes, C.S.B., said here Tuesday night at the Hotel Quinte before a large representation from the Quinte district.

"We concern ourselves daily with our standard of living — standards of safety in automobiles; standards of quality in consumer goods; of equality in employment practices; to say nothing of our standards for packaging our groceries."

But the standard which really shapes our lives, said Mr. Holmes, is our standard for living. "Our life purpose — the degree of usefulness we enjoy — is produced by our standards for thought and action."

We can choose between accepting the standard of materiality or the standard of God, the lecturer pointed out. Settling for the fleeting, perishable, and temporal material standard — wealth or power or position — never gives lasting happiness or satisfaction.

"A spiritual standard for living can transform our lives. It can assure us mastery over the difficulties of human existence." Mr. Holmes said in his lecture titled, "What Is Your Standard for Living?"

"I like to think of the basis for living as God's standard of excellence," Mr. Holmes explained. We know that "God's purpose for shaping our lives is spiritual perfection." By learning more about God and His standard we can start to set aside the imperfections and difficulties of human existence. In the Bible, in Jesus' Sermon on the Mount, we have Jesus' statement: "Be ye therefore perfect even as your Father which is in heaven is perfect."

When we "begin to seek out and stand with this divine standard," when we actively practise such Godlike qualities as "honesty, thoughtfulness, helpfulness, and generosity," we have a life filled with goodness, achievement, purpose, and lasting satisfaction, the lecturer continued.

A spiritual standard transforms our experience because it transforms our thoughts, Mr. Holmes explained. Matter's "fancy standards of wealth, power, and position lead to wrong thinking." But a spiritual standard "teaches us how to think," and think correctly. Thomas Edison once said, the lecturer reminded his audience that the great task of civilization is "to teach men to think."

"The thought standards we hold shape our face . . . our body, our family, our career," Mr. Holmes said.

He related the story of Abraham Lincoln who once rejected a candidate for a cabinet post with the reason: "I don't like his face." When an advisor commented that the man couldn't help being born with that face, Lincoln replied: "Every man past 40 is responsible for his face."

Jesus proved the practicality of a spiritual standard for living when He healed those who came to Him, Mr. Holmes said.

"Jesus knew that God's love identifies man, not with evils, but with God's perfection. Because Jesus understood this, He was able to work out a life of spiritual excellence which met every need of Himself and those who turned to Him for help." But, the lecturer continued, Jesus didn't claim a corner on this power to heal. He didn't claim a corner on the Christ. He promised that, "all who would learn to understand and accept God's standard" for living could do the same works.

This is what Christian Science teaches us to do, Mr. Holmes explained. It gives us a deeper practical understanding of God. It shows us how to identify ourselves correctly as His reflection. And this correct identification results in healing. As Mary Baker Eddy, who discovered and founded Christian Science, said: "Our reliance upon material things must be transferred to a perception of and dependence on spiritual things."

"So," the lecturer said, "in the face of job dissatisfaction, domestic turmoil, lonely or purposeless lives, we can all adopt a spiritual standard for living." As we learn to know God and His standard, "we can start to break the barriers of human limitation which would hide God's goodness from us. And we can progressively prove that an understanding of God and His standard of excellence leads to useful and enriching lives."

Mr. Holmes, who spoke under the auspices of Christian Science Society, Belleville, is a practitioner and teacher of Christian Science. A native of Chicago, he is currently on tour as a member of the Board of Lectureship of The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts.

Quinte Arts Festival Headed for Success

Arts Festival '68 appeared headed for a repeat of its Centennial Year success today.

Organizers of the year's major cultural event today reported more than 40 per cent of tickets for the two-week arts program have been sold.

The multiple event is sponsored by the Quinte Arts Council and has as honorary patrons Lee Grills, MP South Hastings; Dr. R. T. Potter, MPP Quinte, and Mayor Dr. Russell Scott.

The festival will be launched April 10 with the Eastern Ontario Concert Orchestra at Centennial Secondary School.

The following week will see the Belleville Theatre Guild in Charley's Aunt, the Belleville Choral Society and local arts and crafts group combining for a visual arts display at the Hotel Quinte.

Kells Gets 'Award of Merit'

Lawrence Kells, Superintendent of Public Schools, was presented with an "award of merit" Thursday afternoon by T. H. Stovell, charter president, and J. M. Rosa, president of the Belleville and District Association for Retarded Children.

The award was presented to Mr. Kells for "his service to the mentally retarded of this area."

The association has commended Mr. Kells for his service in helping to form it and aiding it through the years.

He received the award as part of the association's tenth anniversary celebration.

Art open house at the Retarded Children's School also served as a segment of the anniversary.

Approximately 100 people formed the "good turnout" that came to the school Tuesday evening to see the displays of artwork and crafts that showed the work of the retarded children.

Movies were also shown of the students during their classes and athletic functions.

The children were in attendance to demonstrate various facets of their education.

SPORTS SLICES

Yes, verily, the annual madness is upon us.

The moving virus bites, and having bit, moves on — and on hockey's Olympus the gods of the game chuckle in their nectar and ambrosia and warble softly "whiz fools these mortals be."

And breathes there a fan with soul so dead, who never to himself has said: "this hockey fever bites and galls — a pox upon these crystal balls."

And yet across the country fever-stricken fans, millions of them, will rap on the doors of their favorite pawnbrokers, stockbrokers, judges, hoteliers or whomever has a ticket connection," to try for two or more of the elusive pasteboards.

Failing this they'll give themselves to a television set in bar, barn or boudoir, cheer their favorites and blaspheme the foemen, depending on the score.

There'll be more pools in operation than Nero splashed in at a Roman holiday. Every office, shop, factory, plant will offer chances on the luck of the draw on scores, times of goals, penalties and the takes of the best-dog auctions.

Far east in east and west in west and for the first time in National Hockey League history the twain shall meet in combat for the custody of the Stanley Cup and the pots of gold that go to the victorious gladiators.

And it might be just as well to postpone bookings for that May 24th holiday. They may have to move some of the finals games to the Arctic if the expanded series runs the full length.

For there are eight teams in this year's battle for the sliciest Stanley ring. There will be quarter-finals, semi-finals and finals that may last longer than a Pajuan charivari.

As one wag puts it: — "It's the beginning of a new season, one of two, The baseball year opens during the throes of the puck mayhem. This a Montreal-Yankee fan and if the gods decree that both are beaten on the same day, then it will be "doubles time at the bar."

The whir opens on four fronts tomorrow. Boston takes on the Habitants, and Chicago meets New York in the eastern openers. Out where the West begins, St. Louis clash with Philadelphia and Minnesota takes on Los Angeles.

After they've settled the preliminaries don't rush away after the divisional finals. You aint seen nuthin' yet.

The winners will join combat in another best-of-seven series for the 75-year-old championpe receptacle — and the money jackpot of $7,500 per player.

Down Montreal way, NHL president Clarence Campbell is said to be well-pleased with the pairings of the divisions and predicts the best Stanley Cup games in years.

Campbell may have something there. Reflecting his attitude is that of the bookies who — for a record — have not, at least at this writing, come up with odds quotations. They have been too busy studying form charts.

Down thisaway most fans I've talked with favor the Canadiens. I fervent them too in that final game with the Leafs and it cost me five to find out that Toe Blake wasn't taking any chances with the injury gremlin.

However a few will place the shekelas on the Bruins. Remember they won five, — and lost five against Montreal, so a pushover series is out.

The Bruins are cup-hungry and won't be pushed into hibernation in a short series. Besides they have to show the Red Sox they're not the only big clams in the home town lobster pot.

As for Chicago and the Rangers, unless Billy Reay comes up with a miracle-touched club, it looks like the Broadway Blueshirts will be in the-eastern finals.

That's not a prediction. I'm not on the limb. In an office nine-man prophecy of schedule-ending finishes, I was the lone ranger with a big fat zero.

And I'm not "taking" any bets. Every time this season I got wager-wacky, the "taker was took."

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Bobby Warlick scored seven of his 30 points in the last four minutes Tuesday night, leading the Francisco Warriors to a 111-106 victory over St. Louis Hawks and a stunning 4-2 win in their National Basketball Association Western Division semi-final playoffs.

HONOLULU (AP) — The Hawaii Islanders of the Pacific Coast League have purchased the contract of pitcher Bo Belinsky from the Houston Astros. Belinsky jumped the Houston training camp because of curfew problems involved with his dating Miss Jo Collins. He pitched for Hawaii in 1963 and helped to draw'a record gate.

QUEBEC (CP) — Jim Morrison, president of the players' association of the American Hockey League, said Tuesday night the proposed game between the champions of the AHL and the Western Hockey League may not be held this year. Morrison said the WHL players voted not to participate in the game because the American league refuses to recognize the AHL players' association.

Games Will Be Telecast

NEW YORK (CP) — The National Hockey League and CBS reached agreement Tuesday on a schedule of afternoon Stanley Cup playoff games to be shown live by CBS-TV across the United States during April weekends.

Don Ruck, NHL publicist, said the second game of the New York-Chicago East Division semi-final will start the TV parade. It will be played here this Sunday at 2:05 p.m.

The Rangers and the Black Hawks open their best-of-seven series here Thursday night.

The second network game will be Saturday, April 13 at 1:05 p.m. Chicago at New York will again be on the menu if this series goes beyond four games.

There are two other potential games on April 13, Boston at Montreal and St. Louis at Philadelphia, one of which will be substituted if the Rangers and Black Hawks wind up their series in a minimum four games. The unusual Saturday date and the 1:05 p.m. starting time were requested by CBS to clear the air for the Masters Golf tournament late Saturday and most of Sunday afternoon.

The network goes back to Sunday for its next game—April 21 at 1:05 p.m. Ruck said a West Division game definitely will be shown, although who will play depends on the results of the first playoff round.

TORONTO (CP) — The CBC will telecast all quarter-final games between Boston Bruins and Montreal Canadiens in this season's Stanley Cup playoffs and all semi-final games later this month, it was announced Tuesday.

The first two games in Montreal Thursday and Saturday will be delayed until 8 p.m. because of the Liberal leadership convention in Ottawa.

Mikita To Miss Opener?

CHICAGO (AP) — Stan Mikita of Chicago Black Hawks, who just retained his National Hockey League scoring title, underwent a hospital checkup Tuesday but probably will play in the Stanley Cup opener in New York Thursday night.

Mikita, winner of the NHL scoring crown four of the last five seasons, was released from the hospital after examination by Dr. Myron Trenatine, Hawk physician.

"Stan has a bad back and probably a cold along with it, but there is nothing serious," said Dr. Trenatine.

"As far as I can tell, he'll be able to play Thursday night."

The fourth-place Black Hawks and second-place Rangers Thursday night begin a best-of-seven playoff series.

Thinking Of Politics

It Could Be; Bobby Hull M.P.

CHICAGO (AP) — Bobby Hull, still an all-time National Hockey League great, may run for Parliament in Canada when he hangs up his skates.

Hull, 29, Golden Jet of Chicago Black Hawks for 11 seasons, said Tuesday he has no idea when he will quit hockey but when he does he may seek a parliamentary seat.

Preparing for the Stanley Cup opener in New York Thursday night, Hull said that a weekend rest at his ranch in eastern Ontario brought renewed overtures from the political field.

"Some of the big people from the Liberal party in our section came to see me again and I have to admit that I'm starting to take it seriously," said Hull.

One of the visitors was Mayor H. J. McFarland of Picton, he said.

Hull stressed he would make no political commitments until he quits hockey—which many experts predict may be after one more season.

"When, and if I throw my hat in the ring, it would be only after an awful lot of study and thinking to be sure I'm ready," said Hull, whose NHL record of 50 or more goals in three seasons never may be equalled.

"I would want to do a decent job. I wouldn't want to be the sort of member who is told by his party what to do because he doesn't know enough to think for himself."

Hull sat out the final three games of the regular NHL season, because of a broken nose and bruised left instep.

BOBBY HULL

Thinks Seals Will Stay in Oakland

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — "I think the Seals can do well here —I expect they will be here next season," president Robert T. Nahas of the Oakland Coliseum Complex said Tuesday.

"I don't believe they should be judged on their first season in the National Hockey League."

Seals' owners—disappointed at heavy losses—recently contracted to sell the NHL franchise, valued at $5,000,000,000, to Vancouver interests.

That would require approval by nine of the NHL's 12 governors on two points: the sale itself, and the transfer to Vancouver which has a Western League franchise.

The matter may be presented to the NHL governors Jan.June unless firm arrangements to keep Seals here are made meantime.

Bruins, Canadiens

Oddsmakers Scratch Heads

MONTREAL (CP) — The oddsmakers are bedging because there isn't much to choose between Montreal Canadiens and Boston Bruins, who start their best-of-seven Stanley Cup East Division semi-final here Thursday.

During the season the two teams split even right down the middle, with each team winning three games at home and two on the road.

The first game will start at 9 p.m.and will be televised on the CBC's national network starting at 9:30 p.m.

Montreal coach Toe Blake is glad his league champions haven't been made prohibitive favorites as in other years.

"Boston won five and lost five with us, so all we can expect is a tough series," Blake says.

In preparation for the rough going they expect, the Montrealers whipped through a 90-minute workout Tuesday morning.

Blake said Tuesday he is glad the regular season is over and now he hopes he can get his club into the proper frame of mind for the playoffs.

"It's pretty hard to get them going for those 'nothing' games," he said.

Blake was referring to the club's last three games of the 74-game season schedule after the team had clinched the Prince of Wales Trophy as league leaders for the 12th time.

After clinching the cup the Canadiens promptly dropped a 6-0 decision to Toronto Maple Leafs, were beaten 2-1 by Boston and lost 4-2 to New York Rangers in the season finale Sunday afternoon.

Memphis Bows To KC Blues

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Kansas City Blues stormed to within one game of clinching a semi-final berth in the Central Hockey League playoff by defeating Memphis 7-4 Tuesday night.

The line of George Gulbaudi, Claude Cardin and Norm Beaudin accounted for a total of 15 points, each getting two goals and three assists.

The Blues need only to defeat Memphis in one more game either Thursday or Saturday at Memphis to clinch the best-of-five quarter-final series.

Rejean Richer got the other Kansas City goal. Ted McCaskill and Jack Matheson each had two for Memphis.

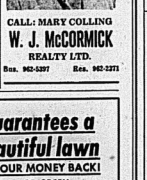
Cooke Blames Referee

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Center Jack Cooke of Los Angeles Kings said Tuesday a referee's inexperience cost his club a first-place finish in the National Hockey League's West Division.

The Kings tied Oakland 2-2 in their regular season finale, and Cooke claimed his club should have won 3-2.



In the third period of the game, Real Leeniece of the Kings put the puck in the Oakland goal, but referee Ron Wicks disallowed the goal on the grounds that Bill Flett of Los Angeles was in the goal crease when the puck went in.

Coach Red Kelly claimed Flett "was knocked into the crease by Aut Erickson of the Seals which make the goal legal."

Cooke said: "If the puck was in the net first, it doesn't matter whether Flett was pushed in, walked in or dropped in, the goal counts."

Cooke admitted: "Of course, there is no way of recovering that lost goal. . . . We were bilked."

Top Moundsmen Rounding Into Seasonal Form

By MIKE HECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Baltimore Orioles will be without another of their 1966 pennant heroes when the 1968 baseball season begins Monday and last year's champion Boston Red Sox are not doing much better.

The Red Sox, already without injured pitching ace Jim Lonborg for at least the first month of the season, sent slugging Tony Conigliaro flying to Boston Tuesday to undergo further eye examinations.

"There's no doubt that I have a problem," the 23-year-old outfielder was quoted by teammate Carl Yastrzemski. "I have to admit my eyes are nowhere near perfect."

Conigliaro suffered blurred vision when he was hit near the left eye by a pitch last August, and missed the rest of the 1967 season and the World Series.

This spring, he is hitting only .157 and has struck out frequently.

Baltimore's worries are not as acute as the pitching-rich Orioles sent Wally Bunker to join Jim Palmer in the minor leagues to work out pitching problems.

Bunker, also 23, won 19 games in 1964 and 10 games and a World Series game in 1966 before tendonitis limited him to a 3-7 record last year.

Palmer, another Series winner who was 15-10 that year, has also been bothered by arm trouble and was sent down earlier this spring, and Stu Miller, the star of the bullpen, was sold Monday.

Other pitchers, like Bo Belinsky, had a good day.

Belinsky got his wish from Houston Astros and was sold to Hawaii of the Pacific Coast League.

On the mound, Woody Fryman, Mike McCormick, Earl Wilson, Milt Pappas and Jerry Stephenson sparkled.

Fryman, acquired by Philadelphia from Pittsburgh Pirates in the Jim Bunning trade last winter, turned in a three-hitter for seven innings and struck out 11 as the Phillies blanked Minnesota Twins 1-0 on Tony Taylor's sixth-inning homer.

McCormick, who won 22 games, the Cy Young Award and the comeback award in the National League in 1967, stopped Cleveland without a run for six innings in San Francisco Giants' 6-1 triumph over the Indians.

Wilson, another 22-game winner last season, gave up six hits and one run in seven innings, pitching Detroit Tigers over Chicago White Sox 5-1.

Cincinnati Reds got a one-hitter for five innings from Pappas en route to a 4-2 decision over Houston Astros.

Ron Hansen hammered a two-out ninth inning homer to break a tie and hand Washington Senators a 5-4 victory over Boston Red Sox. Stephenson stopped the Senators on two hits and one unearned run for seven innings before Washington scored four runs in the last two innings against relievers.

Jim Hardin, John O'Donoghue and Pete Richert stopped New York Yankees on five hits in Baltimore's 3-2 12-inning triumph.

Bobby Tolan stole home with the winning run off Don Shaw in the eighth inning to give St. Louis a 3-2 victory over New York Mets.

Don Drysdale was touched for four runs in seven innings, but Los Angeles Dodgers banged Ken Holtzman and Rich Nye for a 5-4 decision over Chicago Cubs.

Three hits, two errors and a sacrifice fly got Pittsburgh three runs and a 3-2 victory over Oakland Athletics.

OASA Convention

Belch, Tebworth Stand for Office

By GARRY ALEXANDER
Staff Sportswriter

Two prominent Belleville softball enthusiasts will stand for office when the 46th annual Ontario Amateur Softball Association convention is held in St. Catherines this coming weekend.

Clifford (Sonny) Belch Jr., will seek the position of OASA secretary while Jim Tebworth will run for a position on the executive committee.

The convention will be held Friday through Sunday, April 5, 6, and 7, at the Queensway Hotel in St. Catharines. The election of officers will take place at the annual meeting, scheduled for two o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Registration of delegates, various committee meetings and the presentation of the officers' reports will take place Friday while the annual umpires' clinic, slated for 9 a.m. Sunday, will conclude the convention conclusion. Numerous social functions are also scheduled for Friday and Saturday.

Belch has been nominated for the 2nd and 3rd vice presidents chairs, as an auditor and for the executive committee as well as secretary.

He has announced here that he will stand for the secretary's position. Two others nominated are LeRoy Pickard who has held the position for the past 12 years, and V. E. Walker, of Port Perry. Pickard has indicated that he will not stand for the position this year.

Belch was elected to the executive committee during the last two conventions after earlier appointments. He has been called "one of our hardest and most dedicated workers" by fellow OASA officers.

Tebworth will stand for office for the first time after declining previous nominations. He has received several appointments from the OASA, including that of special co-ordinator in this area.

Considered one of the district's top umpires, Tebworth has been an ardent worker in softball in both Kingston and Belleville areas for many years and was one of the original organizers of the first umpires' associations in Eastern Ontario some years ago. He is one of 28, with six to be elected, nominated for the executive committee.

Nominated for president for a second term is Clare Butler, Willowdale, and Ken Scheil of Toronto; for 1st vice president: Butler, Scheil, C. H. Dunn, Harold Langabeer of Kingston, Pickard and D. K. Prescott; for 2nd vice president: Belch, Butler, Dunn, Langabeer and S. Reeve; for 3rd vice president: Belch, Butler, Dunn, Langabeer, Pickard, Prescott, Reeve and Walker; for treasurer: W. L. Algeier, for auditor: Algeier, D. Leether, H. K. Champion and Belch.

Nominated for the executive committee, along with Tebworth and Belch are: F. Banastyre, E. Bassett, Bates, J. Bodd, K. Braithwaite, C. Butler, H. Clement, J. Conlin, R. Cripps, C. Dean, Dunn, Norm. F. Fraser, W. Garraway, D. Harry, H. Langabeer, B. McArthur, O. Pearson, A. Pickard, D. Prescott, S. Reeve, J. Roach, M. Scherf, T. Sims, Norm Thomas, V. Walker and M. Yoyrkevich.

The delegates will also vote on 25 amendments to the constitution, bylaws and playing rules.

Wee Willie Ketchum

"He Lost Fights We Shudda Won"!

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Willie Ketchum is a fight manager well known in boxing for many years. His best fighter today is Thad Spencer, the heavyweight who laid an egg in Oakland and got stopped by Jerry Quarry last February.

Ketchum and Spencer head for Lond..n April 22. Spencer will box Eduardo Corletti, an Argentine, there.

"If we can beat this guy in London we'll be back in the picture," Ketchum says. "I tol' Spencer, I said, 'look, at my age—I'm 62—I'm gonna wind up with the heavyweight champion of the world—regardless'."

What about Spencer's disappointing fight with Quarry which bounced him out of the heavyweight scene?

"You think I'm over that one yet?" Willie shuddered. "Quarry and this Jimmy Ellis, a good fighter he is, too, they are fighting in Oakland just a few nights before we fight in London, and they are making $125,000 each apiece. This Spencer should be making that much.

"About Quarry, Spencer tells me before the fight this guy ain't that much, and I said this guy is that much.

"It was like stealing money out of your pocket when you're watching," Ketchum continued, referring to Spencer's unique training methods. "He'd tell me things he felt like it and come back when he wanted."

Ketchum arranged Jimmy Carter to the world lightweight championship some years back. Carter also posed problems. Jimmy "wanted to lose fights he shudda won but win when he could have lost."

"Spencer now, he's not doing anything wrong. He looks better today, four weeks away from the London fight, than he did one day before the Quarry fight. How can you be count for that?"

It appears Spencer also hasn't been able to answer what Willie wants to know.

Bowstrings; Taut, Tried, True

Three women archers of the Belleville Archery Club made a clean sweep for team honors in a tournament held in Toronto recently. Mrs. Cathy Armstrong, (left), national women's champion, topped the scores with 279, Mrs. Eileen Donaldson, (centre), shot a 266 and Mrs. Leola Doxtator 270. The team's average equalled the best of the male entries.

Int. Semi-Finals

Picton Stops Elmvale

Defenceman Pat Asselstine turned goal-scorer last night and paced the Picton Merchants to a one-game lead in the OHA Intermediate "B" semi-finals.

The Merchants defeated Elmvale 5-2 in Picton and lead the 4-of-7 series one game to none. The first game, in Elmvale, was a 5-5 tie.

Picton plays in Elmvale tomorrow night and in the next two games in Picton, at 7:30 Sunday and 9 p.m. next Wednesday.

Elmvale jumped into a 1-0 lead early in the first period but Picton got eight unanswered goals to end the first period. Picton forged the equalizer at 14:35 and the Merchants never looked back. It was 1-1 at the end of the period with Picton in front 4-2 going into the third. Asselstine's second goal put the key decision in wraps at 13:16.

The visitors outshot Picton 31-23 but steady Tom O'Halloran came through with his other strong performance in the winners' cage.

Aiding Asselstine in the Picton scoring parade were Syd Faulkner, who fired the go-ahead goal, Bob Neil and Fred. James. Larry Pero earned two assists, Faulkner, Billy Hamilton, Brian Beatty, Roland Berry, Doug Dafoe and George Jacklin one each.

S. McKenzie potted Elmvale's opening goal, at 6:38, and A. Smith notched his club's second after Picton had opened up a 1-1 lead, at 18:05 of the middle heat.

The game was a chippy one with 14 penalties assessed in all, nine of them coming in the third period. Picton drew eight of the total.

Included among the sentences were fighting majors to Doug Dafoe and J. Brown early in the third. That set the pace and later in the period Jim Kearney and Elmvale's R. Ritchie also mixed it for fighting majors.

Walloped By Flyers 8-1

Badly Beaten Habs Blast Referee!

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Kitchener Rangers and Niagara Falls Flyers appear good bets to clash for the championship of the Ontario Hockey Association after A series after Tuesday's night's semi-final playoff action.

The Rangers downed Hamilton Red Wings 5-3 and the Flyers thrashed Montreal Junior Canadiens 8-1, giving both winners 3-1 edges in the best-of-seven series.

Montreal players, upset by their decisive loss to the Flyers, lost their tempers in the third period when the Flyers scored six goals.

They showed their anger at referee Joe Hislop by shooting a puck at him, throwing a stick in his direction and shoving him around.

Trainer Noel Geoffroy drew a match penalty for hurling sticks at Hislop when he skated near the penalty box. Jean-Paul Bordelesu drew a misconduct for throwing the puck at Hislop and a match penalty for throwing a stick at the official and shoving him.

Two fights also took place in the third period, one between the Flyers' Phil Roberto and Montreal's Jacques Laperriere, which resulted in double majors and an automatic misconduct.

Scoring leader Jean Lemieux and Steve Atkinson scored two goals each for the Flyers. Single goals went to Garry Swain, Brad Selwood, Doug Brindley and Jim Notman.

The only potential goal by Gil Perreault opened the scoring early in the first period, but the Flyers were in command the rest of the game.

The Flyers led 2-1 after the first two periods before erupting for six goals in the final period.

Riders Get Coleman

CALGARY (CP) — Calgary Stampeders of the Western Football Conference have traded fullback Lovell Coleman, 26, for linebacker Mike Blum, 24, and offensive halfback David Cranmer, 23, of Ottawa Rough Riders of the eastern conference, it was announced today.

Coleman, an eight-year veteran with the Stampeders, was named to the all-Western Conference and the all-Canadian teams in 1966 when the 15-10 pro was Canada's outstanding player in 1964.

Blum has been a first string performer for the Ottawa club for the last four seasons.

Firemen Shut Out Mustangs

Firemen whitewashed the Mustangs 5-0 in the fourth game of the Gas House Hockey League finals last night.

Next game of the best-of-seven series is slated for tomorrow (Thursday) evening at eight o'clock. Standing of the series is not available.

Brooks scored two goals with singletons for Mambert, Talbot and Smith. Hurst drew three assists, Patterson two, Talbot and Lloyd one each.

Four Novice Teams Reach BMHA Finals

The Leafs, Dukes and Rangers were eliminated in the BMHA novice playoffs last night.

On Friday night the Bruins take on the DCA Transfer in the "B" championships while Hornets tangle with Bears for the "A" title.

In the games played last night, Hornets defeated Leafs 8-3; Bruins edged the Dukes 3-2 and the Bears shaded Rangers by the same score.

B. Masterton scored four goals in the Hornets win with D. Murray and B. Hillier getting singles. Matthews, Murray and McIlroy had assists. Moffins and Male, with two, scored for Leafs. Woodman, Moffins, Belanger and Rappel had assists.

Belch, Skelly and Dow counted for the Bears, Fells and Foster assisting. Heymans and Vrolick scored or Rangers, Beer and Hayman drawing assists.

Kirby, Loveless and Pope were the Bruins scorers, Pope and Masterson assisting. Blatchord scored both goals for the Dukes.

Stinsons Blanked By Stars

Aluminum Stars, shot down in the first two games of the Quinte Hockey League finals, have been doing their own shooting recently.

The Stars blanked Stinson Construction 4-0 last night for their second consecutive win and a 2-2 tie in the series.

Fifth game of the set is scheduled for Thursday night at nine o'clock. The series is a best-of-seven.

The clubs played a scoreless first half last night before the Stars exploded.

Don Moore opened the scoring with Hubert Britton and Paul Zakos assisting and Ron Urch made it 2-0 on a play with Ron Post and Al Jackson. Hubert Pointer converted Post's pass for a 3-0 lead and Jackson netted the final goal, from the stick of Al Rutian, for the convincing 4-0 triumph.

SEEDING TIMES DIFFER
Depending upon the species of crop you are planting. Apart from onions and possibly peas, vegetables should not be planted until the soil is thoroughly warmed up . . . usually after the first of May.
SOW LAWNS EARLY
Cold weather will not harm the turf grass seeds and, being slow germinating, they require a period of soaking before germination is possible. Weeds are late germinators and do not usually appear until the soil is dry and warm, so the big thing to remember in establishing a new lawn is to plant early before weeds can get a start.

Air Canada's Station Manager in Moscow Is Russian Hockey Writers' Favorite Oracle

MOSCOW (CP) — If you happen to be a Canadian by the name of Aggie Kukulowicz and you're living in Moscow, you find yourself doing strange things.

One day you're out at the airport, calculating weight loads for a DC-6 and helping glassy-eyed Canadians through their first contacts with the Soviet Union. That day you're Aggie Kukulowicz, the Air Canada station manager in Moscow.

The next day you're guest of honor at the ceremonial fa-hockey season for the Moscow city league, home of most of Russia's national teams. Then you're Aggie, the former hard-hitting centre with New York and Detroit in the National Hockey League.

Either way, you're the best known Canadian in the Soviet Union.

Anatoly Tarasov, coach of the Russian Nationals, grumbled jokingly about Aggie's status when he was in Canada with the Soviet team this winter.

"After the games in Moscow the journalists don't interview me," Tarasov was quoted as saying. "They want Aggie's opinion."

A friend to most of the Soviet Nationals and an oracle to many of the Moscow sports writers, Aggie has been consulted and interviewed about hockey dozens of times since Air Canada brought him here last May as No. 2 man on the Moscow end of their newly opened air link with Montreal.

And when he makes one of his occasional business or holiday trips back to Canada, Aggie again gets the celebrity treatment as sports columnists and reporters pump him for impressions of life and sport in the Soviet Union.

A tall, gregarious and generous guy, Aggie has more than enough sensitivity to appreciate his unusual position.

For a hockey-mad country like Russia, Air Canada couldn't have picked a better representative than a former NHL player. There was a big added bonus in the fact that Aggie's mixed Ukrainian-Polish parentage gave him an edge in learning Russian.

But his job is no glad-handing executive. He and chief representative Vlad Slivitsky of Winnipeg put in long hours at demanding, frequently frustrating business.

"I sometimes wish people would talk to me more often as a businessman," Aggie said recently. "I believe me, I'm not knocking hockey."

Now 34, Kukulowicz had a meteoric start to his career. Then, after a nearly fatal injury, there were years of what he modestly calls "journeyman" play in pro hockey during which he racked up 192 goals. He got an amateur reinstatement in 1964 and toured with Canada's national team before retiring.

At the age of 17, already six feet two and 200 pounds, Aggie transferred from Brandon Wheat Kings to the junior Quebec Citadels as a replacement for Jean Beliveau, who was moving to the senior Quebec Aces.

Hailed as a potential Gordie Howe, Aggie left the tight finances of the family home in Winnipeg for the then sky-high salary of $7,000 a year and $2,000 in bonuses.

"When I stepped off the plane in Quebec I was wearing a leather jacket and those zoot-suit pants with the baggy knees. The Citadels people came to pick me up in a limousine and walked right past me. They had to ask the stewardess which passenger was Kukulowicz."

He was given his first tryout with New York at 18, scoring his first pro goal in his first pro game, against Chicago. He joined the Rangers at 19, while still of junior age, and the columnists speculated that he was taking a salary cut to do it.

When he talks about it now, he tends to recall the humorous moments—like the time in one of his first games when he fell for one of the oldest tricks in the business.

"We were playing in Montreal and we were ahead 4-3—one of the few times New York was beating the Canadiens.

AGGIE KUKULOWICZ

"Near the end there was a faceoff in our end zone and Montreal had Rocket Richard and Bert Olmstead on, with Elmer Lach taking the faceoff against me.

"Red Storey was the referee, and just before he let the puck go, Lach called out to me, "Hey rookie, your lace is undone? I looked down just as Storey dropped the puck. Bang, they scored and that was the game."

Aggie was sure Ranger coach Frank Boucher would can him, but when he explained what had happened, Boucher laughed so hard Aggie thought he would choke.

Down for a spell with Saskatoon in the Western pro league during his second season with the New York organization, Aggie was checked from behind and catapulted into the goalpost. He spent six months in hospital with severe internal injuries.

He recovered gradually and was traded to Detroit. Aggie says now that although he stayed two seasons with the Red Wing organization, he sensed at the time he had "lost the fine edge" of his play because of the injury.

In all, he went nine years in pro hockey—alternating among the Rangers and Red Wings and their WHL affiliates in Vancouver, Saskatoon, Seattle and Edmonton.

Later, as an amateur, he played with the Allan Cup champion Winnipeg Maroons and then the nationals, touring the Soviet Union and finishing up in the world championships at Tampere, Finland.

Through the years, Aggie had been working part-time for Air Canada in Winnipeg and he signed on with them for good when he retired.

Aggie's interest in hockey hasn't had a chance to flag in Moscow. Apart from constant discussions about the game, he has been drafted onto a Canadian embassy team which plays informal weekly matches. Typically, he often spends time giving tips to young Soviet players at the rink.

He also keeps a sharp eye on the Soviet Nationals. He feels their 10-month-long season provides them with first-rate conditioning, and he finds the Russians are sharp passers and hard skaters.

But he still thinks an NHL team could clobber them.

"The fellows in the NHL make much better use of their scoring chances and they're much tougher on checking. Even if they played international rules, it wouldn't make any difference."

Despite the drawbacks, he is frequently exuberant about his posting here.

"It's a tremendous experience," Aggie said. "Here we are in one of the great capitals of the world, with a chance to talk to the people and see their country and get to know them.

"Not many people get an opportunity like this."

Stunting Plane Grazes Truck

SARNIA (CP) — A police search around Sarnia has failed to trace a small plane which buzzed a truck several times Monday and finally grazed it.

Truck driver Gerald Villeneuve said he was returning from Bright's Grove, 12 miles northeast of here when a plane doing stunts swooped down on him several times and on its final pass struck his roof with its wing-tip. It was forced to oncoming car off the road, he said.

Constable Frank Bullivant of the provincial police said that visits to Sarnia, Forest and Petrolia and airstrips had turned up no clues. It could have been from across the border in the United States and returned home in five minutes, he added.

Strictly Personal

Our 'Morality' Irrational

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

While in New York not long ago, one of the plays I went to see was "Scuba Duba," described by its author as a "tense comedy"! One of the most tense moments occurred when a female member of the cast descended a staircase with a totally bare bosom.

A little gasp went through the audience — I almost said a titter — as the actress stood around chatting with other members of the cast. Then, innocuently carrying a glass of milk in her hand, she ascended the staircase and disappeared from view.

What was interesting about this singular event on the Broadway stage was not the initial reaction of the audience but its subsequent indifference. After the first momentary shock, she might as well have been covered with a Mother Hubbard for all the attention she was paid.

This was only further proof to my mind, that cultural taboos keep alive the very elements they seek to suppress. Despite the loose sexuality of our culture in some respects, in other respects we are almost pathologically inconsistent — and the female breast is certainly a prime symptom of our irrational "morality."

In more primitive — and healthier — cultures, the breast is an organ of lactation and little else. It is for feeding infants, and may be attractive or unattractive, depending on the condition of the body. But it is not regarded as a secondary sex characteristic.

In Western society — and most hysterically in America — the breast has become the primary sexual symbol. Even "acting" careers have been based on it. Mammary measurements are cited in the entertainment columns, much like stock market quotations on the financial page.

And, of course, a multi-million dollar industry has sprung up (or out) devoted to the synthetic enhancement of the bosom.

Yet, within 30 seconds on the stage, that actress' breasts assumed no more importance than her elbows or her shoulder blades. The audience was caught up in the dialogue in the plot and action; she could have sprouted a third breast, and hardly any one would have noticed, so quickly did we become accustomed to the exposure.

It is a peculiar characteristic of the Western world to identify the degree of nudity with a corresponding degree of "immorality" — when, of course, there is no correlation between the two. A nudist colony, for instance, is the most depressingly hygienic and anti-erotic place on earth. If we all walked around naked, sex would take its proper place as the funny, awkward, sometime thing it really is.

Sergeant Injured In Mishap

PICTON (Staff) — Sgt. Brian Connoly, 30, of 16 London Ave., Camp Picton, was seriously injured in a one-car accident about 8:40 p.m. Friday.

Connoly was rushed by ambulance to Armed Forces Hospital, Barriefield, suffering concussion, facial lacerations and other undetermined injuries.

The accident occurred on County Road 22 near the Picton Army Camp married quarters.

OPP of the Picton detachment said the late model car rolled over several times coming to rest on its roof and the occupant, Connoly, who was alone in the car at the time of the accident, was thrown clear of the vehicle.

Damage to the automobile was estimated by police at $1,500.

Orangeville Man Is Saved By New Cover Around Heart

ORANGEVILLE, Ont. (CP) — An Orangeville man who's heart was failing had seriously forced him to stop work four years ago now puts in a full working day and feels he lives a normal life.

Veryle White, 44, had had two heart attacks before undergoing a pioneer operation by Dr. Arthur M. Vineberg of Montreal's Royal Victoria Horsital.

Mr. White says the operation involved stripping his heart of its covering tissue, replacing it with tissue taken from his intestines.

He was on the operating table for 10 hours.

Mr. White, partner in an Orangeville supermarket, said he was suffering from angina and "I knew I was deteriorating fast."

Mr. White suffered his first heart attack in 1960 at the age of 37 and had another four years later. He was operated on Sept. 8, 1965.

By Sept. 30, he was able to go home, and by the middle of December he was able to start light work at the grocery store. Three months later he resumed working full days.

Councillor Appointed Town Clerk

PICTON (Staff) — Town Council adopted a motion at Monday night's regular meeting to appoint Councillor Andrew Jarvis to the vacant position of Clerk-Treasurer for the Town of Picton.

The move followed the resignation of Douglas Perry, who resigned the job in favor of the office of Clerk-Treasurer for the counties of Lennox-Addington. The new post for Mr. Jarvis, who has been on Town Council for 18 years, becomes effective May 1st.

Mr. Jarvis told council Monday night that he had to do a great deal of "Soul Searching" before making his decision to apply for the position. "I appreciate," he said, "the confidence my colleagues in council have placed in me, and I will do everything I can to continue to inspire that confidence." "It will be a difficult job," he said, "to follow Mr. Perry." Mayor H. J. McFarland expressed his best wishes for both Mr. Jarvis and Mr. Perry in their respective jobs. "Mr. Jarvis," he said, "will be difficult to replace." "I don't think," continued His Worship, "that there is anyone, who has done more for the taxpayer on this council, we have leaned on your advice for over the years." "I am glad," the Mayor added, "that my council was unanimous in its decision to pass a bylaw for you to become Clerk-Treasurer of the Town."

Best wishes and congratulations were also personally expressed by Mayor McFarland and each member of council to Douglas Perry.

Mayor McFarland said of Mr. Perry, "I don't think we could have hired a better man for the job. The money that he has saved the ratepayers has meant a lot to the town." Mr. Perry has helped me tremendously and I'm sure the chairmen of the various committees will agree with me that Mr. Perry has always devoted his help most willingly. Mr. Perry has also been a wonderful citizen, involved with the arena commission and sports he has taken a prominent place in community life and will be sadly missed."

SPACE WEATHER FORECAST

MOSCOW (AP) — A joint French-Soviet communications experiment stretching over the northern and southern hemispheres has been started to gath er data needed to forecast conditions for flights of space ships and rockets. Scientific teams are linked by teletype over a 9,311-mile span between the far northern Soviet village of Sogra, near Archangel, and the French Kerguelen Islands, southeast of Africa in Antarctica.

South Vietnam's 'Guided' Press Increasingly Critical of U.S.

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnam's press, closely censored and guided by the Saigon government, is showing up these days with more articles critical of Americans.

Part of the campaign appears to result from the Viet Cong lunar new year offensive. The shock and surprise of that onslaught resulted in a stirring of sharp criticism on both sides — U.S. and South Vietnamese.

The trend of the campaign is being pointed up by a columnist in the Saigon Daily News, one of the country's two English-language newspapers.

The column, called Slices of Life, is written under the pen name Van Minh. He cites a "series of virulent articles" in the Vietnamese language newspaper Cong Chung.

The paper has asserted that the U.S. commitment in South Vietnam is intended to uphold the "interests and prestige of the United States rather than those of the people of Vietnam."

Van Minh wrote, "Van Minh himself now is writing a series of columns under the general heading "U.S. Mistakes in Vietnam." The third one appeared Sunday. It was free of any of the white spaces that mark the hand of the government censor. The first two contained some deletions.

Van Minh wrote that "the general feeling among most Americans here is that most Vietnamese are corrupt, undisciplined or irresponsible." He said he agreed that "this society, which includes myself as well, is rotten beyond imagination," but added:

"What I wonder, however: Is that whether the Vietnamese hold the monopoly of this rottenness, and whether our American 'advisers' are immune from such undesirable moral deficiencies."

Van Minh has been critical of dealings on the black market, rental practices, and what he called "complete disregard for the Vietnamese law" on the part of many Americans. He said the latter includes things ranging from traffic violations to encouraging Vietnamese children to run away from home.

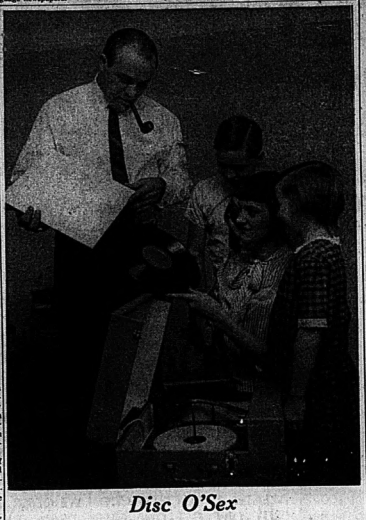
Ken Wormald New President Of Rotary Club

Kenneth Wormald has been elected president of Belleville Rotary Club for the incoming 1968-69 Rotary year.

An executive of Mead Johnson, Mr. Wormald succeeds James Marker on July 1.

Other officers for the 1968-69 period are: vice-president, Bob Lansing; secretary, Stewart Robertson; treasurer, Al Cameron; directors, Linton Read, Bob Ord, Bill McKay, Adam Sicker.

At Monday's meeting of Rotary in the Hotel Quinte members discussed a number of projects for the club's 50th Charter Day program in two years' time. One is the compiling of a club history by Nick Mika. Extension of the club's work on behalf of crippled children is another possibility.



Courtland Miller, former member and president of the club addressed members, recalling incidents and anecdotes from earlier days.

Department In Need of New Pumper

PICTON (Staff) — Picton's Fire and Emergency Committee is shopping around for a new fire truck. A recommendation for a new or good used pumper is expected to be included in the committee's budget requisition for this year.

Council withheld approval of the expenditure on its original presentation in February pending budget sessions. The estimate for a new truck at the time was $15,000 to $18,000.

Reeve Bernard Hepburn, chairman of the committee, said they will be soliciting possible prices for a new truck from various sources. Representatives of the committee have made one trip to Montreal so far to investigate possibilities.

Disc O'Sex

E. A. (Al) Yetman and his family prepare to play a sex education record for the two children — Randy, 10, and Sharon, 6. Mr. Yetman had the records produced from tape recordings he made for the two children after he failed to find an easy-to-understand sex education program for them. Mr. Yetman sold 1,000 copies of the records within a month and he says the demand for them continues. (CP Photo)

These orders are identical, one cost $6.81 less Why?

These identical orders were shopped on Tuesday, March 19th in Metropolitan Toronto. The one purchased at a conventional chain store totalled $40.29 — the other purchased at Food City came to $33.48, a saving of $6.81. The items were identical brands and sizes — no private label products were included. Meats and produce were of identical quality and weight. The items selected would make up a typical family shopping list for a week.

When we say it's possible to save up to 15% at Food City — we mean it, but the only way you can be convinced is by trying a comparison shopping test of your own.

P.S. If you are interested, we would be only too happy to send you the complete list of items and prices in the above orders.

Opposition Sees 'Chaos of Problems' From Plan for County School Boards

TORONTO (CP) — Opposition critics predicted Tuesday that government rigidity in consolidating the province's school boards along county borders will create a "chaos of problems" that will prevent the quality of education it is seeking.

Speakers for both the Liberal and New Democratic parties said government lack of flexibility also will create difficulties that will come back to haunt it when regional government is developed.

"The inflexibility of this government is to be condemned," said Liberal Leader Robert Nixon. "You cannot persist in the view that county boundaries must be applied across the province. It will not work."

Use of the county unit was described by Walter Pitman (NDP —Peterborough) as the "most absurd aspect" of the bill to amalgamate school boards, which was before the legislature for second reading. Mr. Nixon has a motion before the house to send the bill to a standing committee for study and public debate.

The bill, to reorganize school jurisdictions, was announced in a speech by Premier Robarts in Galt Nov.nit, 1967.

The consolidation program involves replacing 1,012 elementary and secondary school boards with about 80 divisional boards of education.

In southern Ontario, the boards are to be based on the county system, with 32 boards to be designated for other areas of Northern Ontario.

Metropolitan Toronto, Hamilton, Ottawa, London and Windsor are to keep their existing school boards. Only separate school boards and a few public boards in isolated areas will remain at the elementary level.

Mr. Davis said the purpose was to improve the educational system and give children a greater measure of educational equality.

Mr. Nixon said Tuesday that neither goal will be accomplished by the bill in its present form.

Edward Good (L—Waterloo North) said the bill should at least have enough flexibility to allow for departure from the principle of one board to each county in cases where population growth indicated one board would be unwieldly.

Mr. Good said Waterloo County should have at least two boards and possibly three, and suggested parallel situations exist in four or five other counties.

Elmer Sopha (L—Sudbury) suggested the bill's framers deliberately tried to obscure the meaning of two tax sections dealing with payment of school taxes.

He said the sections should clearly set out the duty of all corporate citizens, including mining companies, to pay taxes and should contain a provision allowing taxpayers in one municipality to challenge possible under-assessments in a neighboring municipality within a school division.

Elie Martel (NDP—Sudbury East) a former teacher, agreed companies such as International Nickel should pay full municipal taxes, and criticized the government for not consulting teachers or trustees before bringing in the consolidation program.

The first government backbencher to speak was Alex Carruthers (PC — Durham) who suggested Mr. Nixon should withdraw his motion and join in supporting the principles of the bill.

Syl Apps (PC—Kingston and the Islands) said the program wouldn't be implemented without some problems.

"Certainly there are going to be problems," he said. "There always are problems in making a program like this work."

Norris Whitney (PC—Prince Edward-Lennox) was "100 per cent in support of the minister in introducing this legislation." He said county boards would help promote understanding between rural and urban people.

R. M. Johnston (PC — St. Catharines) said the opposition members had shown in the debate that they were "bogged down in parochialism and dragging their feet."

The debate was adjourned by Mr. Davis at 11:40 p.m. after NDP leader Donold MacDonald made a plea for him to give serious consideration to the Nixon motion.

Plugging the Gap

Philippe Bey, director of France's new information service in Quebec, says the people of Quebec and France don't really know each other. Mr. Bey, shown with his assistant Vincent Piola, (left), came from France to organize "documentation centres" in Quebec City and Montreal with the aim of plugging the "information gap" between the two peoples. (CP Photo)

Grossman Says Shulman Wrong

TORONTO (CP) — Allan Grossman, Ontario reform institutions minister, Tuesday denied having misinformed the public concerning detention in Toronto's Don Jail of persons suspected of mental illness.

In a statement of privilege to the legislature, he accused Dr. Morton Shulman (NDP—Toronto High Park) of making unsubstantiated statements and not following the "proper and honorable approach" in seeking information.

In a letter reply to questions in the house from Dr. Shulman, however, Mr. Grossman said one man had spent three months in the jail's observation ward under "constant supervision for his own protection" although he was not suspected of being mentally ill.

Elvis Asks for Criticism in Latest Films

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Is Elvis Presley asking for more criticism?

When the Memphis rock 'n' roll pioneer burst upon the scene 12 years ago, girls shrieked and swooned—and some editorials and sermons denounced his hip gyrations as "lewd and obscene." Cameramen were told to focus above his waist.

Presley explained: "When I sing, I just start jumping."

But that image of a swinging "Elvis the Pelvis" gradually faded into one of a clean-cut, clean-living youth. Helping the transition were army service, religious recordings including his million-seller album How Great Thou Art and, perhaps paradoxically, his movies.

Says a Paramount director: "He has never made a dirty picture." An MGM spokesman has said: "They never go to bed in a Presley picture."

But now, in his two latest films, they do go to bed.

In Stay Away, Joe, dialogue implies that Joan Blondell, 58, his "bed is the-older-woman-in-his-life." She breaks up on the-bed romp—clothed—involving Elvis and pretty teen-ager Quentin Dean.

In Live a Little, Love a Little, now being filmed, he has several "dammits" and a "how-the-hell" or two in his dialogue. He arises from a bed recently shared, the plot makes clear, with shapely Michele Carey.

Isn't all this inviting new blasts from the Far Rightwing? Elvis chuckled. "I dunno," he said. "I was wondering about that, too." Still he claimed: "I don't think I'm changing my image. I think you have to mature a little bit."

The studio production department forbids long interviews with the millionaire singer-actor because he's in 90 per cent of the scenes. From associates you seek clues to the continuing popularity that has brought phonograph-records sales of more than 100,000,000 copies and stardom in, to date, 28 movies.

Norman Taurog, directing his ninth Presley film: "Elvis has matured. His outlook on life has changed. He enjoys his work. reads quite a bit and analyzes a script better than ever."

Producer Doug Laurence: "I don't know where this boy's capabilities end."

Presley emerges from his big trailer dressing-room. He's 33, tall, with smoky face, polite manners, soft voice and a thatch of shiny black hair that erupts backward with no part. He wears a red turtleneck sweater, light, cream-colored pants and black boots, smokes a thin cigar and carries a bottle of soft drink.

And what does the onetime truck driver himself think his appeal is?

"It beats me," says Elvis. "I've had a lot of loyal fans."

School Library, Budget Hike Are Approved

NAPANEE — Napanee council Monday night approved a $9,000 increase in the public school budget as well as a $109,000 library and health room addition.

Reeve Glenn C. Herrington told the 1968 requisition of $109,470 was "being very fair with the town," and he commended school trustees for "a job well done".

He supported the addition of a library this year rather than after the county board of education comes into effect.

Councillor Donald Reid argued that the increasing cost of education could be stopped on the local level. He said he approved the 1968 requisition, but objected to the additional library expense. He claimed Napanee also needs a youth centre, a home for senior citizens, an industrial park.

School Board chairman Cecil Baker, who attended the meeting with the six board members, said a library is "an essential part of today's curriculum". He said he felt the project should begin now "as we're going to pay for other libraries after the county board of education assumes control".

Former board chairman James Madden explained the debenture for a library and health room could be delayed until 1969, thus lowering the town's share of the cost.

Other schools in the county will have to be brought up to the standards of Napanee he said, leaving Napanee the last one to have a library.

Hees to Speak At Association Annual Meet

NAPANEE — George Hees, Progressive Conservative member of the Federal House of Northumberland, will speak at the annual meeting of the Progressive Conservative Association for Prince Edward - Lennox on Wednesday evening.

A. Gordon Lockwood of Napanee, federal member for the riding, and Norris Whitney of Consecon, provincial member, will also address the meeting, which is being held in the Memorial building at 8:30 p.m.

Officers for the association will be elected, and the meeting will include, also a discussion period.

Church Groups

ST. MARK'S ACW

DESERONTO — Mrs. Robert Tucker presided for the March meeting of the evening branch of the Anglican Church Women of St. Mark's Church. Mrs. John Pomfret, the secretary, not only read the minutes but also presented the report of the treasurer, Mrs. C. A. Sergeant, who was ill. Mrs. A. F. Dowdell gave a reading from "The Lovely Message".

The women learned of two meetings of interest, one a 23 an all-day workshop to be held in St. Luke's Church in Kingston. The annual meeting, to which all the branches will be invited, to be held in Christ Church in Belleville May 7 and 8.

The ACW has received permission to hold their rummage sale April 20 in the vacant store in the Moody Block.

"Did they deliver the piece of sculpture I bought today?"

Recreation Director Appointed

NAPANEE — A recreation director has been hired by Napanee council at no cost to local taxpayers for the next two years.

Keith Shoeur, a 24-year-old qualified director, will start work here in two or three weeks. Council approved a salary of $6,000 plus a $200 increase in 1969.

The proposal to hire a sports director began in January 1967, when R. Bruce McPherson, president of Gibbard Furniture Co. Ltd., offered to pay up to $3,500 a year for two years for a qualified director. Provincial grants would have enabled council to hire a director in the $4,800 to $5,600 range.

At a meeting Monday night Mr. McPherson increased his financial offer to allow council to pay the $6,000 salary requested by Mr. Shoeur.

"I feel, at the end of two years, Mr. Shoeur will have shown how worthwhile his duties are and people will want to carry on with the position," Mr. McPherson said.

Mayor Lorne A. Smart stressed the new director's job will be to co-ordinate athletic and social activities already in progress. He will be offered an office and part-time secretary.

Mini-ballgown

Petula Moves Uptown

NEW YORK (AP)—Petula Clark, an English singer, may have been launched with Downtown, her first big hit record in North America, but in the course of a few years she has moved uptown fast.

Her first television special on NBC Tuesday night was a lavish, bright production, an hour that wasted little time on inane between-numbers chatter and concentrated on music, especially songs that ranged in mood from gay to pensive. The show was filled with visual excitement, swirls of color, imaginative sets and costumes.

Miss Clark, in a series of eye-catching dresses from mini-length to ballgown, moved with easy grace and informality through it all. She is an attractive performer.

Deseronto Now Has Newspaper

DESERONTO — "A town with the potential of Deseronto needs a newspaper," claims 24-year-old Robert (Bob) McKeeton of Stirling.

So he began his eight-page offset newspaper for the town.

The Deseronto and Skyway Seaway, with a circulation of 2,000 is printed in Frankford. It is mailed weekly to the town's trading area: Marysville, Shannonville, Lonsdale and Read, as well as Northport and Demorestville in Prince Edward County.

Mr. McArton learned printing at Ottawa Psychological Institute and has worked for the Tweed News and the Marmora Herald. Until he decided to start the Deseronto newspaper, he operated his own commercial printing shop in Stirling.

OMB Approves School Addition

DESERONTO — At its Monday night meeting, the Deseronto Town Council learned that the Ontario Municipal Board had given tentative approval for the erection of the much-needed addition to the public school. The hesitant approval is coupled with the proviso that the addition, including building, furnishings and all equipment, must not exceed $250,000.

Since architects' plans have already been drawn up, the school board can now proceed to call for tenders.

The addition will contain an auditorium, which can double as a gymnasium, a special education room, a library, a guidance room, a health room and a kindergarten room.

In September grade three was moved to the basement hall of St. Mark's Anglican Church to make way for a special education class in the school itself.

Flunking Insurance Exam Can Be Help

By Dr. Joseph G. Molner

Dear Dr. Molner: After thinking an insurance exam because of "high blood pressure," my husband, 36, had a complete physical by our own doctor and was told to lose 10 pounds and restrict the use of salt.

He lost 30 pounds in two years and his pressure became normal, but he has just flunked another insurance medical. Shouldn't he be getting medication in addition to dieting?

Since he is so young to be starting with high blood pressure, does this mean serious trouble sooner rather than later in life?

He has a relatively placid disposition but goes a hectic pace at work. There is a long history of heart trouble in his family. What would you say as to long range prognosis? — Mrs. N. V.

Not to be a Pollyanna about things, I still can't resist saying what often is the truth: Sometimes flunking an insurance examination makes a man start taking care of his health!

Your husband has lost weight, begun watching his salt intake, and evidently brought his blood pressure down to a safer level — all of which he ought to have done anyway, of course, but he did not until he got the bad news about his examination.

Actual health and an examiner's report are not always synonymous however much we all — including the insurance companies — wish it could be so. For one thing, blood pressure may be elevated because of anxiety at the time of an examination, yet decline to a lower level when one's own doctor is taking the reading.

You take it for granted that he flunked his second exam (and the first) solely on the basis of his blood pressure reading. That may not be the case. His family history and other factors may have been taken into consideration. And to look at things logically you must agree that your husband did let his weight and pressure get out of hand. How is the examining doctor to know that he won't do so again? The examining doctor's responsibility is to the company, and he has to report what he finds.

Your husband's own doctor's responsibility is to your husband — to help him keep weight down, and the treatments under control. It may well be that your husband, right now, does not need medication for his blood pressure. But it is important for him to stay that way.

Prognosis? I couldn't say, except that so long as your husband minds his doctor and watches his weight the prognosis is certainly better than it otherwise would be. Leaving aside his losing out on the insurance — you or husband's health, happiness and life expectancy may all be much improved by your having be flunked and began taking better care of himself.

* * *

Dear Dr. Molner: Could you give me some information on the change of sex operation? Where must one go to learn whether such an operation is needed? What would be the cost, etc.? — C. L.

A special clinic at Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore has had the most public notice in this regard, but similar work has been in progress at some other major medical centres for a good many years, little known by the public. Best way to get in touch with any of them is by being referred by your own physician. I cannot give you cost figures which, in any event, would vary widely depending on individual circumstances.

Note to E.M.: It is possible, in diabetes, for the urine to show no sugar even though the blood sugar may be too high. This is common in persons over 50. There can be a difference in the level at which sugar will "spill over" in the kidneys and thus appear in a urine test.

OFF THE RECORD — BY ED REED — MR. TWEEDY — by Ned Riddle

Britain to Lower Voting Age But Only by A Single Year

LONDON (CP) — Politically-minded youth—by all signs a diminishing band in Britain—has received a dusty answer from the politicians to long-standing agitation for votes at 18.

Although the politicians themselves had led the agitation, an all-party parliamentary committee with a Labor majority recommended that the voting age should be lowered by just one year to 20.

The proposal was startling, since both the Labor and Liberal parties are on record as favoring votes at 18 while the Conservatives have proposed lowering the age of franchise without specifying how much.

The committee, however, offered no public clue to its reasoning, just a bare record that only three of 25 approved votes at 18. The Labor government has promised to schedule a debate on the subject some time.

The decision has been attacked by some youth leaders and a few oldsters as yet another example of out-of-touch adult attitudes and dishonest politics.

Des Wilson, trustee of the government-propped Young Volunteer Force and one of the few 1968-born Angry Young Men in evidence, foresees "a rebellion by youth that will be more bitter and more effective than anything yet experienced."

Wilson cites a recent drumroll of student uprisings as evidence of the approaching armageddon.

However, others would say youth's rebellion is already under-way in a quieter but perhaps more sinister way. The quiet revolt expresses itself either as a shoulder-shrug of indifference to the whole adult scene or outright disdain for the malodorous game of politics and its participants.

The Labor party has long since virtually disbanded its Young Socialists as a radical embarrassment. The Young Tories is largely a string of clubs for young social pushers. The vocal Young Liberals affront old hands in their recruit-hungry party. Only the Celtic nationalists in Scotland and Wales seem to be attracting young people, a fact seen as further evidence of British youth's negative outlook on the established system.

Votes at 18, therefore, might do no more than add roughly 2,500,000 abstainers to the electoral roll. As one miniskirted dolly said of the parliamentary proposal: "Can't wait till I'm 20 so I can refuse to vote for any of them."

Even the articulate minority cited as rebellion fodder seem preoccupied by their own wants.

Three days after the politicians came up with a timid rejoinder to their own past proposals of votes at 18, a national student rally gathered in Trafalgar Square—the scene not long ago of almost weekly youthful protests against working-class poverty and other social ills. Now, however, the students were protesting against state stinginess to students.

For the young who even now maintain a flicker of interest in politics, the recommendation for votes at 18 is simply another political turnround.

The cynics among them see it plain: Labor was all for votes at 18 when it believed the young were mainly pro-Labor. Now that the party is much less certain about that —with sound reason—it has lost interest.

Adding to the sense of cynicism is awareness that just last summer a government-appointed committee under High Court Justice Sir John Lawt urged that the legal age of majority be lowered to 18 from 21.

Recommending that adulthood should begin at 18 in matters of contracts, property and marriage—a proposal apparently consigned to the parliamentary shelf—the committee added:

"We have had impressive evidence that the young are usually quite capable of conducting their own affairs with sense and honesty."

Which is more, the young might add, than you can say for many grown-up politicians.

Dual Exhaust Systems Of Little or No Value

— By RAY STAPLEY

Several readers have asked me whether the installation of a dual exhaust system on their automobile will help it haust would improve performance and economy.

Engines would perhaps be more efficient without an exhaust system and the "built-in" back pressure that must come with it, but imagine the racket if exhaust noises were not controlled. I have heard it said that a dual exhaust system is a worthwhile way to reduce back pressure and increase performance and gasoline mileage. Dual exhaust systems are fine when designed into the car by the manufacturer, who usually specifies them for large high performance engines, but since the standard single exhaust system is capable of handling the car's exhaust at speeds right up to the top of the clock, there should be no difficulty coping with average highway speed limits.

Years ago I spent a lot of time and money experimenting with dual exhaust on my own car. Once the novelty wore off and after going through the "wishful thinking" stage, I finally faced up to the fact that there was no appreciable increase in power or economy. Initial expense of the switch, plus increased maintenance costs, can run in to a lot of money and a considerable saving in fuel would be necessary to warrant this investment.

Before trying a switch, here is a suggestion for those interested in maximum performance at top speeds. Do an acceleration test from zero to 60 m.p.h. using a stop-watch to record your time, then disconnect your exhaust muffler from the exhaust pipe and repeat the test. On smaller stees and V-eights I doubt that there will be any worthwhile improvement.

Since the manufacturers have extended their warranties in recent years, it seems reasonable to assume that they would install an exhaust system to minimize back pressure on any given power plant to avoid premature engine damage.

Jeane Dixon's Horoscope

For April 4

Your birthday today: For you the coming year is mainly a period of preparation for major changes coming into effect during the year 1969-70. Self-improvement and educational programs are favored, almost essential. Vocational activities are pursued with creative enthusiasm; if your job doesn't provide satisfactory expression, a better one should be sought. Today's natives tend to concern themselves with speed.

ARIES (Mar. 21 — Apr. 19): Do not be surprised by crisis conditions at your job today. The results of previous performance will help you cope with the new problems. Take time to think through your situation and plan for tomorrow.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 — May 20): Emotional stresses arise today over business efforts. Sales or purchases should be governed by facts rather than sentiment.

GEMINI (May 21 — June 20): Today holds no special challenge or miraculous opportunity. Put in a good day's work, and make peace with your friends and relatives this evening. It's a great time for settling differences.

CANCER (June 21 — July 23): If you do nothing to upset the neighbors and bystanders, you can have a lively and satisfying day in social activities and creative experiments. Pursue romance tonight.

LEO (July 23 — Aug. 22): You pay the piper today for recent dancing. It is better to set life up promptly, as costs are expected to mount soon. Check your home for security, fire hazards, and the like.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 — Sept. 22): Improving relationships could be spoiled with an overdone demand for personal freedom or total control over the situation.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 — Oct. 22): Payments may arrive from old or distant sources today. Avoid trying a new route or visits to strange places. Your work and your health require your critical attention today. Be prepared for unexpected problems.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23—Nov. 21): Today it is essential to be conservative in actions and in social relations. Gambling or ostentatious expense achieve no thing but waste and added obligations. Review your budget and your check stubs and give thought to some definite program of future thrift.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 — Dec. 21): If you must eventually go it alone, this is not the day to announce it. Keep on making plans and putting away the resources you will need later.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 — Jan. 19): If you follow temptations today there will surely be unfavorable comment. Put your job first and be discreet about social adventures. You can still have a lot of fun. Travel is not favored.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 — Feb. 18): Subtle error or misunderstanding plagues business efforts today. Be patient and take it straight from the beginning. Take the time to do something nice for your mate.

PISCES (Feb. 19 — Mar. 20): Today is easier if you can take for granted that people may seem aloof or detached. Travel is favored, particularly where there is strong emotional motivation for the trip.

Questions and Answers On Highway Travel

Ontario Motor League
Eastern Ontario Club

QUESTION: I am accompanying my husband on a business trip to Philadelphia and will have a great deal of time to sight-see on my own. Could you tell me some of the places of interest I might like to visit and something of the history.?

ANSWER: This old and historic city has many fascinating and interesting sights. We can not begin to give you a full list in this column but will try to point out a few.

The Birthplace of the Nation, Philadelphia has retained much of the charm of its colonial origin even while developing into one of the great industrial cities of the world. Narrow cobble-stone streets may be found within a few blocks of the business district.

The "city of brotherly love" was settled in 1681 by Capt. William Markham and a small band of colonists sent out by William Penn. Penn followed the next year and laid out streets and named the city. By 1685 ninety ships had brought 7,200 people to the new settlement. The first Continental Congress met there in September 1774 and the second the following year. There Washington accepted the command of the army and the Declaration of Independence was adopted.

In 1777 the city was taken by the British, and Washington and the Continental Army spent the bitter winter of 17-77-8 at Valley Forge, now the Valley Forge State Park, 21 miles west of Philadelphia. After the Revolution, Philadelphia was the seat of the Federal Government. The Constitution was adopted and the first mint established.

INDEPENDENCE NATIONAL HISTORICAL PARK

Buildings in Philadelphia's Independence Square and others throughout the city which are closely associated with the Revolution and the establishment of the United States Government are included in this park. The main park area extends from 2nd to 6th street between Walnut and Chestnut streets.

Christ Church and Cemetery Gloria Dei (Old Swedes') Church St. George's Methodist Church, Old St. Mary's Church and Deshler-Morris House are elsewhere in the city. Visitors may obtain further information in the west wing of Independence Hall.

Elfreth's Alley, north of Arch Street between Front and 2nd St., is one of the many narrow streets bordered with quaint restored houses which have been standing since William Penn's time. Elfreth's Alley Museum is at 126 Elfreth's Alley; information about the buildings may be obtained here.

Society Hill was named for the Free Society of Traders. Extending from Front to 8th Street between Walnut and Lombard Sts. Society Hill is today the scene of a virtually complete urban development project of controlled restoration, rehabilitation and renewal. Progress blends with the past, and on the same street with modern 30-storey apartments, may be seen the restoration of an open-air, middle - of - the - street market - place built in 1745. Hundreds of historic homes have been restored.

Betsy Ross House, 239 Arch Street, where the first American Flag was made, is open 9.30 to 5.15 daily except Dec. 25, free.

U.S.S. Olympia at Pier 11 North was Commodore Dewey's flagship during Spanish-American War. Now a Museum. Admission 50 cents.

Aquarama, 3300 S. Broad Street, contains an unusual cross-section of sea and fresh-water creatures. Of special interest are the only North American pilot whales in captivity and the performing porpoise show held daily. Open 9.30 to 5 daily May through mid-Sept.; rest of year Wednesday through Saturday 9 to 4.30, Sunday and holidays 10 to 5. Admission $1.75.

There are many art Galleries, Universities and other interesting spots, including Rutes Museum of Wedgewood and Morris Arboretum. If you are a member of the Ontario Motor League we would strongly advise you to phone in for the Mid-Eastern Tour Book. Otherwise, contact the Chamber of Commerce or other tourist information centre when you get there.

REVIEW SOCKED

BUDAPEST (AP) — Hungarosee, a hit revue featuring long-legged beauties and light political banter at a Budapest variety theatre, got a whacking from the Hungarest Communist party journal Nepszabadsag, which called it revolting to public good taste. It said the title calls to mind export company names like Hungarofilm and Hungarotrust and added that Hungarian girls "are not exportable items like goose liver or snail stew."

Liberal Race Almost Over Before Start

By DON SOUTTER
Managing Editor

OTTAWA — The Liberals went to great pains — and millions of dollars to correct all the faults the Conservatives evidenced in their convention last year.

They did a great job.

But they forgot only one thing — to have a genuine contest for the leadership.

On Thursday, before the convention has really got under way, Canada's most fantastic political extravaganza was all but over.

Swift developments Wednesday tossed Pierre Elliott Trudeau into the driver's seat.

First Mitchell Sharp quit the race and moved his hard-core supporters to the side of the Justice Minister.

Then Newfoundland's Joey Smallwood capped the cake by pledging his island's 84 votes to Trudeau.

It turned convention rooms into a chaotic state and brought charges of deals and power politics from at least one candidate.

Consumer Affairs Minister John Turner set the stage for the only possible move that might stop the Trudeau swingers when he charged "power brokers" and the "backroom boys" were manoeuvring to decide the party's leadership convention.

It was the most outspoken criticism of the three-month campaign to date. But it isn't likely to do much good.

The Hellyer, Winters, Martin and Turner camps were still talking confidently. But it began to sound like the little boy walking past the graveyard at night.

And it could be just that. Unless they get together to manoeuvre a "fourth-ballot" movement the convention will be all over by the second ballot.

It will be an anticlimactic Saturday afternoon if the movement doesn't begin today. Fears that the convention will conflict with the National Hockey League Stanley Cup telecasts have gone out the window. Now organizers are afraid it will be over in time for viewers to switch to the Saturday afternoon bowling.

However, it isn't likely to stop the circus. Trudeau jammed the Caboudere Club in Hull last night with thousands of freeloaders. He paid the mob an April Fool's joke by having only a handful of bartenders on hand to dispose his liquid hospitality.

Downtown it was a different story. Turner jammed delegates and observers into his Skyline Hotel suite and paraded orange-clad chicadees around the hotel lobby.

Allan MacEachen had pipers leading his supporters as they chanted "all the Way with Allan J."

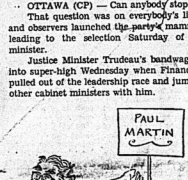
Staid Paul Martin broke the mold with a Dixieland band singing his praises. He got back into form by entertaining delegates at a coffee party.

Robert Winters' green - clad minskirts gave out thousands of "Join Us in the Winters' Circle" in hotel lobbies and corridors. In four downtown hotel hospitality suites it was cheese and wine — Canadian.

Paul Hellyer, masterminded by organizer deluxe William Lee, emulated Robert Stanfield's PC convention campaign by having the prettiest girls in town — hundreds of them — dressed in red with white straw hats.

Even the fringe runners had a bit of hoopla. One long-haired Negro man paraded around the Chateau Laurier with a Lloyd Henderson sign.

It really wasn't that far out of line. About now Henderson has just as good a chance as any of the rest of them.



Trudeau Thanks Sharp

Can Trudeau Be Stopped? Question on Every Lip

OTTAWA (CP) — Can anybody stop Pierre Elliott Trudeau?

That question was on everybody's lips today as 8,000 Liberals and observers launched the party's mammoth three-day convention leading to the selection Saturday of a new leader and prime minister.

Justice Minister Trudeau's bandwagon roared from high gear into super-high Wednesday when Finance Minister Mitchell Sharp pulled out of the leadership race and jumped aboard, bringing three other cabinet ministers with him.

A few hours later Premier Joey Smallwood announced that Newfoundland's 84 voting delegates have decided almost unanimously—and with his blessing—to back Mr. Trudeau.

"Trudeau" and "Pierre" badges began popping up everywhere.

By late Wednesday night, with main hotel lobbies still rocking with chanting Trudeau supporters, rumors of stop-Trudeau deals became a dime a dozen. Nobody in authority would confirm them.

One rumor had External Affairs Minister Paul Martin, Transport Minister Paul Hellyer and Robert Winters, the recently resigned trade minister, preparing to kick John Turner, the 38-year-old consumers affairs minister, in a bid to counteract the youthful appeal of Mr. Trudeau, 46.

The justice minister himself was the last candidate to return to Ottawa from the campaign trail, arriving by train from Montreal in mid-afternoon to a roaring welcome led by 300 girls garbed in the bright orange miniskirts that are the emblem of the Trudeau team.

But on A Moon Trip?

U.S. Super-rocket Launches Huge Satellite Despite Loss of Two Second-stage Engines

CAPE KENNEDY (CP) — The Saturn V super-rocket flung a 132-ton satellite into orbit today, despite the loss of two second-stage engines that left a question mark over whether the huge booster is ready to carry men into space late this year and to the moon in 1969.

Had astronauts been aboard today, they would have reached earth orbit—but it would have been a wrong orbit. There were speculations that had it been a manned moon mission it would have been aborted because of fuel shortage.

Flight controllers and engineers of the National Aeronautical and Space Administration, directing the flight, said, the space vehicle had gone into an abnormally elliptical orbit.

The Saturn was swinging around the earth at distances ranging from 110 to 222 miles.

NASA experts immediately began assessing the possible over-all effects of the mishap on the moon shot.

There were fears it might lead to the abandoning of the plan to put a crew of three astronauts on the third Saturn V test flight scheduled for late this year.

This would be a direct rebuttal in earth orbit of manoeuvres with the lunar module Apollo spacecraft.

But today's troubles could force the third test to be a repeat of today's unmanned flight and seriously set back U.S. hopes of putting a man on the moon before 1970.

The flight plan today called for the third stage to re-start its engine after three hours in space as I propel itself about 322,000 miles to demonstrate it can fly to lunar distances.

The Apollo 6 craft was to reach an altitude of only 13,900 miles before diving back through the atmosphere for a parachute landing in the Pacific nearly 10 hours after launching.

The monster rocket, tall as a 36-storey building and weighing a massive 3,105 tons, blazed the sky right on schedule at 7 a.m. with a staggering burst of power that shook the ground for miles around.

The first stage worked perfectly.

The second stage ignited on schedule 2½ minutes later at an altitude of nearly 40 miles.

At seven minutes 27 seconds into the flight, two of the second stages' five hydrogen-powered engines suddenly cut off about two minutes early.

As a result, the guidance system commanded the third stage to burn about two minutes longer than planned to compensate for the loss of power in the second stage. This consumed a valuable 10 tons of fuel that would have been used for restarting the engine later.

The engine failure was in contrast to the first Saturn V flight last Nov. 9 when the rocket performed perfectly and raised hopes that after one more unmanned flight, the Saturn V could be assigned to astronaut missions.

Peace Talks Next Week?

Hanoi Is Said Lifting Its Siege of Khe Sanh

LONDON (AP) — Soviet informants said today they expect preliminary Vietnam peace talks to begin in Moscow next week. They said the North Vietnamese already have assured the United States privately they will launch no major offensive if all American bombing attacks are halted.

The sources, who cannot be identified by name, said Hanoi already has begun lifting the siege of Khe Sanh as a sign of its intentions.

None of these statements could be confirmed in official Western circles.

The officials cautioned, however, against expecting an early end to the peace negotiations. They said they expected them to go for months.

Other sources recalled that 12,000 more Americans were killed in Korea while the truce talks were going on.

The Russian informants said Moscow was consulted by Hanoi before Wednesday's conditional acceptance of President Johnson's call for peace talks.

They said that in view of Peking's present relatively low influence in the North Vietnamese capital, they did not believe the Chinese were consulted either.

"What you Americans seem to find hard to realize is that North Vietnam is a sovereign nation," one Russian said.

They said they suspected the preliminary talks to get under way "very quickly, probably next week."

They said they believed the only possible sites for such talks were Moscow or Paris and that the Soviet capital has a 60-40 chance of being chosen.

Relief Force Reports Reds Are Withdrawing

SAIGON (Reuters) — The 19,000-man U.S. 1st Cavalry Division today resumed its drive below the demilitarized zone to open a road to the beleaguered marine base at Khe Sanh.

Senior U.S. officers were puzzled by the lack of resistance the relief force was meeting.

It had come within range of big North Vietnamese artillery and rocket guns in the Co Roc mountains to the west inside Laos, and the troops still had to cross the main North Vietnamese trench lines which extend to within 100 yards of the base.

The convoy on Highway 9 was moving through an area of hills and jungles on both sides of the winding road, good ambush terrain.

Intelligence officers said they had preliminary indications that major elements of the North Vietnamese force were withdrawing.

Off to Hawaii

Johnson Agrees To Direct Contacts

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has agreed to direct contacts on peace between North Vietnamese and U.S. representatives and will fly to Hawaii late tonight to discuss peace and war prospects with top American officials from Saigon.

Washington is understood to have sent a message to Hanoi informing the government of President Ho Chi Minh of U.S. readiness to meet for initial contacts on peace talks.

Officials indicated the first Hanoi-Washington contact would probably be between top U.S. and North Vietnamese diplomats in Moscow, Vientiane, Laos, or some other capital where both countries have embassies.

The first purpose, in the U.S. view, would be to set a time and place for actual talks on scaling down the war and eventually negotiating a settlement.

The situation has developed with such speed, since Johnson ordered a partial halt in the bombing of North Vietnam Sunday night, that even surprised U.S. government leaders are not sure what will happen next.

They voiced cautious optimism about peace prospects but appeared by no means certain the United States and North Vietnam can actually reach an agreement soon.

As if in response to their doubts, North Vietnam's Communist newspaper warned the United States today not to expect any concessions in return for a total bombing halt.

The paper, Nhan Dan, in a statement 18 hours after the Hanoi announcement, said Johnson's speech Sunday "and the subsequent acts of the U.S. aggressors have made it clear that the U.S. government remains obstinate and has not given up its sinister design of aggression against South Vietnam, which is manifest right in Johnson's 'limited bombing' concerning North Vietnam."

Prior to this statement—which reached Washington early today—the Washington-Hanoi agreement to talk after years of continuously expanding war was regarded in Washington as a great breakthrough toward eventually ending the conflict.

For Other Stories

Johnson announced in a brief late-afternoon television-radio appearance Wednesday that "we will establish contact with representatives of North Vietnam."

"Consultations with the government of South Vietnam and our other allies are now taking place," Johnson added.

A dangerous element, officials said privately, is the possibility of a split between the U.S. and South Vietnamese governments over how far and how fast to go in the search for peace.

In Saigon, South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu met with U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker and the envoys of five other allies to discuss Hanoi's offer.

Reaction worldwide to Hanoi's move and Johnson's follow-up was generally optimistic.

French President de Gaulle, a longtime critic of U.S. foreign policy, described curtailment of American bombing as an apparent "first step in the direction of peace."

UN Secretary-General U Thant welcomed North Vietnam's move and offered the facilities of the world body in Geneva for any peace talks.

Old Hazard, New Season

Grassfire on Russell Street was one of alarm series keeping Belleville firemen on the go yesterday. The hazard returns each year with drier weather — often sparked, say firemen, by householders burning rubbish, raked leaves during cleanup chores.

In Woodshed

Black Bear, Woman Soon Part

Huntingdon township is not generally considered to be in the hinterlands of Hastings, but Mrs. Charles Irvine, R. R. 1 Ivanhoe, is not so sure.

And with black bears finding their way into her back woodshed, she has reason to be a bit doubtful.

It all happened about 9:00 o'clock Sunday evening when Mrs. Irvine went to get some meat from the deep freeze in the back kitchen.

On entering the back kitchen Mrs. Irvine heard a noise in the adjoining woodshed. Investigating the noise she came face to face with a big black bear rummaging in her garbage can.

Both Mrs. Irvine and the bear ran — in opposite directions.

"I don't know who was the most scared," she said.

Mr. Irvine says there have been several unverified sightings of bears in his area in the past few years.

And about a year ago a bear destroyed close to $400 worth of beehives on the Irvine farm.

The bees were owned by Mr. Lewis Morton who trapped the bear and shot him.

False Information Brings Fine of $125 to Accused

Leading police on a wild goose chase is not the wisest thing to do.

In County Court this morning, John Thomas Young, 21 of Stirling was fined $125 by Magistrate T. V. Wills for giving incorrect information to the provincial police that began an investigation.

Crown Attorney John Pringle told the court that the false information given by Young to the police caused them to waste 12 hours of investigation time and drive 75 unnecessary miles.

The incident occurred Feb. 23 when Young attempted to remove rivets from a tire rim by shooting them out with a shotgun. After nine pellets rebounded into his leg Young went to Belleville General Hospital, where he was treated.

The accused then proceeded to the OPP detachment in Belleville where he told police he had been walking down the road when he heard a shot and felt something hit his leg.

After checking the area for reports of night hunters OPP constables finally questioned Earl Fraser, who works at the garage where the incident occurred. The truth came out and charges were laid against Young.

Magistrate Wills could find no logical reason for Young's misleading the police and imposed the heavy fine on the Crown's recommendation.

Air Cadets Allowed to Hold Tag Day

The Belleville Financial Appeals Review Board has approved the plans of No. 418 Wing, R.C.A.F. Association, to hold a tag day. The Association sponsors the Belleville Squadron, Royal Canadian Air Cadets, and the tag day will be held in Belleville on April 26 and 27.

The F.A.R.B. studied the program, accounts and business affairs of the sponsoring committee and considered that the activities of the air cadets were worthy of the support of the general public. The cost of operating the air cadets is partially paid by the Department of National Defence but the community is expected to provide local support as well. In the case of Belleville, this amounts to about $12 per cadet or a total of $1,000 for the 80 cadets taking training in the Armories each Wednesday evening. This amount was declared Gerald A. Wishart, F.A.R.B. Chairman, "is comparable with those paid in Canada."

Most of the air cadets will assist in the fund - raising venture by tagging in the downtown and shopping plaza areas on the Friday evening and Saturday.

This was the first application which was approved by the newly - formed F.A.R.B., and the City Council, in considering the authorization of the tag day, relied heavily on the information and recommendations provided by the F.A.R.B.

Instructive Slide Show At Camera Club

At their regular meeting on Wednesday evening Belleville Camera Club members enjoyed an instructive slide show — "How to Take Better Travel Pictures" — presented by Bob Sadak.

With people travelling more than ever before, cameras are being used in increasing numbers to record and preserve the memories and sights of far away places. Using examples of pictures along with lively commentary, this show illustrated how even simple, inexpensive equipment can be used to best advantage.

The audience was shown how changes in viewpoint, camera technique, composition and lighting can turn commonplace "snapshots" into pictures full of impact and human interest.

Following refreshments the meeting adjourned.

Police across the province are searching for these Trenton youngsters. Sandra Anderson, 15, and ten-year-old brother, Dennis, have not returned to their East Trenton home since Monday, March 25, after apparently leaving for school that morning.

No Evidence of Foul Play In Children's Disappearance

BY MAURICE SWITZER
Staff Reporter

TRENTON — It would be interesting to see how far a 15-year-old girl and her 10-year-old brother could get away from home on their own . . . unless you happened to be their parents!

That's the dilemma Mr. and Mrs. George Anderson have faced since two of their children unexplainedly left their 33 South St. home March 25.

There doesn't appear to be evidence of foul play, say police, and the Andersons are at a loss to explain the disappearance. It was just another Monday morning, and Sandra and Dennis were off to classes at nearby Marmora and College St. public schools.

About two hours later, the youngsters were seen by their father on his way to work in Brighton. George Anderson, a 42-year-old self - employed painter, told police he spotted Sandra and Dennis at the eastern outskirts of the village.

At the sight of their father, the children ran away across a field and over a nearby hill. Mr. Anderson said he looked around the area for a while, then proceeded to work, sure the children would return to Trenton after having seen him.

Mrs. Anderson learned of this that evening, and said she and her husband thought the children were staying away to avoid a spanking.

The next morning, they notified police.

Sandra's compulsive television viewing may have prompted some sort of adventure, Mrs. Anderson has suggested. And the girl has repeatedly told family members she would like to visit a favorite older brother Randy in Hay River, N.W.T. Another brother, Ronnie, works in Winnipeg.

"It doesn't seem reasonable — a trek of several thousand miles, with no extra clothing, and only some money Sandra had earned baby-sitting — but it's as good as any other explanation to date.

"You've got to have some place to start," said Trenton Police Chief R. J. Rutherford, in the midst of sending off descriptions of the missing children to police across the province.

"It's pretty difficult to conduct an organized search unless we have some sort of clue where the children might have headed."

Yesterday, Chief Rutherford sent the only available photographs of Sandra and Dennis to RCMP headquarters in Ottawa, for publication in circulars throughout Canada and the U.S.

Sandra — described by Mrs. Anderson as a "motherly type" who had no boy friends and helped look after the other seven children at home — is 4 feet, 11 inches tall, weighs about 100 pounds, and has shoulder-length brown hair. The freckle-faced 15-year-old was last seen wearing a green suede car coat.

Dennis, who weighs about 70 pounds, and is 4 feet in height, was wearing a gray coat and trousers, a blue hat, and new black and white sneakers when he left home. The 10-year-old has short cropped brown hair.

Provincial Police in Brighton have been patrolling cottage and resort areas, investigating the possibility the youngsters took refuge in a winter-vacated dwelling.

Meanwhile Trenton police hope to circulate as many descriptions as possible, "The more people who see their pictures, the more people there will be looking for them," says Chief Rutherford.

Although considered unlikely, foul play hasn't been ruled out, if for no other reason than as Mrs. Anderson says: "the fact there are so many strange people running about on the loose these days."

And police know its equally as unwise to underestimate the ability of seemingly help less children to cover ground.

Chief Rutherford produced a photo of a Halifax "run away" last, seen by his par ents when he was 15 . . . in 1961.

Alexander Named President

Will Hold Consumer Tours

James Alexander of Hillier has received acclamation for a third term as chairman of the Prince Edward County Milk Committee.

Lewis Wight of Wellington is secretary-treasurer and Kenneth Wright of Hillier RR1, is vice chairman and director of publicity.

Other committee members are Ross Parks, RR3, Picton; John Whiteford, RR3, Picton; Bryan Crook, RR2, Bloomfield; Howard Gyde, RR2, Milford; Corry Burris, RR2, Consecon; Norman Denard, RR2 Bloomfield; Robert Carson, Cressy; Leland Doxsee, RR9, Picton and Roy Brooks, RR3, Demorestville.

A new venture this year will be a consumer's tour which will see a number of farmers hold open house for visits by urban people.

A consumer tour for grade 7 and 8 pupils will be tried again this year. Last year pupils from Queen Elizabeth school visited a farm and a cheese factory.

Bryan Crook, Corry Burris and Roy Brooks will head up the committee for planning this year's dairy princess competition. Committee members felt that last year's princess, Barbara Doxsee, did a tremendous job in promoting the dairy industry in the county.

Members want more information on the milk quality control program and its associated deductions.

Plans for a milk producer's banquet have been tabled for the time being.

The committee's public relations role was critically discussed, many feeling that the food specialists' column was particularly useful in producer consumer relationships and should be continued. It is also felt the milk committee report should contain a detailed account of local meetings, information sent out from the OMMB, as well as general information on the dairy industry.

Others felt the reports should be controversial in order to stimulate interest of producers and encourage them to get in touch with their committee more often.

Belleville and District Obituaries and Funerals

MRS. EDWARD L. BULL

The funeral service for Mrs. Agnes Margaret Bull of 15 Charlotte Street in Trenton was held Wednesday in the Weaver Funeral Home. Rev J. A. Payne officiated. Interment was in White's cemetery.

The bearers were Larry Whitley, Kenneth Sharpe, Gerald Sharpe, Frederick Walsh, Orville Lisk, and Rev Graham.

Mrs. Bull died Sunday in the Trenton Memorial, Hospital after being ill for the past three months. She was in her 67th year.

Born in Sidney Township, she resided in the Trenton area for 60 years.

She is survived by her husband, Edward L. Bull; one daughter, Mrs. Edmund (Madge) Raney of Chatham, N.B.; four sons, Charles, Earl and Lorne of Trenton and Harold of Victoria, B.C.; one brother, Wilfred Brewer of R.R. 6 Trenton; and 15 grandchildren.

MRS. PETER COLOVOS

Following a brief illness, Mrs. Bertha Colovos of 27 Hastings Manor, formerly of 27 Station Street, died in Belleville General Hospital on Wednesday evening. She was in her 82nd year.

Daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Beaulieu, she was born in Montreal and during her life in Trenton attended Bethel Chapel.

Pre-deceased by her husband Peter Colovos, she is survived by one daughter Mrs. Eric (Betty) Coker of Angus, Ont.

The funeral will be held Friday afternoon from the Pinkston and Luscombe Funeral Home where service in the chapel at 1:30 will be conducted by William E. Belch.

Interment in Belleville Cemetery.

MRS. WILLIAM THOMAS HAMILTON

A resident of Belleville for the past 10 years, Mrs. Georgina Deans Hamilton, 106 Station Street, died suddenly in Belleville General Hospital on Wednesday. She was in her 63rd year.

Daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Deans, she was born in Dundee, Scotland and was a member of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church.

Besides her husband she is survived by three sons John of Peterborough, Robert of Belleville and Neil of Scotland and a daughter, Mrs. Fay Beitel of Belleville. There are seven grandchildren.

A brother Daniel McKinnon lives in Sarnia.

The funeral will be held Friday afternoon from the John R. Bush Funeral Home where service in the chapel will be conducted by Rev. A. L. Sutherland. Interment in Belleville Cemetery.

HAROLD BURLINGTON BURTT

The funeral for Harold Burlington Burtt was held Wednesday afternoon from the John R. Bush Funeral Home where service in the chapel was conducted by Rev. Harry M. Davis. Interment was in Riverview Cemetery, Shannonville.

The bearers were Lloyd Patison, Roy Reid, Kenneth Juby, Everett Stratton, Jack Harvey and John Weese.

E. FARLEY HENDRICKS (Kingston-Trenton)

Former resident of the Trenton area and for the past two years chief maintenance and construction engineer at Queen's University, Mr. E. Farley Hendricks, Fairway Hills, Kingston, has died suddenly from a heart attack.

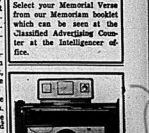
Mr. Hendricks died in Kingston General Hospital on Saturday and was buried Tuesday in St. George's Cemetery at Trenton. The funeral at Weaver's Funeral Home was conducted by Canon K. F. Blachford.

The bearers were Wayne Simmons, Fred Morgan, Col. Ian MacDonald, William Scarlett, Lewis Little and George (Joe) Grant.

Born in Murray township, the deceased was the son of Mrs. E. S. Hendricks and the late Ernest Hendricks. He attended public and high school in Trenton and received his BSc. degree from the University of Toronto.

A veteran of World War II, he served with the Royal Canadian Engineers in Italy and was also with the forces in Korea. Following World War II he taught in the Trenton high school for a short time and then rejoined the Army, retiring in 1965 with the rank of major.

Besides his mother he is survived by his wife, the former Harriett Fraser, three daughters, Helen, Jane and Laurie, and a son James all at home.



A sister, Mrs. K. M. Johnston lives at Beaconsfield, Quebec.

JOHN THOMAS HADLEY

The funeral for John Thomas Hadley was held Wednesday afternoon from the Pinkston and Luscombe Funeral Home where service in the chapel was conducted by Canon R. B. D. Wright. Interment was in Belleville Cemetery.

Peace Talks?

The offer of North Vietnam to meet U.S. representatives with a view to holding peace talks is encouraging.

This of course is only the beginning. The communists for some time have indicated a halt to the U.S. bombing is an essential preliminary to any such talks. They want this to be "unconditional," however, and this is likely to be where any such negotiations will bog down. The United States retains the right to use air support where necessary in the conduct of the ground war.

In any event this is a start. Ultimately the long night in Vietnam will end. However, there may still be a long road to travel. The tedious deliberations of the Panmunjon meetings that preceded a final settlement of the Korean conflict come to mind. Any such climax to the Vietnam conflict may also be a long time off.

Quebec Thunder

Voices of moderation in Quebec are not all that common these days. Andre Dagenais is no exception.

A member of the general committee of the Estates General of French Canada, a private organization composed of representatives of chambers of commerce, school boards and the like, he has been making bold predictions in Paris.

Calling on "independent-minded" organizations to form a united front to take over French Canada in the Quebec elections in 1970, Mr. Dagenais says unless this is accomplished peacefully there could be bloodshed along the lines of the Algerian war of independence.

Anyone who remembers the appalling events of that war may well shudder at any repetition of it in this country. And the authorities here might just as well take the man seriously. They could begin by taking action to track down the terrorist elements said to be under training in the Laurentians. Prevention is better than cure.

Relations between France and Quebec meanwhile have taken a new turn with the establishment of a new French information service in Quebec.

Its director, Philippe Bey, has been quoted as saying that Quebec and France "don't really know each other." Of course we had always suspected this, for all President de Gaulle's "Big Brother" pose.

Montreal Mayor Drapeau's interpretation of Quebec's position in the world is much more accurate. Just before de Gaulle's departure from this country last summer, Mr. Drapeau pointed out that Quebecers are North Americans. They are also Canadians and would be well advised to remain that way.

Winter to Spring

After a rugged enough winter — one of the coldest in years — Spring is coming along with vigor and color.

Spring usually is a tired sort of a season, with the sun hiding behind dark brooding skies and with plenty of mud and slush. But this year is different and all the more welcome for that.

The Moira presents a picture of lively running water. It is not a tidal race but the river is forging into the bay with lusty abandon. For all that none of the flooding has occurred that at one time was thought a possibility.

Soon the parks will be opened officially. Bon Echo, Outlet beach and the Sandbanks come back into their own on May 10. Even now before the rush starts, there is a strange beauty about these familiar tourist areas.

The Sandbanks remain one of the geological wonders of this continent. To wander there in the late afternoon, with a wan sun going down over the lake, and to linger there amid the silence of the place, the dunes and the lake and the far horizon all combining in a formation as strange as it is mystic, is an experience to remember.

But if nature triumphs and every prospect pleases, the evidence of man is vile. Here on this sandy shore there remain the broken glass, oil cans, paper and goodness knows what else that show up people for the untidy lot they are.

To cure citizens of their sloppy ways in this regard would take a determined effort, backed by the Scandinavian system of handing out fines to litterbugs. Perhaps the time for that has come.

With These Credentials Who Can Be A Loser?

By RICHARD JACKSON

OTTAWA —Aren't you glad you are you — and not a delegate to the Liberal leadership convention with a vote to cast for the man you think most qualifies as next prime minister!

Just think how you would be going crazy right about now — minute tying to make up your mind which one is actually the best of all possible choices in so many best of all possible candidates.

They are that good?

They are all determined, and that is for sure, each in his own secret heart that he is the one with the date with destiny.

They have all been working — or almost all of them, harder by far than they ever worked for anything in their lives before — for the magic key to the prime minister's job. 1 second floor suite in the East Block and the power and the glory behind its Green Door.

But are they really all this great that each of them is convinced he, above all others, is ordained to be leader of all the Canadians?

Just read their press releases.

They are just so great it should be all but humanly impossible to determine the greatest.

Eeny meeny miny moe.

Here is one, as described with shattering modesty in one of many campaign press releases:

". . . capacity to cope success fully with the country's challenges . . . qualities of toughness and flexibility . . . imaginative . . . capability and determination to press on with any job . . . gifted with courage and coolness and passionate dedication . . . skilled as a negotiator . . . daring . . ."

Guess who?

Finance Minister Mitchell Sharp, who else?

Sounds pretty good, doesn't he?

But no better than this candidate as billed by State Secretary Judy LaMarsh, one of his more substantial cabinet supporters:

". . . young in years but old in experience . . . no stranger to a real man . . . determined, decisive but not inflexible . . . firm, steady as a rock in his convictions yet able to look fairly at all sides of an issue . . . a dedicated left-of-centre reformer . . . kind, considerate, sensitive . . . orthodox but an able improvisor . . ."

You guessed it, LaJudy's assessment of "my long-time good friend" Transport Minister Paul Hellyer.

The admirals might understandably be bowled over by such descriptives as "able to look fairly at all sides of an issue . . . considerate, sensitive."

(Just as a matter of factual record, Paul Hellyer as a private person just does happen to be most of these things. His "toughness," as some critics have seen him, could be a quality acquired in compensation for his innate shyness.)

Identify, if you can, this candidate as presented in a leadership race press release:

". . . extremely impressive credentials . . . self-made, successful in both private and public life . . . knows how to deal with such basic problems as parliamentary reform, machinery of government and the quality of Canadian life . . . either, all understands these issues but has the initiative, drive and most of all ability to resolve them . . . a brilliant innovator . . . solid . . . a man for all Canadians . . ."

You would never guess it is the man who so recently posed as a rustic, even, a rube, so folksy the cartoonists caricatured him chewing a straw . . . but who stripped of his mask as "the young Abe Lincoln," is really Toronto-born sophisticate, Agriculture Minister John ("Call me Joe") Greene.

Line 'em all up, all the political horses in this great Liberal sweepstakes, and you would scarcely recognize any of them from their press releases and publicity blurbs.

They are all so great . . . or so they say.

But then, political leaderships like elections are never won by great feats of humility.

And the prize never goes to the shy and retiring violet.

It won't this time, either, although there are some political nonentities and wild outsiders who never will be heard from, such as former civil servant John Kroker (if he hasn't already dropped out) whom modesty could become.

But bet your last buck on this — when they crown the new Liberal king Saturday, he will be "The Greatest," greater even, if that could be possible, than the Great One so superlatively blurbed in his own press releases.

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FILES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

April 4, 1948

Promotion of Constable Sam Ervine of the OPP to the rank of corporal and to be patrol corporal at the Belleville headquarters, was announced today by Inspector W. A. Page.

The first item of business discussed at the regular meeting of the local council of the AYPA was the Oslo Rally. At this rally, to be held in St. Thomas' Church on the 28th of April, a film taken of the Ecumenical Youth Conference held in Norway last year will be shown. Rev. W. Robinson of Madoc, a delegate to this conference, will give a short talk prior to the showing of the film.

30 YEARS AGO

From our file copy at this time in 1938: "The members of the Ramblers Wheel Club have decided upon a new style of club suit. It will be blue serge with Norfolk cut of jacket."

Evelyn Staft of Toronto spent the weekend here with Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Hagerman, John St.

Mrs. Marion Poste of Toronto is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George T. Woodley, Holloway St.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest L. Mouck have taken up residence on Foster Ave.

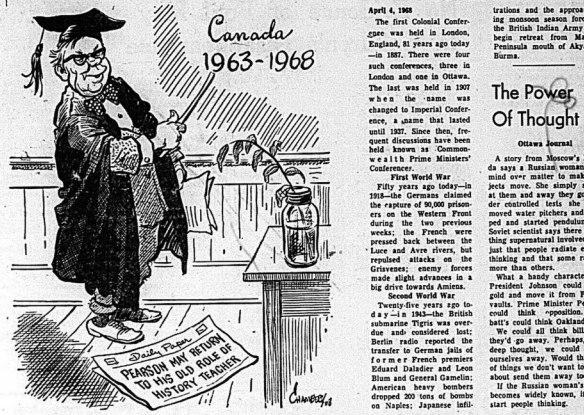
Work on rear parking lots along the east bank of the Moira River through the down town section is being completed with more favorable weather conditions. Thirty-seven men taken from the city relief lists are engaged in this work and other city jobs.

40 YEARS AGO

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Grills Sidney Township, have arrived home from Bermuda where they spent the past three months.

Matt Weir will be in charge of the lighthouse in the harbor again this season.

His Honor Judge E. B. Fralick of this city has been elected to the council of Queen's University, Kingston.



T. J. Hurley is spending today in Napanee.

50 YEARS AGO

The fire brigade had a run this morning to the house of William Demeznil on Wharf St. The fire which was caused by an overheated stove was soon extinguished.

At the Holstein Friesian cattle sale here brisk demand and good prices prevailed. "Daisy Gerben", the star of the show, six years old, owned by Carman Baker of Brighton was purchased by Brook Scripture of Brighton for $1,125. "Countess Segis Walker," also owned by Baker, Purtelle of Bloomfield was sold to L. Shaw of Newmarket for $900.

"Immediately following the Diefenbaker Age there came a period of political and cultural advancement known as the Great Canadian Renaissance."

The first Colonial Conference was held in London, England, 81 years ago today —in 1887. There were four such conferences, three in London and one in Ottawa. The last was held in 1907 when the name was changed to Imperial Conference, a name that lasted until 1937. Since then, frequent discussions have been held known as Commonwealth Prime Ministers' Conferences.

First World War

Fifty years ago today—in 1918—the Germans claimed the capture of 90,000 prisoners on the Western Front during the two previous weeks; the French were pressed back between the Lure and Avre rivers, but repulsed attacks on the Grivesnes; enemy forces made slight advances in a big drive towards Amiens.

Second World War

Twenty-five years ago today—in 1943—the British submarine Tigris was overdue and considered lost; Berlin radio reported the transfer to German jails of former French premiers Edward Daladier and Leon Blum and General Gamelin; American heavy bombers dropped 200 tons of bombs on Naples; Japanese infiltrations and the approaching monsoon season forced the British Indian Army to begin retreat from Mayu Peninsula mouth of Akyab, Burma.

The Power Of Thought

Ottawa Journal

A story from Moscow's Pravda says a Russian woman used mind over matter to make objects move. She simply stared at them and away they go. Her controlled tests she has moved water pitchers and stopped and started pendulums. A Soviet scientist says there is nothing supernatural involved. It's just that people radiate energy thinking and that some radiate more than others.

What a handy characteristic. President Johnson could think gold and move it from French vaults. Prime Minister Pearson could think opposition. Labatt's could think Oakland.

We could all think bills and they'd go away. Perhaps, with deep thought, we could move ourselves away. Would thinking of things we don't want to think about send them away too?

If the Russian woman's story becomes widely known, it may start people thinking.

Man Of Experience

Robert Winters Entered Commons As Protege Of C.D. Howe

By CARMAN CUMMING

OTTAWA (CP) — Two months ago Robert Winters said he was ready to go back to private life after what he felt was his "final fling" in politics.

But now the big Nova Scotia-born trade minister is back and aiming for the top, with some of the bluest chips in the country riding on him.

If he wins the Liberal leadership, it will be one more success stamp on a career marked at every stage by the right schools, the right clubs, the right business connections and the right political links.

The record of the 50-year-old trade minister shows only one major setback: When he went down with the Liner St.. Laurent government of 1957.

But even then he landed on his feet, quickly becoming president of Rio Tinto Mining Co. of Canada, and expanding his interests to an impressive list of impressive corporations before he came back to politics in 1963.

Mr. Winters stresses his Nova Scotia background, but more than any other Liberal cabinet minister he has been linked with Toronto's Bay Street and business conservatism.

His gospel of balanced budgets and fiscal integrity draws a warm response from the business community.

More than any other Liberal cabinet minister, he evokes memories of the pre-1957 managerial Liberal governments in which he served for a decade.

The national wealth should be more fully distributed, he says, "but we can distribute it only to the extent that we generate it."

Mr. Winters graduated from Mount Allison University in Sackville, N.B., and took his masters in electrical engineering at Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

He worked for Northern Electric, served overseas during the war and rose to the rank of lieutenant-colonel.

He entered the Commons in 1945 and, as a protege of the late C. D. Howe, held a succession of cabinet posts from 1948 to 19557.

Intersections on 401

Windsor Star

Ontario's Highway 401, the Macdonald - Cartier Freeway, modern and efficient as it is, still has one design feature that goes back to the horse and buggy days.

In those days, and even in the early days of the automobile speeds were so low that accidents at intersections were rare. At today's high speeds, however and particularly on superhighways where motorist don't expect cross - traffic, intersections are perilous.

Highway 401 has 22 such intersections between Windsor and London. All are potential killers Most have been the scene of bad accidents. Each is a source of worry to anyone, who drives the route.

Now the Ontario Department of Highways has announced plans to eliminate all 22 grade-level intersections by 1970, and possibly a few months earlier. The announcement should be greeted with satisfaction, as belated recognition of a project tha' should have been accomplished much earlier.

Construction will start in the next fiscal year on overpasses to eliminate 11 of the dangerous crossings. Seven other overpasses are under construction or under contract. The four remaining grade - level intersections will be closed. Completion of the project will see Highway 401 a completely controlled access freeway, something that it well might have been from the start.

Letter to the Editor

Radio Program "Censored"

Editor,
The Intelligencer

CJBQ cut the matinee program from the air on March 29 because it was found "distasteful."

I find it even more distasteful that CJBQ sees itself up as my censor — your listeners are not morons. This was an information program of human interest to active censorship of this nature that causes the public to be unaware of the many others conduct their lives. This is the self same reason the majority of people in Belleville and Canada, never learn of the deplorable conditions that exist in their very doorsteps.

These conditions are the primary cause of delinquency, alcoholism, drug addiction, child beating, broken homes and prostitution. Millions of dollars of the taxpayers' money is spent yearly on agencies dealing with the unfortunate.

If the "do-gooders" would stop censoring and publicize the ills of society, as well as give 100 per cent co-operation to those who work tirelessly to solve the problems of society, these desperate human beings would be less likely to exist.

AGAINST CENSORSHIP.

Cabinet Members Support Leadership Aspirants

By BEN WARD

OTTAWA (CP)—Should a cabinet minister put himself—or herself—out on a limb by supporting one of the Liberal leadership candidates?

The consensus among them appears to be affirmative, although a significant group still is sitting on the sidelines, perhaps waiting to see how the winds of fortune blow.

Eight cabinet members are candidates. Of the remaining 18, all but six have chosen in favor of one of their colleagues.

One of the first tasks facing the new leader chosen April 6 will be to form a new cabinet. In line with tradition, all members of the present cabinet must resign when Prime Minister Pearson formally steps down.

Thus a minister anxious to keep his job, or win promotion to a better port-folio, had better guess right on his choice or not guess at all.

Or would it be better to guess wrong, and hope for forgiveness, rather than be accused of indifference or indecision?

Candidates have been placing a lot of emphasis on their cabinet support. As of Thursday night, Justice Minister Trudeau and Transport Minister Hellyer each had three colleagues in their camps.

The six uncommitted are Works Minister Mcllraith, Northern Development Minister Laing, Fisheries Minister Robichaud, Veterans Minister Teillet, Solicitor-General Pennell, and Charles R. Granger, minister without portfolio.

There is no doubt that the major candidates are putting pressure on the seven for commitments and some may emerge.

An unusual development has been the distribution of ministerial assistants among the candidates' campaign teams, One minister has two aides working for two different candidates while he himself is reported leaning towards a third.

Another minister sent an aide out early in the campaign to swing convention delegates in his home riding behind one candidate, then switched favorites and had to send him back to do it all over again.

The story goes that the six delegates refused to budge from the minister's original choice.

5,600 Ford Workers Walk Off Job--Protest Against UAW

OAKVILLE, Ont. (CP) — About 5,600 workers of the Ford Motor Co. of Canada plant here walked off their jobs Wednesday in a protest against the United Auto Workers Union extending a strike deadline from today to 10:30 a.m. Monday.

George Burt, Canadian director of the UAW said in a statement the strike was rescheduled because the union wanted to include its national director in negotiations and there was not enough time to deal with all the disputed issues before the 10:30 a.m. deadline today.

He said the unauthorized walkout by all the plant's UAW members was caused partly by the action of the company foremen in notifying workers of the strike postponement before union officials could explain the reasons for the delay.

The company had distributed a memo to workers urging them to maintain their rate of production since the strike deadline was delayed.

But workers manning picket lines in front of plant Wednesday night also blamed the walkout on the union for not reaching an agreement with Ford.

"This will cost the international about $40,000 in union dues," one picketer said.

"Maybe when they don't get it, it will hurry them up and get a little action on our behalf."

In Windsor, Ont., about 500 workers on the night shift at Ford plants set up picket lines at the end of their shift, about 11 p.m.

Overnight workers refused to cross the picket lines.

About 4,300 workers in Windsor are affected by the walkout.

The company's 1,100 workers in plants at Niagara Falls, Ont., and St. Thomas have not walked off their jobs.

Mr. Burt's statement explaining the reasons for the strike deadline delay said there were about 73 issues of varying importance still on the bargaining table, in addition to the company's proposals for changes in the contract.

"Common sense and wise collective bargaining strategy urges that if a strike is called . . . it should occur not because of lack of time in which to negotiate a settlement but rather because the issues cannot be settled without a strike," the statement said.

The walkout brought a brief interruption in negotiations in Toronto, but they resumed later in the day.

The main issues in dispute are the union's demands to retain the Canadian type of shutting down production lines so all workers can have the same rest and wage parity with United States workers.

Burt wants the U.S. system where a few men at a time are relieved for rest periods, keeping the production lines operating. This system is already in use at Ford's St. Thomas plant.

The UAW is seeking wage parity with U.S. auto workers in accordance with an agreement signed last year between the union and parent companies of Ford, Chrysler and General Motors that calls for equal wages by 1970.

A variety of other work practices and procedures, including those related to layoffs and job posting, are still in dispute.

Ford workers in Canada now have hourly basic rates of $2.67 for production workers and $3.32 for skilled tradesmen.

Utilities Lose $2,000 In Cable Theft

TRENTON — Police are investigating the theft of $2,000 worth of cable from a public utilities commission pump house on Victoria Street.

Det. Sidney Vickers said the theft of 5,000 feet of half-inch, copper-coated, steel cable is believed to have occurred March 29.

The cable, valued at 40c a foot, may have been stolen by thieves for copper wire which would have meant a more substantial loss.

Det. Vickers said the cable was removed from a reel and would probably fit in a car trunk.

PUC superintendent, Howard Hallick, said an employee reported the theft from the West Trenton pump house the afternoon of March 27.

Careless Driving Charged

BRIGHTON — A 40-year-old Chomedey, Quebec man has been remanded out of custody on a charge of careless driving involving a high speed police chase last week.

Provincial police say Donald Snowdon was pursued by Con. Ken Pratt at speeds up to 110 miles per hour in the west bound lane of highway 401 last Wednesday.

Snowdon was finally apprehended in Bowmanville, about 30 miles away.

Funerals

MRS. McKINLEY KNOX

MARMORA — The funeral of Mrs. Myrtle Ethel Knox of Whitby, formerly of Marmora was held on Tuesday, March 26th, 1968 from W. C. Town Memorial Home Chapel in Whitby. Service was conducted by Rev. J. Smith.

Mrs. Knox had lived in Deloro and Marmora villages until the past five years. She is survived by her husband Mc-Kinley Knox and was predeceased by a former husband, Mr. R. Embleton. Surviving are five children Mrs. F. Cameron (Shirley) of Orillia; Mrs. William Auger (Yvonne) of Marmora; Mrs. Hubert Williams (Marie), Bluesky, Alta.; Mrs. H. Lalonde (Beverley) and Richard Embleton, both of Toronto. Also surviving are 12 grandchildren.

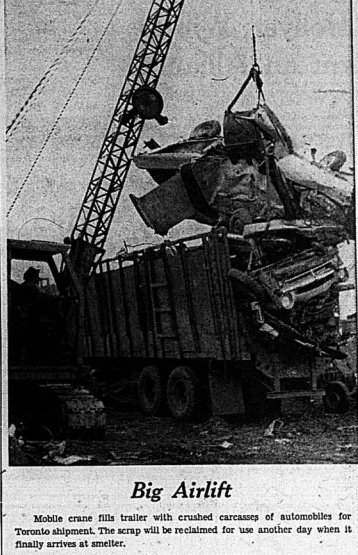
The bearers were Glen Derry, Norman Moffat, Laurence Moffat, Sammy Church, Milton Brush and Robert Brown.

Interment was in Mount Lawn Cemetery in Whitby.

New Safety Regulations In Effect

The Ontario Department of Transport has reminded motorcyclists of new safety regulations which came into effect on Oct. 1 of last year.

"Ape hangers" are now illegal and no one may drive with handlebars more than 15 inches above the seat when it is depressed by the body of the driver.



According to the department, such handlebars can hinder a motorcyclist's control of his vehicle.

Another regulation is also in effect. No passenger may ride side-saddle, but must sit astride the passenger seat with both feet on foot rests. Sidecars are still permitted.

Big Airlift

Mobile crane fills trailer with crushed carcasses of automobiles for Toronto shipment. The scrap will be reclaimed for use another day when it finally arrives at smelter.

2,800 Cars Ready for Scrap

Spring cleaning means more than a mere matter of mopp.

Particularly when you start in the backyard. Specifically, when it's your business backyard and your business is autowrecking.

Right now the biggest spring cleanup operation in the Quinte area is going on in Hillcrest, site of one of the district's biggest wreckers.

For the trade, scrap-time rolls around about every second spring and owner Bardon Lucas estimates he now has about 2,800 car hulks on hand ready for scrapping.

The cleanup is a massive operation being undertaken by Trenton scrap dealer Jack Zigmas.

Each automobile must be manoeuvred out of the huge stockpile and then crunched flat by a bulldozer. A mobile crane then gingerly hoists each metal carcass into the air, over a 6-foot-long trailer. Then the wreck is battered securely into place.

It's moving made easy, but the pilings means much work. Mr. Lucas estimates it will take weeks before the huge stock of wrecks will be stacked elsewhere — at a Toronto shredding machine operation which readies scrap for the foundries.

Cattle Roundup Staged Near Carrying Place

Carrying Place citizens staged a cattle roundup last night after a drover's truck crashed off Highway 33, and its live cargo took to the countryside.

Provincial police said Gary Horsbeck, R. R. 1, Milford, was driving the cattle to Toronto, when the animals shifted on a curve, throwing the truck off balance.

The vehicle careened off the highway between a tree and hydro pole and a dozen head of startled cows, calves and yearlings thundered into the night.

The last cow was located at 7.45 a.m. today.

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP) — The Toronto stock markets continued to rally in active mid-morning trading today.

However, the advance was modest compared with Wednesday's surge after Hanoi Radio said North Vietnam is ready to meet U.S. representatives to discuss an unconditional bombing halt.

Some of the slowdown resulted from profit taking, especially among Wednesday's big winners. Dome Pete fell 1 to 55½, Hudson's Bay Oil ¼ to 27 and MacMillan Bloedel and Walkers ¾ each to 29¾ and 22.

Neon Products paced industrials up, gaining 1 to 16. Price Co. rose ¼ to 9¾, Falconbridge and Oshawa A ¼ each to 36¼ and 30¾.

Among western oils, Canadian Superior climbed ¼ to €3. Gentdrum Mines soared 1.00 to 6.25 on sales of 51,000 shares.

Golds continued to slip. Dome declined to 53¼ and Camflo 10 cents to 4.15.

Experienced, Fast Service

VICTORIA AND GREY TRUST

175 FRONT STREET — BELLEVILLE

The Easter Seal service club volunteers escort crippled children to special diagnostic clinics and actually attend to determine the extent of a child's disability. Service club volunteers also transport children to camps, treatment centres and brace shops to ensure that the Easter Seal services program is completely satisfied. All donations, large or small are needed this year to meet the $1,400,000. campaign objective.

During the past year, 1,851 children with physical handicaps were aided in the provincial case load of the Ontario Society for Crippled Children.

These cases were registered through province-wide clinics while her sponsored annually by the Society and 231 clinics which are sponsored annually by the Society and 231 Societies and public health units.

A steadily increasing case load coupled with ever rising costs for special appliances, transportation, prescribed treatment, facilities and numerous other services mergly indicates the importance of supporting the annual Easter Seal Campaign. The provincial objective for 1968 is $1,400,000 — an amount not arrived at through an estimate but a true figure based on the total needs of Ontario's 15,000 crippled children.

The price per child? Just $87.00, which is really not such a large investment to provide Hope and Opportunity for one so young.

Our local Easter Seal service club needs everyone's support this year so give generously when returning your pink envelope.

Would-be Leaders Make Pre-convention Pleas

THE LITTLE WOMAN

"Now I'll give YOU a lesson in back-seat driving!"

Trudeau

OTTAWA (CP) — Justice Minister Pierre Trudeau said Wednesday he does not see the usefulness of a general election in the near future.

The candidate for the Liberal leadership talked in prime ministerial tone at a press conference.

He said, for instance, that he will have a responsible government in the finance field. His backers, on the stage with him, include Finance Minister Sharp, Revenue Minister Chretien and Treasury Board President Benson.

"After I am prime minister, it will be nice to have Mr. Sharp in the cabinet," he said at another point.

Sept. 9 is the date mentioned by one of Mr. Trudeau's most influential backers.

Mr. Trudeau was given a rousing reception at the railway station on his arrival from Montreal.

He then had a private meeting with Mr. Sharp at which, he said, he again thanked the finance minister for his support.

Mr. Trudeau said he had told Mr. Sharp Tuesday night how delighted and moved he was when the finance minister telephoned him with his support.

"It took a man of great courage to do this and I know what it meant," he said.

Mr. Sharp's support meant more "than delegates' votes. It meant he had the confidence of a man of great ability and integrity.

Turner

OTTAWA (CP) — John Turner angrily denounced "the power brokers of the Liberal party" Wednesday night and said the choice of a new Liberal leader should be left to the conscience of convention delegates.

The consumer affairs minister, at 38 the youngest candidate in the leadership race, referred to Finance Minister Sharp's withdrawal earlier in the day in favor of Justice Minister Trudeau and the decision of Newfoundland's Premier Joey Smallwood to back Mr. Trudeau.

Wine and Roses

OTTAWA (CP)—It is days of wine and roses for the 2,129 voting delegates at the Liberal leadership convention here.

Five of the eight major candidates have hired name entertainers to keep delegates aware of them at night.

Winters

OTTAWA (CP) — Robert Winters, a rising candidate for the Liberal party leadership, said Wednesday cabinet ministers should be more diligent in looking after political problems in their home areas.

Mr. Winters, who resigned as trade minister last weekend to free himself from cabinet responsibilities, said the cabinet had lost touch with the people in many parts of the country.

Kierans

OTTAWA (CP) — Eric Kierans said Wednesday his campaign for the Liberal leadership will cost $100,000.

The former Quebec cabinet minister told a news conference most of the money will come from his own pocket. A "minimal" amount was donated by close friends. None came from companies.

Mr. Kierans said he was very surprised and shocked" that Finance Minister Sharp has decided to withdraw from the leadership race, adding he has no intention of making a similar announcement.

Speaking in both French and English, Mr. Kierans said the convention will be "a contest of personalities" and "a contest of ideas."

Martin

OTTAWA (CP) — Grinning broadly and dancing a jig with his mini-skirted campaign workers, External Affairs Minister Martin—the eldest of the Liberal party's leadership candidates—said Wednesday night he is on the way to victory in a wide open convention.

Mr. Martin and his wife, Norrie in brief appearances at a hotel "hospitality room" where, he said, he will spend all his spare con-vention time meeting delegates.

Stop Trudeau Bloc Forming?

Martin, Hellyer, Winters May Form an Alliance

OTTAWA (CP) — Speculation is spreading through the Liberal leadership convention hotels that three candidates are trying to reach an understanding on stopping Justice Minister Trudeau.

The three are External Affairs Minister Martin, Transport Minister Hellyer and former trade minister Winters.

Spokesmen for the three denied such "deals" are in the air. But they conceded there has been discussion of "various eventualities."

Manpower Minister Marchand, main backer of Mr. Trudeau, said in an interview that the justice minister's big leads might provoke a coalition against him.

However, he added that a coalition did not appear realistic at the moment.

Treasury Board President Benson said he believes personality clashes would militate against any agreement among Mr. Martin, Mr. Hellyer and Mr. Winters.

In announcing his withdrawal from the race in favor of Mr. Trudeau, Finance Minister Sharp said he gathers there have been discussions of an arrangement among some of the candidates. He did not name them.

Mr. Sharp's backers said the finance minister gave his support to Mr. Trudeau to try to forestall any move to gang up against the justice minister.

Joey Smallwood Goes for Trudeau

OTTAWA (CP) — Premier Joseph Smallwood told Justice Minister Trudeau Wednesday night that almost all of Newfoundland's 84 delegates will back his bid to win the Liberal leadership Saturday.

"I'm quite overwhelmed," Mr. Trudeau told the delegates, who had just completed an hour-long caucus meeting.

Mr. Trudeau told reporters he had not planned to attend the meeting. "I saw a crowd and decided I'd drop by to say hello."

He received a standing ovation when he walked into the room and another one after delivering a brief speech. Mr. Smallwood led delegates in three cheers and a tiger for the justice minister.

The premier told Mr. Trudeau that only a small number of the delegates, "maybe five per cent of the caucus," would not be voting for him on the first ballot.

He told reporters afterwards that he expects those delegates will switch their votes to Mr. Trudeau on the second ballot, "after they have discharged their moral obligations."

Mr. Smallwood predicted Mr. Trudeau will rally around his banner 1,000,000 young Canadians who would not show an interest in politics under another leader.

He said he told Trade Minister Winters earlier in the day that only two of the prime-ministerial candidates have a chance of winning the leadership—Mr. Winters and Mr. Trudeau.

"If you want to break the mould, Trudeau's the man," Mr. Smallwood said. Electing Mr. Winters would be preserving the mould at a time when Canadians are demanding a change.

Delegates Will Practise On Voting Machine

OTTAWA (CP) — Voting delegates at the Liberal leadership convention will be asked to do a few practice runs today and Friday on the machinery set up to handle the vital vote that begins at 2 p.m. Saturday.

Convention organizers hope the system will prove flawless, but they're taking no chances on an unexpected breakdown throwing the procedure off.

Voting at the Conservative leadership convention in Toronto last September ran into delays due to a lack of power and problems with adding machines. The Liberals, aided by a team from International Business Machines Ltd., will be running tests for two days to make sure everything is operative Saturday.

Tourist Council Opposes Date for Lowering Levels

COBOURG—The Great Pine Ridge Tourist Council says lowering Trent River water levels near Hastings for repairs represents a "major catastrophe" to the Northumberland and Durham area tourist trade.

Announcement that water levels on the Trent from Hastings to Healey Falls will be lowered beginning Oct. 1 of this year was made by the federal Department of Transport canal office in Peterborough.

The DOT action will be necessary to permit Ontario Hydro Commission construction at Healey Falls.

Great Pine Ridge officials are objecting to the fact the level will be lowered two weeks in advance of the date previously confirmed by the Department.

Not only will this reduce the last fishing season by two weeks, but will also adversely affect boating and hunting activities, and place tourist operators who have rented accommodation for the Oct. 12-14 Thanksgiving holiday in an embarrassing position, the tourist council claims.

A large number of private cottages and camps in addition to numerous commercial establishments in the Lower Trent-Rice Lake district will be affected, a Great Pine Ridge news release says.

"Before the Oct. 1 date for lowering the Trent water level between Hastings and Healey Falls becomes mandatory, we request that hearings be arranged," the bulletin states, calling for representation from the DOT, Ontario Hydro and the Ontario Department of Tourism.

Such meetings between tourism representatives and canal authorities would, hopefully, "lessen the disastrous effects the Oct. 1 deadline would precipitate for those who provide holiday services for Ontario's visitors."

North Hastings-Nipissing Area To Get Dams Worth $130,000

A $130,000 reconstruction program for two dams in the North Hastings - Nipissing area has been announced by Hon. Ray Connell, Ontario Public Works Minister.

The two re-construction projects are the Big Mink Lake dam in McClure township near Maynooth and the Hay Lake dam on Otter Creek, four miles south of Whitby in Nipissing district. Both dams will be rebuilt at an estimated cost of $65,000 each.

The Big Mink Lake dam, a new 150-foot structure designed by public works water control engineers will control a watershed of about 24 square miles and regulate the water level of Big Mink Lake.

In addition the upstream narrows will be widened to provide adequate capacity for the passage of spring floods. A single lane 70-foot span "bailey" type bridge will be installed to replace the existing 17-foot wide timber bridge which is unsafe and near collapse.

The Hay Lake Dam on Otter Creek will replace a hydro electric dam built in 1942. The hydro structure replaced an old lumbering dam which had been unused for years.

The hydro dam permitted a storage capacity of 22,500 acre feet to be maintained on the lake system for use as required by generating plants on the Madawaska River.

Only $9.75 For Complete Organ Course

In an effort to popularize electric organs in this locality and to prove that anyone can learn to play simple tunes in just 5 minutes, Booth Radio and Television is offering a complete course on this instrument for $9.75 only. The course is comprised of one lesson each week for 6 weeks (or sooner) and includes the required books.

This new, simplified pointer system is designed for the beginner who has had no previous organ or piano experience and has been highly successful in the United States and more recently in Canada. Each class includes 6 pupils who wear earphones and hear only the organ they are playing. The Music Teacher has no voice to hear and is able to select and listen to any one of the pupils at a touch of a button. Pupils never hear each other play.

An economical feature of this plan is the free practice time available in our studios between lessons. In other words, you don't have to own an organ to learn to play.

There is no age limit, so why not enrol the whole family at this low price! Young and old can enjoy the thrill of playing simple songs in only 5 minutes.

We're sorry, but we can only accept a limited number of pupils, so it's first come, first served. Phone Booth Radio and Television at 968-5735 right away so you won't be disappointed.

As it happens, we can't. Making whisky that goes down this easy is a difficult job. It means selecting whiskies from our five distilleries across Canada (only Seagram's has five, by the way). Then blending and re-blending them to get 5 Star's easy taste.
How can you find out if the taste is worth all the trouble? That's easy, too.

Rebelling Against Society

Nicholson Students Discuss 'Hippie Cult'

By DONNA WHALEN

FLOWER-POWER, "speed" immorality and free love are ideas which immediately come to mind whenever people mention "Hippies".

The Nicholson Radio Club recently devoted its program to the hippie cult and since the script received a high rating the members agreed to make their contribution to the youth page by submitting the article for publication.

Beards, beads and bangles — the costume of the conforming non - conformity — are worn by Hippies to show their rejection of the "straight" society. To stimulate the color and sounds of a hallucinogenic "trip", they will commonly don tie-dye themselves with glowing paint, fun rainbow feathers, and psychedelic pulsating patterns flashed on walls and listen to ear-splitting pop music.

At "love-ins", college students wear exotic garb and decorate themselves to resemble the moving, multihued objects that fill the visions of psychedelia. Hippies claim that they are rebelling against war, poverty and racial discrimination. They want to reform society, but by withdrawing from it they are actually destroying it. One sociologist sees them as expatriates living on our shores but beyond our society.

• • •

WHO IS THE true Hippie? Is he a youngster who runs off to Yorkville to escape himself and the problems he hasn't the courage to face? Is he a teenager who is interested in the mind-changing drug and who thinks only in terms of selfish pleasure? Is he a delinquent, one of the many hoodlums who look for excitement in crime?

No! The true Hippie belongs to a small class which few people hear about. He is a sincere "individual" who has withdrawn from the 'straight' society in order to become more aware of himself, even though he may take "acid" and smoke pot to develop this self-awareness. He is a philosopher, an intellectual, capable of profound thought.

He is, unfortunately, the victim of mass condemnation because the ideals for which he stands are misinterpreted by other so-called "Hippies", the same few who always manage to attract public attention and make something good appear to be something bad.

• • •

GODON LIGHTFOOT, a modern folk - singer, praised for his lyrics and ballads, is as popular at Nicholson as everywhere else. Because of a strong demand on the part of the students, the Student Council consented to hire a bus to take NCC fans to Cobourg on May 18th. This is expected to be a fantastic show.

In the Girls' Gymnastics competition recently held at BCI several Nicholson girls scored very well. Along the winners were Ann Wilson, Linda Belanger, Sandra Noland, Irene Taylor.

• • •

WILL THERE BE a spring formal at Nicholson this year? If you want one, you must show some support. Let the Student Council know how you feel.

Peter Lloyd and Maureen Sargeant are one of the couples who would like to see improved dating facilities in Belleville. Then Peter could employ the gentlemanly demeanor he displays here.

Clubs Make Contributions

Quinte Collects $300

By SUE BOARDMAN

THE BLITZ that was held on Friday to help support Peter Wellstein was a great success. Approximately $300 was collected. Some clubs also made contributions such as the Library Club $10, Key Club $10, and Keyettes $50.

At the Rotary Science and Hobby Show held last weekend, Quinte sent many representatives who all did quite well. Joy Livingston, a grade twelve student, came third with her subject being in Biology field. Joy now goes on to Vancouver and we all wish her the best of luck.

• • •

QUINTE'S girls gymnastic team got off to a good start on the weekend. At the meet held at BCI, Quinte placed third out of nineteen schools. Keep it up girls!

Just a couple of reminders here: first, don't forget the free swimming for Quinte students; secondly, to get out and support your school's track team, especially the grade nine students.

• • •

THE DATE for our spring formal has been set for 11th of May. Last week I said that the theme was going to be "mod" but that was just a temporary idea, the decision rests with the Art Club. There was some misunderstanding about the dress, it's a formal so the girls are to wear long, or cocktail length dresses. It is hoped that the Powers Project will be supplying the music.

The Belleville Theatre Guild has donated one hundred tickets of its production of "Charley's Aunt" to the school. These tickets are going to be given to the grade twelve students. The play takes place on the 13th of April.

• • •

CONTRARY TO popular belief, I am not from BCI, I'm still a faithful Quinte fan. And with that bit of news I will sign off for another week.

Youth Parade

Loyalist Student Week Successful

By PATRICIA BRIDGE

MARCH 25 - 31 was the most exciting week Loyalist students and teachers have ever seen. "Student Activity Week" started with a Splash Party held at the Cedar Motel. The turn-out for this event could have been better, but as the saying goes, excitement and participation increased.

The Scavenger Hunt tied all the events together. Local merchants must be thanked for their understanding and cooperation during the week. Students borrowed a multitude of articles such as: guest towels from the Hotel Quinte, A and W root beer mugs, beer bottles, traffic lights from the Belleville Utilities, a coffin, a tombstone, a pickled rat from QSS and a cow from a local farmer.

Twenty-five points were related for a Centennial student bound and gagged, and an extra fifteen points for a 4" lock of hair from a male CSS student. One of the best surprises of the hunt, was the appearance of five faculty members, modly clad in Monkee shirts, shades, and a wig singing their favorite song, "Bringing in the Sheaves".

• • •

PSYCHEDELIC flashing lights and abstract murals set the scene for the dance last Saturday night. Approximately 700 people attended Loyalist's biggest and best dance of the year. The "Bedlime Story" appeared in all their glory and finery and shook the ceiling at Centennial's gym.

• • •

ACTIVITY WEEK ended Sunday with a car rally. Drivers were sent on an eighty mile course leading through all the back (way back) roads of Foxboro, Trenton, Frankford, and Stirling. Winners of the rally were Andrew Potter, driver; and Brian Heslip, navigator. The boys were presented with a trophy from Stevenson Ford Motors.

Teen Fashions Denote Changes in Attitude

STUDENT DRESS

Teen fashions alter. Why? Take Betty for instance. She's a grade nine student. Ever tried to be a tomboy in a mini-skirt? She's typical. She's just emerging from the cocoon of childhood into miniature ladyhood. She's all one fusion behind a make believe I-don't-care attitude.

It shows in her clothing in the awkward attempts at style and color blend. Watch her closely! In the locker area, she slams the boys around but on the fringes of the dance area, she watches with hawk eyes every fashion creation that walks by. (A pity, such observational keenness isn't used in school studies!)

This girl will change her style often. She still has enough of that childlike self - centredness to be unaffected by group styles. Her sentences almost always begin with the pronoun "I".

Zaa as is different. She's a senior student. Her acne problems are past. She can control her crushes. Every edition of "Seventeen" is studied. She has been convinced by slick advertisers that she is now a selective purchaser of acceptable fashions.

She is knowledgeable and very with it. Result? — girl who dresses more confidently, who will try a wig with a truly cavalier nonchalance. It's important to be different but in the accepted way. She'll be a main line Dior or Mainbocher in Fallout Fuchsia. She knows that for lipstick, white is now right.

With a confidence that comes only from ignorance she advises others to use Ultima skin lotion because it contains squalene and new zippy bioenergizer, SK-7.

You can tell 16 year old boys but you can't tell them much!

Tom is one of them. He hasn't changed his socks for 2 weeks. Bath days coincide with birthdays. Still strongly influenced by home, his clothes reflect the fashions of his parents.

His notions of girls are fuzzy and at best stumbling. A mood of rebellion, typical of his age, predominates. His clothes symbolize this. A German iron cross and a necking team sweater show silent defiance.

Inner turbulence is reflected in the complete dress of color, taste and style. Cream suede shoes clash with green socks, blue jeans and an orange shirt with red polka dots.

His hair is the most unform part about him. It is usually only one color.

Look now at Rex. He's king of a senior boy. There's no one above him in the school. Thus he doesn't have to imitate fashions. Consequently his top dog will lounge around in relatively comfortable garb.

He's clean and uses the best after shave lotions.

You see your young man has acquired a much more well defined view of girls. Being an upper crest in school society, he and his pals are the ones most likely to initiate fads in dress like wearing propeller topped beanies to football games or dangling giant size neck ties outside a turtle neck wool sweater.

So much for the extremes of dress. Quite naturally enough, they occur in the extreme grades but what about the inbetweens? Generally they try to imitate their superiors.

Unless an unusual phenomena like the Beatles, rad, strikes with its weird clothes rituals, more of the latest fashions occur in the senior grades than work done at school. It goes like this. The seniors are, in their own way, irrational enough to be manipulated by adult fashions.

The Juniors, on the other hand, want to make it with the seniors but not without being too different from their own peers. So a time lag occurs. They change slowly.

From top to bottom in school society, therefore, one sees three to four years of fashion styles with the change always one step behind detection, upwards, like hemlines.

Dating Facilities Criticized By Belleville Teenagers

By STEVE BISHOP

It goes without saying that dating is a favorite pastime with Belleville teenagers. But the youth of the city are widely critical of dating facilities.

Lack of variety is a major complaint among the young people. And many teenagers feel that there are simply not enough places to go.

The Tiki Club, the city's two theatres, and private parties are the main sources of entertainment for dating couples with bowling a distant fourth across the city, points out the major problems.

"Dating facilities are poor in Belleville," was the opinion of Tom Lornie. "The atmosphere is not good."

Donna Ridley concurred, and added, "there should be a place for kids in the older age group."

One observer who chose to remain anonymous, said "The Tiki has turned into a club for kids 15 and 16. The older kids need a place of their own."

Don Hepburn had another complaint with the teenage club. "It's too expensive for two, especially when you go to the restaurant or someplace like that afterwards.

"It's good to see more school dances. I think the Tiki should have school dance prices."

"There aren't that many places to go," stated Peter Lloyd, "unless you want to go to the Tiki every weekend. There aren't enough civic functions for kids, like street dances. BCI is having a bowling day this Friday, which is the right idea, although there's a limit to how many."

Maureen Sargeant criticized the lack of variety, "You can go to a show or a dance, and that's about all. There's swimming, too, but still that's not enough."

Chris Stock pointed out a further criticism. "After a date, there's no place to get good food at a relatively cheap price."

Among the more prominent suggestions for improvement was the prospect of a good coffee house. This was tried, with some success, two summers ago, and, judging by the teenagers' comments, it might be due for a second run.

And of course with weather will bring outings to the beach, but that involves a limited season, and is only a partial solution to the problem, even in the summer.

Guests Pay $80,000 For Four Course Meal

LONDON (CP) — In belttightened Britain, 60 guests at the Prime Minister Wilson's residence Wednesday paid a fortune for a four-course meal.

Turtle soup, trout, roast duck and peaches in brandy, accompanied by appropriate vintage wines, cost them an average of $8.00-each.

Two guests actually stumped up $80,000 for the dinner at 10 Downing St.

"The response rather staggered us," said a UN Association spokesman.

MSS Teachers to Play In Fantastic Hoop Game

By STEVE HUNTER

WILL THE mystery teacher sign in please. No, it's not What's My Line but more like shades of Sherlock Holmes and what it's all about is the fun fantastic basketball game between the CKWS so - stars and the unsung heros of Moira namely the teaching staff.

It promises to be an evening of enjoyment and rare entertainment; and we have some pretty rare teachers! After this night is over the CKWS no-stars may hang up their records and take up a more fun sport like teaching.

I hope to see you all there. Bob Cretney has done a lot of work on behalf of the Lettermen's Club to organize this night and I would like to sincerely thank him for a job well done.

Also at the game refreshments will be sold by the Grade 13 History students.

They are trying to raise funds for a trip to New York at the end of April. French fries, drinks and all sorts of crap will be sold for your digestion. It's all happening this Friday, tomorrow night, Apr. 5. See you there.

• • •

ALL WEEK there have been announcements concerning the four mystery teachers who will be competing on the battle field simultaneously bouncing the ball with great ease and skill. The clues have been extremely difficult to piece together and as the students put the puzzle into its place the deadline date approaches.

The entries must be in by Friday afternoon at lunch and the first three drawn with the correct answer will win a ticket to the basketball game and dance afterwards. Then an interview with the CKWS no-stars and the Sands 'O' Time.

• • •

THE GAME starts at 7:00 and anytime between 7:00 and 9:00 you can get into the school for $1.25. This entitles you to watch the game and attend the dance afterwards. If you come at 9:00 your price of admission is $1. Also at the game will be two mystery announcers who have worked up a good routine for the crowd.

ALSO IN the news this week is the newly formed Belleville Union of Students. This union was formulated to try and understand the problems of the school system today from the students viewpoint.

It is hoped that through future student-teacher co-operation the educational system will become one aimed more at one's learning ability rather than hair-length or a skirts length.

Well that's it for this week. Next week is a talent special. An up and coming group called the Bitter-Sweet.

Moira's chess players in action. In the foreground, Dale Sobie and Perry King ponder the board. In the background, Randy Negon and Maurice MacLaren are aided in their game by the helpful advice of Tim Gustafson.

Chess, the Strategists Game, Popular

Chess, the strategist's game, has attracted a small but devoted following among Belleville students.

Moira seems to have the greatest number of chess enthusiasts. Under the auspices of staff advisor John Boone, 12 boards are available for use each night after school, and they are frequently all in use.

The BCI club, under Harry Hildebrandt, has a membership of 20, most or all of whom can be found engaged at combat at noon hour. The BCI club is sending a group to a tournament in Cornwall later this month.

At Nicholson, chess boards are set up in the student lounge, and 3:15 finds a number of enthusiasts sitting down to the boards.

Quinte has suffered a decline in membership. Staff advisor Jim Bishop states that there are only eight members who participate regularly.

Centennial, which just got its chess activities under way, has no set membership yet, but staff advisor J. Mahony hopes to see an increase as the school grows.

New Series On Antiques Begins Sat.

A new series dealing with Canadian antiques, written by Jack Jamieson, will appear in this Saturday's issue of The Intelligencer.

The creator Jack Jamieson is assistant to the Dean of Degree Studies in Extension at McMaster University in Hamilton. He directs the university's seminar series "Ontario Heritage" and is Curator of the Canada West Society, a regional historical and museum organization. He also served on the interior furnishings committee of Hamilton's Dundurn Castle restoration.

His interest in Canadiana began while in the Canadian Navy at Halifax with the rental of a furnished once-elegant old family home (1840 Spode in the kitchen, 1780 Chippendale in the woodshed and a 1932 Eaton's catalogue in the living room).

One of the endeavors of the Canada West Society and its curator is the cataloguing of antiques of that period which remain in the possession of descendants of the first settlers, many of them in the same house.

Birch – Fox

MR. AND MRS. TIMOTHY L. BIRCH

North Trenton United Church, Trenton, was the setting on Saturday March 30, 1968, at 1 p.m., when Judith Ann Fox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray L. Fox, Trenton became the bride of Timothy Leighton Birch, son of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Birch, also of Trenton. Rev. Fred Love officiated at the ceremony and wedding music was rendered by Miss Edna Burke, who accompanied the soloist Mr. D. Halpenny.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length dress of crystal peau de soie with the fitted bodice featuring a scooped neckline and elbow length sleeves with a pyramid insertion of imported Swiss lace. The A-line skirt was enhanced at back with a watteau train bordered with matching Swiss lace. A double silk illusion veil was caught to a dainty rose which was studded with seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white feathered carnations centred with a white hybrid orchid and trailing ivy.

Miss Judy Scott as maid of honor and the bridesmaids, Miss Susanne Boyle, Miss Sharon Moynes, cousins of the bride and the flower girl Sandra Woodacre were dressed alike in capri blue pure silk chiffon floor length dresses, featuring lace bodices and sleeves. All wore matching headdresses of flower clusters and each carried a colonial bouquet of tinted blue mums.

Paul Bryces of Weston was groomsman, while the ushers were Phil Donelly and Steven Fox, brother of the bride, and the ring-bearer, Gregory Fox, brother of the bride.

For the reception at the Glenburnie Restaurant, the bride's mother received the guests wearing a dress and coat ensemble of gold and pumpkin brocade with matching hat, brown accessories and an orange cymbidium orchid corsage. Assisting was the bridegroom's mother who wore a mauve brocade dress, white and mauve accessories and a white and mauve orchid corsage.

Leaving on a honeymoon trip to Niagara Falls and points west the bride donned a yellow two-piece wool jersey suit, black accessories, matching yellow hat and a white orchid corsage.

Upon return the couple will reside at Midland, Ontario.

Talk on Canadian Constitution Given at Canadian Club Meeting

At the annual meeting of the Canadian Club of Belleville and district held Tuesday evening at Sir Winston Churchill School, Dr. W. L. Morton gave a talk dealing with the Canadian constitution and its application since its inception in 1867. At this time the Fathers of Confederation created a definite kind of union — a strong central government.

"In 1896," the speaker went on further to explain, "the constitution changed by convention, nature and understanding and thus became a federal government of co-ordinate sovereignties. After this came the rise of the provinces as positive welfare states."

He summarized his talk by his views of what is needed with three definite ideas — to preserve the primacy of the Federal Government; to accept the provinces as the welfare states and to give French Canada equality, but not to accept Quebec as a nation state.

Following the speaker's remarks the chairman of the nominating committee, Mrs. R. D. Arnott presented the slate of officers for the coming season and these were unanimously accepted by members of the Club.

Officers for the next term are as follows: president, Mrs. Ralph Ellis; immediate past president, Dr. R. Burtt; 1st vice-president, Arnold Campbell; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. A. Clare; 3rd vice-president, Robert Ord; treasurer, James Hepburn; secretary, Mrs. D. Whittemore; assistant secretary, Mrs. P. Kitcher. Executive members are: for 1969, J. Connell, R. Wilson, and E. David; for 1970, Mrs. J. Barton, E. McKinney and Miss A. Heasman; for 1971, Mrs. Bruce Kerr, Robert Temple and Dr. S. Keleher.

Ann Landers

Daughter Does Have Moral Obligations

DEAR ANN LANDERS: How much does a daughter owe to a father who never did anything for her?

Ever since I was knee-high I listened to my father complain about the government, his boss, his health, and his relatives. I remember crying myself to sleep night after night, praying as I wept, "Dear God, please make him go to work tomorrow."

ANN LANDERS

When I was 18 I left home. I educated myself, have a fine position, and am happily married. My father still worries me with his problems. He writes, phones, sends telegrams, comes to visit much too often and gives me a migraine headache on the third day of his visit.

Recently he hinted that he expects us to look after him when he gets older. He has no job pension, only government Social Security, which isn't much. My husband dislikes my father intensely and has told me he would never give the old man a red cent.

Since I am the only child, my father has no one but me. He has alienated all his other relatives and is very much alone. What do you think? — TORN.

DEAR TORN: You have a moral obligation to see that your father does not go hungry or without shelter. I am not suggesting that you be overly generous — just decent. And, incidentally, your husband's attitude is less than lovely. Please tell him I said so.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My wife changed her religion and married in my church. Her parents have been wonderful but her grandmother has never forgiven her.

Last week our first child was born. The baby has a reddish birthmark, the size of a dime, on his forehead. The grandmother says it is God's punishment because my wife left her religion. She says the child will carry it for life. I know this is pure balderdash but my wife is very upset. Please say something. — J.L.

DEAR J.L.: Birthmarks are not punishment for anything. Granny should be hauled up short for practising witchcraft without a license. A good dermatologist can probably remove the birthmark when the child is older. Check it out.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband is hard-working, dependable, a great father and your column has helped me realize what a gem he is.

These past several weeks Ed has been talking in his sleep. He keeps referring to "Louise." (This is a girl who works in his office.) All his remarks are very formal — such as, "Louise, bring in the Houston file . . . Louise take a letter to Mr. Kensington . . ." I have been staying up until dawn waiting to hear something personal, but so far it's been strictly business.

When Ed talks in his sleep he pronounces every word clearly — his diction is perfect. This makes me nervous. Do sleep talkers know what they are saying? Should I mention this to Ed when he is awake? — DARK CIRCLES.

DEAR DARK: If Ed speaks clearly, consider yourself fortunate. It's those mumblers that can drive a wife crazy.

Sleep walkers do not know what they are saying. And what they say is not necessarily a replay of what they have said in the past. Ed's recitation simply means he is thinking about his work, and that's good, not bad.

Kitchen Tested Recipes

Chicken Can Be Served in Many Ways

By MARY MOORE

This chicken reminds me of Li'l Abner's Dogpatch Ha Ham. On Tuesday I gave you two recipes — Homemade Chicken Soup and Tea Biscuits calling for chicken fat. Now with the 2 cups chicken meat leftover from those two efforts I am giving you the recipe for Chicken Chop Suey, although I know that Chicken Chop Suey is usually made from raw chicken.

(NOTE: If you do not want to make chop suey obviously you could use your leftover 2 cups chicken meat for Chicken a la King or chicken salad or Chicken Sandwiches.)

CHICKEN CHOP SUEZ WITH RICE (serves 4 or 5)

Rice:

1 cup raw long grain rice
2½ cups boiling water
1 teaspoon salt
Chop Suey:
1½ tablespoons butter or peanut oil
8 very small green onions
1 large green pepper cut into 1½" shreds
1 cup diagonally cut celery ⅛" thick
¼ pound scrubbed sliced mushrooms
1 chicken oxo cube
one can bean sprouts (including liquid)
2 cups 1½" strips cooked (or raw) chicken
1 tablespoon corn starch
2 tablespoons soy sauce
½ cup water

In a heavy saucepan with tight-fitting cover put rice on to cook with the boiling water and salt. Bring to boil, turn off heat, cover tightly and let stand 5 minutes. Turn heat on "simmer" and cook 25 minutes longer when all water will be absorbed and each flake of rice separated.

Meanwhile in large frying pan heat butter or oil. Wash and dry onions and cut off about 5" of the green tops. Chop remainder and add to frying pan along with green pepper, celery and mushrooms. Stir - fry for 3 or 4 minutes until vegetables are saturated with butter but still crisp.

(NOTE If raw chicken is used it should be added to vegetables during this first cooking stage.) Now add bean sprouts and their liquid and chicken strips. Stir the corn starch into the soy sauce until smooth then stir this into the ½ cup water and stir gently into chop suey until it is very slightly thickened and heated through. Taste to be sure you have the amount of soy sauce you desire. Do not d a w d l e now. Before vegetables have a chance to lose their crispness serve on hot fluffy rice. Pass more soy sauce at the table.

NOTE: If desired toasted almonds may be sprinkled over top of Chicken Chop Suey or a gourmet touch.

Successful Living

Shy Teen-ager Lacks Confidence

Dear Doris: I have written to you twice in the past and both times I received helpful information for which I thank you.

Whenever I am with a bunch of friends, I do not know the proper way to act, nor a single clever thing to contribute to the conversation. When I do say something it seems so stupid. Also, I think I am too loud. I have tried to be quieter, but, before I know it, I start yapping like a parrot again. — Seventeen.

Dear Seventeen: Why worry about being clever? People aren't born knowing all the social graces. But if they care enough they can find out.

Last week a young man, a friend of mine, walked with me into a public building. I was expecting him to step up to the door, open it and stand back for me to enter. Instead, he entered first and held the door for me. He thought he was doing fine!

Knowing your own noisiness is a beginning. You'll learn to "pipe" down when you get less self-conscious. And you can learn manners through reading about them; I'll send you the names of the books.

* * *

Dear Doris: I read in your column a request for "The Legacy". The words as I have heard them are set to music of a singable melody, and are enclosed. — Mrs. A. M.

Dear Mrs. A.M.: Now I have two versions. Yours is much the shorter (12 lines in all), but both carry the same message, that of a man who willed to those he left behind some of the permanent things of beauty — sunshine, raindrops, song birds, the moon, — "and in the old folks I leave the memory of a baby upon their knee".

I am interesteated that this short version has been set to music. Anybody want either one? Send in ten cents and a stamped envelope and say which one.

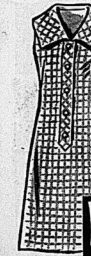
* * *

Dear Doris: I have been corresponding with this female pen pal for about a month. Her birthday is coming up shortly and I was wondering as to what to give her.

Would a card or a small gift be appropriate? I'm 18 and she's 16. — Just Wondering.

Dear Wondering: A card is OK but if you'd like to send a little more than that, what would be more suitable than a ballpoint pen or some attractive stationery? Nothing like taking care of your own interests!

Points for Parents



By MARY ERYSON

Mother: "Jim loves the children dearly, but he really doesn't enjoy playing or romping with them. I'm afraid they'll think I'm the only one they have fun with and that their father is just the breadwinner."

Children do not need parents to be playmates — but they do need moving attention and companionship from both mother and father.

Companionship with young children is not merely a matter of romping with them at the child(ish) level. A father can read or sing or take them for walks and achieve the same sense of happy closeness.

Meltzer on Real Estate

By BERNARD C. MELTZER

An increasing amount of inquiries is being received from readers requesting information about a new trend which is slowly being felt in the real estate industry. Some brokers are now charging clients for out-of-pocket expenses.

Dear Mr. Meltzer: Before listing my house for sale, I visited with several brokers. I wanted to make sure the property was in the right hands. This is one thing I learned as a faithful reader of your column.

One of the brokers I visited with is either a super - salesman or a charming fraud — which one, I have not yet decided. He claims, rightfully, that "for nothing you get nothing." Therefore, to do an excellent job he insists that I deposit $200 with him to cover costs, advertising, and publicity.

In this way, he claims I am guaranteed that my property will be properly promoted. Of course, if the house is sold, the $200 is applied to his commission. And I dealing with a super-salesman is a pleasant cheat? — Mr. B.

ANSWER: You are dealing with a new breed of broker; one of a growing group that is slowly changing the face and image of the real estate brokerage business. They believe that a client should pay for professional services rendered.

Personally, I am not adverse to the theory under which this new group operates. I have carefully observed the rise and rise of this trend toward professionalism. However, when it comes to real estate sales, there appears to be little or no evidence that they are doing a better job than the conscientious, conventional broker.

Therefore, if I were listing my property for sale, I would seek out a reliable real estate broker and give him an exclusive listing on my property for a reasonable time (90 days to 6 months). Under our present method, the listing broker is obligated to undertake the costs of advertising and promotion without charge to the property owner.

This is a consideration for the exclusive listing given to the broker. It has been my experience that a reputable broker recognizes his responsibility and considers it a normal business hazard to advance the costs of advertising and promotion.

• • •

Dear Mr. Meltzer: When my father died, I had no cash to pay for the funeral. Our local undertaker therefore insisted that I deposit the deed to my house with him as security, before he would make the necessary arrangements for the burial.

Orally, our agreement was that the funeral would cost about $400. When I received the bill, it was for over $900. Naturally, I refused to pay.

Since he has the deed to my house, the undertaker has now informed me that he'll just wait one more month before he sells my property, and puts me and my family out on the street. Please answer soon.— Mr. A. H.

ANSWER: From the facts presented, I would not venture to guess as to what you owe your mortician friend, but with certainty you can tell him that the deed in his possession is a worthless scrap of paper, as far as he is concerned.

You are still the owner of the property. The physical possession of another person's deed gives no rights or interests in that person's property.

• • •

Dear Mr. Meltzer: Last Sunday my sister and I were out for a drive. We passed a delightful house with a fresh For Sale sign on it. Standing in front of the house was the most handsome salesman I have ever seen.

The charming man took us through the property. We fell in love with him and the house at the same time. For a mere $10 deposit, he was willing to hold the property until we made up our minds.

Now it's Monday and my sister and I have decided not only do we not want the property, but we no longer think the salesman is handsome. We want our money back, but he refuses. We have been advised that we ought to sue. What is your opinion? — Miss Y.M.

ANSWER: For a mere $10, two young ladies have learned in a painless way one of the most important facts of life — that in the cold light of dawn, young men and houses are often not as handsome as they appear in the floodtide of desire.

• • •

Dear Mr. Meltzer: I installed new galvanized iron gutters and spouting last month. The astounding thing is that during the month, I have painted the gutters and spouting three times already and still the paint keeps peeling off! Before I try the fourth time, please tell me what I'm doing wrong. — Mr. F. E.

ANSWER: This may come as a surprise when I tell you that the excessive peeling of the paint is due to the fact that the zinc coating on your galvanized iron is too fresh. Galvanized iron should be allowed to weather 6 to 12 months at least before painting. Occasionally, a real fresh batch of galvanized iron falls into the hands of the consumer with the results described.

If, for some reason, it's impractical to let the galvanized iron weather for 6 to 12 months before painting, then special metal washes can be obtained in a paint store to treat the galvanized surface before the prime coat is applied.

• • •

Dear Mr. Meltzer: For two years I have been fighting the problem of sticking windows, but it's getting worse. It's now reached the point where not one window in the house will open. With summer coming, it could be quite uncomfortable.

I've done everything. I've used wax and graphite. I've had carpenters take them apart and plane them and I've replaced parts. Yet after each mechanic is through, in about a month or two it's back to sticking windows again. I can't lick the problem and I'm about to burst out in tears. — C. F.

ANSWER: I have some real bad news for you. You don't have a window problem, you have a problem of a badly settling house. I've known of cases like yours and regretfully, I must tell you that there is no solution — to persevere and hope that the settlement stops soon.

The settlement of your house is constantly forcing the windows out of plumb and square, causing them to bind and then stick. This is why you are getting temporary relief after each mechanic is through, but after a short while the problem returns.

• • •

Mr. Meltzer welcomes your letters and comments. Unfortunately he is unable to enter into personal correspondence with readers, but will attempt to answer as many letters as possible through his column.

President Accused

BELGRADE (AP) — Tanjug, the Yugoslav news agency, quotes a Peking newspaper as accusing President Liu Shao-chi of corrupting the morale of Communist Chinese farmers by giving them lots of fertilizer. The newspaper, Peking Ribao, said the farmers should study the works of Chairman Mao Tse-tung, Liu's opponent in China's current power struggle, instead of relying on fertilizer.

Former London Editor, Arthur R. Ford, Dies

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Arthur Rutherford Ford, editor emeritus of the London Free Press, who began his newspaper career almost by accident more than 60 years ago, died Wednesday at the age of 87.

Death occurred at St. Joseph's Hospital where he was taken Dec. 30 after suffering a stroke.

After graduation from Victoria College in 1903, Mr. Ford had intended to become a lawyer or a teacher.

But he needed an immediate job and was hired by the old Stratford Herald at $6 a week.

"I had no particular yearning to be a newspaper man but that summer settled it," he later wrote.

"The idea of paying a person money to do something he liked was a novelty and I decided then and there my career was in newspaper work."

Mr. Ford went on to become parliamentary correspondent, confidant of prime ministers, vice-president and editor-in-chief of the London Free Press and a member of the Newspaper Hall of Fame.

Anti-Stalinists Active

Czechs Investigate Death of Jan Masaryk Twenty Years Ago

PRAGUE (AP) — Czechoslovakia's new regime is investigating the death 20 years ago of Foreign Minister Jan Masaryk, and two more top cabinet members have resigned as the liberalization wave continues unchecked.

The body of Masaryk, son of Czechoslovakia's founding president, was found in the courtyard of the foreign ministry less than three weeks after the Communists took over the nation in 1948.

The Stalinist regime said then that Masaryk committed suicide by jumping from the window of his apartment. But many in Czechoslovakia and abroad believed he was murdered so he could not become a leader of anti-Communist resistance.

Acting Attorney-General Frantisek Zabransky announced the new investigation after philosopher Ivan Svitak wrote Zabransky asking him to establish whether Masaryk "was the first victim on the road to totalitarian dictatorship."

"There is a well-founded assumption that Jan Masaryk was murdered," Svitak said. He added that the new liberal leadership which has replaced the Stalinist regime of Antonin Novotny must clear up the case "so that thousands of citizens may have faith that the talk about rehabilitation of Stalinist victims is not a trap."

Suspicion about the Masaryk case was intensified this week when the body of Supreme Court Judge Josef Brestansky was found hanging from a tree in a wood south of Prague. Police said he committed suicide, but his family and most Prague newspapers refused to accept the verdict.

Brestansky had been heading an investigation into persecution during the Stalinist era, but recently newspapers charged he had presided over a court in 1955 that convicted persons on false charges.

The latest Novotny-era members of the government to go were Deputy Premier Oskar Simunek and Defence Minister Bohumir Lomsky, who resigned at a meeting of the Communist party central committee called to discuss personnel changes and a new program of political and economic reforms.

Simunek, a former planning expert and deputy premier since 1959, told the committee he disagreed with criticism of his hard-line policies.

Meanwhile, retired Lt.-Gen. Vilem Sacher said in a newspaper interview that the Stalinist purges of the 1950s stripped the country's armed forces of their ablest commanders and combat readiness "dropped disastrously."

The Intelligencer

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, THURSDAY, APRIL 4, 1968

Millions of eyeballs will be squaring off at television screens come tonight when the openers of the National Hockey League runs-for-the-roses get underway.

Canadian optics from coast-to-coast will be focused on ole squareface but this year it is estimated a million extra eyes will peer at the pictures from American kraals.

By televising games regularly this season — with the new league expansion — the Columbia Broadcasting Systems has doubled its per game audience over last year.

The league pocketed some $600,000 from American telecasts last year. This year the television take was upped to $1,500,000 and will repeat next season.

This has brought increased loot for players in the playoffs.

Two years ago, a Montreal writer points out, when playoff games were not on US television, players on winning and losing teams in two semi-finals series each earned $1,500 and $1,000 respectively. Winners and losers in the finals picked up $2,000 and $1,000 each respectively.

Last season with four playoff games booked on CBS-TV, prize money rose to $2,250 and $1,500 for semi-finals players and $3,000 and $1,500 for winners and losers in the finals.

With two divisions now in the league prize money will be $2,250 and $1,500 for winners and losers in each of the quarter-finals and semi-finals in both divisions. In addition the final series matching winning teams from both divisions will be worth $3,000 to the Stanley Cup winners and $1,500 for losing finalists.

That's $7,500 for up champions and $6,000 for runners-up.

"The National Hockey League" the writer points out "so far has disdained attributing increases in playoff purses to the sudden flow-in of television royalties."

Sure, the gilded owners in their golden cages made public the fact that the league received $3,600,000 for its three-year contract with the American network, but they have been strangely quiet about the over-all amount earned by the league and individual teams from TV — CBS, CBC CTV and individual stations in the U.S. who cover their teams locally.

But the sudden acquisition of extra loot has not gone unnoticed by the players. With an organized union the boys are eyeing the swollen pot o' gold and are activating for a greater share of the millions being earned by the league and teams.

The union's legal adviser has asked for an accounting of the league's TV earnings and potential. He has discussed the matter with the league and will do so again next month when he expects a full report.

He admits that the players are getting more money this season but adds that the increases were not enough proportionately for what the league is earning from television.

"The players," he says "are getting a much smaller share than players do in other televised sports."

Next to Bobby Hull making his maiden speech as a full-fledged member of parliament, the biggest sight for sports eyes would be to go to Toronto or Montreal for an NHL game and see Gordie Howe, and other top notch stars picketing the palace with signs "Unfair to our Wallets."

Speaking of Bobby Hull and politics, I can't vision the Blonde Bomber swapping a $100,000 hockey stick for an $18,000 seat on a political bench.

However, if Bobby does make the step and gets himself elected perhaps he could persuade the parliamentary peppos to hold a session or two on the Prince Edward rancho.

Imagine a few hundred curious Herefords pushing the press gallery out of the way to get a glimpse of the boss's confreres?

Hull Laughed!

Datelined Chicago, a story carried last night by a Toronto newspaper read:

"Bobby Hull shook his head last night and said—

I'll never know enough to keep my mouth shut."

This was Hull's reaction when told of a wire service report from Chicago that he may seek a seat in Parliament when he retires from hockey.

The Black Hawk star was quoted as saying: "Some of the big people from the Liberal Party in our section came to see me again and I admit I'm starting to take politics seriously."

To illustrate how mixed up the report was, Hull said one of the people' who visited me was Picton mayor Harvey J. McFarland. I don't think he's a Liberal. I think he's a Conservative."

Hull, the Toronto story said, who was endorsed by John Diefenbaker at last fall's Progressive Conservative convention as a potential Tory candidate, considers himself politically right-of-centre.

"I'm a left winger only in hockey," he said.

A wire story today quoted Hull as saying: "I'm not thinking about politics at all as long as I am playing hockey."

Habs Have Experience

Eligible To Play

King Kelly May Don Royal Robes

By GRAHAM COX
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The men and the boys start parting company tonight as the National Hockey League playoffs open de rigueur.

For two of the eight teams involved it will mean meeting in the Stanley Cup finals and at least a temporary decision regarding the superiority of the veteran Eastern and expansion Western divisions.

But the two biggest factors in the outcome probably will be experience and freedom from injury.

With this in mind, the best-of-seven final could well match Montreal Canadiens and Los Angeles Kings as representatives of the east and west respectively.

The Canadiens open their quarter-final series against Boston Bruins while Los Angeles is at home to Minnesota North Stars. In the other eastern quarter-final it is Chicago Black Hawks at New York against the Rangers while St. Louis Blues take on the Flyers in Philadelphia.

All series are best-of-seven affairs as are the semi-finals which match quarter-final winners in each division.

The Montreal opener will be delayed an hour to 9 p.m. EST to allow television coverage of the Liberal leadership convention in Ottawa.

Although the Canadiens still have defencemen Terry Harper and Ted Harris recovering from late-season injuries, with Harper still a doubtful starter, they are the most experienced playoff club of the eight.

They have missed the playoffs only once since the 1941-42 season, when they finished fifth in the standings in 1947-48, and have taken 12 Cups in the last 38 years.

Since coach Toe Blake took the reins prior to the 1955-56 season, the Canadiens have finished first in regular standings nine times and won the Stanley Cup seven times, including a record five straight from 1956 through 1960.

Only a small handful of their personnel will be going into their first NHL playoffs. It has been so long for Boston that only John Bucyk has ever had the experience as a Bruin—nine seasons ago when Boston last made the first division.

The Los Angeles strength is in goal where Terry Sawchuk holds sway as the best among active contestants.

The man who last year got Toronto Maple Leafs through to the championship, Sawchuk has played in 95 playoff games and recorded 11 playoff shutouts, second only to retired Turk Broda of Toronto in both departments.

If the Kings carry out their threat to dress coach Red Kelly for the playoffs, they will be adding the most experienced player in NHL history—with 164 playoff games to his credit—to their active roster.

As well as bringing up right-winger Mike Corbett from Vancouver Canucks of the Western League for the playoffs, the Kings Wednesday announced that Kelly was one of their 30 eligible players.

On the basis of freedom from injuries, New York Rangers have to take the early edge in the other eastern playoff while experience in goal gives St. Louis the nod in the second western playoff.

As well as finishing second in the east this year and with goalie Ed Giacomin registering a league-leading eight shutouts, the Rangers are going into their showdown with Chicago in relatively good health.

The Black Hawks, on the other hand, have a list of ill and injured that looks remarkably like a Viet Nam battle report.

Scoring champion Stan Mikita is complaining of unspecified but distressing back pains, league-leading goal scorer Bobby Hull is recovering from a broken nose and still is bothered by an aching instep, regular goalie Denis Dejordy has a split finger on his catching hand, and that's just the start.

Defenceman Doug Jarrett had a tooth extracted Tuesday, centre Pit Martin has a sore ankle rookie winger Bob Schmautz is recovering from a tenacitis attack and defenceman Pat Stapleton is having trouble with his eyes.

The Flyers will be without goalie Doug Favell, at least for their opening game against St. Louis, and Bernie Parent will have to take the brunt of the balanced Blues attack.

Even Philadelphia general manager Bud Poile concedes that "goaltending will play the major role" in the series and when it comes to goalies, there are few the equal under pressure of Glenn Hall of St. Louis.

With 83 playoff games behind him, he ranks second only to Sawchuk in experience among active netminders and in a division where the premium is on youth—and jitters—this could be the key to the whole affair.

But, in past playoffs some strange people have become the heroes and this year should be no exception, with those least suspected of steel and endurance being the men who rise to show the boys the way.

Sinden Picks Cheevers

MONTREAL (CP) — Gerry Cheevers will be in the goal tonight as Boston's underdog Bruins open their Stanley Cup playoff series with the powerful Montreal Canadiens.

"Goaltending is one of the most important factors in any playoff series," coach Harry Sinden said in announcing his choice. "Both Gerry and Eddie Johnston are in fine shape, but I decided on Cheevers because he has played more games (47) than Eddie (28)."

The hustling Bruins, most of them with no prior Stanley Cup experience, are decided underdogs to the Canadiens. But Toe Blake, coach of the National Hockey League's Eastern Division champions, isn't so sure.

"I've been in enough playoffs to know anything can happen," said Blake, who has led Montreal to seven Stanley Cups in 13 seasons.

Trappers Meet Cornwall

CORNWALL (CP) — North Bay Trappers and Cornwall Royals meet here Friday in the opening game of their best-of-seven Eastern Canada Memorial Cup quarter-final series.

The second game will be played here Sunday. The series then switches to North Bay for games April 9 and 10 and, if necessary, April 12, 13th and seventh games, if needed, will be in Cornwall April 14 and 15.

The series winner plays either Halifax Junior Canadiens, Verdun Maple Leafs or Drummondville Rangers in a best-of-five Eastern Canada semi-final and the right to meet the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A champion in the final.

Top Names Entered In Our Open

TORONTO (CP) — Billy Casper, Art Wall, Gene Littler and Doug Ford are among the early entrants in the Canadian open golf tournament to be held at St. George's course here June 20-23.

The Royal Canadian Golf Association, in an announcement, said contact work for the $125,000 tournament began as soon as last year's play ended in Montreal.

Hockey Franchise

Vancouver Seeking National Support

VANCOUVER (CP) — Vancouver doesn't have a National Hockey League team, but it has a big-league voluntary organization called the NHL action Committee that is making itself known coast-to-coast.

The committee, has permanent offices, several secretaries, branch chapters in Montreal and Toronto, and the respect of major businesses.

It plans a rally in the 15,000-seat Pacific Coliseum with bands, entertainment and selection of a Miss Vancouver NHL Bid.

More than 20,000 buttons that read "we try harder" with accompanying ribbons "NHL Vancouver action" are in distribution.

British Columbia's 350 delegates to the Liberal leadership convention in Ottawa this week were issued with the lapel buttons.

Thousands of Easter Seals—type stamps have been ordered and members of the action committee say they will be seen on mail across Canada.

Montreal broadcaster Pat Burns has begun a Montreal chapter and Larry Solway, a Toronto broadcaster, has done the same, said a spokesman.

The committee members, readily available with their buttons and bumper stickers, say response has been encouraging.

"People are boycotting national companies associated in any way with hockey," said a committee official.

Vancouver's bid for an expansion franchise was rejected in 1966 and now Oakland plans to apply to governors to move its franchise to Vancouver.

"The Moaner" In Hospital In Florida

TORONTO (CP) — Ted Reeve, 66, award-winning sports columnist for The Telegram, is in hospital in Florida after a fall which happened while he was covering spring training camps of the major league baseball teams.

The Telegram says Reeves suffered a shoulder fracture of the right hip, followed by complications, and will be in hospital for some time.

Reeve won the National Newspaper award for sports writing in 1961.

Trail Series 2-3

Habs Ground Flyers

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal Junior Canadiens defeated Niagara Falls Flyers 6-4 Wednesday night to stave off elimination from the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A semi-final playoffs.

Niagara Falls now leads the best-of-seven series 3-2.

Marc Tardif, Jean-Guy Gratton, Gilbert Perreault, Ralph Stewart, Andre Quoquochi and Rejean Houle scored for Canadiens. Stewart's goal was the winner.

Brad Selwood, Phil Roberto, Gary Swain and Don Tannahill replied for Niagara Falls.

Canadiens drew nine of the 16 minor penalties and picked up the game's only major.

Niagara Falls took out their frustration in the last minute of play while Canadiens were a man short, but failed to score.

The Flyers outshot the Canadiens 38-28.

Lead Series 2-1

Hornets Nip Marlies!

TORONTO (CP) — Ted Power's goal midway through the final period broke a 2-2 tie and gave Galt Hornets a 3-2 victory over Toronto Marlboros in an Ontario Hockey Association Senior playoff game Wednesday.

The victory gave Galt a 2-1 lead in the best-of-seven final series with the fourth game scheduled in Galt Saturday.

Bill Hway and Don Solder scored the other Galt goals. Don Fuller and Tom Martin scored for Marlboros.

Galt took a 2-0 lead in the first period, but Marlboros evened the score with a pair of second-period tallies.

Power's goal came on a weak, partially screened shot from about 25 feet out.

Galt outshot the Marlies 36-29 before a crowd of 1,371.

AHL Playoffs

Aces Dump Bisons 4-2

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

It took Quebec Aces an extra game to get into second place in the Western Division of the American Hockey League and they're using the added momentum to good purpose.

Wednesday they rolled over Buffalo Bisons 4-2 in the opener of their best-of-five quarter-final series while Springfield Kings won 3-1 from Providence Reds in the Eastern quarter-final.

The first game of the best-of-seven semi-final between division champions went to Rochester Americans as the western winners defeated Hershey Bears 4-2.

In a replay of a disputed game with Cleveland Barons, the Aces won and advanced past Buffalo in the final division standings Monday night.

Majors Weed Pitching Gardens As Batters Find The Range

By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Dave Morehead, who once pitched a no-hitter for the Boston Red Sox, and Bill Rohr, who once almost did, will be doing their throwing in the minors this year.

The Red Sox optioned Morehead, who threw Boston's last no-hitter in 1965, to their Louisville farm team Wednesday. Rohr, who came within one out of hurling a hitless game against the Yankees in his first start last season, was released outright.

It was, in fact, a bad day for pitchers all around. The Cincinnati Reds optioned out 19-year-old Gary Nolan, the same day to the minors because of arm trouble. And the New York Yankees sent Steve Barber to their Syracuse farm.

Also, the Red Sox optioned Darrell Brandon and the New York Mets gave Hal Reniff, a mainstay of the Yankees in better days, his outright release.

In exhibition action Wednesday, Detroit beat Houston 3-1, Washington edged Baltimore 3-2, Atlanta pounded the Yankees 7-1, Pittsburgh downed Cincinnati 4-3, Oakland crushed Boston 9-2, Cleveland outslugged Los Angeles 10-8.

Also the Chicago Cubs outlasted San Francisco 7-6 in 11 innings, California beat its Seattle farm club 2-1 and Philadelphia nipped St. Louis 5-4.

Mickey Stanley's three-run homer in the third inning gave Detroit all the runs it needed to win.

Sam Bowens hit a homer in the ninth for Washington's victory margin over Baltimore. The Senators have a spring record of 17-6, best in the majors.

The Braves beat the Yankees on six runs in the fourth inning.

Jim Bunning went the distance for the Pirates and survived a rally in the ninth inning with the tying run on third, by retiring Pete Rose and Alex Johnson.

Sal Bando hit his ninth homer of the spring for Oakland in the first inning when the Athletics scored three runs.

Vern Fuller drove in four runs, three with a homer for Cleveland. The Indians didn't wrap the game up until Angel rookie pitcher Vicente Romo's throwing error let in the tie-breaking run.

Rookie Jose Arcia had five hits and drove in the winning run with a single in the 11th for the Cubs.

Cookie Rojas and Mike Ryan each drove in two runs each for the Phillies. Ryan's two-run double in the eighth provided the winning runs.

MONTREAL (CP) — Dick Adipotti, a five-foot-nine-inch 185-pound halfback from Youngstown State University, was signed Wednesday by Montreal Alouettes of the Canadian Football League. Last season Adipotti was injured and played only four complete games. However he carried the ball 67 times for 422 yards and a 6.3-yard average during his abbreviated season and scored six touchdowns.

Russian World Mark Betters

TALLINN, U.S.S.R. (AP) — Soviet swimmer Vladimir Kosinsky bettered the world record for the 200-metre breaststroke Wednesday with a time of two minutes 27.4 seconds.

His time is four-tenths of a second faster than the mark posted by Ian O'Brien of Australia at the Tokyo Olympics in 1964. Russia is swimming here entertaining the East Germany team in an international meet.

Later in the day, 18-year-old Andrei Danayev, a Moscow college student, splashed through the 400-metre individual medley in 4:45.3, beating the 4:45.4 mark set by Richard Roth of California at Tokyo in 1964.

Cepeda Loses Million Dollar Libel Appeal

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Orlando Cepeda, onetime star first baseman for San Francisco Giants and now with St. Louis Cardinals, lost an appeal Wednesday in his effort to collect $1,000,000 damages from Look magazine.

The U.S. Court of Appeal, in a three-judge decision, upheld a jury verdict that Cepeda was not libelled by an article written in 1963 by Timothy Cohane, then sports editor of Look.

Cepeda's lawyer appealed the U.S. District Court jury verdict of Nov. 2, 1967, challenging the jury instructions of Judge Stanley A. Weigel that it must be determined whether the article showed malice or was guilty of irresponsible reporting.

In the article, Cepeda was portrayed as not a team player and who did not always put forth the effort of which he was capable.

Golfers At Greensboro
Eye Record $137,000 Pot O'Gold

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — The professional golf tour, which has produced eight one-stroke victories in 11 major events this year, pitched camp at the Sedgefield Country Club today for the Greater Greensboro Open, worth a record $137,000.

Competition through the first quarter of the year has been especially keen. Of the eight events decided by a single stroke, two required sudden-death playoffs.

The widest spread between victor and runnerup has been three strokes.

Attention centred on the efforts of Arnold Palmer to sharpen his game for next week's Masters at Augusta, Ga.

Although he has played the four-day, 72-hole Greensboro event often, he has not been eminently successful. His best finish was last year when he was third behind winner George Archer, four shots off the pace at 271 over the par-71 course measuring 7,034 yards.

Palmer is one of five men in the Greensboro field of 140 who have won a tournament this year. Others are Tom Weiskopf, the leading money winner; defending champion Archer; Billy Casper and Johnny Pott.

Among the few top-notchers absent are Jack Nicklaus, George Knudson, of Toronto, the only double winner this year, and Englishman Tony Jacklin, who won at Jacksonville, Fla., last Sunday.

In Wednesday's $5,000 pro-am warmup, Gary Player carded a three-under-par-68 in the rain to win top money of $500. The little South African was one stroke ahead of Don Bies of Seattle, Wash., whose 69 earned him $425.

Campbell Raps Cooke On Claim Kings "Bilked"

MONTREAL (CP) — Clarence Campbell, president of the National Hockey League, says he is disappointed in Jack Kent Cooke, owner of Los Angeles Kings, for his claim that the Kings were "bilked" of a victory over the Oakland Seals Saturday.

"It is disappointing to find that a sportsman of Mr. Cooke's stature would descend to excusing his team's failure . . . by using that hoary old alibi 'we wuz robbed.'" Campbell said in a statement Wednesday night.

He was replying to remarks made in Los Angeles Tuesday by Cooke, who said a referee's inexperience cost his club a first-place finish in the NHL's west division.

Saturday's game with the Seals ended in a 2-2 tie after referee Ron Wicks disallowed a third-period goal for the Kings on the grounds that a Los Angeles player was in the goal crease at the time the shot went in.

If the goal had been allowed, Los Angeles would have won the game 3-2. The additional point in the standings would have tied them in points with the top-place Philadelphia Flyers but would have given the Kings the division championship by virtue of a greater number of wins.

"Mr. Cooke has stated that the referee erred in his call disallowing the goal," Campbell said. "This is his opinion. I have only the referee's version of the incident, which supports his decision.

"However I will be in Los Angeles on Saturday and I will review the game films myself and make my own assessment."

Campbell said that prior to the game with the Seals Cooke complained about certain game officials and asked for their replacement in subsequent games, "a thing that just isn't done in the NHL."

"His complaints were investigated and they proved unfounded."

Campbell said Cooke "seems to have overlooked the fact that his team lost 33 other games and tied another nine games over the regular schedule.

"That represents a possible 75 points, any one of which would have accomplished his objective. Instead he chooses to blame the team's failure to come first on a referee's judgment call in the final period of the season."

World Cup Skiers

"Oh The Sun Shines Bright"

SOUTH LAKE TAHOE, Calif. (AP) — The top ski racers of a dozen nations trained at Heavenly Valley today for the last of the season's World Cup races.

Among the racers were Austrian star Kal Schranz and World Cup champion Nancy Greene from Rossland, B.C. The French superman Jean-Claude Killy arrived Wednesday night but there was a question whether he would race.

"We're really in trouble," said Willy Schaeffler, technical delegate of the meet, as he looked up the sun-baked East Bowl slope where slalom and giant slalom events will be staged Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Schaeffler said the slope, which will be used for all races, was being groomed at night to preserve the snow as long as possible. Day after warm day the snow line has been receding up the mountain. The finish line of all races will be at least a quarter mile up the mountain.

French coach Honore Bonnet said he didn't know whether Killy would compete.

It was not certain whether the Olympic triple gold medalist came here to race, or to collect his second straight World Cup crown Sunday. Killy got enough points to assure his victory last week in British Columbia.

It was rumored that he would enter at least one race, which would be his last before launching a new career in auto racing.

Miss Greene, gold and silver medalist at Grenoble, is almost as sure that she has won the ladies World Cup crown for the second straight year. She has 186 points toward the Cup. Another 14 would sew it up.

The shortage gives Isabelle Mir of France a technical chance to tie for the girls' crown. That would happen if she won both slalom and giant slalom, and Nancy disqualified.

But whatever happens, Nancy says she will retire after the current meet and go back to college.

The first event of the World Cup finale will be the men's giant slalom at 9 a.m. Friday followed by the women's giant slalom at 11 a.m.

Legislature Approves in Principle Of New County-wide School Districts

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario government's bill to revamp the province's school jurisdictions received second reading Wednesday despite opposition protests.

The new bill calls for the reduction in the number of school districts to 120 from 964. It was approved in principle by a vote of 63 to 38.

Liberal Leader Robert Nixon demanded that the bill go to the standing committee on education for public debate before its principles were accepted.

Education Minister William Davis promised that all interested groups will be encouraged to appear before the committee to express views on the bill.

"This legislation has only one purpose," he said. "That is to make an approach to the principle of equality of educational opportunity for all children."

The reorganization plan will "of necessity lead to the development of a much better grant structure in Ontario," said the minister, referring to opposition criticisms that the larger school units will create higher costs than now met by municipalities.

"Nothing more will be accomplished in committee before second reading than will be accomplished there after the principle of this bill has been accepted," said Mr. Davis.

Speaker Fred Cass ruled that the house would not vote on Mr. Nixon's amendment referring the legislation to committee before second reading, and called for the vote on the bill.

In other legislature business —Provincial Treasurer Charles MacNaughton said the government's program to relieve municipalities of the costs of justice administration will cost $19,500,000. He said this was $1,000,000 more than he had estimated.

He said the extra money will be paid out because of a formula aimed at reimbursing municipalities for providing facilities needed to administer justice.

—Economics and Development Minister Stanley Randall blamed a decline in industrial construction for an over-all drop of 2.7 per cent in the number of construction contracts awarded in Ontario during the first quarter of 1968 compared with the same period in 1967.

Bill Imposes Penalties For Questioning Doctors

TORONTO (CP) — A proposed change in the Evidence Act which would allow the courts to penalize parties in litigation for unnecessarily cross-examining doctors came under opposition attack in the legislature Wednesday.

Elmer Sopha (L—Sudbury) deplored any attempt to restrict the right of any lawyer to cross-examine a witness and promised that the bill will encounter harsh criticism when it goes to the legislature's legal bills committee.

Under the bill, introduced by Attorney-General Arthur Wishart, litigants will be given the option of entering signed reports by medical examiners instead of calling the doctors as witnesses.

This provision was supported by Pat Lawlor (NDP — Toronto Lakeshore) and others as a move toward reducing litigation costs.

Criticism centred on a subsection of the bill under which the court could assess costs against a party who insisted on calling a doctor and cross-examining him if the court decided the evidence would have been produced as effectively through a medical report.

The bill eventually received second reading—approval in principle.

Price Control Powers Sought

LONDON (AP) — Britain's Labor government sought sweeping power Wednesday to curb price and income increases in a move billed as vital to the nation's drive for solvency.

The move already has provoked angry opposition from leftists and union members and is likely to spark a stormy debate in Parliament.

The government said tight control of prices, wages, rents and dividends is essential to make sure British export goods keep the competitive edge provided by the Nov. 18 devaluation of the pound.

The administration's policy on prices and incomes was outlined in a policy statement sent to Parliament. A bill will be submitted later.

Quinte Fishing Derby To Be Bigger, Better

PICTON (Staff) — Good news for fishermen — the May holiday weekend May 18-20 this year will see the annual Quinte Fishing Derby take place. A few changes this year were announced at a special meeting arranged by Prince Edward Chamber of Commerce, who along with Quinte Isle Tourist Association sponsor the popular event.

This year the derby will be held in co-operation with the Prince Edward Yacht Club, where the derby headquarters for registrations and weigh-in are to be established.

The derby will be tieing in with other events going on the same weekend. These include a Fish Fry at the Yacht Club, a dance Saturday evening, water skiing demonstrations on Sunday and Monday and championship outboard races, sponsored by Picton Outboard Racing Association on Roblin Lake at Ameliasburg. Prizes for the fishing derby, as in past years will be an outboard motor for the largest pickerel caught by a person from outside the area, and a second motor for the largest pickerel caught by an area resident. The area comprises the five counties bordering the Bay of Quinte: Prince Edward, Hastings, Northumberland, Lennox and Addington and Frontenac.

Many other prizes will be awarded — a Mitchell rod and reel for the largest pickerel caught by a woman, a spinning outfit for the largest Northern Pike, and a deluxe sleeping bag for the person who catches the greatest total weight of pickerel and pike over the entire three-day derby.

Already many enquiries — both by phone and mail have been received from far-away points — an illustration of how popular the annual event has become in recent years.

Town Council Gives Assent To Project

TRENTON — A committee of town council will co-operate in a joint effort to establish a community workshop for retarded adults.

Council's Industrial and Economic Development committee, under chairman Paul Tripp, has agreed to join forces with the Trenton-Brighton Association for Retarded Children and the local Kiwanis Club.

Kiwanis president, Frank Miron, presented a brief to town council asking help in locating a suitable one-acre site for the project, preferably in the Stanley St. area.

Mr. Miron said organizers have in mind a building of 60 by 40-foot concrete block construction to eventually house the workshop which will provide employment for retarded persons over 18 years of age.

At present, the Trenton-Brighton Association oversees a school for retarded children under 18 near Smithfield.

"These people, at the present time, after leaving school, are on a dead-end street," Mr. Miron told councillors.

"A centre would provide a useful occupation for at least eight to 15 people at the outset. They will perform services for industry — (primarily simple tasks") — Mr. Miron indicated, such as coiling wire, or assembling nuts and bolts.

The Kiwanis president reported good response from local industry for the project, which would be the 60th of its kind in the province.

Delegates Named To Meet

TRENTON — This town will be one of 17 municipalities that could be represented at an April 30 Brighton meeting for the establishment of a Lower Trent watershed conservation authority.

Councillor Paul Tripp, chairman of council's Industrial and Economic Development Committee, and R. E. Whitley have been delegated to attend the meeting, which must have representation from two-thirds of the 17 municipalities in the watershed before a vote can be taken to form an authority.

A two - thirds majority vote will carry the request for an authority into the hands of the Minister of Energy and Resources Management.

Organizers have held a series of information meetings in the proposed authority's area, which includes most of Northumberland County, and west Hastings.

Audiences were told this area was one of the only watersheds in southern Ontario that did not fall under the jurisdiction of a conservation authority. An authority would deal with a diversity of problems, including flood control and improvement of recreational facilities.

Representation is on a per capita basis. Trenton, being the largest municipality in the Lower Trent area, would have two members sitting on an authority.

Subscription Receipt Comes After 32 Years

It took nearly 32 years, but Roy Dulmage, Bay of Quinte High School District business administrator, finally has his receipt for a magazine subscription which he took out back in 1936.

Mr. Dulmage says he received the postcard receipt for his money about three weeks ago.

The card was postmarked in Toronto on July 3, 1936 and didn't arrive at the Belleville post office until March 7 this year.

The card bore a two cent postage stamp carrying the picture of George V.

The receipt was for a subscription to the "Poultry Review".

"I don't remember now but I must have received the magazine," laughed Mr. Dulmage. "But I don't know where the receipt has been these last 32 years."

The World Looks at Vietnam Following Hanoi Peace Feeler

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

A hopeful mood has spread around the world in the wake of an apparent step toward peace in Vietnam.

In Paris, government officials said Hanoi had made a positive step towards peace and two newspapers speculated that France may have played a diplomatic role in bringing this about.

The conservative Le Figaro said President Charles de Gaulle's declaration at Wednesday's cabinet meeting that "President Johnson has taken a first step towards peace" and praising this "act of reason and political courage" gave the impression that he "knew something."

It pointed out that de Gaulle made his remarks several hours before the North Vietnamese announcement.

The pro-Gaullist Paris Jour said de Gaulle's remarks suggested he knew Hanoi's position in advance.

Pope Paul and UN Secretary-General U Thant, both of whom long have urged a peaceful settlement, expressed cautious optimism.

Vatican sources said the North Vietnamese offer seemed a sign of the serious desire for peace the Pope called for last December.

Britain, one of the co-chairmen of the 1954 Geneva conference that ended the Indochina war between France and the Viet Minh, expressed readiness to help call an international conference to end the war.

South Vietnamese officials today expressed surprise at the prompt response Hanoi made to President Johnson's peace initiative and warned this could only mean a stepping-up of the Communist war effort.

The officials said the Viet Cong and North Vietnam would have to increase their attacks in order to strengthen their hand at the negotiating table.

South Vietnamese diplomats saw Hanoi's readiness to talk with the Americans on ending the bombing as a move to sidestep the thorny question of Viet Cong representation at any peace talks.

But they said South Vietnam's attitude was clear—the North Vietnamese delegation to any talks could include Viet Cong representatives in a "master-servant" relationship.

Leaders of two of the five allies fighting alongside South Vietnam and the United States commented favorably.

Great News

End of War in Sight: Martin

OTTAWA (CP) — News that Hanoi is willing to talk about steps to curtail fighting in Vietnam means the end of the war may be in sight, External Affairs Minister Martin said Wednesday.

"This is the best news I have heard in a long time," he said in a statement after hearing reports of a new Hanoi position.

"This move in itself is not an end to the war in Vietnam. But for the first time in years we can allow ourselves to hope, even to expect, that we are moving toward peace and that the end of that tragic war may be in sight."

Mr. Martin quickly volunteered Canadian participation in any peace conference and said the country is ready to aid in rehabilitation and economic development for Vietnam.

The latest position of the North Vietnamese government was contained in a radio broadcast from Hanoi.

As received here, the Hanoi statement chided the U.S. government for not making a full response to the "just demands" of the North Vietnamese. But it added:

"However, on its part, the Democratic Republic of Vietnam government declares its readiness to send its representatives to make contact with U.S. representatives to decide with the U.S. side the unconditional cessation of bombing and all other war acts against the Democratic Republican of Vietnam so that talks could begin."

With The Trotters

BATAVIA, N.Y. (CP) — New York was the featured $1,300 pace at Batavia Downs Wednesday night in a 2:08 trip. Nie Jo Abbie, owned by Christopher Locking and Clarence Wiskin of Kingston, Ont., and driven by Elden Turcotte, won the opening dash, the first in five this season, and $520.20.

CAMPBELLVILLE, Ont. (CP) — Gracie Lochinver, driven by John Graham, Wednesday night posted her third consecutive victory by coming home first in the eighth race at Mohawk Raceway.

Gracie Lochinver, who won only two of 29 races last season, edged Armbro Gambol by a head.

Johnny Booth, the first-race winner, and Toothy Doll, the second-race winner, clicked for a $37.50 daily double.

FEWER FLEAS

SAIGON (AP) — The flea Indés—the average number of fleas found on rats—is down from nine to two in the port area, a U.S. AID public health division report says. The index, an indicator of the likelihood of bubonic plague, has been lowered by DDT dusting. The plague can be spread to humans by fleas.

Gordon Parks Is First Negro To Direct A Major Production

HOLLYWOOD (AP) —Gordon Parks is a professional photographer, author, poet, composer —and the first Negro ever signed to direct a major production for release by a major movie company.

He'll direct the film version of his autobiographical novel The Learning Tree around Fort Scott, Kan., next August, for Warner Bros.-Seven Arts. Parks already has composed the film's musical theme and will write its musical background.

"This is a tremendous breakthrough, a thing we've always fought for," he said of his directorial assignment's significance to Negroes. "It might encourage other black boys to say, 'My God, maybe I can be a director, too.'"

Parks, 55, has been a Life magazine photographer-writer for 19 years.

A Minneapolis high school dropout, he has composed piano and orchestral works performed in Venice and elsewhere.

Puffing a pipe, tilting back in a chair in his rooms at the Beverly Hills Hotel, he told of his unlikely beginnings:.

—Childhood "on the other side of the tracks" in Fort Scott as the youngest of a dirt farmer's 15 children, six of whom survive.

—Strong influence by his mother, Sarah, a religious woman who told him, "You can do anything a white boy does." She advised him to make every experience his "learning tree."

—Boyhood traumas like seeing two Negro women slash each other to death with knives and being locked by white undertakers in a room with a train-mangled corpse.

A youthful enemy's knife-gash left one nostril still closed. In an eyelid Parks still carries a fragment of window glass from a clash with a white boy who called him "nigger boy."

A bartender-waiter's job enabled him to buy a $12.50 camera. A camera store in Minneapolis, where he lived briefly with a married sister after his mother died, displayed his first three photos in its window. This led to work as a fashion photographer, photography study on a fellowship, picture-taking for the Office of War Information, the job with Life.

District Health Unit Needs More Staff

NAPANEE — It will take at least a year for the new district health unit to become established and prove itself. This is the opinion of Dr. W. N. Turpell, MOH for Lennox and Addington. "We are short-staffed here and the district health unit will need additional members. At least seven or eight sanitary inspectors are needed, and there are now only three." Napanee is also short one nurse.

"There has never been any question that the sub-unit would continue in Napanee," stated William Briscoe, last year's warden, and one of this county's representatives on the district unit board. Neither Dr. Turpell nor Mr. Briscoe would commit himself concerning establishment of a sub-unit in the northern part of this county, although they agreed that one is needed. "We tried one once and could not keep it staffed," Mr. Briscoe noted. It will take time to work out this problem.

Head office will be somewhere in the Kingston area and Cataraqui has been mentioned. A temporary office is being sought and it will probably be on Ongawanda Sanatorium. The district unit must be in operation by July 1, 1967, in order to obtain this year's 75 per cent grant which will probably begin this month.

Services may drop temporarily if Mr. Lennox and Addington during the early stages, but will eventually be better, Dr. Turpell believes. "Everything is yet unsettled. No dates has yet been set for the initial meeting of the new board. We will have a lot of problems and there will probably be rough spots but in time things will work out for the better," is his opinion.

Comedian So Good New Show Has Been Named in Honor

NEW YORK (AP)—The American Broadcasting Co., alone among the networks, preempted a prime-time program on Wednesday night for a half-hour news special evaluating the response of Hanoi to the U.S. moves to start peace talks.

The reported willingness of the North Vietnamese to talk about the problem came at the end of 77 hours of domestic drama and crisis. So the program performed a real public service. It presented George W. Ball, former state department official, and asserted senator all recommending a go-slow attitude.. Ball said in a matter-of-fact way that the Hanoi response represented his view, merely "some movement" in a fluid situation, and cautiously offered hope that it was "the beginning of a process that might eventually lead to peace.

Important events have tumbled over each other with such rapidity in recent days that one reacted with extra amusement to Dick Cavett Wednesday morning as he opened his new ABC variety-conversation show by remarking: "I haven't seen the papers yet this morning. Have any more presidential candidates quit?"

Cavett, whose show is not much more than a month old, is the new "in" comedian and is a bright funny fellow appearing in a daily program that, unfortunately, can rarely be seen by many of the people who would enjoy it most.

However, a lot of people can watch TV from 12:30 a.m. until noon, and this includes a number of show business folk who have done a lot of talking about it. The talk already has led ABC to change the name of the show from "This Morning to the Dick Cavett Show. It took even Jack Paar years to achieve that kind of star billing.

Recommended tonight: California Girl, ABC, 9-10 EST, a tuneful, light documentary on what is perhaps a threat, with Flying Nun star Sally Field narrating.

Council Votes to Install Gates at Dump Entrance

DESERONTO — Deseronto Council took steps Monday night to control the indiscriminate dumping of waste materials in its town dump. The caretaker, hired on a part time basis, saw to it that waste was deposited in an orderly fashion, but this was only when he was on the scene.

In order to prevent careless people from abusing the privilege of using the town dump, the council voted to install a locked gate, and to limit use of the dump to certain days. The caretaker, Bill Sharpe, will be on hand Wednesday afternoon, and all day Thursday and Saturday. At all other times the gate will be kept locked.

A letter from the Ontario Water Resources Commission requested that a meeting be set up between the council, the town engineers, Hisey and Barrington, and representatives of the OWRC, in order to study the earliest possible date. Fred Sutcliffe, the town's garbage collector, was granted an additional day a week.

Donald Hubble, representing the Business and Professional Men's Club, walked on council to ask for financial assistance in erecting a sign at the west end of the town. He displayed a small replica of the sign, and explained that it would be lighted. The organization he represented would be responsible for maintenance he said but would like help for the initial cost. He was granted $375 as the town's share in this form of advertisement.

Peter Morris introduced Les Steele to council members, and explained that he himself could no longer operate an ambulance in the town and his immediate vicinity. The requirements of the Department of Health were far too high for him to meet as it involved the purchase of a new ambulance and equipment. The City Ambulance Service, which Mr. Steele represented, could take over this work on a county basis.

Mr. Steele explained that all ambulances of his company were equipped with two-way radios, and that when a call came in, the one nearest the scene would respond. The City Ambulance Service could be called directly, or calls could be taken as usual by Mr. Morris who had volunteered to relay such calls as a community service. Also, in case of emergency, he would assist at an accident scene taking with him such equipment as he now has, such as oxygen. But he would no longer have an ambulance.

INVESTMENT OR FAMILY HOME

Excellent east side residential location, close to schools, YMCA and shopping, the lower self-containing apartment has an income of $75 monthly. Upstairs you can live comfortably in a 3 bedroom home or enjoy your present income of $120.00 monthly. Large living room. Oil heating. Only 4 years old, asking $19,900.00, make us an offer. Paved street. Low down payment.

CLEAN AND COMFORTABLE

Be sure to see this 2 bedroom stucco bungalow close to downtown. Large lot. Modern kitchen and bath. This is a real clean home for a person with a small income. Full price now just $4,600.00 terms available, or sharp price for cash offer.

LOSING ON THE STOCK MARKET?

Why not invest in an apartment house and eliminate the risk! Real estates never stay way in value — up - up - up.

Besides the increase in actual value of the property, the return from rents goes up and up as well. If you are worried about vacancies, just try and rent an apartment in town.

We have a few lots left zoned for tri-plex, skiplex or 12 unit apartments. See us at once and start your money really working for you. Speak to your auditor about the tax saving alone.

BISHOP EVANS PRESENTS LAY READER LICENCE

TYENDINAGA RESERVE — At the service in Christ Church last Sunday, Arnold Brant was presented with his license as a lay reader and catechist for the Tyendinaga Parish. The license was issued by Bishop Ralph Bishop of Ontario. Earl Brant, diocesan lay reader and catechist, made the presentation.

Her Majesty's Most Loyal Chapel of the Mohawks has had a lay reader and catechist since 1942, when these people were still in their homes in the fertile Mohawk Valley in Northern New York State. It was one of the earliest licenses issued on this continent. Their lay reader accompanied them when they went into exile in order to remain under the British flag, and, when they landed on the shores of the Bay of Quinte, May 22, 1784, the lay reader held their first service in their new homeland, with the treasured Queen Anne Communion service on the altar cloth on an upturned canoe.

This is not the first time the parish has had two lay readers, but it is the first time in many years. Arnold Brant has established himself as a man worthy of this honour. He has been a Boy Scout leader for 14 years, and a worker in the Sunday School for 12 years. He is now the superintendent. He has served both as rector's warden and as people's warden.

The new lay reader is married and has a son and daughter. He is employed as a carpenter with the Department of National Defence in Trenton. All his life his home has been on the Tyendinaga Reserve.

EGG PRODUCERS

To make their scheme work, our egg board must control out-of-province eggs. We know we can NEVER INTERFERE with interprovincial trade . . . thank goodness or we would completely break up into small provinces without units . . . the B.N.A. act prevents this.

With the huge exports of Canada, no federal cabinet would allow severe interference with international trade. The whole theme is to FREE TRADE, especially with the U.S.A.

We need to adapt ourselves gradually, as we are now doing, keep up to the Americans in the technology and efficiency of egg production as we are NOW DOING . . . NOT STAGNATE under the protection of a quota plan and let the then more efficient production from other provinces and countries STEAL OUR MARKETS . . . they are currently ours, let's KEEP THEM! Actively . . . get all the details . . . be fully informed before you vote.

How will Manitoba act . . . their farmers WILL NOT VOTE till we vote and most certainly will not vote for controls IF WE DO . . . Quebec has NO BROILER PLAN, neither has Manitoba.

Respectfully

Little Reason to Fear Diagnostic X-rays

By Dr. Joseph G. Molner

Dear Dr. Molner: I am terribly concerned that I have done my 14-year-old daughter great harm. She was the picture of health until she was 12 and began having trouble with her stomach. Until then she never had an X-ray.

A series of gastro-intestinal X-rays was inconclusive. She was hospitalized for another series, and six months later, over my protests, for some more. In all, four series in 18 months.

The head of the laboratory tried to reassure me by saying they had the newest equipment, and four or five series would cause less exposure than one series five years ago. Are they took my daughter's age into consideration when doing each series.

Now comes the part that frightens me. She is going to Boston for a complete gastroenterology workup. They said they would take new X-rays only when absolutely necessary and that even if she has another series there was nothing to worry about. Oh, Dr. Molner, I disagree.

I am so worried that I have thought of calling off the trip. She also has had three bitewing X-rays at the dentist's this year. Have I let the child be harmed for the future? Will her reproductive organs be damaged? — Mrs. N. B.

I don't think you should hesitate for a minute about going ahead with the new examination.

It is true that we all should avoid any needless exposure to X-rays. We know that the effect can be cumulative and that too much can (or may) be harmful. Being careful makes sense.

But fearing the use of X-ray for any diagnostic need is carrying carefulness beyond the point of reasonableness.

Think of it this way. Sometimes X-ray treatments are given in series of exposures which may be measured in minutes, and a full series would cause less exposure than one series five years ago. Are they took my daughter's age into consideration when doing each series.

Now comes the part that frightens me. She is going to Boston for a complete gastroenterology workup. They said they would take new X-rays only when absolutely necessary and that even if she has another series there was nothing to worry about. Oh, Dr. Molner, I disagree.

I am so worried that I have thought of calling off the trip. She also has had three bitewing X-rays at the dentist's this year. Have I let the child be harmed for the future? Will her reproductive organs be damaged? — Mrs. N. B.

The beneficial results of any (X-ray) examination indicated, based on the clinical judgment of the physician, far far outweigh any possible harmful effects."

He cited a study of more than 300 women who had been treated (not merely X-rayed) by radiation of ovaries and the pituitary, to see what genetic harm had been done to their children over the following 5 to 8 years. It showed "no increase in genetic damage . . . the incidence of genetic damage to the children and grandchildren of the group was less than in the general population."

There are great masses of statistics and studies, but it boils down to this: There is no reason to be fearful over such X-ray as may be required for diagnostic purposes.

Dear Dr. Molner: I read that artificial sweeteners cause cancer. Please tell me what the medical profession knows about it. — R. C.

I do not know the origin of this farfung rumor — but it has been studied at length, and is still being studied, particularly by the Food and Drug Administration, and there is no evidence that these sweeteners cause cancer.

British Methodists, Anglicans Study Plan for Church Union

LONDON (CP)-A final blueprint for union of the Church of England and Britain's Methodist church in the 1970s is published today, despite remaining differences about communion wine, divorce and the status of clergy.

The final report of the Anglican-Methodist commission proposes two-stage union beginning in 1970 with a series of "services of reconciliation."

The first stage would establish intercommunion—mutual recognition o each church's recognition of each church's rites and ministries. The second stage, which might be reached by 1980, would be organic union as one church with a name yet to be decided.

The final plan includes some intentionally - ambiguous compromises on the mechanics of achieving union.

Also postponed is settlement of different attitudes towards remarriage of a divorced person. The Church of England holds a divorced person cannot be remarried if the original partner is alive. Methodist ministers treat each case on its merits.

Each church would maintain present practice pending final agreement, although interim arrangements would involve a serious anomaly.

A divorced Anglican could be remarried by a Methodist minister—and thus remain in communion with his own church—as long as the new partner was Methodist. If the proposed new partner were anything but Methodist, the marriage could not be solemnized legally.

One of the chief sticking points has been overcome by the projected Methodist acceptance of the episcopate, the "Anglican-style system of church government through a hierarchy of bishops.

However, the form of service and words to be used to make the ministers of each church valid in the other's eyes remains touchy. Ministers would be called "presbyters," rather than the Anglican "priests."

In the proposed "reconciliation services," the Anglican bishops laying on of hands in recognition of Methodist ministers as presbyters is taken by some as a reflection on the validity of the Methodist ministry. However, Methodist leaders would also lay hands on Anglican bishops and welcome them into the Methodist fellowship.

The commission report will be considered by assemblies of both churches between now and July, 1968. If approved, the first-stage union would be arranged the following year.

Lord's Prayer Poor Start

Thoughts At Large:

The trouble with the conservative is that he cares for people, but only for his kind of people, and is indifferent to the general needs of mankind; the trouble with the liberal is that he cares keenly for the needs of mankind, but isn't so concerned with the actual people around him. The conservative can't see the forest for the trees, and the liberal can't see the trees for the forest.

Antique mythology coupled the goddess of love with the god of war to warn us symbolically that everything we do not learn to love we will eventually destroy — mankind cannot remain indifferent, and is inescapably pulled toward one of these polarities or the other.

Jeane Dixon's Horoscope

For April 5

Your birthday today: The coming year for you has a Saturnine mood of sustained personal effort, dedication to self-fulfilment and homebuilding. Health care programs are strongly recommended to counter the stresses of fatigue and tension. Today's natives have a strong sense of rhythm.

ARIES (Mar. 21 — Apr. 19): If you took care in attending to your duties Wednesday, it should help bring some recognition or reaction. Take on today's increased responsibility in your usual stride.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 — May 20): The temptation today is to seek out added worries, needless responsibility. Rather, put your efforts into your regular work-avoiding speculative propositions. Rest early this evening.

GEMINI (May 21 — June 20): If you can let pass some coolness among close associates and relatives, it can be a great day for getting things done in business and personal arrangements. Find some light entertainment this evening.

CANCER (June 21 — July 22): If you don't mix them up, you can have both business and romantic interests succeed today. Discretion is the key word for the evening.

LEO (July 23 — Aug. 22): Keep your wallet in your pocket today, except or travel expenses. The farther you can get the better, so long as somebody there owes you something.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 — Sept. 22): This is a good day for paying or refinancing your obligations. Pay some attention to the public image you are projecting—it pays. Good manners are essential to life in heavily populated cities.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 — Oct. 22): The continued pressure on the job finds you catching your second wind and going well. Keep on with a steady pace and due care for detail and for your own health.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23—Nov. 21): Doing what you have promised to do is very satisfying today. Energy invested in putting your life in order is well used. Attend a lecture or discussion of your favorite hobby or philosophic matters tonight.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 — Dec. 21): Reach out for the hands and hearts of your friends and relatives for and near today, but restrain your restlessness during household chores and errands. Observe all safety rules and precautions.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 — Jan. 19): Today is for conservative common sense. Enjoy what is around you, the people nearby. Travel is not favored. You can get away with no funny business today.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 — Feb. 18): Idealism sometimes manifests itself in tangible, enjoyable forms, and it should be quite visible to you today. Pursue vocational actions vigorously.

PISCES (Feb. 19 — Mar. 20): Your public image still does not satisfy some people, so make allowances or adjustments. Travel with friends is favored. If you are owed some longstanding loan, ask for it today, to confirm whether you will get it back or have to write it off.

Magistrate Urges Indians To Leave Reservation

BRECHIN, Ont. (CP) — A county magistrate Wednesday criticized life on reservations and advised four Indian youths who appeared for sentencing to "take jobs in distant lands and make new lives for yourselves."

Magistrate Harry W. Jenny said reservations were "not good things," and told the youths, convicted of breaking into summer cottages and possession of stolen goods, that "just because there is . . . Ojibway Indian in your background is no reason to give up."

Of the four Indian youths involved in the robberies, one, Melville Simcoe, was remanded for four months, and a second, Clayton B. George, was given a two-month suspended term. Two others, Stewart Benson and Merle R. Ingersoll were both sentenced to one year definite and one year indefinite.

The four are from the Rama Indian reserve on Lake Couchiching.

Brechin is about 15 miles southeast of Orillia.

Missionary To Speak In Area

Dr. Robert McClure, who calls himself a 'tenhole' Christian, but who is considered to be one of Canada's outstanding missionary doctors speaks in the area, April 5.

He will speak at Trenton High School, at 9 a.m. at the Albert College at 1 p.m. and to the United Church Women at Picton at 3 p.m.

Dr. McClure is fluent in Chinese to the extent that he thinks in Mandarin. He grew up in that country, and spoke the language before learning English.

He studied at the University of Toronto but returned to China in 1922 to begin missionary work.

During the Sino - Japanese war he was field Director in China for the International Red Cross.

As a result of 11 years of war experience he speaks out strongly against the matter. "Guns are poor equipment to win over people."

He is not opposed to the United States efforts in Vietnam however, and believes that the war there will not solve the country's problems.

He left China in 1948 as the Communists took over and has never returned although he has since worked at Gaza Strip and in India.

The speeches in this area are a part of a whirlwind tour for the support he has received from Canada in his work afield.

He plans to return to Asia, without pay, to continue his efforts.

700 Attend Country Music Show in City

The two-year old Trent Valley Jamboree country music show from Stirling moved to Belleville Saturday night and played in the Centennial Secondary School auditorium.

About 700 people were in attendance as special guest star, June Eikhard, lady fiddler and Art Essery, an Oshawa recording artist, entertained.

The stage band was Bill Johnson and the Country Showmen while the local entertainers included Geraldine Towns, Ethel Francis, Doug McCrory, Mick Whalen, Marjorie Shattuck-rand, Robert Pearson, Ken Stapley and Ken Jr., Don Wood, Gladys (Pinnie Mert), and Arlie McFie.

Dick Lovering of CJBQ radio served as Master of Ceremonies for the show.

Bert Bastedo, Stirling, Given Legion Post

Bert Bastedo of Stirling has been appointed as Deputy Zone Commander for Zone "F" 3 of the Royal Canadian Legion.

He replaces Oscar Thurston of Tweed, who resigned from the position.

The appointment was made at the spring Zone "F" 3 meeting held Sunday at Marmora Town Hall.

Three past presidents were presented with medals by Zone Commander Karl Brant. They were: Harold Long, Tweed Branch 428, Earl Murphy, Deseronto Branch 280 and Comrade Jack Lowery, Marmora Branch 237.

It was also reported at the meeting that membership is on the upswing through all of the Zone branches.

Zone membership in 1966 was 1,369. It grew to 1,500 in 1967.

King's Murder Starts Rash of Negro Riots

Going Home to Mourn

It Really Doesn't Matter Now, I've Been to the Mountain-top

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — "It really doesn't matter what happens now. I've been to the mountaintop."

The speaker was Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. His audience was a cheering crowd of some 2,000 supporters. It was Wednesday night.

Less than 24 hours later, the foremost apostle of non-violence in the U.S. was dead—the victim of an assassin's bullet—as he stood on the threshold of the biggest test of the theories he espoused.

King said Wednesday night he was aware the threats had been made on his life. But he said he had seen the fulfillment of his goals of non-violence, and did not worry about the future.

He said his flight to Memphis from Atlanta Tuesday had been delayed because of a baggage search which airlines officials said resulted from threats to him.

"And there have been some threats around here," he added.

"We've got some difficult days ahead, but it really doesn't matter now, because I've been to the mountaintop."

The supreme test of the theory of non-violence was to have come next Monday, when King planned to lead a massive march down the path where violence broke out last week.

It was the first time in King's long history of civil rights activity that one of his drives had erupted into violence. He was clearly disturbed.

Negro Leader Shot in Face

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (CP) — Widespread Negro violence including arson and shooting broke out in several American cities as a convulsive wave of reaction followed the assassination Thursday of civil rights leader Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

Police immediately launched a manhunt for the killer and it was intensified today as the nation reacted with angry shock over the tragedy.

King, 39, died in a Memphis hospital Thursday night less than an hour after he was shot in the neck by a white gunman while standing on the balcony of his motel here.

The violence that swept some city streets accompanied the na

Police said a white man was stabbed to death during violence in Washington. A Negro died of stab wounds in Harlem although it was not known if his death was related to disturbances there.

Police in Memphis shot and critically wounded one man after they said he opened fire on them. Two Detroit police officers were shot and wounded while patrolling in a predominantly Negro neighborhood.

Widespread looting and arson struck Harlem and Brooklyn's Bedford-Stuyvesant section.

More than 90 persons were arrested and scores injured.

Angry crowds burned and looted stores in a Negro neighborhood just two miles north of the White House in Washington. Some 50 persons were injured and 107 arrested.

Police in Jackson, Miss., fired tear gas at groups of Negroes on the Jackson State College campus. A white-owned supermarket in a Negro section was firebombed despite a Negro leader's pleas for non-violence.

Disturbances were reported in Nashville, Newark, Boston and a number of smaller cities and towns.

Assassin Unaided White Man

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — A single white man, following an apparently well-planned procedure, was the assasin Thursday of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., Police Director Frank Holloman said today.

Holloman said the investigation showed the assasin checked into a main street flophouse at mid-afternoon, shot King from a second-floor window of the building three hours later and then disappeared in the resulting confusion.

The fatal shot was fired from the window of a common bathroom in the flop-house, Holloman said. King's room was 205 feet away, through trees and across a street but in "clear" view of the window.

Holloman said the assasin was a white male, between 26 and 32 years of age, standing six feet tall and weighing 165-175 pounds. Police radios said he had dark to sandy hair, medium build, a ruddy complexion and was wearing a black suit and white shirt.

With Fire and Stones

Angry Negroes Roam Streets In Many United States Cities

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Violence burst out in cities across the U.S. in the wake of the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. as bands of Negroes smashed windows, looted stores, threw firebombs and attacked police with guns, stones and bottles.

A white man was stabbed to death in the midst of violence in Washington and a Negro died of stab wounds in New York, although it was not known if the latter death was related to the violence.

A white youth died in a fire at Tallahassee, Fla., which police said was started by a firebomb.

Scores were injured, including about 50 in Washington, and several score in New York.

Two Negro students of Mississippi Valley State College at Itta Bena, Miss., were wounded by pellets from shotguns fired by highway patrolmen trying to halt 300 students' marchers. Police said shots had been fired from the crowd.

Snipers used guns and bows and arrows against police on the campus of Florida A. and M. University at Tallahassee, but no policemen were hurt.

Tallahassee Mayor Eugene Berkowitz and another city official were treated for minor cuts after rocks shattered the windows of their car.

In Detroit, two policemen were shot and wounded as they patrolled a Negro section, but that city escaped the street violence that erupted elsewhere.

In Memphis, where King died, police shot and critically wounded a man they said had been caught behind a store with a rifle.

More than 90 persons were arrested in Memphis and a like number in New York, and scores in other cities in the midst of tie violence.

As word of King's death spread through Memphis, Negroes in scattered areas looted stores, stoned police and fire trucks and threw fire bombs. The violence continued today.

National guard troops were sent back into Memphis after having been pulled out only Wednesday. Troops also were sped into Nashville, where violence flared shortly after the shooting.

There were disturbances in Hartford, Conn., Tallahassee,

LBJ Postpones Trip to Hawaii

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson again held off his departure for Hawaii and called a mid-morning White House meeting of civil rights leaders in the wake of violence erupting after the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

Johnson, had originally planned to leave in the middle of the night for the Hawaii conference on Vietnam policy.

Unity His Final Plea

PM Jaunty But Modest on Big Night

OTTAWA (CP) — The Liberal party wore its heart on its sleeve for bow-tied Mike Pearson Thursday night.

The 70-year-old prime minister, jaunty, modest, successfully fighting back any nostalgia, made his final appearance as Liberal leader before 9,000 cheering, singing followers.

Mr. Pearson received three standing ovations and his hour-hour speech was interrupted by applause 32 times.

Characteristically, his final plea was for national unity.

The huge crowd responded with cheers, but was moved even more by the humorous, personal touches.

"As I get older, I refuse to feel older," he said, "or at times, my severest critic tells me, even act my age."

"I do not believe I have come to think 'old' just because I have grown older; nor, on the other hand, do I believe I am more mature or wiser at 70 than I was at 40."

The prime minister placed the laurel wreath on none of the eight candidates for his post, but he did call on all Liberals to adjust themselves to "inevitable and revolutionary change."

However, the party must not cut itself off from the past.

"A party can die of convulsions as well as stagnation," he declared.

The party leader was expected by the image-maker "to be a combination of Abraham Lincoln and Batman."

"Then, when the poor, honest, decent chap can't live up to this image, the procels of demolition begins so that another superman can be erected on the ruins.

"I mention all this to give my successor courage and good cheer. . . ."

Quinte Delegates Meet

Hellyer-Trudeau Fight Foreseen

By DONALD SOUTTER
Managing Editor

OTTAWA — Canada's biggest pants button has been pushed . . . and the results have turned this convention into a far different opinion poll than expected.

With great care and much money, Liberal organizers had thought they had devised a sound system to give the grassroots delegates a chance.

Today, as the power brokers pulled out all the stops to mount an effective anti-Trudeau campaign, the chance to make an individual decision was slipping away.

Everybody is assuming today that instead of 10 candidates vying for the leadership honor there will be only two serious possibilities after the first ballot.

Emerging as the most likely opponent is Paul Hellyer, the architect of Canada's moves in integration who has successfully shed his "arrogant" label to emerge as a man of incisive decision.

"He can win it on the fourth ballot," said Frank Fothwell last night. Fothwell, former member of parliament and ote-time Belleville mayor, is the anchor man for Hellyer in the Quinte ridings.

The delegates from Hastings and Hastings - Prince Edward compared notes and comments in their suite at the Chateau Laurier last night. It boiled down in their minds to a Trudeau-Hellyer confrontation after the formality of first ballot sympathy votes was out of the way.

The Trudeau phenomenon is a strange one. His hospitality suites and meetings are crammed with young people. Many border on the verge of hippydom. It's a direct contrast with most of the other suites where youth—generally the white shirt and tie variety—is flavored by the presence of older persons.

It has brought about one min-

MOSCOW (Reuters) — The Russian government today backed North Vietnam's offer to hold talks with the United States on a bombing pause, saying it indicated a realistic way to end the war in Vietnam.

SAIGON (AP) — The siege of Khe Sanh has been lifted, a senior U.S. officer said today, although late this afternoon the spearhead of the big relief force was still nearly a mile from the 6,000 marine defenders of the combat base in the northwest corner of Vietnam.

NEW YORK (AP) — President Johnson during his meeting Wednesday with Senator Robert F. Kennedy said he would remain out of the political fight this year because he did not believe it was appropriate for a "lame duck" president to try to pick his successor, The New York Times says.

Kill!

WASHINGTON (AP) — Black Power advocate Stokely Carmichael urged Negroes today to arm themselves with guns and take to the streets in retaliation for the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

Carmichael told a press conference he wants them to "kill off the real enemy."

He said there would be executions in the streets.

The Black Power leader declared that violence that erupted in city after city across the U.S. after King was shot in Memphis is "just light stuff" when compared with "what will happen."

"We have to retaliate," he added.

City Voters From Four Areas Solidly Oppose Slaughterhouse

City voters from Glen Ar-den, West Park Village, Park Dale, and Hawley Crescent presented a solid front of opposition, Wednesday evening, to construction of a slaughterhouse in northwest Belleville. Meeting under the banner of the Park Dale Ratepayers' Association at 8:30 p.m. in the Community Centre Hall, a motion to oppose the necessary re-zoning in the area was unanimously approved.

Presiding at the opening of the meeting, President Bill Rutherford welcomed Alderman Art Keegan and Alderman Dick Ellis as guests. Alderman Keegan expressed the regrets of Alderman Orr, who had also planned to attend but was unable to do so due to pressure of other matters.

Carrying on with the normal business of the Association, secretary Mrs. Agnes Wilson read the minutes of past meetings which were ratified as presented. Vice president Joe Cox presented a financial report from the Park Dale Community Board, and also noted that additional funds would be required in the near future.

Reporting for the Entertainment Committee, Charlie Keeble expressed appreciation for the food supplied at a recent function by a group of the ladies, and noted that the next function was tentatively planned for May 8. Mrs. Fortin advised that while the membership picture was fairly good, much recruiting needs to be done.

Treasurer Don Ferch reported that the Association's financial position is deteriorating, and appealed for new members. Rising to speak on this subject, Charlie Keeble declared that he felt many people in the area are unaware of the Association and what it accomplishes.

He noted that if the Ratepayers' Association does not continue, there will be no sponsoring and upkeep of the Community Centre Building where Scouts, Cubs, Girl Guides and Brownies have free accommodation.

"Although there are many people here tonight," declared Mr. Keeble, "this is mainly due to the slaughterhouse issue. At times like this," he continued, "people seem to exhibit an interest, but when it comes to attending and joining the Association will support action."

Jim McKenna of the Scouting Group Committee, advised the meeting that the spring fund drive would be held on April 20. This will take the form of a paper, a soft drink bottle, and basket drive, and it was requested that all donations be put out by 9:00 a.m.

The status of the proposed bridge over the CNR tracks on Sidney street was discussed, and it was decided that if the necessary engineering studies were not begun by May, it would be unlikely that a new bridge could be completed in 1968. Alderman Keegan and Alderman Ellis both stated that they intended to request City Council to authorize the studies without delay.

In addition, a committee consisting of Mr. Rutherford, J. Cox, C. Keeble, A. Whitney, and J. Zoochkan, was formed to prepare a brief for the subject and present it to City Council.

With the completion of regular business, the President opened the meeting for discussion and action on the slaughterhouse issue. He stated that L. Gorgenyi, who proposes to erect the slaughterhouse, was present, would make a full explanation and then answer questions.

To forestall many questions, Mr. Rutherford advised that although City Council had turned down the re-zoning application, the matter would come before Council again. A Planning Board hearing must still be held and the recommendations considered by council. The hearing is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. on April 8 in the Council Chambers at City Hall.

President Rutherford then introduced Mr. Gorgenyi, who addressed the meeting at length and explained the operation and methods of his proposed meat packing plant in detail. A site plan, a floor plan of the building, and a drawing of the area and building as it would appear after construction and landscaping, were all placed on display.

Many questions were asked, and lengthy and lively discussion followed. The general conclusions were that this was not the proper type of industry for the area and was certainly outside the intent of the original zoning bylaw. Assessment history has shown that residential areas adjacent to such industry tend to depreciate.

Objections were also raised to the amount of land — six acres — involved in the land split. With the slaughterhouse taking only 3.3 acres, the disposition of the remaining 2.7 acres appeared to open the door to further unsuitable industry or commercial development.

Conservation Area Parks Are A Bargain This Year

With rates for provincial parks increased this year, picnickers and campers using the facilities of the Moira River Conservation Area parks will be coming in for something of a bargain.

James McLeod, Authority secretary, said the conservation area advisory committee would call a meeting soon to discuss park costs, and although there may be a slight increase in charges nothing drastic was expected.

Last year the Authority charged $1 for overnight camping and 50 cents per car for picnics.

(In contrast the tab for overnight camping at provincial parks this year will be $2.50.)

The above rates applied only for the Vandervaart Park at Thomasburg, this being the only one of three areas operated by the Authority where a charge is made.

Eventually, it was stated, there may be a charge at the O'Hara Mill site northwest of Madoc, but this is not expected this year.

"We are not out to compete with provincial parks or with the commercial operators," Mr. McLeod said. "Our rates are lower, but then neither do we offer the facilities available at provincial parks."

For instance no running water is available at Authority parks. At the Vandervaart Park spring drinking water is available, while at the O'Hara Mill and at Price's Park (at Actinolite) well water is available.

Mr. McLeod said the majority of people frequenting the Authority parks seem to prefer that camping sites be left closer to the original state.

Plans call for the Vandervaart Park to officially open for the season on the May 18 weekend.

Past Grand Lodge Officers Honored by Moira Lodge

Of the 26 living Past District Deputy Grand Masters of Prince Edward District, 24 of them were present Wednesday night at a meeting of Moira Lake A.F. and A.M.-No. 11, in the Masonic Temple, Foster Ave.

The district of Prince Edward comprises 17 lodges, and takes in lodges from Bancroft on the north, to Picton on the south, Brighton on the west, and Deseronto on the east.

Three distinguished Masons were introduced to the large attendance at the meeting by Rt. Wor. Bro. W. J. Anderson, and were received and welcomed by Wor. Bro. Cliff Brown, Master of the lodge.

Never in Moira Lodge's long existence of 107 years has there been such an attendance of Past Grand Lodge officers.

For the degree work these P.D.D.G.M.'s were assigned the different "chairs" and conferred the Second Degree on a candidate, under the direction of Rt. Wor. Bro. Anderson.

Rt. Wor. Bro. George Little of Brighton, now 84 years of age, took a prominent part in the proceedings.

The Past District Deputies present and their lodges were: George Little, Brighton; Rae Spencer, Consecon; Arthur Hewitt, Bancroft; Robert McConnell, Brighton; George West, Madoc; Alva Collier, Picton; Frank Pringle, Deseronto; Bruce Porritt, Deseronto; Clare McPaul, Ameliasburg; Douglas McMaster, Trenton; Arthur McCarey, Tweed; Wm. Coulby, Moira, Belleville; Jerald Anderson, Moira, Belleville; M. M. Mackett, Moira, Belleville; Harry Reise, The Belleville Arbour Hill, The Belleville; Everett Wood, Eureka, Belleville and Frank Crompton, Temple, Belleville.

Unable to be present, and sending regrets were: Harold Haggarty, Frankford; James Clemenson, Wellington; Stewart Wood, Consecon; John Good, Stirling; John Churcher, Bancroft; Hilton McCamus, Picton; D. Newton, Trenton and Charles Buskard, Marmora.

Prior to the lodge meeting a dinner was served in the auditorium to the assembled gathering. Wor. Bro. Cliff Brown was toastmaster. Rt. Wor. Bro. H. McConnell said grace. Wor. Bro. A. W. Marner, as director of ceremonies, introduced the head table guests, Bro. George Straiton proposed a toast to Grand Lodge and was responded to by Very Wor. Bro. Ted Young, Grand Lodge Steward, in a capable manner.

To the toast to visitors, proposed by Bro. Norman Brown, Rt. Wor. Bro. H. McConnell, Toronto; Rt. Wor. Bro. Art J. Hill, Lindsay; Rt. Wor. Bro. Art Hewitt, Bancroft; Rt. Wor. Bro. Dave Stevens, Toronto and Rt. Wor. Bro. Jas. Stabler, Kingston, responded.

The entertainment was provided by the "Regents", a musical group, specializing in sacred music.

Obituaries and Funerals

FREDRICK JAMES SAVAGE

Funeral Service was conducted for Fredrick James Savage, on Thursday from the John R. Bush Funeral Home, officiated by Canon R. B. D. Wright.

A memorial service was also conducted by the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen on Tuesday evening led by President Jerry Sheridan, and Chaplain Gerry Gross.

Interment was in Belleville Cemetery.

The bearers were Jerry Sheridan, Albert McQuaide, F. K. Sunderland, Harry Miller, John MacQuarrie, and Arthur Bertram.

FRANK SAGER

DESERONTO — A lifelong resident of Deseronto, Frank Sager, died in the Lennox and Addington County General Hospital on Saturday last. He had been in failing health for a few months and was taken seriously ill two weeks before his death and was admitted to hospital. He was in his 69th year.

Mr. Sager was born in Deseronto, the son of William Sager and the former Susan Ward. At his life he had been the town's handyman, and will be greatly missed by many households where he tended the gardens and did the odd repairs around the house. He was also a faithful member of the Pentecostal church.

He was predeceased by his wife, the former Ruby Brant. He is survived by one son, Gordon of Shannonville, and two sisters, Mrs. Lula Moore of Deseronto, and Mrs. John (Mina) Graham of Belleville.

The funeral was held from the White and Morris Funeral Home to the Pentecostal Church with the service on Tuesday by Rev. Oscar Simpson conducted the service.

The bearers were Fred Powley, Ronald Miller, Gerald Miller, James Sager, William Wagar, and Alfred O'Coin. Honorary bearers were Herbert Histed and Johnson Brant.

Interment was in Deseronto Cemetery.

MISS MABEL CLAZIE

One time foreign missionary with the Presbyterian and United Church, Miss Mabel Clazie of Hillcrest Ave., who devoted her entire life to mission work in Canada and Asia, died today in Kingston General Hospital following a four months illness. She was in her 89th year.

Daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Clazie, she was born in Thurlow township and early in life trained as a missionary.

She commenced her career in foreign missions in 1910 when she went to Formosa for the Presbyterian Church. She remained in Formosa until 1928 when at the time of church union she was transferred to Japan by the United Church.

During World War II she was interned for 15 months as a Japanese prisoner of war and on release in Nov. 1943 returned to Canada where she continued her work in mission fields at Halifax and in Manitoba.

Following retirement in 1945 she took up residence in Belleville. She was a member of Bridge Street United Church and was a life member of the Missionary Society and the United Church Women. She was the last of her family.

The funeral will be held Monday from the Grant Funeral Home with service in the chapel at 2.00 p.m. conducted by Rev. Harry M. Davis. Interment will be in Belleville Cemetery.

MRS. GEORGE W. DUFFY

Mrs. Muriel Evelyn Duffy, 63, died Thursday at the Belleville General Hospital after a lengthy illness.

Born in Bancroft she had been a resident of Belleville for the last 45 years. She had resided at 37 Wilkins St.

She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Crawford of Bancroft.

She is survived by her husband, George William, a son, Harry DeBuhle, Windsor, a daughter, Mrs. Thomas (Winnifred) Howard of Welland, and three grandchildren.

Funeral service will be conducted Saturday at the John R. Bush Funeral Home, Belleville, officiated by Capt. June Pryce.

Interment will be in Belleville Cemetery.

WILLIAM HAWTHORNE

(Madoc, Ont.)

MADOC — The funeral of William Hawthorne was held on Thursday afternoon with service conducted in St. Peter's Presbyterian Church by Rev. V. Toner assisted by Rev. D. W. Potter. An I.O.O.F. Memorial service was conducted in the MacKenzie Funeral Home on Wednesday evening and was attended by members of Lodge No. 179 Madoc, Graveside Legion service was under the direction of Branch 363 Madoc, members of which formed a Guard of Honor at the Church and cemetery. Padre J. H. Thompson officiated.

The honorary bearers were David Blakely, Harry Govier, Arthur Hagerman, Beryl Carman, Fred Fleming and Earl Burnside. And the active bearers were James Griffin, Earl Morgan, Bernard Edwards, Edwin Kincaid, William Bateman and Walter Armstrong.

Interment took place in O'Hara's Cemetery, Madoc Township.

Committee Recommends Purchase of Property

The Belleville Recreational Committee is recommending that the Quinte Skating and Tennis Club premises at the corner of Dufferin and Queen Streets be purchased by the city.

The proposal is that the club property be used in connection with the city's recreational program.

Purchase of the property was recommended yesterday at the recreation committee budget meeting.

The recommendation is that the Quinte Skating and Tennis Club be offered $4,000 for their clubhouse and outdoor skating and tennis property, on which an amount of $1,011.62 is owing on back taxes.

It is expected that a 25 per cent grant under the community centres act would be obtained.

Sale of the club property does not mean the Quinte Skating and Tennis Club would pass out of existence. The club would continue operations renting ice time from the city.

In anticipation of the property being taken over for operation by the recreational committee, a 1968 operating budget of $4,600 has been proposed by the committee.

Air Forces Duct Off Truck

Fine there were two ducts . . . then there was one — and the one that vanished flew into the side of a passing vehicle on the Bay Bridge Road yesterday afternoon. The truck, driven by Eugene Van Heusen, of Frankford, was loaded with two heavy furnace ducts and heading towards Picton when air evidently caught in the hollow of one duct and lifted it off the truck. The duct hit the side of a car driven by Mrs. Annie Mavis Alyea, forcing her car off the road and into a sign.

Fair Board Seeks Permission For New Building on Grounds

The Belleville Agricultural Society has asked city council and the city parks board for permission to erect a new building on the fairgrounds for exhibition purposes.

The proposed building would have an area of approximately 10,000 square feet and is expected would be built near Bridge Street just west of the present curling club building.

Fair Board directors were told last night that a letter asking permission to erect the building had gone out to the city manager and to the city parks board, owners of the local fair grounds.

The letter points out that demolition of the former Commodores and Manufacturers buildings made a "critical" situation for the fairboard and points out that replacement of the exhibition space is urgently needed.

The city parks board proposes construction of a new community centre-arena building at the fairgrounds on the site formerly occupied by the Commodores and manufacturers buildings, but due to financial problems no start on this structure is anticipated for several years.

As a result the fair board is asking permission to construct its own building for this year's fair and feel the only likely spot is the extreme southwest corner of the fairgrounds.

A special fair board building committee has already investigated various types of prefengineered buildings suitable for fair use and has been assured that such a building could be erected in 10 weeks following contract award.

Yesterday fair directors authorized the special committee to further investigate the fair building proposal and to get prices on both a "minimum" type structure and also a multi-use building.

Fair board president Cameron Bunnell told the meeting that possible additional fair grants might be available from the Federal government through the Canadian Association of Exhibitions.

At the meeting a delegation from the fair board would be appearing before Agriculture Minister Hon. J. Greene to present a former request some time after April 11.

In other business fair board directors authorized the calling of tenders for hardtop paving for the cattle barn floor. The estimated cost is around $3,000.

Horace Knight and Harleigh Hamilton, county milk committee representatives, were assured that refrigeration equipment would be re-installed at a fairgrounds building thus making it possible to continue the fair cheese show.

And board members also authorized publication of a pre-fair newspaper "flyer" advertising the fair.

Approximately 40,000 copies of the fair flyer were distributed last year with what was felt to be good results.

Expressionism Subject Of City Art Seminar

"Expressionism — the painter and the world he creates" was the subject of the Tuesday morning session of the art appreciation seminar held at the Corby Public Library.

Expressionism is defined as "the distortion of form and color for emotional interpretation, the distortion going beyond the point where we can accept the possibility of objects existing as the painter has represented them."

A perfect example is The Starry Night, painted in 1889, by Vincent vanGogh, is established as a classic of modern art. El Greco's Christ At Gethsemane, painted three centuries before van Gogh's The Starry Night, is every bit as expressionistic as the modern painting and even more its effect through similar distortions.

George Rousult's Two Nudes deals with brutal truth instead of rapturous hallucination, with degraded worldliness instead of elevated spirituality. The Singer Building by John Marin is a cleverly interpretation of a typical American city, contrasting with Kirchner's New Ladies in the Street, painted in 1925, just four years after the defeat of Germany in the First World War, which is full of morbid introspection, of melancholy brooding and soul-sickness of a defeated and groping nation.

In The Annunciation by Simone Martini, painted in 1332, a great deal of the distortion is a convention familiar and popular at the time it was painted, yet some distortion is for the purpose of emotional interpretation.

Three paintings of the Crucifixion were studied, Rustens' Christ on the Cross, shows no distortion whatever, Kliewes endeavors to make mystery and miracle inherent in his version of the Crucifixion. The unknown master of the middle ages achieved his own degree of the Crucifixion through his own type of distortion in the Painted Cross.

In Ryder's Moonlight Marine where the forms have been reduced to a few silhouettes calculated to convey the thought and feeling of the painter without the dependence on detail or literary associations.

On May 7, the subject of the next portfolio will be abstract painting.

Arena Deficit - - $22,000

City Recreation Budget Set at $83,474

A city recreational budget of $83,474 for 1968 and an operational deficit of about $22,000 for the Belleville arena, has been recommended for city council approval by the city recreation and arena committee.

The proposed year's budgets for the two city departments were approved yesterday at a special three-hour meeting of the recreation committee held at city hall.

Board members were also scheduled to consider the city parks board budget, but due to the late hour which may tabled until the next meeting.

The $83,474 budget figure for the recreational committee is up more than $20,000 over last year but board administrator Lorne Williams said some of the additional costs were because of a transfer from the playground account, which formerly were listed separately.

The cost for administration —$37,949— is up approximately $7,000 over last year, mainly the result of increased salaries.

The over-all cost of the recreation program at $83,474 will be reduced to 906,474 by an anticipated revenue figure of $17,000.

Arena expenditures for the year are estimated at $52,651, with the wage bill of $28,621 being the major item. Wage costs are up about $7,000 over the last year figure.

In an effort to overcome the mounting arena deficit—this year it was about $16,500 — committee members proposed an increase in the arena rental for all categories.

However, a result of a strong case for minor hockey presented by board member Ald. Richard Ellis, the rate for minor hockey, figure skating and recreational skating, was reduced instead of increased.

The reduced rate will save the minor hockey association about $2,500 in arena rental costs, it was stated.

Prime hockey time practice for training camps will be increased by $2 per hour to $18 while game rentals for both senior, intermediate and junior teams will be boosted.

District Industry Discussed At Meeting by Commissioner

"There can be no status quo in economic development. Those of us who derive a living from industrial development must be continually alert to subtle changes in our economy and must be sufficiently informed to anticipate changes before they occur," said Belleville Industrial Commissioner Raymond Brown.

Mr. Brown spoke earlier this week to the Quinte District Superintendents Association meeting at the Trenton Golf and Country Club.

The challenge facing us, according to the commissioner, is to achieve maximum orderly, balanced economic development in keeping with the best interests of all the citizens in the area. "The program," Mr. Brown said, "should be projected over a five-year period."

Mr. Brown continued to sum up the ideal program providing:

1) Solicitation and proper servicing of potential private and public investment projects best suited to the area.
2) Finding solutions to the counties liabilities or negative factors which may be inhibiting economic growth.
3) Rendering assistance and encouragement to assisting industry to insure continued operation and growth in the area.

He emphasized that it is just as important to aid existing industry as to help locate new plants. "Communities should be alert for new ways of assistance," he said.

Already underway to accomplish this end Mr. Brown mentioned programs such as publicizing local products, providing data on buildings, forming an industrial park, publicity and interest tours and community relations as well as assistance to industry in general were doing a great job.

For the future, programs that find new products for companies, help labor relations and provide assistance for sales or mergers, Mr. Brown said must be included if industry was to continually expand in the area.

Senseless Slaying

Another martyr has arisen from the ashes of the long agonizing struggle for civil rights in the United States.

The untimely death in Memphis of Dr. Martin Luther King is assuredly a setback in the continuing battle of American Negroes for acceptance in the land to which their forefathers were brought as slaves many years ago.

But just as Dr. King's death — and the tragic violence of it — is a blow to the immediate ideal of equality for all men in the United States, his removal from the scene makes the achievement of that ideal all the more certain in the ultimate.

A melancholy sidelight of this affair is the further evidence it reveals of lawlessness in the United States. Everywhere it seems there are policemen and others, with guns. All too often — as in the case of President Kennedy — the police are powerless to save a life.

Martin Luther King's life and times were much like those of another great reformer of the Christian church — the man for whom he was named.

The Negro clergyman was only 39 when he died. But he was old in experience. He had been campaigning for more than a decade. He was the acknowledged leader of the Negro cause in the United States. Above all he was a man of peace. An apostle of non-violence in a land in which violence is all too prevalent, he was a Nobel peace prizewinner.

Men like Martin Luther King — white or black — are rare enough, but their being in this world serve as an example and an inspiration to all men. In his life he was a man of quiet persuasiveness and courage. By his death the world is saddened.

Local Industry

The granting of financial assistance to existing industry as well as new industry is certainly worth considering.

It was mentioned at Council the other day by Mayor J. Russell Scott and stemmed from an industrial commission recommendation that the city pay $812 toward the cost of relocating a hydro transmission line to allow a local firm to construct a new building.

Such assistance is not usually accorded to industry in Belleville, whether long-established or a prospective new plant is a valuable contribution to the overall health of the local economy.

Meanwhile Mayor Scott has promised a statement on the subject of the provincial program of equal industrial opportunity. He says "colossal sums" are being handed out by Queen's Park under this program.

To what extent does Belleville benefit? This is a question on which Mayor Scott may be able to shed light when he makes his statement.

Leadership Race

Finance Minister Mitchell Sharp's decision to withdraw from the Liberal leadership race and give his support to Justice Minister Trudeau is a further boost for the fortunes of the latter.

Mr. Trudeau is running strongly. He is one of the youngest candidates in a country where the wish of the public is heard more and more. His chances of becoming leader of the party and prime minister of Canada are regarded as promising.

With the campaign now reaching a climax the pace of it all is telling. Politics are taxing beyond measure. The fact Mr. Sharp phoned Mr. Trudeau to offer his support as late as 11.30 p.m. at night is a good indication of the long hours parliamentarians keep.

For the winner, when it is all over, there will still be no respite. At that point of time in Ottawa tomorrow night, it will be only the beginning.

Parks Cost More

Provincial park costs may be rising — but must they rise so steeply that this year entrance to them will cost $10, or double what it was last year?

True, facilities this year at such vacation areas as The Outlet and Sandbanks have been improved. All the same it is penalizing the vacationer who can afford to travel too far.

A letter on this page today sums up the feeling of park vacationers. Those uniforms for instance — are they really necessary?

And if the public is going to have to pay this kind of money for simple pleasures then the lands and forests people should put some of the money toward keeping the areas clean. As we noted the other day the Sandbanks, to name only one area, is littered with glass, tin cans, bottles and other debris.

Desperate ... Or

Is Hanoi Just Toying with U.S. Over Peace Talks?

By ROD CURRIE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The fact that Hanoi is at least speaking to Washington cannot help but raise world hopes of eventual peace talks on Vietnam.

But what Hanoi has said, in response to President Johnson's order to curtail the bombing of North Vietnam, is that, at most, she is only willing at this point to hold exploratory talks about conditions under which talks could be initiated.

And it scraped the attention of practically no one that Hanoi set in advance what must be the basic terms of such preliminary talks — "the unconditional cessation of bombing and all other acts" against North Vietnam — if substantive peace talks are to follow.

In using this line for openers, and with the real possibility that the conditions will be ever more stringent, or finally spelled out, there arose the unhappy possibility that the price for such talks could be prohibitive in the American view.

Of course, it may be Hanoi's plan to back the U.S. into the position where it must be the Americans who have to reject talks.

Were it not for the fact that Hanoi officials are notoriously humorless in their public pronouncements, one might be tempted to suspect they are playing a hilarious game of words simply to enjoy the hilarious harshness of responses by the American politicians in the U.S. election year.

But whatever the pressures, domestic or from her friends, that caused Hanoi to respond as she did, it certainly came as a startling surprise.

Outraged world reaction.

When it became clear Johnson's was not nearly as wide as everyone had originally interpreted it to be, provided an ideal backdrop for a firm "no" from Hanoi.

Political circles at home, and public opinion abroad, reacted with charges that Johnson had deliberately set out to mislead the world when it became clear the U.S. bombing was curtailing hundreds of miles into North Vietnam.

With such support, Hanoi could easily have rejected the proposal out of hand without the avalanche of criticism that followed previous rejections. Additionally, many thought it would have been profitable for Hanoi to play a waiting game, hoping for better terms from Johnson's successor.

The fact she responded as she did, in the face of relatively minor concessions from the U.S. President, has misled the public, in making his pitch, knew something about circumstances in Hanoi that nobody else knew. There is speculation about a sense of desperation in Hanoi, but it is hard to imagine the situation there is much more desperate than it is for South Vietnam or Laos for the U.S., where the long drain of men and money is bringing increasing disease, frustration and economic grief.

Even if talks do materialize there is little hope that negotiations could be anything but agonizingly slow, as was the case in the Korean War in the 1950's.

Tens of thousands died while those negotiations were on. They lasted two years, ending with the armistice of 1953.

Hotel Accommodation

Windsor Star

Around Ontario, and particularly in small cities, may be found a few reminders of the days when hotel rooms were built on a spacious scale. High ceilings, massive furniture, and lots of space were their hallmarks, and first-class service was to be expected where these evidences of spacious living were found.

Later hotels, those built after the widespread use of elevators made multi-storey buildings possible, tended to cut down on the size of individual rooms. The public rooms were large and grand, but the high ceilings and floor space gave way to more compact rooms for guests. Economy was served, efficiency furthered, and probably profit for it was very little affected, but the sheer grandeur of hotel living suffered.

As proof of this, look at the modern trend. Today's new hotels, often called motels, stress efficiency. But they also stress big guest rooms. The bathroom marks, and first-class service was to be expected where these evidences of spacious living were found.

Letters to the Editor

Loyalist College And Zwick's Island In the Public Eye

Editor,
The Intelligencer,

I would like to express some thoughts and objections on certain local situations.

Firstly, the temporary buildings for Loyalist College. As near as I can determine some three-quarters of a million dollars will be spent on site work, foundations, and so called temporary buildings.

This job was given to a Toronto company, Dalton Engineering and Construction, on a plate as it were. No place was drawn, no tenders called, no contractors invited to submit proposals local or otherwise. In short we have no way of knowing whether the quoted price is competitive or not.

This money is also coming from public funds which you and I are paying for in our taxes. When questioned the chairman of the board is quoted as saying, that because of the haste in which the building is to be constructed there was this procedure to be justified.

Apparently it was such extreme haste they only had time to consult one contractor. If they had taken thirty minutes to phone our local garage and tractors, they would have found at least three firms here that would have submitted proposals on the same basis, given the same opportunity.

Belleville has to approach the Chamber of Commerce for information about firms that do business in the city to find out these things, who can do what and where.

Another unfortunate side effect when our local employment situation is that all of the sub-trades will be from Toronto which means that very little of this money will find its way into Belleville's economy.

The next objection is to garage sales. I think that our beautiful Zwick's Island park is a wonderful catch for various relics, antiquated and otherwise.

We have spent at least $150,000 developing this park for the recreation and enjoyment of the people in this area. It is within walking distance of down town Belleville.

It is to be a park where one can play sports, or take a stroll, or lase around on the grass, or listen to a band concert, surely it should be the nature's setting, with acres of green grass, shady trees, and beautiful flowers. Not to be setting of railroad tracks to sit and rust and clutter the place up, or any other enterprise that smacks of commercialism, or promotion.

I think the Parks Board have the right attitude to the use of the various parks in Belleville, and that they must have a very capable director. It has been at a taxpayer and local business man I say well done and keep up the good work.

KEN CARR-BRANT

Student Publication Is Questioned by Reader

Editor,
The Intelligencer,

I would like to comment on the article in your newspaper on April 1, "Students Distribute Initial Newsletter."

I am left wondering as to how this newsletter can be printed on the school's own gestetner without anyone in authority having knowledge of it, or of its contents. After all, there were apparently 2000 copies run off, which is quite a project and I would imagine a fairly expensive one. I was under the impression that type of equipment belonging to the school, was not to be used unless authorized, and the time of material it was used on.

I feel that this group; or Student Union as they prefer to call themselves, have their privileges restricted only to activities authorized by the school.

The school board chairman, Mr. Jas. Clarke, was said to have extended an invitation to representatives of the student body to meet with him to discuss any school matters, but apparently received no acknowledgment.

There is apparently too much freedom granted to students of secondary schools and universities. If there is to be any opinions formed or voiced as to how the schools should run, or as to what courses should be taught, or what dress should be proper, I feel it should be that of the parents or other taxpayers. Not of the students.

Perhaps the student needs reminding that schooling is a privilege, not a right, whereby they can flout the rules, dress and regulations laid down by the school board, which in turn is responsible to the parents. I am not against freedom of speech or thought, as long as it is used properly. But like other groups or unions it has no place in democracy when it reaches a level of dictation.

I also agree thoroughly that students should be encouraged to think for themselves and also be part of group discussions, but they should also be made aware of procedures and of rules and regulations and of the importance of respect for them. For, if they do not respect them while in school it is most unlikely, they will later in life.

Park Areas Cost More

Editor,
The Intelligencer,

I feel we should all protest most strongly over the increased cost for use of provincial parks. These are areas that are supposed to be preserved for everyone to use, but more and more of us are going to be prohibited from using them.

I have noticed with the relatively higher cost of keeping the camping areas in good order, that they have inexpensive access at least, for picnics and swimming.

In this area, we have to add to the cost, the other cost of gas, since none of our local provincial parks are within walking distance.

The people who most need the beaches — those who cannot afford cottages and more expensive holidays — are the very people most penalized by the new cost.

There is obviously a number of ways in which the department of lands and forests could reduce costs — even by eliminating uniforms for summer workers for whom a badge would suffice. The trend appears to be toward parks for the foresters, but not for the public!

Pocahontas—daughter of Indian chieftain Powhatan —was married in Virginia to English colonist John Rolfe 384 years ago today—in 1614. She was one of the first Indian converts to Christianity in the English-settled part of North America, and she later travelled to England with her husband, where she created a sensation in society.

1964—President Eisenhower made a rare attack to smash Chinese resistance north of the Tsinan-Tsingtao railway in Shantung province.

First World War

Fifty years ago today—in 1918—British and Japanese marines landed at Vladivostok; the British repulsed fresh attacks by 30 German divisions north and south of the River Somme; French troops improved their positions, notably at Mailly-Raineval and Castigny.

Second World War

Twenty-five years ago today—in 1943—reinforcements for the Canadian Army, RCAF and CWAC arrived from Canada; the Russians made gains in a drive on the German-held Black Sea base of Novorossisk, while the Japanese launched an attack to smash Chinese resistance north of the Tsinan-Tsingtao railway in Shantung province.

Alberta's Rebate On Death Duties

Lethbridge Herald

An Alberta business man who had reached retirement age and was considering going to live in the kinder climate of the Pacific Coast, changed his mind almost overnight. He said simply, "I can't afford to leave this province."

For the sake of his family which will inherit his estate, he wants to remain in Alberta because of the estate rebate legislation enacted here nine months ago.

Estate taxes have often been viewed by some people as of concern only to the wealthy. But any estate valued at more than $60,000, which includes the value of a home, contents, personal effects, life insurance, pension benefits and so on is taxable. Succession duties can work real hardship on owners of property which must be sold to pay the taxes, on farmers who want to leave the family land to their sons. Widows frequently find it difficult to find the money to pay the tax taxes on a husband's estate on which he has spent a lifetime of hard work, saving so that at his death his wife and family will be well-cared for financially.

He must have no fears now that a large chunk of his savings will go to the government. Under Alberta legislation, eligible estates get a 75 per cent rebate on death duties.

Expanded NHL Financial Success

MONTREAL (CP)—The operation of the expanded 12-team National Hockey League has proven to be almost as successful financially as the running of the former six-team enterprise.

Expansion of the league dropped its operating capacity to 70 per cent from 98.7 per cent when only six teams were in business—but overall attendance soared and gate receipts swelled.

It took only one season to prove that the critics of the idea of an expanded NHL were wrong as new division clubs shelved key personnel substantial drawing power in the arenas of the old clubs.

The NHL's six tried and proven clubs squeezed 3,084,759 fans into their arenas in the 1966-67 season but total attendance in the expanded league plimbed to about 4,500,000—a spectacular rise of 30 per cent over the previous season.

Seating capacity for 83,213 people was added to the 99,203 available in the old arenas, and gate receipts jumped from $10,700,000 in the 1966-67 season to an estimated $18,000,000 this season.

H. W. Hamilton, vice-president of finance and administration for the Canadian Arena Co. which operates Montreal's Forum, said he was "pleasantly surprised" by the way the new clubs attracted fans to the Forum.

"They didn't draw as well as the established clubs but they drew surprisingly well. At the end of February, for example, they were ahead last year's head for head despite the new entries."

The old teams collected tickets from about 2,800,000 fans this year compared with slightly more than 3,000,000 last season.

11,000 Employees Involved
UAW Tells Workers--'Get Back on the Job'

TORONTO (CP) — The United Auto Workers union told 11,000 of its members Thursday they must return to their jobs at four Ford Motor Co. of Canada plants by Monday if they hope to take part in the greatest package of gains in the history of the union.

George Burt, Canadian director of the UAW, said in a telegram to all locals that negotiations with Ford for a new contract have been suspended until the wildcat strike ends at Oshawa plants of Ford in Oakville, St. Thomas, Windsor and Brantford.

Workers began walking off their jobs and setting up picket lines Wednesday to protest the postponement of a strike deadline from 10:30 a.m. Thursday to 10:30 a.m. Monday.

Mr. Burt held a news conference that Thursday's strike deadline was rescheduled because the union wanted to include its international director in negotiations and there was not enough time to deal with all the disputes before the 10:30 a.m. Thursday deadline.

He said negotiations between the union and Ford had progressed slowly because of a contradiction on negotiations between the union and Chrysler Canada Ltd. and General Motors of Canada Ltd. The union gained favorable contracts after strikes against both companies.

The telegram to the locals, also signed by Walter Reuther, the UAW's president, said the wildcat strike had endangered the opportunity of Ford workers to participate in the greatest package of gains in the history of the UAW—one already being enjoyed by workers at Chrysler and GM.

The wildcat strike started when 4 day shift workers in Oakville walked off their jobs on Wednesday afternoon. It spread to Windsor, St. Thomas and Brantford.

More than 75 issues remain to be settled in negotiations between the UAW and Ford, including the method of achieving wage parity with United States auto workers.

Break-ins Should Be Reported

NAPANEE — People visiting their cottages this spring and finding that they have been entered during the winter should report the break and enter to the nearest Ontario Provincial Police detachment and should handle nothing themselves until the police have made their investigation. Better still, they should not even enter his cottage for fear of destroying some evidence, and leave it entirely to the work of the police. This is the advice of the Napanee detachment given in this week's report.

A traffic report summarizing the first three months of 1968 shows that there have been no fatalities; that eight personal-injury accidents involved 12 persons; and that property damage accidents reported totalled 84. During the first week of March only three property damage accidents were reported.

Chief Warns Against Fires Along Streets

With the spring climate now in the area, Fire Chief Ted Poste has requested consideration of the people in Bellleville in making fires along the streets.

According to Chief Poste there is "no need to burn rakings from the lawn." He has suggested that people put them in containers and have them picked up by garbage collectors.

"Consideration should be given to this," he said. Fires set on the side of the road deteriorate the asphalt and the smoke is a nuisance to neighbors, the chief said.

He mentioned several complaints had been received concerning the smoke from such roadside fires. "Washing was out on the line."

The chief mentioned the city's bylaw concerning the lighting of fires. The bylaw does not prohibit the fires but outlines certain specifications for them.

If a fire must be started, the chief said, be observant of wind conditions. People will be responsible, he warned, for fires caused by these roadside fires.

Infraction of the city bylaw could be costly as well, to the tune of $500. Fires may not be started before sun-up and not after sundown and they may not be started if they threaten damage to person or property.

A competent person must be in attendance of the fire at all times even when it is smouldering, and the right equipment must be provided.

Concerning the erection of incinerators, the bylaw states that the structure must be approved by the Fire Chief and must have spark-arresting attachments and other safeguards prescribed by the chief.

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP) — Prices slipped in moderate to fairly moderate trading activity on the Toronto Stock Exchange today.

Analysts said the fractional declines in the industrial list, largely among the big winners in the rally earlier this week, was a case of profit taking.

The industrial index, up more than 8 points in the first four sessions this week, fell .76 to 182.71.

Base-Canada Pipe Lines, ahead 3¼ points since Monday, declined ¼ to 27¼, Consumers' Gas, less active, was off ¼ to 24¾, Dominion Bridge fell ¼ each to 38½, 12¾ and 36¼, respectively.

In base metals, Gortdrum Mines dropped 45 cents to 8.55 on sales of 92,500 shares after trading was delayed at the opening to match buy-and-sell orders.

The stock had soared 1.55 since Monday after the company reported lead-zinc indications in Westmeath, Ireland, property. Northgate, which holds a large number of Gortdrum shares, was off ¼ to 4.50.

Oils and golds were mainly unchanged in quiet trading.

On index, industrials declined .76 to 182.71 and base metals .41 to 98.52. Oils inched up .16 to 160.66 and golds .21 to 128.41.

Volume by 11 a.m. was 780,000 shares compared with 1,018,000 at the same time Thursday.

Oils again led the way up. Scurry-Rainbow advanced 2 to 30¼ and Numac 40 cents to 8.15.

Gortdrum Mines, which reported lead-zinc indications from drilling on new property in Westmeath, Ireland, soared 1.05 to 6.30 on sales of 174,000 shares. Trading was delayed at the opening to match buy-and-sell orders.

Northgate, which holds a large number of Gortdrum shares, climbed 1¼ to 13¾. Pine Point, down sharply in the last two weeks, rebounded 2¼ to 40.

Most active mine was Anglo United Development which shot up 18 cents to 1.14 on sales of 371,000 shares. Dome Mines slipped ¼ to 82¼ in the quiet golds section.

Truck Load Of Cattle Overturns

PICTON (Staff) — No injuries resulted when a truck load of cattle overturned Wednesday evening on Highway 33 south of Carrying Place. The truck which was brand new and received extensive damage, was driven by Garry Rorabeck, of R. R. 2 Milford. The truck left a curve in the road at about 9 p.m. Drivers were not injured, reported. OPP said that that either the cattle shifted as the vehicle was negotiating the turn or the right rear tire blew overturning the truck and forcing it into a nearby swamp.

There were five cows, four yearlings and three calves in the load. None of the cattle were injured.

King's Murder by White Man Starts Violence

tional outpouring of grief and sorrow that followed the death of King, a lifelong advocate of non-violence and the 1964 Nobel Peace Prize winner.

President Johnson led the mourning and tribute. In a television and radio appearance he urged "every American to reject the blind violence that has struck down Dr. Martin Luther King."

But the violence flared despite his plea.

Gov. Buford Ellington of Tennessee placed the state's army and national guard on the alert and ordered 4,000 troops into Memphis and the same number into Nashville. A curfew, first clamped on Memphis after a King-led march there was ruined by violence, was reimposed.

King was in the city preparing to lead another march in support of the city's 1,300 striking garbage collectors when he was shot. Negroes, who are seeking union recognition, had voted to go ahead in spite of the assassination after the shot was, "Oh!"

"The bullet exploded in his face," said Ben Branch. "It knocked him off his feet."

Solomon Jones, King's chauffeur, said a "man in white clothes" ran from the scene. Police in Tennessee and Arkansas were looking for a young white man, who, witnesses said, was dressed in white and was driving a late model white car.

However, Reuben Greenberg, police chief Elijah Stitzpatrick said that Memphis police sent out an all-points bulletin for a blue 1965 Mustang seen leaving the area with three white men inside. Police arrested two white men shortly after the shooting but they later were released.

Sheriff William Morris said the fatal shot was apparently fired from a "flop-house" facing the front of the motel, Memphis Police Director Frank Holloman said the suspect checked into a second floor room between 3 p.m. and 3:30 p.m. Thursday.

Police did not disclose the name the man signed when he checked in. They said they found a palm print on the rifle and it had been flown to the FBI in Washington.

King was taken from the motel to St. Joseph Hospital where he was wheeled into the emergency room at 6:16 p.m. His head was wrapped in a towel and an oxygen mask was over his face.

The only sound came from the resuscitator which was pumping oxygen into his dying body. The doctor disappeared behind the swinging double doors and his aides leaned against the walls and waited.

The official announcement came at 7:30 p.m. when Paul Conn, assistant hospital administrator, read this statement: "At 7 p.m. Dr. Martin Luther King expired in the emergency room of a gunshot wound in the neck."

Memphis police said they gave chase to a white automobile immediately after the shooting. State police in Arkansas were later asked to look for the same car.

A Memphis newspaper, The Commercial-Appeal, offered a $25,000 reward for the killer.

Floyd McKissick, national director of the Congress of Racial Equality, told a Cleveland news conference that with the death of King, non-violence "is now dead as a philosophy."

King had told a rally here Wednesday night:

"There is talk of threats from our sick white brothers. I would like to live a long life—but I am not concerned about this now. I am not worried about anybody."

His wife, who was on her way from their home at Atlanta, Ga., to her husband here, returned home distraught after the news was broken to her.

She was asked in a television interview a few days ago if she feared for her husband's life.

She replied: "I don't really see in the sense that I worry. It is a reality that we have to live with—that every day in his life this could happen."

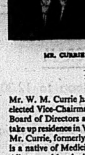
ce hope by those in the anti-Trudeau camp is said to be a matter of concern to the Justice Minister's advisers. The possibility of a backlash is not an uncommon topic here.

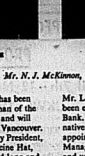
The bands, parades and demonstrations used by rival candidates to add to their images as being "with it" are not evident in the Trudeau camp.

It's by design as Trudeau tries to cool his campaign and not allow it to peak before voting starts Saturday.

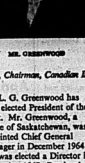
He's having trouble with this strategy for wherever he goes he is followed by a pack of television crews, reporters and cameramen.



Trudeau, who flits into the head of the CBC as a "newsmaker" is the particular target for the publicity-owned National News Bulletin. At times, it would appear that half of the CBC's 2775 newsmen and technicians at the convention must have been assigned to cover every detail in the day of the 45-year-old bachelor.



Tonight is the crucial test for the Trudeau organization. At the Civic Centre 10,000 persons will sweat through a marathon five-hour session as the candidates parade their bands, beauties and brains.



The bands and the beauties have played their part up until now. It will be nice to give the brains a chance to shine.

Angry Negroes Riot In Many U.S. Cities

Fla., and Monticello and Greenburgh, N.Y.

North Carolina Gov. Dan Moore placed national guardsmen on the alert as a precaution against trouble in Greensboro and Raleigh.

Scattered gunshots were reported by Raleigh police.

There were no reported injuries.

Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York hurried to the Harlem area, where he walked the streets in efforts to prevent violence, but was heckled into a car by aides and returned to his home after encountering unruly crowds.

The disturbances broke out first in Harlem, then spread to Brooklyn's Bedford-Stuyvesant section and nearby Crown Point and Fulton Street areas, and to East New York.

Police used tear gas against hundreds of Negroes rioting in a predominantly black area of Washington early today.

A crowd of Negroes threw stones at fire-fighting crusaders near a Negro housing project in Boston's Roxbury section. Cars carrying newspaper men were stoned by angry youths in Roxbury.

Young Negroes smashed car windows and injured a reporter's ear in Boston.

Trouble broke out after Chariel Evers, state field secretary for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored people, said he received a threat via telephone call.

In Nashville, a 13-year-old Negro boy was shot by police in the first hours of scattered violence. Nashville Police Capt. Leon Scarce was hit by a stone and taken to a hospital bleeding profusely.

Art of Communication Is Important Factor

By Reba and Bonnie Churchill

Are you tuned in, turned on? In other words, do you communicate? Even if you're not a big wheel on campus or at the office, there still are ways to express yourself. If you're not a talker, be a doer. Take an active part in everything from charity drives to party planning. Since this is an election year, many young voters are volunteering to ring doorbells, attend rallies and mail literature. Pat Morrow, star of 20th-TV's "Peyton Place," will be voting for the first time, so she's enthusiastic about learning the issues, listening to the candidates, and even painting campaign posters.

Person-to-person conversation is one thing, but how often do you make that extra effort to correspond with a thoughtful note, friendly call or, as Pat illustrates, with a "talking letter" to a distant friend? Pat, who travelled to Vietnam on a handshaking tour, learned how important it is to let others know you're thinking of them. The "mail call" she's holding can tape a message to a pen pal or a serviceman, and his buddies can listen in on the receiver. Don't be a "MIS-supplier."

Mention something about them, their interests, hobbies and mutual friends.

If you're short of time, substitute wit for words. Enclose a clipping from the comics with your own typed-in caption or, as Pat regularly sends her college friends, a goofy snapshot or stick-figure sketches. Such communications signal you're not too pre-occupied to share your time and thought. Let your motto be: Action not excuses. Such extra-curricular niceties are not only appreciated by others, but make you feel better for doing them. Remember, when you give to another, you're "communicating" in the best way.

* * *

P.S.: How popular are you? What kind of an impression do you make? Are you really pleased with yourself? Why not take the popularity quiz, and check the facts and photos in our 13-page booklet which offers a guide to success?

Enclose 25c and a self-addressed stamped envelope to: Reba and Bonnie Churchill, Increase Your Success Potential, c/o The Intelligencer, Room 1310, 80 King St. W., Toronto, Ontario.

U.C.W. Meeting

TABERNACLE U.C.W.

"In a world shrunken in size by modern communications Canadians are confronted by the necessity to reach through study, an understanding of those people of other lands", commented Mrs. J. Ahchesonn, program chairman of Tabernacle U.C.W. She presided, followed by discussion on Japan where one half (½) of the persons (1/6) of the vast population is Christian. "Though small in number" said Mrs. Aitcheson, "their influence is felt, particularly in parliament."

The meeting was under the leadership of the president, Mrs. R. Cornish who received reports and other matters of business.

It was announced a school for leaders would be held at Albert College in June.

The devotional service carrying the theme of "Easter" was presented by Mrs. Lockyer, Miss Johns, Mrs. Buck and Mrs. Spafford.

Lunch was served at conclusion.

Successful Living

Doubtful That A Mere Pamphlet Can Help Child

Dear Doris: Please send me the leaflet referred to by "An Old Friend" in connection with reading - handicapped children.

I was so surprised. The boy described in this letter could be ours, except ours is 16 and in grade eight. We've sought a solution for 10 years. We've tried psychiatry, phonetic drills and records, infors, threats, patience, bribery.

Therefore I express much doubt that a "Send" leaflet could be of assistance. It can do no harm, however, and if it helps you will bear from me again expressing appreciation and thanks. — Doubtful

Dear Doubtful: Can't say I blame you. What can a pamphlet do, when your lad has stumped the experts?

I am told that accurate diagnosis is hard to arrive at with some children who have trouble reading. They may be erroneously tagged as retarded, or maladjusted, or lazy, to name a few mistakes.

But if a child is merely seeing the whole word backwards or upside down, no amount of threat or coaxing or psychiatry will set it right. He needs a special teacher who works with the reading-handicapped.

So there is this one chance. The pamphlet will guide you to persons and means of identifying his trouble; and that's a start.

* * *

Dear Doris: Do you think going to school away from home is the answer for when you aren't happy at home?

DORIS CLARK

Sometimes I get so depressed I hate myself. I've lost interest in school and my marks are very low.

I get so depressed I can't stand it or myself when I get in this mood, which is very often. — Depressed.

Dear Depressed: Certain bright - eyed Pollyanas say the teens are the best, happiest years of our lives. I wonder!

Your despondency isn't new to me. Growing up is full of uncertainties and gloom. Whether a new school away from home will lift the load depends on: (1) the main problem or school is like; and (2) how your parents feel about it.

Try first to open up to Mom and Dad. Running away from what bugs you comes second.

* * *

Dear Doris: I also have a few lines in my mind. Perhaps you can have your readers help me. It begins like this: "The silent conquest of ourselves, what means this to the madding crowd ..."

It goes on about the blare of trumpets, outward show, and glory and self-control. — K.K.

Dear K.K.: Anybody from the madding crowd like to break the silence about this one?

* * *

Doris has studied human behavior and can shed light on your dilemma. Write to her, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope for private reply.

Points for Parents

By MARY BRYSON

Grandmother: "Ann lets the children eat what they please, but when I take care of them, I insist they eat what is put before them whether they like it or not."

Grandfather: "Ann spoils the children."

Grandparents who are sensible and flexible will enjoy their grandchildren more and probably influence their eating habits just as much as will grandparents who are determined to impose these same habits.

Ann Landers

Young Lad Sells Father's Neckties

ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our nine-year-old son has been taking his father's $5 neckties to school and selling them for 20 cents apiece. The mother of Ronnie's schoolmate brought two ties over today and asked me if I recognized them. I nearly died.

My husband complained last week that some of his best ties were missing and for the life of me I could not figure out what had happened to them. Now I know. Should I tell my husband, and let him handle it? (He is much more strict than I, and he might be awfully hard on the boy.) Or, should I keep my husband out of it and deal with the boy in my own way? Please advise. — THE SALESMAN'S MOTHER.

* * *

DEAR MOTHER: Discipline should be the job of both parents. Don't say, "Wait until your father comes home . . . etc . . ." Simply confront the boy in his father's presence and decide together what the punishment should be.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have been going steady with a very nice man for two years. He was both single and in our mid-thirties. Two months ago Jack borrowed $10 from me. He said he'd pay me back in a few days. He hasn't called me since.

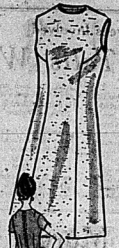
The money is extremely unimportant compared to the two years we shared. I'd be happy to forget about the $10 and consider it a gift. Last week I telephoned Jack twice to talk things over. Both times he was rude and seemed in a big hurry to get off the phone.

Jack's birthday is next month, and of course Easter is coming up. We always celebrated these occasions together. Shall I mail him a card or a friendly note or perhaps a little gift? I feel I owe him something and him something. What do you suggest? — SUDDEN JOLT.

DEAR JOLT: Send him a bill — and forget about the creep.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My daughter is 18 and attractive. My husband is 53, bright, pleasant, but somewhat on the rigid side. When he was asked to ski together I was delighted because I saw a chance for dad and daughter to have a closer relationship. He has always been a bit stand off-ish with her and I thought this would be a wonderful relationship builder. Instead of becoming better friends as a result of the ski trips, they seem to be quarreling constantly.



The girl believes her father should open doors for her, help her with her ski shoes, pick up things she drops in public, and so on. He feels this is nonsense. According to him, the difference in their ages, as well as the social relationship, calls for manners ski suit and all. In fact, he insists that she should do these things for him.

Your opinion is wanted. — TROUBLE ON THE SLOPES.

DEAR TROUBLE: Simply because people happen to be related does not excuse them from being courteous to one another. Manners are nothing more than consideration. Your husband should treat his daughter as he would any other young woman. And this means holding the door for her, helping her with her ski boots, and so forth.

Casserole From Potatoes and Carrots

By MARY MOORE

QUESTION: I enjoy your column very much and my cooking has improved with the use of your recipes and suggestions. Have you a recipe for a potato and carrot casserole that is similar to scalloped potatoes but with the addition of carrots?. I tried it made the same way but there must be something else added in the one I tasted recently at a potluck supper.

Mine didn't taste quite like it.—Mrs. Robert T.

ANSWER: I had not made scalloped potatoes and carrots for so long I could not recall so I made a big baking dish full and they served six adults and two small children.

SCALLOPED POTATOES AND CARROTS

3 cups hot milk
2 tablespoons butter
1¼ tablespoons flour
2½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
3 cups thinly sliced potatoes (3 very large)
2 cups water thin slices carrots (packed)
½ small onion, sliced wafer thin
1 cup grated or shredded Cheddar cheese (optional)

In an outsize saucepan melt butter, stir in flour, salt and pepper and when blended stir in hot milk until a little thickened and boiling. Remove from heat but keep sauce as warm as you can.

Scrub, pare and slice potatoes wafer thin. Add to hot sauce at once to prevent browning. Scrub and scrape carrots and slice wafer thin. Peel and slice onion thinly. Add to hot sauce and stir all until thoroughly mixed. Turn into large casserole or baking dish. Do not hesitate to use a dish too large for them, for then you do not need to worry about them boiling over in your oven. Cover with foil and bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for one hour. Sprinkle cheese over (if used). Cover with foil again and bake at least 30 minutes longer — 1½ hours in all — until very tender, uncovered during last 10 minutes. We had these with a roast beef dinner.

Church Groups

CHRIST CHURCH ACW

The business meeting of the Evening Branch of Christ Anglican Church was held Monday evening, April 1, in the parish hall.

The president, Mrs. J. Kilburn opened the meeting and the devotional from the "Living Message" was read responsively.

Reports from all department heads and correspondence were read including a letter from Margaret Poole, Diocese treasurer thanking members for all donations in 1967; also an interesting letter from ACW prayer partner, the Rev. Dick Reese in Switzerland read by Mrs. E. Smith.

Mrs. J. Kilburn and Mrs. A. Bongard reported an enjoyable day spent on Friday last at the Hobby Show. A rummage sale is to be held later this month in Christ Church Parish Hall, followed by a tea meeting. The W.A. annual meeting will be held in Christ Church—May 7 and 8, and accommodations will be made available for as many of the people attending as possible.

A box trip for the members of the ACW as a last get-together for the summer in June, rather than the usual potluck dinner was suggested.

The meeting adjourned and closed with a special Easter Prayer by the president.

Lunch was served by the hostesses, Mrs. J. Spencer and Mrs. O. Mayell.

Club Activities

M.D. WIVES' ASSOC.

The monthly meeting of the Belleville and District Physicians' Wives' Association was held last week at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Bruce Morgan.

Plans were completed for a telephone bridge to be held April 3. Mrs. B. Morgan is convenor and Mrs. D. Horne co-convener.

The guest speaker, Rev. William Lamb was introduced by Mrs. R. MacLeod. Mr. Lamb told about the new organization in this city — Life Line. The organization is a group of trained volunteers who answer telephone calls of lonely or distressed people on a 24 hour schedule.

After a lively question and answer period Mr. Lamb was thanked by Mrs. J. Birchard and refreshments were served.

St. Michael's Bridge Marathon Concludes

Another successful year of bridge was completed when St. Michael's Bridge Marathon was concluded last Monday evening. Convenors for the past season were Mrs. J. Gallagher, Mrs. C. Fitzgibbon, Mrs. H. Trepanier.

For the final event 26 tables of bridge were in play and prizes at this time were presented by Mrs. J. Whalen, president of the C.W.L. and Mrs. J. Gallagher who also thanked all those taking part in the marathon.

Winners for the season were: C. Coleman and W. Coleman; Mrs. V. Sheils and Mrs. R. Keller; Mrs. G. Clapp and Miss M. Fairbairn.

High score for the season went to Mr. and Mrs. Coleman. For the evening's play prizes were won by Mrs. Jean Fleming and Mrs. Kate Cook. In the other room season winners were Mrs. B. Gro and Mrs. M. Vercirez; Mrs. G. Doran and Mrs. N. McIntosh and Mrs. K. Brown and Mrs. B. Wills. High score for the evening play went to Mrs. A. Fisher, Mrs. A. Frechette.

Various door prizes were won by J. Chappelle, Miss M. Sherman, Mrs. R. Pierson and Mrs. M. Flynn.

Tea hostesses and other members provided tasty refreshments.

Thanks was expressed to Mrs. B. Farrell who had looked after preparation of tea and coffee during the season.

New convenors will be in charge when the marathon resumes this fall.

UCTU Hears Youtharama Report

The March meeting of the WCTU was held Thursday at 8 p.m. in Holloway Street United Church.

Rev. Mr. Lamb opened the meeting which was followed by a song service. The devotional was conducted by Mrs. Way, the theme being on Easter.

The highlight of the meeting was the giving of reports by three teenage girls who attended Youtharama in Guelph, sponsored by the WCTU. Also a fine report was given by a young man who attended Toc Alpha Conference. The delegates were grateful for the privilege to attend and spoke highly of the conference which were educational and most interesting. They discussed the use of LSD cigarettes, alcohol and the harmful effects on th users.

A film, "Far From Alone" was well received.

Mrs. Muscow is secretary-treasurer and registrar of the WCTU camp situated on Lake Consecon, where there are qualified staff such as nurse, crafts, swimming and good food.

A film, "The Choice is Yours," dealing with alcohol was procured and is being shown in all the public schools in Belleville.

Slaying of King Removes Leading Advocate of Non-violence

WASHINGTON (CP) — Dr. Martin Luther King's assassination, apparently by a non-Negro, is a tragedy for the people of the United States, white as well as black, for it has removed the leading apostle of non-violence at a time when Black Power in a more militant form is on the rise.

It has led to violence in Negro communities across the U.S., and the long, hot summer is still to come.

The very divisiveness in the country that President Johnson talked about last Sunday night is spread on a tinderbox of race hatred and distrust. It can get ugly and it did Thursday night.

But still King's death brought expressions from both white and blacks of shock, sorrow and prayers that the Negro pacifist's murder at the age of 39 would not overshadow the non-violence he preached.

The president, addressing the country on radio and television, said: "We have been saddened. Ask every citizen to reject the blind violence that has struck Dr. King who lived by non-violence."

Jackie Robinson, the first Negro to play major league baseball said: "Oh my God, I'm frightened. I pray to God this doesn't end up in the streets."

King, the 1964 Nobel Peace Prize winner, died violently in Memphis, Tenn., Thursday night from a bullet—evidently fired by a non-Negro—in the neck. The civil rights leader often had been likened to the late Indian pacifist Mohandas Gandhi and he died the same way.

He died fighting to remain in the forefront of a Negro protest movement as he had helped galvanize in the mid-1950s and which, in many ways, had passed him by.

But ironically, his death offered a fresh Negro martyr to the long list available to Negro militants at a time when the U.S. is threatened with a period of violence is as worse than the unprecedented riots that swept last year through city after city.

King had become increasingly alienated from the federal "power structure"—the federal government.

Just a year ago today—April 5 — he had lashed out at the war in Vietnam.

The reaction was generally critical—even from sources who also opposed the war in one way or another, on grounds King should not mix civil rights with war protest.

But King had the satisfaction of seeing Senators Eugene McCarthy of Minnesota and Robert Kennedy of New York launch anti-war campaigns to deny President Johnson renomination-campaigns.

Board Said Too Tough In Compensation Cases

TORONTO (CP) — Dr. Morton Shulman (NDP—Toronto High Park) Thursday found sympathy among members of the legislature's standing committee on commissions for his criticisms of the Workmen's Compensation Board.

Dr. Shulman, not a member of the committee, appeared with 40 files, "each a documented case of a grave injustice done by the board," to protest that some policies applied in compensation cases are "unfair, improper and immoral."

The committee, which met for 50 minutes before adjourning until after Easter, was promised that members of the board will come back to continue examination of its operations.

Vernon Singer (L—Toronto Downsview) complained that in the time available members could "never scratch the surface" of the work it started to do.

Dr. Shulman had time to mention only two of the cases he wanted to bring up, both of them concerned with compensation penalties imposed because the disability was partly due to a physical condition existing before an accident occurred.

"Why should it matter what previous condition existed?" asked Ian Deans (NDP—Wentworth). "If a man was able to earn a living despite a previous handicap he cannot because of a disability resulting from an accident, then that is all that matters."

"That sums it up perfectly," said Dr. Shulman. "It is immoral to give a man only half compensation for a disability when he was able to earn his living before his industrial accident."

J. P. Cauley, vice-chairman of the board, reminded the committee that industry pays for compensation, and care should be exercised in making it done to induce industry to refuse jobs to some types of handicapped persons.

Syl Apps (PC—Kingston and the Islands) said that if compensation is to be paid without regard to previous physical ailments, then some fund should be provided to relieve industry of the full cost of potential compensation.

Farm Union Fails to Block Bill on Beef

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario Farmers' Union attempted unsuccessfully Thursday to dissuade the legislature's agriculture committee from approving a government bill which the OFU said will hinder development of a provincial beef marketing plan.

A 40-man delegation headed by OFU President Walter Miller of Tara argued that the proposed Beef Cattle Marketing Act would only give some $150,000 a year to an organization which is on record as opposing a marketing scheme.

The bill was proposed by the Ontario Beef Improvement Association, a body to which all beef producers nominally belong but which Mr. Miller said has an active membership of fewer than 10 per cent of the province's cattlemen.

Convicts Fail in Bid To Escape at Newcastle

NEWCASTLE, Ont. (CP) — Two prisoners on their way to Kingston penitentiary were thwarted in an escape attempt Thursday by a department of highways employee and an off-duty Metropolitan Toronto police officer.

The prisoners were being taken by car to Kingston by Staff Sgt. Frank Singer and Constable Tom Adrusenuk of Sudbury city police when they tried to escape near this community 16 miles east of Oshawa.

The escape attempt developed into a roadside struggle before Harold Allen, a Newcastle highways department employee, and Constable Fred C. Senft of Toronto arrived at the scene and helped to subdue the prisoners.

The two Sudbury officers each on charges of breaking and entering, theft, auto theft and escaping from Burwash industrial farm near Sudbury.

Mahon was serving 16 months definite and six months indefinite at Burwash on seven charges of possession of stolen goods. Marshall was serving two years less a day on the same charge.

The two men were sentenced earlier this week to 21 months

Boat Sewage Rules Delayed

TORONTO (CP) — The legislature adjourned Thursday for the April 4-6 Liberal leadership convention in Ottawa, but not before discussing maple syrup, snowmobiles and camping permits.

It will re-convene Monday when members of the official Liberal opposition who are delegates to the federal convention return, and then adjourn again Thursday, April 11 to Monday, April 22, for the annual Easter recess.

Agriculture Minister William Stewart announced an aid program for Ontario's maple syrup industry that would establish a $100,000 loan fund for producers' equipment purchases, and capital grants for new centralized production facilities.

A proposed Motorized Vehicles Act, designed to control the operation of snowmobiles and similar vehicles in the province, was given first reading.

Transport Minister Irwin Haskett, who introduced the bill, said vehicles will have to be registered with the transport department before they can be operated legally, and any child under 16 years of age will be prohibited from driving such vehicles on a highway.

John Simonett, energy and resources management minister, announced a seven-month postponement in the implementation date for regulations prohibiting pleasure boats with sleeping accommodations from dumping raw sewage into lakes and requiring the boats to be equipped with a holding tank for sewage.

The regulations were postponed to Jan. 1, 1969, from the original starting date June 1 this year.

Strictly Personal

Fathers and Sons--1862 Style

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

This book is about the conflict between the generations — and especially between sons and their parents.

"You don't know my father well enough," says one character.

"Your father's all right," replies another, "but he's behind the times — his day is over."

A few pages later, one of the youths denies accepting a certain philosopher's ideas. "I don't adopt anyone's ideas," he drew himself up proudly. "I have my own."

The lad's uncle raises his hands in horror and exclaims: "I can't see how it's possible not to acknowledge certain principles and rules. By what standards do you accept or reject things, then?"

And the boy answers, "I've already told you, uncle, that we don't accept any authorities."

His friend chimes in: "We act by virtue of what we recognize as beneficial. At the present time, negation is the most beneficial of all — and we deny . . ."

"Everything?"

"Everything!"

"What? Not only art and poetry . . . but even . . horrible to say . . ."

"Everything!" repeated the lad, with indescribable composure.

What is this radical, nihilistic, bigoted boy?

It is "Fathers and Sons, Turgenev's finest novel, published in Russia in the year 1862, more than a century ago.

The book portrays the conflict between the older conservative generation and the new democratic intelligentsia in Russia during the 1860s.

In it, the reader will find many of the same attitudes, ideas, ideals, and animosities that today seem so uniquely tied in with the "hip generation."

When the novel appeared it was bitterly attacked, both by the bourgeoisie and by the radicals, as distortions of their relative positions. Today we can see that Turgenev was fair to both sides.

But the storm aroused by his portrayal was so great that the author left Russia entirely and never again returned to his homeland, except for a few brief visits. He died 20 years later, in France.

"Fathers and Sons" has since been restored to its rightful place as one of the seminal novels in European literature. It remains a better explanation of "hippiedom" than any contemporary book.

Family Inseparable

Lakehead MPP Resides at Bayside Trailer Park--Commutes to Queen's Park

By HARRY MULHALL
Staff Reporter

Ron and Pat Knight and their three youngsters are inseparable.

Neither political tradition, a general election nor the housing problem can keep them apart.

So now, the Quinte district has as a resident one of Ontario's most challenging young MPPs without even casting a vote.

Not that the situation is that simple. In fact, for the Knights, now living at Bayside's Mobile Village, it still has certain complexities.

But, affirm the couple, any problems are compensated by their Quinte neighbors who make them feel like home. Or as close to home as they can get to Northwestern Ontario.

It all started the night last October when Knight, Fort William alderman and broadcaster, was elected Liberal MPP for Port Arthur.

It was a headline upset of the general election — banishing popular political veteran Mines Minister George Wardrope from the Legislature.

The freshman MPP's first problem was family, not politics.

Even for a northerner acclimatized to distance the Lakehead is a fair stretch from Queen's Park. It meant infrequent visits with his wife, daughter Kathy 10, and sons Peter 6, Michael 5.

All the Knights wanted together ness. So the young legislator opted for moving his family with him during the six-month session.

But Toronto revealed spiralling rents, plus the fact the Knights had little taste for metropolitan living.

Then they had an inspiration — and Knight went out and bought it: an $11,000 long, long trailer.

There was one more snag— lack of suitable trailer sites in Ontario. The search, aided even by newspaper publicity, revealed nothing, until the day the MPP was driving to Ottawa.

Enroute, he spotted the Bayside location, liked the environment and the people.

The end result was that in January, the Knights and their spanking new mobile home moved into the Quinte district.

So far, the arrangement is working satisfactorily despite a hectic schedule.

Knight commutes by train, staying over three nights a week when the Legislature sits late. On weekends he also works as a radio newscaster. Then there are the flying trips back to his constituency for political business.

"Still, I see my family four nights out of seven—which is pretty good," he says.

Commuting also has its advantages.

"On that train I've real solitude. I'm able to concentrate and do a lot of work — speeches, political homework, even a bit of correspondence."

Even his constituents are apparently agreeable — although a non-resident representative often is resented in Canadian political tradition.

"There were some complaints originally," Knight admits. "But I told them I felt that each elected member had to find his own way to represent his people. The main thing they would expect from me is effective representation."

"The attitude (now) I gather is quite good".

Furthermore, comes recess at Queen's Park the Knights will hitch up their trailer and head back north. Once there, the MPP can travel his sprawling constituency and still be at home with his family.

Pat Knight is also delighted with the turn of events — particularly their discovery of the Quinte district.

The neighborier communities of Trenton and Belleville resemble the Port Arthur - Fort William environment.

"It's more like what we're used to — the friendliness here and the country."

Modern mobile living is comfortable, cheaper than metropolitan rents, and a better investment.

"I'm going to own this after four years," Ron Knight points out. "It represents mobility for us — and independence."

Independence is a feature of his political career to date.

French on his mother's side, he is considered an outspoken opponent of bilingualism, at a time when even Opposition parties are agreeing with the government.

"Fortunately," says Knight, "the Liberal party has given me the perogative of differing with the caucus view . . . it's a personal view and I bear full 'responsibility for it."

He fervently believes there is a much, if mute, opposition to the introduction of bilingualism in Ontario.

"I think it should be put to the test . . let's get it out in the open."

He also fears a new kind of separatism may be brewing— this time in Northern Ontario, where common geography, suspicions of economic neglect could stimulate a breakaway movement.

"But the Indians of Northern Ontario are also being shabbily treated, says Knight who is learning Ojibway.

"I have a feeling that problems of the Indians in the north are going to get worse," he warns.

These and other problems are common talk around the Knight trailer, since Pat Knight shares her husband's interest in public affairs — to a point.

As a politician's wife "I've never poured tea in my life," she admits.

But then, she says, she has three children and a husband who "doesn't like TV dinners."

She also has her own creative pursuits.

A musician, she already has had a record published of two songs she wrote for Centennial Year. She has presented a copy of it to the Prime Minister.

"Our Mom Makes Music"

Knight children, Peter 4, Michael 5, have an added reason for being proud of mom. A talented musician, Pat Knight had two songs recorded in Centennial Year and presented record to Prime Minister Pearson.

A Mobile Family

Ronald Knight is seen off by wife, Pat and sons Michael and Peter, as he leaves Bayside trailer for another day at Queen's Park. Mobile home solved problem of Fort William family separation when father was elected MPP.

Supernatural Happenings Occurred Throughout Hastings County

THE DISAPPEARING GHOSTS
Gerald E. Boyce

Ghosts seem to be very hard to find in Belleville these days. Despite two recent articles on our ghosts of the 1890s, and despite accompanying pleas for further information on local ghosts and other supernatural happenings, the mails have brought only one response. A kind reader sent in a series of religious tracts dealing with the Biblical miracles.

Elsewhere in Hastings County, there are some interesting tales of the supernatural. Tyendinaga Township boasts the Ghost of Meagher's Mill. The setting for this story was Meagher's Mill, located on the Salmon River just west of the picturesque hamlet of Lonsdale. Apparently a young man drowned in the mill pond, towards the end of the nineteenth century. Because this was a sudden and violent death, the residents believed that the deceased man's soul would not rest, and no one would work at the mill. Finally the owner, lumbermen, occasionally lost their lives. The graves of these lumbermen were often close to the river, and their ghosts were believed to haunt the area.

However, some of these ghosts were only too real. About 1913, James Taylor, an experienced foreman on the river drives, had an adventure with a "ghost" on the Madawaska River. Taylor's job was to travel up and down the river bank at night, checking for log jams at the points he carried a lighted birch with a torch on the end. His path went past the graves of some river men who had drowned in the rapids. One night, he saw something white standing near the graves. Conquering his fear, Taylor approached the spectre, which suddenly started to move back. The "ghost" seemed to fall over a log, and Taylor recognized the figure with his long pole and kicked it with his heavy boots. The figure's yelling on logging operations in the area. Finally the owner, lumbermen, occasionally lost their lives. The graves of these lumbermen were often close to the river, and their ghosts were believed to haunt the area.

The pair explained that it was all a joke and then gathered up the "ghost" and carried him to camp, where he nursed two broken ribs.

From Bangor Township in the extreme north-east corner of Hastings County comes the legend of the two fending neighbors. Apparently death did not end their strife, and people could hear the same old bickering coming from the graveyard. Suddenly the voices ceased. When the residents investigated, one grave was found to be empty. One of the pair had gone back to the hills, where he could be heard at night riding his horse and herding stray cows.

So much for now for some of our county legends. An autographed, first edition of "Historic Hastings" (now out of print) will be given to the reader who, within the next 10 days, sends in the most interesting anecdote or story of the supernatural history of this area. If no entries are received, this series of articles will next turn to some of the untold stories of our early school system — for example, how the County Board of Education operated locally more than 100 years ago.

(Article 144 in the series sponsored by the Hastings County Historical Society. Correspondence is most welcome and should be adressed to Mr. G. Boyce, c/o Centennial Secondary School, Palmer Road, Belleville).

'You Would Think I Was Running Again' Exclaims Pearson

OTTAWA (CP) — With fond roars of farewell, Liberals gave Lester B. Pearson a tumultuous goodbye Thursday night at a convention called to choose his successor as party leader and prime minister.

"You'd think I was running again," said Mr. Pearson as a ring of guards, senators and friends edged him and his wife through mobs of tearful but smiling supporters.

He was the only man Thursday to draw more television cameras than Pierre Elliott Trudeau, one of the 13 candidates to succeed him. The National Hockey League playoff game between Montreal Canadiens and Boston Bruins was delayed an hour so TV could record the scene at the Ottawa Civic Centre, where about 9,000 persons gathered to say farewell.

Mr. Pearson was given a standing ovation at the beginning of his speech that lasted 67 seconds and was applauded 29 times during a pungent, poignant, far-reaching and often witty address that lasted about half an hour.

Introduced by Senator John Nichol of Vancouver, president of the Liberal Federation of Canada, as "an enemy of pomp and nonsense," Mr. Pearson, wearing the polka-dot bow tie that became his symbol in politics, carried the ball from there.

Mr. Pearson then presented a list of problems and goals to be achieved by the new leader and the party:

—Wealth which is not fairly shared between people and regions.

—Economic expansion without inflation; financial stability without stagnation and mass unemployment.

—The need for large amounts of foreign capital, in turn creating the problem of Canadian control or U.S. domination.

—Closer co-operation, especially in financial and economic matters, between federal and provincial governments.

—A new constitution acceptable to Ottawa and all the provinces.

—The structure of social security.

—Re-examination of the whole basis of foreign policy.

—National unity, the problem governing everything else.

"A destiny that takes Quebec outside Canada means, simply and starkly, the end of Canada," Mr. Pearson said in French.

The party presented Mr. Pearson with a white West Highland terrier and a bronze medallion mounted on a granite base.

Near the stage were seven of his 10 grandchildren, his son Geoffrey, his daughter Patricia, wife of Dr. Walter Hannah, and his brother Vaughan.

A dewey-eyed phalanx of supporters from Algoma East, the riding that has elected him since 1948, sat off to one side.

Mrs. Pearson wore a green dress, pearls, white gloves and dark glasses to ward off the heat of the TV lights above.

"We want Lester," roard the crowd, calling him back to the microphone three times with swelling choruses of For He's a Jolly Good Fellow.

Senator Nichol then presented the outgoing prime minister with a big sculptured bronze-and-granite desk ornament fashioned by Toronto sculptor Dora de Pedery-Hunt.

Two of his granddaughters then came to the stage for another gift—a white West Highland terrier, which licked Mrs. Pearson's cheek fondly.

"I can't find words," Mr. Pearson began, then brought down the house again saying:

"What would I do if I retired to Rockcliffe and ran into Mr. Diefenbaker without a dog."

John Diefenbaker, whose reign as Conservative leader came to an end last September, likes to walk his dog in the exclusive Ottawa suburb.

Choosing a New Leader

SPORT SLICES

H-mmm, the Boston Bruins and New York Rangers may or may not pick up the Stanley Cup marbles but as sure as the sap's a-runnin' their emergence from the cellar apartments of the National Hockey League high-rise caught the fancy of John and Jane Fan.

This is reflected in the 21st annual Hockey News all-stars squads. The television and ribaldish selectors named four members of the Broadway Blues and three Bruins in a chapeau-doffing tribute to the former step-plug-uppers to gold and glory.

And they added the icing to the Boston-lan cake when they named Derek Sanderson as the rookie-of-the-year. And who would not?

Chicago Black Hawks placed two (just one guess) on the first all-star team with Toronto, Montreal, Boston and New York getting single nominees.

The Beau Brummels of the new Madison square Garden caught the fan fancy for the second spaad collecting three places. Boston got two and Detroit is represented by the one and only Gordie Howe.

The Hawks Stan Mikita who needs two or three more fingers to count his awards on one hand got the fans vote as the "most valuable player" to his team.

There were four new faces on the first all-star ensemble, with goalie Lorne Gump Worsley of Canadiens, Bobby Orr of the Bruins and Toronto's Tim Horton on defence. This was the second-team combination of last year. Red Gilbert was the other new face taking the right wing spot from the venerable Gordie Howe.

Returnee Number Two? Don Robert Marven Hull of Point Anne, Ppton, Quinte, but not yet, Ottawa.

The second team was all New York and Boston with the exception of Howe at right wing. Eddie Giacomin and goalie and with Jim Neilson, New York and Boston's Ted Green on defence. Picked for the centre spot was Jean Ratelle of New York flanked by Howe and Johnny Bucyk of Boston at left wing.

Worsley, Gilbert, Neilson, Green and Bucyk are all Black Princes to win their golden spurs in the Battle of the Selectors. Orr and Horton were brought up from the second-team rank of last year with Mikita and Hull renewing their footprints in the cement of selection permanency.

Giacomin and Howe took one pace backward from last year's top squad.

The seasonal performances of those selected must have misled the eyes of the fan selectors to some extent for they left on the sidelines names synonymous with all-star selections such as Norm Ullman, Harry Howell, Pierre Pilote, Ken Wharram and Frank Mahovlich.

And there could be some raised eyebrows down Montreal way for the best the Habs could do in the selectors' eyes was one nominee, the Gumper in goal.

The blonde gentleman from Point Anne received the most number of votes picking up 19,870 with 6,470 more than he received a year ago when he let all-time high with 19,391.

Mikita was right behind Hull with 18,748 while Orr collected 16,321 and Worsley 12,236.

All but one of the first team selections were swept into office by conclusive margins. Gilbert had a close run with Howe, polling 16,581 to the Red Wings star's 16,402.

The closest run-for-the roses on the second team was Ted Green and Pierre Pilote with the former getting the nod 9,716 to 9,146.

According to the figures, Mikita and Sanderson had clear sailing for the MVP and rookie honors.

Women's Softball

Mrs. (Doreen) Cook, president of the Belleville and District Ladies' Softball League, has announced that registration for all players and coaches will be held this weekend.

The registration, with a player fee of $1, will be held Sunday at the Recreation Centre, Pinnacle Street, from 1 to 4 p.m.

Mrs. Cook, elected president of the Belleville and District Ladies' Softball League at a recent meeting, also pointed out that "there will be no open meeting to organize city, district and junior girls softball leagues on Monday, April 8, as announced she has announced."

Eastern Ontario news outlets received letters announcing such a meeting and signed: "M. Reid, Chairman, Committee for the Promotion of Ladies' Softball" earlier this week.

The letter announced "an open meeting at the Belleville Recreation Centre on Monday, April 8" and extended an invitation for all to attend.

A check with the Recreation Centre this morning disclosed that "while there is a small committee scheduled to meet here, there is no open meeting. We hope to get Mrs. Cook and Mrs. Reid together to straighten out the mixup."

Mrs. Reid is the past president of the B. and D.L.S.L.

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. (AP) — Walter Dowell of Walnut Ridge, Ark., downed defending champion Jodi Shepherd two and one Thursday in the American Golf Association's annual match-play championship. 2-1 In Montreal

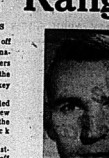
Habs, Rangers Stop Bruins, Hawks!

3-1 In Gotham

By THE CANADIAN PRESS



Muscle and condition paid off Thursday as Montreal Canadiens and New York Rangers opened winners in the best-of-seven National Hockey League playoff quarter-finals.

The Canadiens out-muscled Boston Bruins 3-1 while in New York the Rangers dropped the injury-riddled Chicago Black Hawks 3-1.

The second game of the Eastern Division Stanley Cup playoff between the Canadiens and Boston will be in Montreal Saturday night while New York and Chicago meet Sunday afternoon in New York.

John Ferguson, the club policemsh, set the tone for the Canadiens and helped boost them to their victory by making a decision from Boston defenceman Ted Green in a first-period brawl that brought the Canadiens to life.

He and Brain John McKenzie

JOHN FERGUSON

engaged in a mixup in the second period while rookies Danny Grant of Montreal and Boston's Derek Sanderson also squared off in a second-period melee.

Henri Richard and Claude Provost supplied the scoring punch for the Canadiens while Ken Hodge did the honors for Boston.

Another highlight of the bruising match was a misconduct penalty assessed against Montreal goalie Lorne Worsley in the second period when he protested too strongly a slashing penalty called against Ferguson.

After the game, Worsley said he thought at first the penalty was being called against McKenzie, who had taken a shot at the goalie while skating through his crease. When referee John Ashley fingered Ferguson for retaliating in defence of the goalie, Worsley followed Ashley all the way to the penalty timekeeper protesting the call.

New York goals went to Orland Kurtenbach, Harry Howell and Rod Gilbert with Pierre Pilote replying for Chicago.

The Rangers were in command most of the way with Ron

TED GREENE

Stewart shadowing Bobby Hull and keeping the ailing super star off the scors sheet.

Coach Billy Reay made no excuses for the loss after the game.

"They (New York) played a great game—a terrific game."

Hull still is hampered by a bruised instep and NHL scoring leader Stan Mikita of Chicago is suffering undiagnosed back pains.

The two happiest men involved were New York manager-coach Emile Francis and Montreal coach Toe Blake.

Francis was especially pleased with goalie Ed Giacomin and Stewart, who, he said, "cancelled" Hull just as planned.

Blake was most happy that his scorers were Richard and Provost, two of the three veteran players with the club when he took it over prior to the 1955-56 season. The other is centre and captain Jean Beliveau.

Of the Ferguson-Green fight, Blake only said:

"It's hard to assess these things. But I'd say that winning a fight like that didn't hurt us."

Skiers Hurt In Accident

SOUTH LAKE TAHO Calif (AP) — Two Austrian skiing sisters, Olga Pall, 20, and Leial, 17, suffered leg fractures Thursday night when they were hit by a car on the eve of the final meet of the World Cup ski competition.

Doctors said, Olga, a gold medal winner in the women's downhill at the Winter Olympics, suffered a broken left leg below the knee and scalp lacerations.

Leial had two fractures of the left leg, above and below the knee, and scalp lacerations.

Greensboro Golf

Casper, Boros Sizzle With 65's

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — A two-month tour around U.S. servicemen in the Far East gave Billy Casper spiritual inspiration which he translated into a share of the lead in the Greater Greensboro open golf tournament Thursday.

Casper blistered the 7,034-yard Sedgefield Country Club course Thursday with a 65 in the $137,500 tournament for a first-round tie with Julius Boros.

Casper was frank to admit that he had doubts about his readiness to jump back into competition after the layoff.

"But I made some good pars at the start of my round and I hit solid irons after that to get the ball close to the hole."

He finished with eight birdies, five in succession on the back nine, which he played first. After his five-under 30, he moved to the front nine, where he scored 35, one-under par. An iron shot into the woods on the final hole forced him over par and into a tie with Boros.

Boros, 48-year-old marvel of the tour, also played the back nine first and shot 31, adding a 34 on the front nine. His round included an eagle and five birdies.

They were one shot ahead of lanky Al Geiberger, who shot 32-34—66 and was denied a share of the lead by a missed 18-inch putt.

Then came Joe Campbell, Terry Dill and first-year pro Bob E. Smith at 67.

Defending champion Gene Archer was one of five 68 shooters and 14 were in at 69.

The latter group included Arnold Palmer, Gary Player and Tom Weiskopf, the year's top money winner.

The only Canadian in the tournament—Wilf Homenuik of Winnipeg—was in a mob at 75 after a 37-38 round.

Says Billy Reay

It Was The Rangers Game!

NEW YORK (AP) — The circus rigging hung high over their heads but New York Rangers weren't clowning with Chicago Black Hawks.

The Rangers, who are dispossessing Ringling Brothers Greatest Show on Earth for hockey's Stanley Cup playoffs, put on a pretty fair show of their own, defeating Chicago 3-1 Thursday night for a 1-0 lead in the best-of-seven quarter-final.

"Our club was ready," smiled Emile Francis, manager-coach of the Rangers. "We were moving pretty well out there."

Playoff hockey—a favorite phrase for teams involved in post-season action—means playing a defensive, close checking game. The Rangers did the job almost perfectly.

"You know," said goalie Eddie Giacomin, who faced 32 Chicago shots, "this one reminded me of the game we beat the Hawks 4-0 early in March. They got only 13 shots that night and the checking did it. It was the same in this one except Chicago played better this time. But it was the same kind of checking."

Was there any special tension for Giacomin, who admitted to some sleepless nights over the thought of facing Bobby Hull and company earlier this season?

"Nope," said Giacomin, "just the tension of playoff hockey."

Francis assigned Ron Stewart to Hull, a defensive manoeuvre that has paid off handsomely for the Rangers this season. It paid off Thursday in the game's first goal.

Reg Fleming, left wing on New York's checking line, battled the puck loose at the boards and banged it ahead to Stewart, who was skating in on the Chicago net. Stewart caught the puck in his skates and got a shot off which Denis DeJordy stopped. But Orland Kurtenbach rifled the rebound past him.

Giacomin lost his shutout with just 7½ minutes remaining when a shot by Pierre Pilote deflected off Fleming's stick, Jim Neilson's leg and into the Ranger net.

"It was New York's game, no question about that," said Billy Reay, coach of the Black Hawks. "They didn't give us many good shots."

Elmvale Tops Picton

Elmvale defeated Picton Merchants 6-3 in Elmvale last night to even their OHA Intermediate "B" semi - final series at a game each and one tie.

The next two games are in Picton on Sunday and Wednesday.

Elmvale led 2-0 and 3-0 by periods before Picton finally hit for goals from George Jackson, Jim Guernsey and Brian Beattie in the third - too late and too little.

Picton was minus regulars Pat Asselstine, Carl Stacey and Billy Hopkins for the game.

Favored Flyers Upset By Blues, Kings Nip Stars

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Philadelphia Flyers only thought the roof of their home Spectrum had been repaired while they spent most of March on the road in search of a National Hockey League home.

It started to fall in on them again Thursday night.

The Flyers, champions of the Western Division, were favored over St. Louis in their NHL playoff quarter-final, but the Blues spoiled the only upset of a four-game night by winning 1-0. In the other Western quarter-final, Los Angeles Kings edged Minnesota North Stars 2-1.

As well as giving St. Louis a lead in the series, the loss also cost Philadelphia its home ice edge and forced them to win at least one road game to stay in the Stanley Cup chase.

They get another chance Saturday in the second game of the series, also in Philadelphia, as do the North Stars when they meet the Kings back in Los Angeles the same day.

The only goal in Philadelphia came with 5:47 remaining in the third period when Jim Roberts rifled the puck past Bernie Parent, playing in his first NHL playoff.

The shutout was the sixth in 84 NHL playoff-games for Glenn Hall of St. Louis.

Ed Joyal and Bill White scored in the Los Angeles victory with the Minnesota goal going to Dave Balon.

While the other games were played to capacity audiences, the Los Angeles contest drew only 7,847 to watch goalie Terry Sawchuk's playoff magic continue.

Balon robbed Sawchuk of his 12th shutout in 96 playoff games with the final goal of the third period by whipping home a shot from about 12 feet.

But while White was kicking himself for leaving Balon uncovered in front of Sawchuk for the Minnesota goal, it was nothing compared with the displeasure expressed by Minnesota manager-coach Wren Blair.

Not only was the former Oshawa, Ont., milkman upset about his defence that "gummed up the whole works," he was just as mad at practice accommodations for the period between games.

"We can't get any ice time for practice on Friday. The only time they could give us was 8 a.m. and that was 35 miles from our hotel.

"That's bush. No question about it."

Red Kelly, coach of the Kings could see nothing bush about the way things were going for his team, especially for Sawchuk.

"It was a hang of a win," he said after the game.

"Sawchuk was great, I thought, especially in the second period when the North Stars really applied the pressure."

In Philadelphia, coaching comments were restrained, though political.

Keith Allen of Philadelphia observed that "it was a big game."

"He (Hall) didn't have much work. We didn't have many tough shots."

And about all St. Louis coach Scotty Bowman had to say was: "I just hope we win the last game."

In Wallaceburg Tomorrow

Peewees, Bantams Confident

Belleville's two young hockey clubs hit the road tomorrow for what they hope will result in a profitable weekend.

Smith Fuels Peewees and Kinmen Bantams travel to Wallaceburg for at least one game each and possibly two.

Their goal? The OMHA Peewee "AA" championship for the Fuelmen and the OMHA Bantam "AA" crown for the Kinsmen.

The two-of-three titular series opened here last Sunday with Smith Fuels winning 5-1 and the Kinsmen dropping a 2-1 decision.

Having lost the flip of a coin in both cases, all remaining games will be played this weekend in Wallaceburg. The peewee game is slated for 2.15 Saturday with the bantam to follow, around 4 p.m. If third games are necessary in one or both series, they will be played Sunday afternoon.

With a one-game lead, the peewees are naturally the best bet to win the championship but it should be pointed out that none of the four clubs can be sure of anything.

Although Belleville won the peewee game here by four goals, three of them came in the final period and two in the dying minutes. And Wallaceburg appeared a bit nervous, to deficit they are unlikely to face in their home rink. Smith Fuels will be up to battle on their hands all the way.

And the closeness of the bantam score, 2-1, indicates that anything can happen in this set too. The Kinsmen outshot Wallaceburg and had the chances to win but failed to show finishing punch, something their backers here will claim will change this weekend. They feel 4th Kinsmen have the ability to come back to cop the title.

Quinte Hockey

Stars Take 3-2 Lead

The Aluminum Stars, picking up momentum as they go, moved to within one win of capturing the Quinte Hockey League championship last night.

Stars whipped Stinson Construction 7-2 for their third consecutive victory after losing the first two games of the series.

Sixth game in the 4-of-7 set is scheduled for Tuesday night at eight o'clock.

The winners jumped ahead 3-0 in the first half last night and outscored Stinson's 4-0 in the second half to win going away.

Ron Poister, Ron Urch and Ron Post scored for the Stars in the first half and Hubert Poister added their fourth goal. Names of the winners' final three goal - getters were omitted from the scoresheet. Paul Zakos was credited with three assists, Bill Rushlow two, Don Moore, Hubert Poister and Bob Chappell one each.

Ed Manion and LeRoy McBrien were the Stinson marksmen. Don Bishop helped on both with Bruce Symons and Don Forsythe each getting one assist.

Only three minor penalties were assessed, two going to the losers.

Tee-off Time Tomorrow!

Bay of Quinte Country Club president Norman Henderson and his board of directors are sparing no effort to make 1968 a banner season in the club course will be open.

They announced today that the club course will be open for play tomorrow, April 6th for members and greens fees players.

The men's and ladies' locker rooms will be open but the clubhouse will be closed until a date to be announced later.

Also opening tomorrow will be the pro shop when the club pro George Balzas will be on hand to accept clubs for storage and give members the opportunity to up-date their equipment.

Last Monday President Henderson and directors Jack Belanger and Abe Tobe with course superintendent Henry Guertin toured the course on a planting and inspection tour.

The consensus was that the course has wintered well and is drying up nicely with the usual exceptions around the ditch.

Greens are being cut and fertilized, brush burned and ditches cleaned. An extensive tree-planting and pruning program is under way.

The 1968 season tees off tomorrow.

Would Stage Open Net Tournament

NEW YORK (AP) — The West Side Tennis Club wants to turn its biggest week-end—the national amateur singles championships—into an open tournament.

Officials of the Forest Hills, N.Y., club said Thursday they would welcome the chance to stage an open tournament if the U.S. Lawn Tennis Association, which meets in Dallas Saturday, agrees.

Wimbledon, the British championships, will go open this year.

Income Tax Team Wins Tournament

The Civil Service 5 pin bowling championship rolloff was held this week end, in keeping with the time of the year, the Income Tax Team No. 1 was the big winner.

Income Tax Team No. 1 won the trophy donated in 1952 for annual competition by various civil service departments in this city, by Captain John Watson, former personnel officer with the Income Tax Office. The trophy will be presented at a league banquet in May.

Members of the championship team, which rolled 3,016, are team captain Ross Huffman, Dell Finlayson, Ed Tobin, Owen Gray and Reg Frauts.

10 teams competed. They were: five from the income tax department, two from research council, one each from customs, U.I.C. and manpower.

High scores in this week's rolloff were: Reg Frauts 749, Cec Hiuser 725 (256), Jim Fraser 701 (291), and Jim Leonard (302).

Hunk of Wood, Ingenuity Help Golfer

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP) — A little ingenuity and a hunk of wood have helped one-armed golfer Dave Fullem become a much - better - than-average player.

He crushes drives 240-250 yards, and is shooting in the high 30s for nine holes.

"The next thing is to break 80," he said.

With one arm?

Well, almost. He lost his left arm at the elbow when a child. But he's fashioned a wooden arm which he straps on the stump, and connects to the golf club with a nylon loop and hook arrangement. He grips baseball fashion with his right hand.

The arrangement gives him 100 yards more than the 180 he used to get when he swung with his right arm only.

Mets, Phillies Blank Giants, Bosox; Chicubs Crush Chisox 11-5

By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Oakland's Rick Monday broke out of a slump at the expense of St. Louis Cardinals Thursday, but Red Schoendienst couldn't have cared less. He's too busy wondering about his relief pitching this year.

Monday ended his string of 20 hitless trips to the plate with two singles and a double as the Athletics pounded out a 13-4 victory over the defending National League champion Cardinals.

Five of the Oakland runs came off Mike Cuellar in the fourth inning—he gave up eight altogether—and four more were wrested from Hal Gibson in the seventh.

Manager Schoendienst is hoping that both Torres and Gibson can take up some slack in the Cardinal pitchers this year especially since Jack Lamabe, who sparkled help down the stretch last year, was cut Thursday.

In other exhibition games Thursday, New York Mets shot out San Francisco Giants 4-0; Los Angeles Dodgers downed Cleveland Indians 3-2, Chicago Cubs crushed Chicago White Sox 11-5; Philadelphia Phillies blanked Boston Red Sox 3-0, New York Yankees beat Washington Senators 9-2 and Minnesota Twins beat Houston Astros 3-1.

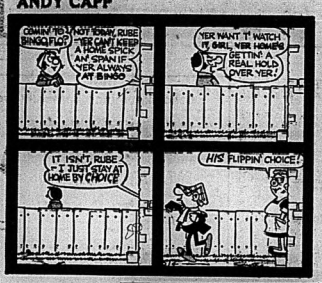
Jerry Kooman and Danny Frisella stopped the Giants on four hits and Ken Boswell had a two-run homer for the Mets. Tom Haller's second homer in as many days highlighted the Dodgers' victory.

Duke Sneider belted Gary Peters for seven runs in the first inning in which 11 men batted. Ron Santo had 2 singles and Al Spangler had two homers for the Cubs.

Larry Jackson, Gary Wagner and Dick Hall blanked the Red Sox while Tony Taylor homered for the Phillies.

The Yanks scored three unearned runs in the first inning while getting six walks off Harry Moore. Frank Howard hit a 400-foot homer for the senators, the longest ever hit at the Fort Lauderdale Stadium.

Dean Chance and Ken Ferrarese combined to stop Houston on four hits, Chance pitching until the eighth inning.



NEW YORK (AP) — A state mediator will try to day to settle a threatened strike that could force postponement of the home openers of both New York Yankees and Mets.

Vincent McDonnell, chairman of the state mediation board, called stadium officials and representatives of Local 94, AFL-CIO Building Service Employees Union, to a mediation session Thursday after the union voted to strike if a wage agreement is not reached.

The strike deadline was set for 8 a.m. Monday at Yankee Stadium where the American League club is to open its season the next day. The New Yorkers' home opener was set for Tuesday, but the Mets don't play at home until April 17.

The union, representing about 250 members who work at the two stadiums, is reported to be asking for substantial increases in wages that now range from $1.88 an hour for sweepers to $2.75 an hour for year-round groundskeepers and other maintenance workers.

City Novices Capture Zone 4 Title

Belleville Towers Food City captured the OMHA Zone Four Novice championship in most dramatic style last night.

Food City fired two goals in the final minute and 28 seconds of the game to nip a hard-fighting Madoc squad 3-2.

Belleville won the Zone Four crown in two consecutive games, winning the opener 2-1 in Madoc.

Madoc took a first-period 1-0 lead and held on to it going into the third period. The visiting youngsters made it 2-0 with the final chapter only two and a half minutes gone.

D. Forestall scored both Madoc goals with H. Williamson helping on one and R. Elliott on the other.

Food City started its comeback at the 8:35 mark when Ross MacLeod scored on a solo effort to chop the deficit in half.

Both clubs went all out over the remainder and with the seconds running out on Belleville, MacLeod teamed with Powell for his second goal and a 2-2 game at 18:37.

Eric Powell proved the final hero exactly 31 seconds later when he blasted home the game and series-winning goal, unassisted, to climax the evenly-contested series.

Firemen Win Gas House League Title

The Firemen captured the Gas House Hockey League championship with a narrow 3-1 victory over the Mustangs last night.

Firemen won the 4-of-7 thriller series four games to one to take home the championship trophy.

J. Babcock and Patterson scored the Firemen goals with Istead, Soule and Talbot gaining an assist each.

The lone Mustang play was Sneddon from Milligan.

KNUDSON'S WORLD OF GOLF

By GEORGE KNUDSON

Sitting in the hot sun with a cool drink two weeks ago in Pensacola, Fla., I thought back to the days in Winnipeg, before I joined the pro golf tour.

This week the tour moved to Greensboro, N.C. — warm weather again — and already I'm well into the season. But the folks back in Canada, especially those in the colder regions, are just starting to swing their clubs.

So, if you're going to try to pass on a few golfing tips, you might just as well start at the beginning. And, for the folks at home, preparation is the big thing now.

It's funny about people; most of us want to grab our driver and see how far we can hit the first day out to practice. But don't. Stick to the short irons at the beginning, and as the weak progresses, work up to the long irons and finally, the woods.

Your hands will be soft after the long layoff, just as mine were when I rejoined the tour in early January. By wearing a glove on a practice tee and sticking to the short irons at the beginning, chances are your hands won't blister as badly.

Get to know your swing a bit before tackling the woods.

Some of you will have spent time at golf schools over the winter, hitting balls into nets. The real value in that is to get your golfing muscles in tone.

But hitting too many indoors without proper supervision can be bad. You may think you've really got something going for you only to find when you get outside — and can follow the flight of the ball — you have developed a big duck hook or something as bad.

Remember — work up gradually this week and next week, from Augusta, we'll start working on the course.

Cards, Giants Favorites At 11-5 Odds

RENO, Nev. (AP) — St. Louis Cardinals and San Francisco Giants are co-favorites at 11-to-5 odds to win the National League baseball pennant this year, bookies said Thursday.

In the American League, Detroit is the favorite at 5-to-2 in odds posted at the Reno Turf Club.

Next St. Louis and San Francisco, in order are: Pittsburgh 4-to-1, Cincinnati, 4-to-1, Chicago 7-to-1, Atlanta 8-to-1, Philadelphia 12-to-1, Los Angeles 15-to-1, Houston 50-to-1, New York 100-to-1.

In the American League: Minnesota is 3-to-1, Baltimore 5-to-2, Chicago 4-to-1, Boston 6-to-1, California 8-to-1, Cleveland 15-to-1, New York 25-to-1, Oakland 40-to-1, Washington 60-to-1.

Conigliaro Career May Be Ended!

BOSTON (AP) — Tony Conigliaro, one of baseball's top sluggers who won the American League home run title at the age of 20 in 1965, appeared to have reached the end of the line today. The young outfielder was the victim of an accidental beaning last August.

A trio of eye specialists gave Conigliaro and Boston Red Sox the shocking news Thursday: his vision in the left eye is deteriorating, he may have to undergo surgery and "his baseball future at the present time is very doubtful."

Sal Conigliaro, Tony's father and confidant, indicated that the end Tony were resigned to the fact that the Red Sox star's playing days are over.

Tony signed with the Red Sox for a reported $80,000 bonus in September, 1962. He spent one year in the minors, at Wallyville of the New York-Penn League, and moved up to the Red Sox as a 19-year-old rookie in 1964.

In 1965, he led the league with 32 homers and appeared on the way to stardom.

Tony slipped to 20 homers, but had 93 runs batted in the next year. Then he missed 1967 games last season when fate stepped in.

On Aug. 18, in a night game against California Angels at Fenway Park, Conigliaro was hit on the side of the face by a fast ball thrown by right-hander Jack Hamilton. Tony collapsed with a fractured left cheekbone and a serious eye injury.

Sidelined for the remainder of the season, Conigliaro attempted a comeback this spring. He managed just five hits in 68 times at bat. He struck out 21 times, including eight of his last 10 trips to the plate, before he flew home for an army reserve meeting and an examination by the eye doctors.

Although stunned by the outcome of the examinations, Tony said that while he has suffered a "tough break" he considers himself a "lucky guy."

"I've had an opportunity to realize my lifetime ambition — to be a big league baseball player and to play with the greatest bunch of guys in the world."

Students Tour Toronto

TWEED — Two bus loads of grade 9 and 10 students from Tweed-Hungerford High School visited Toronto April 3.

The trip was arranged by Mrs. Jacqueline Simpson, who has been teaching Shakespeare to the students. Prime object of the trip was to permit the students to attend the O'Keefe Centre show Kiss Me, Kate.

Assisting Mrs. Simpson were Mrs. Betty Murray, Mrs. Pat Halpenny and Mrs. Marion Cope. Cadets in uniform filled the second bus.

While the girls viewed the Parliament Buildings, Art Gallery, University of Toronto campus and the Royal Ontario Museum, the boys toured Downsview.

LOSING ON THE STOCK MARKET?

Why not invest in an apartment house and eliminate the risk? Real estate's good only one way in value — up - up - up.

Besides the increase in actual value of the property, the return from rents goes up and up as well. If you are worried about vacancies, just try and rent an apartment in town.

We have a few lots left zoned for tri-plex, six-plex or 12 unit apartments. See us at once and start your money really working for you. Consult your auditor about the tax saving alone.

Jeane Dixon's Horoscope

For April 6

Your birthday today: You are going to find the coming year full of changing circumstances. In large part the results of fall-out from last year's personal decisions. Many relationships formed in the last few years will lapse into disagreements. Most of today's natives will have to reorganize or relocate their bases of operations this year, under pressure of personal crisis. Today's natives are often talented in oscillum.

ARIES (Mar. 21 — Apr. 19): Your pride and disappointment belong in your pockets. Work tensions slack off, but don't be tempted to stop before your chores are all settled. Put aside some of your earnings for another season.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 — May 20): Put on as placid and affable an appearance as you can. You fool nobody, but everybody appreciates gracious behavior.

GEMINI (May 21 — June 20): Today is a very good time to go quietly and calmly about weekend chores and patching up strained relationships. Pay off without quibbling. Find some good reading and spend the evening away from those who might tend to resume squabbling.

CANCER (June 21 — July 22): The practical course today is to be bestirred over the purely social, at least during the morning and afternoon. You can have a great deal of quiet enjoyment this evening.

LEO (July 23 — Aug. 22): Take a few hours vacation from job and chores today, but remember that most of your thinking today is daydreaming or fantasy. Pursue sentimental interests and relationships tonight.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 — Sept. 22): It is a pleasure to relax a bit and find oneself in a more accepting mood. Even routines take on a more pleasant quality.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 — Oct. 22): Today is one of those days you seem unable to really win. It is better to refrain from comment in general, as there is certain to be something else you have not seen yet which puts your opinion in an odd perspective.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23—Nov. 21): No great events should arise from today's round of incidents. Tend to your personal affairs first, deal with those who seek you out, but do not pursue new contacts today.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 — Dec. 21): The temptation today is to spend for display or public relations. You are likely also to have to deal with some sorehead or excitable person — remember that a quick and detailed answer to his remarks creates a game. Let him talk himself into a circle.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 — Jan. 19): This is no day to argue with a mate — find out what has to be done to keep the peace, and calmly do it without quibbling. You can make a rather good financial deal today.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 — Feb. 18): Routine is the likely tone of today. Make use of the calm to get a lot done and do a lot of loose ends fastened down. Avoid arguments with chance - met strangers.

PISCES (Feb. 19 — Mar. 20): Your personal relations are subject to great tension today. Get your work done as soon as you reasonably can and settle down determined to keep differences to a minimum.

Sunday School Lesson

Life After Birth Is Fine

By CLARENCE W. CRANFORD

When it comes to inventing slogans, no one can accuse the hippies of lacking imagination. Instead of saying, "I believe in life after death," the hippies have come up with the slogan, "I believe in life after birth." If that is more than just a clever attempt to be funny, if it means that life, in spite of its troubles and disillusionments, is worth living, then it is a pretty good faith.

Not everyone has such a faith. Dr. Joseph Sizoo reported that Clarence Darrow, the famous criminal lawyer, once remarked to him the he believed life is just an unpleasant interlude between two nothingnesses.

The Uniform Sunday School lesson for April 7; "The Victory of The Cross," John 18-19.

What people need as they face life is a faith that can give them the courage to see it through when life begins to close in on them. The soldier needs it as he faces a determined enemy in the steaming jungles of Vietnam. The parent needs it as he tries to relate to children who belong to a rebellious generation. The businessman needs it as he tries to stay honest in a fiercely competitive world. The politician needs it as he faces the confusing issues of our time. The youth needs it as he faces temptations to which other youth are yielding. The retiree, and the mother whose children are grown and gone, need it as they find themselves with time on their hands. Everyone needs a faith and courage that can see him through as he faces the ultimate mystery of what life and death are all about.

Jesus had such a faith. When the forces of this life were close in on Him, and death by crucifixion seemed an inevitable fate he still had the courage to see it through, and not run from what He believed was His God-given mission. When the soldiers came to arrest Him, He faced them with such magnificent courage, they actually fell back. In the face of His majestic presence, it was they, not He, who were afraid. (John 18:6)

Jesus had courage to face whatever lay ahead because He found life in God that was lived-out within the will of God. This feeling did not come overnight, of some super spiritual osmosis. It came, in part, because He was a man of prayer.

When Jesus, after the last supper, led His disciples to the Garden of Gethsemane to pray, Judas knew where to look for Him, for John says that Jesus often took His disciples there for such a purpose. (John 18:2)

Sometimes a person asks why God does not seem real to him. The answer may be that he has not paid the price. He has not sought God with the same dedication he would seek to cultivate a friend. He has not tried to live by the discipline of prayer. He wants religious faith to come to him unsought the way the vision came to Paul on the road to Damascus. But several experiences had prepared Paul for that experience, and undoubtedly faithfulness in prayer was one of them.

Jesus could face whatever lay ahead with courage because he believed that His truth would outlast anything that might happen to Him. When Pilate asked Him if He were a king, Jesus gave him a strange answer. He spoke of a kingdom based on truth. (John 18:37) Pilate did not understand this. He did understand the use of violence. He tried to frighten Jesus with the threat of its use. (John 19:10) But Jesus believed His truth would prevail long after the kingdoms of this world were gone.

In the end, it was Pilate who was the coward. Three times he publicly proclaimed his belief in Jesus' innocence. (John 18:38; 19:4; 19:6) and yet he turned Jesus over to executioners because he was told that he would be disloyal to Caesar if he did not. (John 19:12) Pilate would stoop to gross injustice rather than let such an accusation get back to Rome. Jesus believed that everyone, Pilate included, is in the hands of One whose power is greater than that of all the kingdoms of the world combined. (John 19:11)

It takes courage to die, but it also takes courage to live. Faith that one's life is being lived in harmony with God's will, that God's truth will outlast the ages, and that God's power cannot be overthrown can enable a person to face life with courage, confident that his faith will give him victory over life's temptations and despair.

Smoking One Cause Of Emphysema

By Dr. Joseph G. Molner

Dear Dr. Molner: What is the cause and what are the symptoms of emphysema? I am nearly 70 and smoke two packs of cigarettes a day. Is there any cure? — E. K. O.

Various things cause emphysema, which is a loss of elasticity or stretchiness in the lungs, and the breaking down of the tiny air sacs where oxygen is picked up by the bloodstream.

Smoking is one cause; air pollution another. Asthma bronchitis or other condition which puts a continuing strain on the lungs often is involved. And, of course, any disease which damages and scars the lungs can contribute, like tuberculosis being one of several.

The essential symptom is inability to exhale strongly enough — and that in turn means insufficient space into which to draw fresh air. Thus shortness of breath becomes apparent as emphysema progresses.

There isn't any cure, so the only sensible recourse is to make use of every possible means of preventing the emphysema from becoming worse. A variety of medications help, but one thing is certain: You must stop smoking.

For some of the other methods of protecting yourself, read my booklet, How to Control Emphysema, for which send 20 cents in coin and a self-addressed, un-stamped envelope, plus 6 cents for postage to Dr. Molner, in care of the Chicago Sun-Times Syndicate, P. O. Box 158, Dundee, Ill.

Dear Dr. Molner: We have always bought white shell eggs. Now my husband has been buying eggs in the country with brown shells. He claims they are better than white.

I don't think so. If they were better, why don't the stores sell more of the brown? — Mrs. L. M.

The color of the shell has nothing to do with the quality of the egg. In most parts of the country, people prefer eggs with white shells, so that's what the stores carry. But there are some parts of the country where people, for reasons unknown, prefer brown eggs—so farmers send brown eggs to those markets.

• • •

Dear Dr. Molner: If a diabetic is arrested for drunk driving and is given a blood test, can they tell if he is really drunk or not? — L. E.

Yes. A diabetic having an insulin reaction can act drunk but he will have an alcohol content in his blood which a blood test will show.

• • •

Dear Dr. Molner; I am concerned about my daughter, her husband and their two children, aged 2 and 4. Hardly a month goes by that they all don't have a bout with diarrhea, especially the youngest child.

My daughter is a very good housekeeper. Is there some seasoning that could cause this? If lettuce and other vegetables are not washed thoroughly, could this cause diarrhea? — Mrs. D. Y.

You realize, I am sure, that guessing at the cause of such repeated attacks of diarrhea isn't easy — and sometimes it takes a bit of investigating even when you have the facts ready to examine. I don't.

Your letter, however, brings the Salmonella germ to mind. It causes a great deal of that type of trouble and it is not always easy to find out the source of the germ in any individual attack.

Seasonings do not cause this trouble. But lettuce or any vegetables or fruits, if not thoroughly washed, could carry the germ. In fact, it can thrive in many types of foods, and is responsible for "food poisoning" at picnics, group suppers and so on if foods are left un-refrigerated too long.

It is also possible for a person to become a "carrier" of the germ and thus innocently infect those around him. Or not.

• • •

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column when ever possible.

Pearson, Bowing Out, Appeals for Forward-looking Successor

OTTAWA (CP) — Ten contenders for the Liberal party leadership appeal in convention delegates today as the hour approaches to pick a successor to Lester B. Pearson.

The prime minister told the convention Thursday night in no uncertain terms he wants a forward-looking successor, willing to break with Victorianism in Canadian politics, but "not one who will desert all the good things of the past.

Mr. Pearson retired from party leadership—but not the official office of prime minister—at a swirling, blaring rally attended by nearly 10,000, calling on the party to "come to terms with the new age."

Mr. Pearson is expected to turn over the office of prime minister to his successor at the new leader's wish, probably within two weeks.

Mr. Pearson did not name his own preference, but said the party leader should be "strong, decisive, wise, dynamic, charismatic, patient, indefatigable, kindly and capable of inspiring unswerving loyalty, unquestioning obedience, and rapturous worship."

All the candidates have at least some of these qualifications.

Justice Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau, leading candidate according to most polls, was followed by the largest and noisiest supporters everywhere he went Thursday.

A spring rain dampened outdoor demonstrations but not the delegates' spirits.

Mr. Trudeau—as did all the serious candidates—spoke at three policy workshops, on Our Country, Our Life, Our Economy and Our World.

On extension of new large-scale welfare programs, he said simply: "I think we've had enough of this free stuff."

Transport Minister Paul Hellyer promised British Columbia and the Yukon an $80,000,000 railway through the Rocky Mountain trough, and said Liberal policy has to be turned towards economic growth and development, in place of social security.

External Affairs Minister Martin's pitch was based on his experience of more than 30 years in Parliament, 10 general elections, and his acumen in international affairs.

Vietnam was the subject of many delegates' questioning of the leadership candidates. Informants said RCMP constables have been alerted for standby duty Saturday, when a major anti-Vietnam war demonstration is scheduled while delegates vote for their new leader.

There was day-long talk of various attempts to strike a deal between or among any combination of the Martin, Winters, Hellyer, and Kierans forces as a counterpoise against what appeared to be the making of a Trudeau sweep.

But no group would give in and volunteer its support to another.

Mr. Winters suffered two reverses in his campaign when Premier Joseph Smallwood announced Mr. Trudeau is his first choice for leader, and Premier Louis Robichaud of New Brunswick said his first choice is Allan MacEachen, health and welfare minister.

"I've heard of women crying at weddings, but this is ridiculous!"

Trudeau and Martin Snap at Hecklers

OTTAWA (CP) — The 10 Liberal leadership candidates paraded their wares Thursday before admiring, critical or just plain bored convention delegates.

The 10 rotated among three workshops to outline their policy positions, with chief attention-getter Pierre Elliott Trudeau taking a bigger part of the crowd along with him than any of the others.

The justice minister also came under tougher questioning than his rivals and on a couple of occasions flared back.

In one workshop he said that by presenting an opposing view on the constitution, he was doing a favor to Premier Daniel Johnson and Quebec, since the premier was under pressure from separatists.

"So are you," a man called out.

"No," Mr. Trudeau replied. "You're not very well informed."

"So are you," the man repeated.

"So's your old man," said the justice minister.

External Affairs Minister Martin was also thrown an embarrassing question by a delegate who wanted to know whether he was the oldest man in the cabinet.

"No—but I'm the most experienced," snapped the 64-year-old dean of the Commons.

Health Minister MacEachen broke the pattern of speeches-and-questions and strolled around the floor with microphone in his hand, trailing the cord and asking delegates what problems most concerned them.

The workshop on economic policy heard proposals for extensive changes in the economy from Transport Minister Hellyer, Consumer Affairs Minister Turner and Eric Kierans, the former Quebec revenue and health minister.

Mr. Turner said he would put all spending controls directly under the prime minister's office; would set up a federal-provincial secretariat to co-ordinate tax policy, and would set up a national resources policy.

Mr. Kierans advocated an immediate capital gains tax on land speculation and abolition of Canadian arms sales to the United States.

Mr. Hellyer said the government should turn from social security legislation to growth and development. He called for huge funds for regional development.

Campbellford Council Approves Subdivision

CAMPBELLFORD — After negotiations extending over a two-year period, subdivider Everett Steele has now gained permission to develop an eight lot subdivision.

He has agreed to provide all services and to construct a road comparable to other roads in the area. Council will accept a cash payment instead of the five per cent of the land usually required to be set aside for parks. Single family dwellings will be constructed in the subdivision.

Because of unforeseen factors purchase of the Stillman property on Front St. is still under study by the property committee.

Council agreed to buy the property a month ago for $4,000 and turn it into a parking lot. J. R. Connor, representing a group of town businessmen who own the lot, said the group would sell the property for $3,704.

However, because of $709 owing in back taxes and estimated legal fees for transfer of ownership, the final price will be at least $4,500.

Clerk E. M. Ivey said he and Mayor Tanner had met with Ontario Municipal Board representatives in Toronto regarding the extension of a water main to the property of the proposed Islander Lodge on Trent Drive.

Mr. Ivey explained that if the project costs more than the Public Utilities Commission can afford from current operating funds, the commission would have to draft a bylaw proposing rate charges that would make the project self-liquidating. No other hook-ups could be made to the line until it became self-liquidating.

A debenture issue of $166,000 to cover Campbellford's share of the cost of the addition to the hospital was approved by the OMB. Full cost of the addition is estimated at $1,500,000.

Hillsdale Nursing Home operator Thomas Ranson received permission to increase rates to $8.50 a day, the amount now authorized by the Ontario government.

The counties council levy by the counties of Durham and Northumberland will be increased by one mill this year to make a total of $37,841.

Representatives of Consumer Gas Company will meet with Council Monday night to discuss an agreement between the town and company for the installation of gas facilities.

Because of the high cost of borrowing it was decided that funds for certain capital expenditures amounting to $24,000 should be taken from revenue. Clerk Ivey said the issue of debentures over a ten year period would amount to more than the original face value. The town was able to operate on current revenue last year and did not have to borrow money for operating costs.

Clerk Ivey will make a study to determine if local industries plan to use harbor facilities on the Lake Ontario shoreline from Cobourg west. The federal government is making a major study of harbor needs in the area and requested the information.

National Council of 'Y' Meets

The National Council of the YMCA has received the approval of the United Community Services, National Agency Review Committee.

Summaries of the program activities of the YMCA as well as its financial statements were presented to the agency in Toronto, on Tuesday, at its annual meeting.

Robert Porter, Executive Director of U.C.S., Belleville was a member of the agency panel.

The YMCA National council is unique in that it serves 115 local YMCAs across the country, serving in the area of staff recruitment, selection, placement and training.

Voluntary boosements of the local branches cover the costs of the central service.

The Belleville branch provides about $1,200 per year.

The reports made by the National Agency Review Committee are distributed to united funds and social planning councils.

Urges Spread Of Directors

Directors of the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society are mostly concentrated in Toronto, it was learned by the National Agency Review Board Committee, Tuesday.

The committee urged that steps be taken to obtain a more widespread geographic distribution of the directors.

The A.R.C. Answer did say that the administrative organization and financial affairs of the society are in good order.

A branch of the society is established in Belleville and participates in the community Fund of the district.

Capital, Chicago Hard Hit by Riots

Troops Guard LBJ

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, operating from a White House turned into a fortress, has ordered federal troops to protect the capital against violent Negro unrest which has spurred him to schedule an address to Congress Monday night.

Johnson was moving on several fronts to combat destructive Negro reaction to the assassination of Rev. Martin Luther King Jr.

The violence in Washington and other urban centres prompted Johnson to cancel plans for weekend conferences in Honolulu on Vietnam policy and a meeting there with President Chung Hee Park of South Korea.

Instead, the White House said Gen. William C. Westmoreland, the U.S. commander in Vietnam, will fly to Washington to confer with Johnson—probably today.

A presidential spokesman said Johnson remained at his White House command post beyond midnight Friday night, maintaining close touch with the situation in Washingtos and in other cities wracked by the turmoil.

In other moves to deal with the national crisis precipitated by King's slaying Thursday night, Johnson met at the White House with civil rights leaders, proclaimed Sunday a national day of mourning for King and ordered all flags over American ships and property here and abroad to be flown at half staff until the burial of the civil rights leader Tuesday.

Wild Rumors Circulated

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Racial violence in several big U.S. cities brought disorder, destruction and death Friday, but the wild rumors which circulated carried tales which far exceeded the facts.

New York, Chicago and Washington were particularly plagued with rumors that increased fears, added to unrest and kept officials busy tracking down the untrue reports.

In New York, the untrue reports included stories of subway disruptions, bombings, mass assaults and imposition of a city-wide curfew.

Illinois ordered 6,000 national guardsmen into Chicago. Another 3,000 national guardsmen backed up police in Detroit. Guard units were on the alert in the Greater Boston area and guardsmen were on street duty in Memphis and Nashville, Tenn.

Rifle fire broke out on the campus of Tennessee A. and I. University in Nashville.

One of the deaths in the capital was that of a 14-year-old boy. The circumstances were uncertain. One report said a policeman's gun went off accidentally as the officer tried to stop several youths looting a store.

A looter was shot and killed by police, a man was found with his throat cut, a man was killed when a wall collapsed and a stabbed early Friday, Washington officials reported, but one of these was said to have been in a holdup and unrelated.

Five policemen and national guardsmen were injured in an exchange of gunfire with snipers near the predominantly-Negro North Carolina A. and T. State University in Greensboro. Troops also were called to Raleigh and Durham.

Dozen Cities Torn by Strife

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Racial violence spawned by the murder of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. has torn through more than a dozen U.S. cities and struck within two blocks of the White House.

Sixteen persons died, including four in Washington and six in Chicago. Parts of both cities were heavily damaged by fire.

There were also deaths in Detroit and Tallahassee, Fla.

President Johnson—proclaiming a "condition of domestic violence and disorder" in Washington—ordered 4,000 troops into the city to control the streets.

About 250 persons were injured and more than 800 arrested.

A 3:30 p.m. curfew helped quiet the capital. Detroit and Memphis also were under curfew.

Illinois ordered 6,000 national guardsmen into Chicago. Another 3,000 national guardsmen backed up police in Detroit. Guard units were on the alert in the Greater Boston area and guardsmen were on street duty in Memphis and Nashville, Tenn.

Bayonet-armed Troops Fan Out in Washington

WASHINGTON (CP) — Bayonet carrying Federal troops stood vigil over the citadels of U.S. government today after a Negro outburst raged into fiery looting fury, then subsided into a smoky, sullen order.

It left at least four persons dead, some 350 injured, more than 2,000 arrested in a capital crowded with early spring tourists.

Police said they had arrested more than 1,000 people since midnight Friday night.

At least 16 persons have died in the wake of violence that hit large cities across the U.S. after civil rights leader Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. was assassinated Thursday night.

A second consecutive night of turmoil left a pall of smoke from smouldering stores and warehouses hanging over the complex of federal office buildings along Pennsylvania Avenue.

At left burglar alarms clanging an eerie, unheeded signal from ruined stores along littered streets on the fringes of the downtown shopping area.

As a night-long curfew lifted in a chilly dawn, clusters of people ventured into streets criss-crossed by roving police cars.

Knots of Negroes, many apparently waiting for taxis buses to take them to work, stared at the lawmen.

Firemen were still soaking down the ruins of a Friday of arson. And a scattered few looters were still carrying goods from stores with shattered windows.

Up to 10,000 soldiers at nearby bases were reported on the alert, ready to drive into the city today if riots continue.

Some 250 fires were reported in various parts of the city. A centrally-located clothing store burst into flames and was destroyed minutes after a group of Negroes, apparently armed with firebombs, rushed the entrance.

Billowing smoke hung over the White House and other federal buildings, and the stench of tear gas forced innocent bystanders to seek shelter.

Mayor Washington, after a helicopter tour over this city of 650,000 Negroes, said he was "optimistic at this point" that the disturbances could be quelled.

Hunt Widens For Assassin

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — As racial violence continued in several U.S. cities, Attorney-General Ramsey Clark said the manhunt for the killer of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. had been spread "several hundred miles from Memphis."

Police expressed optimism in their search for the sniper who shot King Thursday, and the reward for his arrest grew to $150,000.

Civil rights leaders predicted that up to 40,000 persons would take part Monday in a march originally scheduled by King.

Clark, in a whirlwind, eight-hour trip to the city, appeared pleased with the progress of the investigation. "We've got substantial leads," he said. "We're very hopeful."

The crisis precipitated by the death of the Nobel Peace Prize-winning civil rights leader led President Johnson to cancel his trip to Hawaii, planned as a preliminary to possible peace talks with the North Vietnamese.

The president declared Sunday a day of national mourning for King, ordered American flags to half staff at U.S. military installations around the world and scheduled an address before a joint session of Congress Monday night on new proposals to ease the plight of the Negro.

The burgeoning 1968 presidential campaign came to a virtual halt with all major candidates cancelling weekend appearances.

Monday's opening-day baseball games in Washington and Cincinnati were postponed. A third opener at Houston remained scheduled.

Americans throughout the country stopped work, left classes and attended impromptu memorial services Friday as they sought ways of showing their shock and grief at the death.

Meanwhile in Memphis, 330 law enforcement officials resumed the feverish search for the slayer.

The object of the massive manhunt gave his name as John Willard when he checked into the flophouse at 422½ South Main. He spoke with a southern drawl described by the landlady as just "like any other Memphian."

B. L. Reeves, 74, a retired hotel clerk who said he watched the man as he talked with landlady Bessie Brewer, described the prospective boarder as a five-foot-11, clean-shaven, with a long, thin nose, a square chin and thick dark hair combed straight back and receding on the sides.

NEW YORK (AP) — Entertainer Sammy Davis Jr. said Friday night he has called actor Gregory Peck, president of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences, to ask him to postpone the awarding of this year's Oscars until after Rev. Martin Luther King's funeral Tuesday.

MONTREAL (CP) — Pierre Vallieres was sentenced Friday to life imprisonment after a 12-man jury convicted him of manslaughter in the time-bomb death of a woman May 5, 1966. He was charged with complicity in the death of Therese Morin, 64, who died as a result of a bomb explosion in a strike-bound Montreal shoe plant.

Detroit-Windsor Crossings Banned

DETROIT (CP-AP) — This U.S. auto industry capital was calm today after authorities swiftly sent state and local police and national guardsmen to quell violence following the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

In Windsor, across the Detroit River, police ordered all traffic to and from the U.S. at 8 p.m. Friday until 5 p.m. today.

Windsor Chief Gordon Preston said that no one will be permitted to cross the tunnel or bridge, connecting Detroit and Windsor unless in a state of emergency.

Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh, saying "we think it is better to overreact than underreact," said Gov. George Romney, calling his moves "precautionary steps," committed city police, state police and national guard troops to action Friday.

Two youths were shot to death, both while engaged in looting. Police said one of the deaths was an accident.

All Guns Trained on Trudeau Friday Night But Will It Make Any Difference in Vote?

By DONALD SOUTTER
Managing Editor

OTTAWA — Candidates for the leadership of the Liberal party were targets last night . . . Pierre Elliott Trudeau.

The Justice Minister and his impressive band of hero-worshippers were under the gun from all the serious contenders as a sweaty crowd of 9,000 sweltered in Ottawa's Civic Centre.

But will it make any difference in the final analysis this afternoon? Until the speeches last night, there seemed to be some justification for the claims of the Hellyer, Winters, and Turner camps that Trudeau's image was slipping.

However, the absence of signs of Trudeau strength in the downtown hotels paled into insignificance after the evening's most vociferous welcome re-established the "the Charisma Kid" as the popular choice.

Trudeau, who had to speak eighth in the list, had to sit in the centre while:

Paul Hellyer told delegates inexperienced leadership could lead to disaster.

Robert Winters told his audience he had always been a Liberal.

Paul Hellyer claimed a "practical adventure" was more sensible.

John Turner said a sense of irresponsibility and "Let's Give

For Other Stories See Pages 8 and 18

It A Go" was abroad in the country.

Zeroing in on Trudeau was a logical move for the Big Four fighting for second in line on the first ballot. It's the only spot which will allow a power base for manouvering in this afternoon's drawn out voting.

In their attacks on Trudeau and their pleas for the delegates to express their own opinion, the quartet was trying to explain away the Trudeau phenomenon which sees a man with two years of parliamentary experience all but locking up the leadership.

Coupled with the facts he was identifiable as a supporter of the Liberal party three years ago, has not as yet steered any major legislation through the house and is a man whose policies on most major issues are unknown, it presents a bewildering picture.

Last night Trudeau did little, if anything, to deepen his image into a three-dimension picture. He repeated his plea for national unity, said regional economic disparity was just as big a problem and, a la the Kennedys, called for a "just society" for "this beautiful, rich and energetic country."

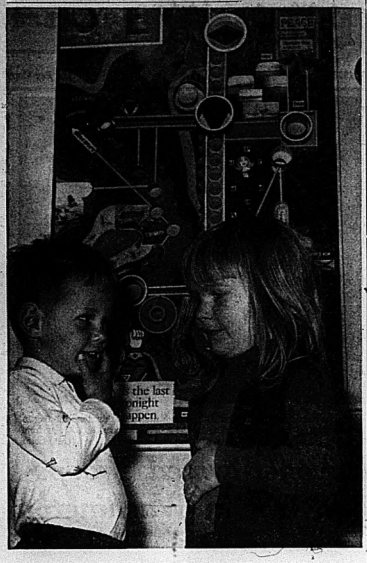
It sounded great, until you realized there really wasn't much of a hint of any practical program.

But then, what does it matter, a hint of any practical program.

But then, what does it matter. Trudeau doesn't have supporters. He has worshippers. And there seems to be enough of them to get him elected.

U.S. Relief Column Reaches Khe Sanh

KHE SANH (CP) — A relief column broke through to the embattled U.S. marine base at Khe Sanh today after thousands of North Vietnamese troops pulled back under the heaviest bombing in history.



Six thousand dirty, unshaven marines, surrounded for more than two months by an overwhelming force of North Vietnamese, started shouting "Yipee, Yipee," when the first South Vietnamese troops arrived.

For the last six days, 30,000 American and South Vietnamese troops in Operation Pegasus raced to reach the 6,000 marines in Khe Sanh.

While the relief forces moved through the remote northeast corner of South Vietnam, the 12,000 remaining North Vietnamese withdrew into Laos.

They pulled back after the heaviest pounding in history—raid after raid by massive B-52 bombers striking as many as five times a day in the tropical rain forests and thick elephant grass around the base.

In Saigon, diplomatic circles speculated that the pullback was a sign of goodwill following the partial bombing halt in U.S. air strikes over North Vietnam.

Band Concert Preview

Three members of the Belleville Federation of Musicians, give out with a preview of the series of ten band concerts to be given this summer at Zwick's Island. Seen in front of the new bandshell are Federation President Doug Aselstine, vocalist Art Duby, and Bruce Parsons.

Ten Sponsored Band Concerts For New Bandshell at Park

A revival of the old time band concerts once immensely popular in the city, will be seen in Belleville this summer with a series of 10 concerts planned for the new bandshell at Zwick's Island.

The concerts, to be staged each Sunday during the summer months, are being sponsored jointly by The Intelligencer, and the Belleville Federation of Musicians, Local 357.

Federation president Doug Aselstine outlined the concert plans to members of the city parks board this week.

The concerts will commence on Sunday, June 23 when the new Army, Navy and Airforce bandshell at the island will be officially turned over to the city, and will run through until the end of August. In case of rain cancelling one of the concerts an additional date will be provided at the end of the season.

Mr. Aselstine said that four of the concerts will be by the local federation's 28-member concert band, with 8 m a l l groups to be featured on the other six dates.

The concerts will feature something for everybody with rock and roll, western and Dixieland music to be included on most of the programs.

The concerts will run from two to four each Sunday afternoon.

Parks Administrator Lorne Williams said that the provision for band concerts by the l o c a l musicians' federation would do much to fill out Sunday afternoon programs at the Zwick's Island Park.

He said the parks board had been considering providing entertainment at the Island to make use of the new bandshell.

The local Army, Navy and Veterans Association is raising $10,000 toward the cost of the new bandshell. The city has voted a grant of $3,000 toward the project, while the local musicians federation will raise $1,000.

"We have sort of a vested interest in the bandshell and hope that the summer concerts will re-create some of the interest formerly accorded band concerts in Belleville," Mr. Aselstine said.

He added that the series of concerts would provide some summer employment for local band groups during an otherwise slack period.

Need for City Trailer Camp Says Mayor Russell Scott

The city of Belleville is missing the boat in not having on overnight trailer camp-as accommodation for the vast numbers of trailers being hauled across the province by summer vacationers.

This is the feeling of Mayor Dr. J. Russell Scott who this week asked the city parks board if any progress was being made toward providing a trailer camp facility.

"There is a definite need for a trailer camp in Belleville and we should be getting something going to provide one," he said.

Parks director Lloyd Syer said he was on the lookout for a suitable site but to date he had been unable to locate anything satisfactory within the city limits.

Parks and Recreation Committee chairman Ald. Kenneth Soden said there was nothing in this year's budget for the provision of a trailer camp although the matter was being considered.

Mayor Scott said that a trailer park need not cost a lot of money — especially if the property is already owned by the city.

An Hour With the Oscars

A capacity crowd of over 100 people filled the auditorium of the public library on Tuesday evening to view An Hour With the Oscars. Mr. Else, president of the Belleville and District Film Board, welcomed the guests.

Mr. Jim Skillings, the National Film Board's representative for this area, informed the audience that he had brought a new release Expo, which was well received. Everyone who had been at Expo recalled his visit there as he viewed the film. Paddle to the Sea, What On Earth; and A Place to Stand, all nominated for Oscars, were then shown.

After the showing, Mr. Skillings asked the audience which film they thought would win the Oscar. Paddle to the Sea received the greatest number of votes. All films can be obtained from the public library. The Belleville and District Film Council has purchased A Place to Stand and all these films are available to interested groups.

Since these three Canadian 16 mm. films are up for Oscars, many Canadians will be watching the Oscar Awards with added interest Monday, April 8th. The Belleville and District Film Council is appreciative of the publicity and co-operation of the news media in making this film showing such a success.

Dozen Cities on Rack

areas were relatively peaceful after sporadic violence the night before.

Trouble also was reported in Philadelphia, Wichita, Kan., Oakland and Palo Alto, Calif., Denver, Colo., Hartford, Conn., Jefferson City, Mo., Albany, Freeport and Buffalo, N.Y., Toledo, Ohio, South Bend, Ind., Trenton, N.J., Portland, Ore., Kalamazoo, Mich., Pine Bluff, Ark., Atlanta, Ga.

The violence in Washington and other major urban centers led the president to cancel his plans for weekend conferences in Honolulu on Vietnam and problems. Johnson said he will address the Congress Monday night.

At least 20 buildings burned to the ground in Chicago, more than 150 were arrested and 200 treated at hospitals for injuries.

Michigan authorities said the 18-year-old Negro boy, a suspected looter, was accidentally shot to death in Highland Park.

A 19-year-old white youth burned to death in Tallahassee when a store was firebombed.

Phil.-delphia Mayor James H. J. Tate declared a state of emergency as a precautionary measure. The order closed bars and banned the gathering of 12 or more persons and the carrying of weapons. Trouble also was reported in Pittsburgh, Erie and Lancaster.

Police and Negroes exchanged gunfire in downtown Pine Bluff, Ark., after six fire bombs were thrown in the city, police reported. There were no reports of injuries.

CARDS OF THANKS

The family of the late Thomas Henry Cooper wish to thank their many friends and relatives for cards, calls, flowers and messages during their recent bereavement.

I would like to thank all my friends, neighbors and relatives who sent cards, flowers and gifts, also Dr. Hosen and the staff and nurses at the Belleville General Hospital, especial thanks to Dr. Allore and Dr. Bruce, nurses and staff of Second Floor West for their care and kindness during my stay in hospital. Recipe for calls and prayers.
—Mrs. Maude Ray.

I wish to thank the nurses and staff of Belleville General Hospital for the kindness shown me, also to Dr. Hosen of Roslin, and my room mates, special thanks to International Hardware for basket of fruit, Mr. Ross Bateman for visits and visited me while a patient at Belleville General Hospital.
—HARRY CARNEY.

The family of the late Bruce Kennedy would like to say a very sincere thank you to all our friends, neighbors, relatives for cards, calls, floral tributes, deeds of kindness and expressions of sympathy during the recent bereavement of our Dad. A special thanks to Mr. Balch and Grant Funeral Home.

Mom's Little Helpers

It may not be exactly a bumper year so far for maple syrup. But there was still enough on the Belleville market today to keep sisters Sandra, 10, and Sylvia, 7, busy helping mother — Mrs. Garnet Denyes of Plainfield. The syrup was measured on the spot for customers.

Weather Fine for Syrup

Pleasant as the weather may be, it's still not a real, old-fashioned Canadian spring.

At least, that's the indication from an old-fashioned Canadian institution — the maple syrup market.

As much a custom as it is a business, it also remains an industry closely tied to the vagaries of nature.

This year, the weather hasn't come up with the perfect combination for a bumper crop. It takes warm days, and frosty nights to precipitate the sort of maple sap run producing the maximum quantity of syrup.

Both syrup and sugar were on sale in moderate quantity on the Belleville farmers' market this morning.

Sales were steady but one vendor predicted only a "medium-size" crop this year.

Prices quoted were $7.25 a gallon with container, $6.75 without.

School Building Program Outlined at Council Meet

TWEED — The regular meeting of the Hunningdon Township Council was held recently when a delegation from Hastings County School Area No. 2 Board, composed of F. Tate, C. Cotton and G. Donnan, attended to explain the building program that the Board has decided is necessary in the area.

A total of 59 classrooms, five libraries, five gymnasiums and one general purpose room are to be added to schools at Tweed, Stirling, Madoc Township, Marmora, Actinolite, Deloro, and Madoc Village at an estimated cost of $1,000,000, cost of Stirling High School $236,000, cost of Marmora High School $130,000 interest on debentures $1,000.00.

The council gave tentative approval to the School Board's proposed building program.

The following persons were appointed to act as fire wardens for the 1968 season: Chief Fire Warden, John Stephens, wardens, E. A. Holland, D. McInroy, L. Jones and E. Wilson. Road Counties No. 3, for $4,716.31 was ordered paid.

The Road Superintendent was instructed to have any stumps, bottles or any other objects that are left along the Township of Hunningdon roads right of way that create a hazardous condition to traffic removed.

The council wished to buy from the School Board the school site in lot 7, Con. 8, and also the Ivanhoe School to be used for a Fire Hall. The clerk was instructed to write the School Board to get their decision. The clerk was instructed to advertise for a dump truck, snow plow wing.

The council will apply to be registered in the Equalization of Industrial Opportunity program through the Ontario Development Corporation. Council board will also apply for a licence to use brush and weed spray.

The clerk was instructed to write a letter to Clarke T. Rollins, MPP and copies to be sent to Department of Education and to Premier Robarts expressing the council's disapproval of the formation of a County Board of Education in Hastings County.

Many by-laws were passed or given first reading. Kenneth Tompkins was appointed trench excavation inspector.

The following Board was appointed to administer the Community Hall, Russell Sills, Francis Thompson, Donald McInroy, Angus Mumby and Owen Ketchenson.

Lt.-Col. J. V. Doyle Dies In Hospital

Distinguished Belleville citizen, businessman and soldier, Lt.-Col. James Vincent Doyle, 181 Bridge Street East, died in Belleville General Hospital today.

In his 88th year, he had been ill for some time previous to his death.

Col. Doyle had been associated from the time he was about 14 with one of the Quinte area's historic old militia units — the Argyll Light Infantry, later amalgamated with the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment.

With the Argylls he saw service as a young man in World War 1.

In business, he operated a drug store on Front Street for 50 years. He was active in civic affairs and was a past president of the Belleville Club.

He was active in St. Michael's church affairs and in its choir for many years.

The last of his family, Col. Doyle was predeceased by his wife, Susan O'Flynn.

He leaves a son, Edmund, and a daughter, Mary, both of Belleville.

Resting at the O'Brien Funeral Resident.

Requiem Mass will be held at St. Joseph's Church Monday at 11 a.m. with interment in St. James' Cemetery.

The bearers were Allan and Douglas Scrimshaw, Joseph Gibson, William Conley, Bert Burgess and Barney Smith.

MRS. MURIEL EVELYN DUFFY

The funeral for Mrs. Muriel Evelyn Duffy was held in the John R. Bush Funeral Home this Saturday morning. Capt. June Dwyer of the Salvation Army conducted the service in the chapel and also said the graveside prayers in Belleville Cemetery.

The bearers were Terry and Ricky Bateman, Carl and Robert Ainsworth, Robert Howard and Donald Easton.

EVERETT ROY MAYBEE (R.R. 3 Stirling)

Life resident of Rawdon township and well known farmer in his area, Everett Roy Maybee, R.R. 3 Stirling died suddenly at his home on Friday. He was in his 49th year.

Son of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Maybee, he was born in Rawdon and had farmed there all his life. He was a member of Wellman's United Church.

He is survived by his wife, the former Evelyn Frances Green, two daughters, Mrs. Allen (Elizabeth) Lake, R.R. 2 Stirling, and Mrs. Edward (Dorcas) Colby of Wellman's Corners, and a son Donald of Toronto.

Also surviving are a sister, Mrs. Percy (Elsie) Coutts of Toronto, and a brother Wilmot Maybee of Harold.

Mr. Maybee was pre-deceased by brothers Ernest and James and a sister Inez.

The funeral will be held Monday from the Duffin-Hogle Funeral Home at Stirling with service in the chapel by Rev. W. C. Cox. Interment at Wellman's Cemetery.

MR. DANIEL JOSEPH BARRY (Toronto- Madoc)

MADOC — The funeral of Daniel J. Barry was held on Friday morning from the MacKenzie Funeral Home at Madoc to Sacred Heart of Mary Church where Requiem High Mass was celebrated by Rev. F. J. O'Neill.

The bearers were Bernard Barry, Kevin Barry, Michael Barry, James Barry, John Barry and Gary Irvin.

Interment took place in Sacred Heart of Mary Cemetery.

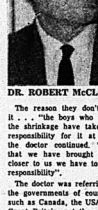
Interfaith Services for Holy Week

NAPANEE — The Salvation Army has arranged a series of interfaith services in the Citadel for each night in Holy Week, April 8 through 12.

On Monday evening the message will be brought by Major Frayn of the Kingston Citadel and the Sydenham Trio will sing. Tuesday the service will be in charge of Lieut. Arthur Frank, also of Kingston. Wednesday, Rev. Gordon Hammond of the Napanee Free Methodist Church will be the preacher, and the executive trio will sing special music. Thursday the speaker will be Rev. David Trafford of the Napanee Baptist Church and final service of the series will be Good Friday evening. Rev. Lester Mullins of the Camden East Anglican Church will preach the sermon. At the close of the regular service a film will be shown: "Journey Into Faith".



Easter Sunday will be filled with special activities, beginning with a Sunrise Service at 7.30. This will be followed by an Easter breakfast at 8.45. Soon afterwards, if the weather is suitable the Salvation Army members will hold an outdoor song service of 15 minutes outside each of the town's nursing homes, for the benefit of those who are not able to hear the Easter music in the churches.

In the evening a full cantata, "The Triumphant Christ," will be presented by Major and Mrs. C. R. Gillingham and their two daughters of Toronto.

Living in Shrinking World Missionary Tells Students

"Wherever did the white man get the idea that people in other parts of the world want to come in closer contact with us?", said Dr. Robert McClure, who spoke yesterday to students at Albert College.

The missionary surgeon who has just returned from India was trying to emphasize that we "live in a shinking world and those on the other side of the world do not necessarily like it."

DR. ROBERT McCLURE

The reason they don't like it . . . "the boys who made the shrinkage have taken no responsibility for it at all," the doctor continued. "Now that we have brought them closer to us we have to take responsibility".

The doctor was referring to the governments of countries such as Canada, the USA and Great Britain, not the organizations of the United Nations or independant churches who are doing a lot in countries such as India and the African nations.

As far as Canada is concerned Dr. McClure feels that we should increase our foreign aid to the one per cent of the GNP as recommended by the United Nations.

The United Church missionary is on retirement furlough from India after spending well over 40 years as a missionary surgeon. Dr. McClure was in China from 1924 to 1948, then in the Gaza strip from 1950 to 1964 and since then has devoted his talents to missionary work in India.

Before speaking to Albert College the doctor had visited Trenton High School and spoke to the students there.

"Because of the smaller world we have made," he said, "we have three choices . . . to ignore the people we have brought in closer contact with us, to be aggresive towards them or to be friendly."

There is no doubt which alternative is going to be best as far as Dr. McClure is concerned . . . "we just haven't been friendly enough."

"It's awfully hard to make friends with machine guns," he concluded.

Ontario's Wealth

"A Place to Stand," the lively and artistic film documentary on Ontario that was such a hit at Expo presents the provincial scene as something more than just Canada's leading industrial region.

Ontario is everything from parks and lonely bush country and lakes to urban expansion and the sophistication of big cities, with subways and commuters and young people doing the frug and other dance forms of the day.

It is manufacturing nevertheless that makes possible the province's high standard of living. The province accounts for 78 per cent of the country's fully manufactured exports. In 1966 — the year of the latest complete figures — they were valued at just over $1.8 billion.

Of Canada's total exports of $10,325,320,000 in the same year, Ontario accounted for $3,762,722,000. This included 28 per cent of live animal exports, 16 per cent of the food, beverages and tobacco category, 24 per cent of crude materials, 28 per cent of fabricated materials, 41 per cent of special trade transactions, as well as the 78 per cent of fully manufactured goods, the latter figure was up from 71 per cent in 1965.

Ontario's total exports, which represented 32 per cent of the national total in 1965, increased to 36 per cent in 1966. Sixty per cent of all Ontario's exports go to the United States.

Ontario government loans are featuring prominently in current expansion programs, and it is of interest that two such loans came to this area recently. One was for $500,000 forgivable loan to Allied Chemical Ltd. for construction of a new plant here.

Employing 40 people initially, it will manufacture a nylon-film now being used increasingly in packaging food and in other industrial applications.

Quinte Milk Products Ltd. of Wellington has also received a forgivable loan of $62,000 for new equipment. The firm purchases about 40 per cent of the industrial milk produced in Prince Edward County. These purchases from about 220 local milk producers amount to $1,000,000 annually.

Firms in other centres, including Cobourg, Port Hope, Lindsay and Fort William have also received loans ranging from $50,000 to $300,000. As long as this province maintains its manufacturing programs there can be no worry about continued prosperity. As ever, production is the key, and an antidote to the inflationary trends that still press upon the economy today.

The Three R's

An editorial by G. B. Macgillivray, publisher of The Daily Times Journal, Fort William, on this page today, raises some interesting questions.

Just how well educated is today's student? Is he in effect being shortchanged by too much theory and generalization, while ignoring such basics as the three R's?

For that matter, are there any high school students who do not know the meaning of the term "three R's?" If there are, then we have made our point.

What percentage of students can spell properly? Do we need more old-fashioned "spelling bees" and less emphasis on such vague groupings as "social studies?" Or "liberal arts?"

What use are these things if you have not made much progress at the very beginning, in reading and writing and arithmetic? For as Mr. Macgillivray reminds us, there are any number of young people who have difficulty with these educational essentials.

Foolhardy

Making due allowance for youthful high spirits, there are times when the young (especially those with nothing to do but drive around) do behave foolishly.

A Redneresville road woman tells of an incident in that area on a recent weekend. Her teenage daughter was out horseback riding when a car with three young men in it came up behind. Instead of passing when it was safe to do so the driver sounded a long blast on his horn.

The frightened horse bolted and the girl was thrown to the roadway. Fortunately she was not badly hurt, but it is easy to imagine how it could have been otherwise.

The car continued for some distance, then turned around while the young men drove slowly past. They did not stop however, to see if the youngster was hurt or to offer assistance.

It requires little imagination to realize how serious such an incident could have turned out. The girl could have been killed and all because of a combination of thoughtlessness and boorishness.

Ottawa Offbeat

Will Winner Be Candidate for Convalescent Home?

By RICHARD JACKSON

OTTAWA — Be the new Liberal leader and prime minister-designate Paul Martin, Robert Winters, Paul Hellyer, or even Pierre Elliott Trudeau — and it could be any one of these favorites — one thing is certain: he will be just about out on his feet.

"There are an awful lot of bone-beat people around here," as Public Works Minister George McIlraith put it last week before the Commons recessed, late, for the convention, "and I'm one of them who must sleep for a week then holiday for a month."

And George McIlraith not only is not a candidate, but not even actively campaigning for any of those who are — which is why, in his unexcited, take-it-easy way he has been sort of "leaning" towards Bob Winters.

So if George McIlraith is out of breath from doing no more than sitting in the Commons and in cabinet, just think of the shape of those who have been running flat-out, all across the country these last frantic 10 days, now as they approach their hour of triumph or disaster.

How much sense does it make that the next prime minister comes to his date with destiny physically exhausted and emotionally drained?

Just think, for a moment, of the pressure he has been under. Like the other seven candidates from the cabinet the strains and stresses of the so-soon-to-be new prime minister have been doubled these last 11 weeks.

Ever since Prime Minister Pearson announced last mid-December he was retiring, the cabinet candidates have been coping with recurring crises in the Commons and campaigning across the country.

For weeks they concentrated their campaigns in Parliament's weekend and Wednesday night breaks. Getting by, precariously, with cat-naps where they could snatch them in airports or on planes.

Now these last two weeks it has been a day and night stretch of every available minute this side of collapse.

And all that time, except for the last few days, they had to fight for the government's chancy life in the Commons amid all the uncertainties of dicey tax votes and shattering possibilities of an international financial fiasco.

How good under such cruelly continuous pressures, so demanding of physical, mental and emotional resources, does judgment remain?

Especially a new prime minister's judgment on which so much so so many depends?

On the so-recent record, not so good.

Prime Minister Pearson was physically and mentally weary — said so himself — when he announced he would be retiring, and displayed the elderly unsound judgment of expecting everything to hold still in Parliament, while the leadership race was run.

That initially disastrous decision, the unreality of thinking Parliament would take a political holiday, compounded into further liberties of judgments.

There was the incredible foul-up of these same cabinet ministers counting defeat by bringing Finance Minister Sharp's rejected income tax surcharge bill in a vote when they did not have to, and worse, without counting heads.

Then they complicated their political and administrative irrationality by bringing it in a substitute actual bill which was tossed out for being but an amateurishly re-written duplicate of the first one.

They boobed themselves into such an all-but-fatal mess, they had to throw themselves on the mercy of the Opposition which, keeping its cool, reserved them not to save their political necks, but to defend the dollar.

Beyond clear thinking, they hung themselves up again on the expulsion of Liberal rebel Ralph Cowan, the clumsy delay of their own drug prices bill, and the shabby attempt to recoup some of their own extravagant spending by chiselling on Eskimo and Indian health services.

In a state of shock, and fatigue, one of them must now summon the immense mental strength and physical resilience required for the vastly complicated and crucial national responsibility of cabinet organization and the quick, pre-election framing of a workable government program.

Who among them has the greatest measure of these strengths and skills? Paul Martin, Robert Winters and Paul Hellyer? Trudeau . . . would he know what hit him?

LOOKING BACKWARDS

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FILES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

April 6, 1948

William E. Tate, former CNR dispatcher in this city and recently appointed acting assistant superintendent at London, Ont., has been named assistant superintendent at that terminal. Bill Tate was well known in the city and took an active interest in the Belleville Bridge Club, while a resident in the city.

Evincing surprising interest in things military, hundreds of people thronged the Bridge St. Armouries last night at the Open House reception tendered the general public by units of the Reserve Army here. Success of the Open House was also noted in the fact that between 40 and 50 young men of the city "signed up" with the 8th Anti - Tank Regiment, RCA, and the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment's Belleville Company.

30 YEARS AGO

April 6, 1938

Fred H. Deacon who recently returned from a business trip to England and the continent, addressed the Men's Club of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church and gave a most interesting and informative talk on conditions abroad.

Mary Webster of the local VON is in Ottawa to attend the annual meeting of the Victorian Order of Nurses in Canada.

There is certain to be a large attendance at the annual banquet sponsored by the local chamber of commerce Friday evening at Hotel Quinte. Tickets are selling fast.

40 YEARS AGO

April 6, 1923

R. J. E. Graham, barrister, has purchased the controlling interest in the Belleville Hardware and Lock Co. from the Carman family and at a meeting of the board of directors he was appointed president and Harold Carman who has been the superintendent, was made managing director. The following now compose the board of directors: R. J. E. Graham, Harold Sanders, Charles H. Salmon, John Elliott and Jamieson Bone.

W. E. Timmon, MP, will spend the Easter vacation at his home in Tweed.

Josephine Tickell of the staff of the Pembroke Institute, is home to spend the Easter vacation.

Three R's, General Knowledge Still Vital, But..

Ivory Tower Theories Leave Today's Student Ill-Equipped

An editorial by G. B. MACGILLIVRAY, publisher of The Daily Times Journal, Fort William, Ontario.

During a social evening out the conversation seems to veer around, with increasing frequency, to the subject of education and what it is doing or not doing for our children. The public has never been so vocal in its interest, the provincial governments have never been so well staffed and the educationalists have never been so well paid as they are today. A profession that earned deservedly in my youth the utmost respect for its teaching methods and in-school discipline is now earning the contribution of a rather tottery hierarchy of not-so professional mentors who might conceivably be more interested in higher salaries, bigger and better fringes and extended vacations than in preparing our children to meet the future as productive adult Canadians.

These are generalities of course and as such are harmful and damaging to the majority of sincere educationists. How therefore is this impression of poor teaching gaining widespread acceptance? Let's take a look at the system and just what has been happening and not happening in education in our Province over the past 15 years.

It would assert seems, first of all, that we are spawning a rare type of senior educational staff officer; a management assistant of academic intelligentsia that, wallowing in educational theory and embroidered without the aid of fire new far-out techniques, has completely lost touch with present day cultural, industrial and professional requirements. Once again a dangerous and unfair generality but containing perhaps an element of fact. It is just too bad that teachers exist in a secure milieu of rather splendid isolation from the high pressure, hard-knocking, insecure world of modern day business wherein one has to produce day after day, or else. Many people in business and life might persuade them, well intentioned as they are, that the educational approach might need a complete overhaul.

Consider, for example, the precipitate introduction 15 years ago approximately of the "Word Recognition System of Reading". As a result, thousands of young Canadians are now approaching wage-earning age with little interest in reading, with a low degree of spelling accuracy and with minimal ability to express themselves in either the spoken or the written word. A whole generation has been condemned to a life of literary mediocrity because those in charge of the system did not have sufficient moral persuasion, or the good common sense, to research this method over a period of years before applying it. I consider such witless experimentation with the human guinea pigs as we ourselves on a par with the untested marketing of drugs for the human body, drugs of the potency that should be asking ourselves whether the "new maths" are not going to end up another blind alley.

* * *

Surely in our elementary and in our early years of secondary education we should be dealing with educational subjects which has happened to the three R's, without which no child or adult can compete? Add to these a good beginning irrespective of later specialization. Very only with another language early in the mix when a child's imitative ability and memory retention factor would seem to be at optimum function. For these same reasons I would even suggest that school entrance require-ment be advanced to an age of about 4½ years of the present day old spelling bee. Cull the multiplicity of obscure courses now being offered. Avoid the marriage of several subjects into a course with an ambiguous name interest and boredom.

I am overcome by sympathy for the teenager who doesn't have a thorough knowledge of continents, countries, capital cities and exports, but it is nevertheless exposed to a bewildering maze of currents, winds and low and high pressure areas. Or who is confronted in his text book with 10 pages of abstract mathematical theory before he is given the simple rudiments of an equation. I am appalled when I read a letter from a young mother with a few years' university education that is at a Grade 8 level of composition, and when I receive applications for employment from young men and women in their early twenties that are almost illegible and contain anywhere from two to three to eight misspelled words.

What has happened to the old system of a well selected and restricted group of Provincial text books? Nowadays text books vary from town to town and even from school to school. As a result, and with improvements in transportation and an ever increasing transient population, a child moving from one location to another can and does miss one or more years of advancement, not because of lack of intelligence, but because of familiarity with his books and too great a difference in curriculum curtails the advancement that uniformity could guarantee. This irregularity of educational pattern, the chopping and changing has also destroyed self-education in the home. At a time when a text book had a life of more than one year big sister could take little brother in hand. Having inherited her old books he could benefit from her familiarity with them. Not so now when, to use an extreme like Social Studies. Keep the schedule simple and interesting and avoid confusion, the loss of example, a teacher instructs from one text book and the class takes another one home to work from.

I am afraid, with the kaleidescopic variety of subjects and source material, today's student is being ill-equipped to meet the future. Since he is not being well prepared in his own language, since he mis-spells at times anything of greater difficulty than the four letter words, how can we hope that he will aspire to any degree of scholarship? How can the student be expected to excel in a foreign language when he doesn't know his own? What is the future for the world of business ten or fifteen years hence when the young member of management is unable to compose a simple, coherent instruction to his staff members? Worse still, what will happen when today's students become teachers?

* * *

Some of you may consider that I am being an alarmist. You are probably right for there is cause for alarm. There must be when one considers the number of privately endowed schools now being started in our larger eastern centres in an attempt to involve at least a minority of children in the old classical methods where the study of Latin and Greek was considered a necessary accompaniment to a proper comprehension of one's own language; when you consider that more private tutors are being sought today than ever before; when one discovers that the long established private schools are vieing with one another for students of top scholarship calibre and actively resisting the recruitment of the average child; and when private individuals in the community (bless them) are forced, because of lack of effort by our governments, to form committees for the purpose of disseminating information to the public on the recognition and education of the Perceptually Handicapped.

I say also thank God for many of our New Canadians who, lacking in themselves, place a high value on education and scholarship for their children, who will accept temporarily a lower standard of living to make this possible and who still believe that discipline begins in the home.

I am not as much concerned with the small group of high IQ's that will always exist in varying numbers. They will still receive the benefit of accelerated courses although progression will not be as fast as it might be with a better grounding in fundamentals. I am concerned rather with the great majority of average children who irrespective of leadership and our high standard of living will represent tomorrow's political majority and create our world image. Let's get back to the type of elementary and secondary education which will provide our children with a sound general knowledge of the world we live in and with the articulate ability to communicate this knowledge. It is upon such a foundation that they can build in any special-ized direction when they are ready for it. Too great a variety of subjects and too early a freedom of choice result in dissipation of energy and insecurity. Students today talk to me but they and write too little. And they are aided and abetted in their communication of the written language by that brainchild of the Personnel Consultant, the IQ test and its multiple choice questions (guesses), which now in our generally as a medium of exam-nation represents not only but an easy way out for student and teacher alike.

* * *

Our children have to be taught to study and to achieve this a home must be closer control and regimentation of effort. What's more, like to be regimented. By all means let's encourage imagination and initiative and relieve boredom and brain fag by more attractive instructional methods but always without a well-conceived and uniform framework of educational basics designed to produce a child that can think, speak and write coherently.

And finally, may the good Lord preserve us from the unseemly conceived, so-called progressive, ungraded schools wherein examinitiers will be a dirty word. If this lunacy persists, and becomes apparable, an application for employment in future years will contain not much more than "I am John Jones and I went to school for 12 years."

This country was built on competition and free enterprise but how can we teach our children to compete, and through application excel, when the general inclination is to eliminate competition? We are rapidly approaching the stage when, through our highly developed talent for finding the easy way out, we shall become a nation of academic dodgers, experts in the art of the inarticulate, confirmed compromise, dabblers in all trades and masters of none — a semi-literate civilization of slovenly speech and limited vocabulary. Unless we can arrest the retrogression of self expression by the written word I can visualize a language disorders as involving the total elimination of writing, and eventually reading, and the reduction of communications to phonetic mouthings by electronic media only. The next step, of course, with the relegation of syntax and spelling to the limbo of forgotten things, will be an emasculation of culture, a complete breakdown of the national language, and a resurgence of local dialects.

Gross exaggeration? Science fiction humbug? Not ruddy likely. Take a good look at the next duty letter from your teenage nephew, niece or grandchild!

BC Bishop Runs Construction Firm

PRINCE GEORGE, B.C. (CP) — A construction company here that has built 13 schools and a college is named after a prayer and is run by a bishop.

Domano Ltd. was founded in 1960 by Bishop Fergus O'Grady to build mission schools for his far-flung Prince George Roman Catholic diocese.

"The Indians of the diocese, especially, needed help and I thought education was the solution to their problems, so that is why I concentrated on building schools," he says.

The company was formed to provide materials to build the schools and was named by taking the first two letters in the words of the Latin prayer Domine Mane Nobiscum—Lord Stay With Us.

Bishop O'Grady, 59, said work progressed slowly at first because there was a lack of funds and shortage of labor.

"I had to help build the mission schools myself to get things going in the early days.

"It doesn't cost much to form a company, but I had to rely on the fund raising of my congregations to be able to start production."

He said some bulldozers and trucks were given to the church, but most equipment was purchased.

The company enabled him to buy material at cost price and "I found it saves about 10 per cent of the cost of building if you haven't any labor to pay for, and with the volunteers taking care of that, our costs went down accordingly."

He said any paid help, he says, was a master carpenter who supervised construction.

The bishop so far has built three schools and a college in Prince George and schools at Prince Rupert, Terrace, Kitimat, New Hazelton, Smithers, Burns Lake, Vanderhoof, Fort St. James, Dawson Creek and Fort St. John.

Young People Concerned About Children's Faith

VANCOUVER (CP) — Young people care what religious beliefs they will pass on to their children whether they are Christians or not, says Rev. Jack Shaver, United Church chaplain at the University of British Columbia.

He said in an interview: "Many of the kids on campus are worried about marriage and children.

"They have difficulties with religious belief themselves and yet they feel a sense of responsibility about giving their children some kind of religious framework.

June Lythgoe, secretary of the university's Student Christian Movement, says many young parents are concerned about the lack of spiritual values in today's society.

"We are in such a period of transition that it is difficult to predict what form the church of the future will take," she said.

However, she feels one thing is certain: there can be no return to the inflexible dogmas and denominational boundaries of the past.

Taking Sewn-on Hooks off Curtains Is Waste of Time

TORONTO (CP) — If you have been taking sewn-on hooks off curtains and taking weights out of their hems before you send them to the cleaners, you have been wasting time.

That's an old-fashioned chore, says John Dillon, assistant manager of the Dry Cleaners and Launderers Institute (Ontario).

"Most modern cleaners can cover hooks and fold curtains so they aren't flopping around in the vats. You don't need to take the weights out."

He says about the only way a consumer can tell these days whether an item should be dry cleaned or washed is to check the label, and the time to do that is when you buy.

"Most fabrics can be cleaned or laundered, but there are some that have bits in them that exclude both possibilities."

One of the jobs of the institute is to try to advise the trade and to do laboratory checks, but not until after the worn has happened, to find out why it did happen.

Mr. Dillon says the federal government has been investigating fabric labelling and he hopes there will soon be a labelling system that will tell consumer and cleaner without fail how to look after the item.

Another current problem is buttons. Mr. Dillon says it is no longer easy to be sure whether or not a plastic button will melt or run or otherwise cause problems. He suggests that when you buy a garment with special buttons or doubtful ones, you consider whether you should take them all off every time you send it to be cleaned or washed.

"Some places will ask you to take them off at the counter."

If you stain clothes, furniture, rugs, you may not be able to have them cleaned immediately, but the sooner the better is the rule. And, Mr. Dillon says, be cautious about applying temporary home remedies.

"The people who offer household hints on how to remove stains usually neglect to say their suggested formula might cause other damage."

When you do take a stained article to a cleaner, attach a note to it explaining what you think the stain is and when it happened or be sure the clerk writes the information on the order.

Once you have winter things clean, the institute recommends careful storage to keep them in good condition until next year.

If they have no wool in them, you don't need to worry about mothproofing. If they have any wool in them, the safest way to store them is in sealed containers with some kind of anti-moth agent.

Wool or not, they should be stored in a dry place to prevent mildew and preferably in a cool place. The institute recommends commercial cold storage as the safest way to store furs.

They also urge that you choose a reputable dry cleaner and launderer as another way to keep your cleaning problems at a minimum.

Trudeau Is Queried About Marital Status

OTTAWA (CP) — Justice Minister Trudeau wowed about 400 women delegates and guests to the Liberal Leadership convention at a special reception for them Friday at the National Library.

The show-stopper came at a question - and - answer period when one woman put the question to every woman was secretly asking.

What kind of "pressures" would make the minister get married and what would he do about his bachelor status if he became prime minister?

"Given the right kind of pressures I think I'd get married," Mr. Trudeau replied to a giggling audience.

His friend, he said, had told him marriage was "quite an experience" and he was hoping for it some day. But he had been hoping for a long time.

Mr. Trudeau got an enthusiastic reception from the women when he arrived at the reception, wearing a button proclaiming "It's Spring" on one lapel and a red boutonniere in the other.

Attractive supporters handed out corsages of yellow Talisman roses and bouquets of laudatory newspaper articles.

After moving-smile the library auditorium for the question period, the women insisted Mr. Trudeau sit informally in a chair on a carpeted platform to talk to them.

Speaking of Canadian culture, Mr. Trudeau told the women that Expo showed how Canadians could establish a new consensus and rapport between French- and English-Canadians.

"After we appoint you prime minister, what do you think of the next one being a woman?"

Mr. Trudeau said he favors equal rights. Another solution, however, would be "to have a deputy minister and make her a woman."

A representative of Algoma East riding asked him if he intended to make Mary Macdonald, executive assistant to senator.

"There are no deals in this camp," Mr. Trudeau said, adding with a grin that he had "tremendous admiration" for Miss Macdonald.

After answering more questions about preservation of federal parks, water pollution and support for old age homes, he left the reception as he had come, on a wave of popularity.

Mr., Mrs. W. Fitzgerald Wed for 50 Years

TWEED — Fifty years ago, on March 27th, Fanny Sager, of Queensboro, was married to William Fitzgerald of Rimington by Rev. W. Merrick.

To celebrate this golden anniversary a gathering was held in the home of their daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Holmes of Cooper recently.

Twenty-one of the family and relatives sat down to a bountiful dinner at noon in the large dining room, which was suitably decorated for the occasion.

Centring the table, at which the bride and bridegroom of 50 years were seated, was an anniversary cake, beautifully decorated in white and gold, by a niece of the bride, Mrs. Clarence Rogers.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fitzgerald, the attendants of 50 years ago, in 1918, were both present at the celebration.

Many lovely gifts were received and the afternoon was happily spent in a social time recalling events of yesteryear.

Mr. and Mrs. Fitzgerald lived at their farm home, R.R. 3, Madoc, where they still reside.

They have one son, Carl Fitzgerald, also of R.R. 3, Madoc and one daughter, Mrs. Jack Lewis and Cam Walsh.

Mrs. E. Cronkrite on behalf of the members thanked the group for a most enjoyable evening.

Lunch was served by Mrs. A. Scales and committee.

Club Activities

SENIOR CITIZENS

The regular monthly meeting of the Senior Citizens was held on April 3 in the Recreation Centre with president Mr. Harvey Taylor presiding.

Two minutes silence was observed for a departed member, Mrs. G. Hamilton.

The birthday song was sung to seven members. Mrs. G. Hall reported that a number of members who were ill had been sent cards. A thank you note was read from Mr. Alvin Young.

A bus trip to Ottawa is scheduled for Tuesday, May 28th.

The entertainment for the evening included selections of songs and music given by Marlene Chartrand, Pat Shallow, Joe Lewis and Cam Walsh.

C.F.B. WOMEN'S AUX.

Lieut. Col. Duff, Mayor of Middleton Park, CFB, Trenton, was the guest speaker at the April 1 meeting of the Women's Auxiliary. Several problems concerning school guards, garbage collection, and the local traffic situation, were answered by Lieut. Col. Duff.

Mrs. D. Hill, president was in the chair, with approximately 50 members present. The group proposed to give $1,000 to the Trenton Memorial Public Library to furnish the Children's Room in the forthcoming branch library, which will be situated on the west side of Trenton, opening in June.

The May 6 meeting will feature films showing the beauty spots for vacationing around the Trenton district, and, as this area is particularly fortunate in its parks and beaches it is expected a large crowd will attend.

Nominations for the 1968-69 executive were requested from the floor. This year, ballots will be mailed to all members of the Women's Auxiliary, and the vote will be taken from the returned ballots.

The meeting closed with a vote of thanks for Lieut. Col. Duff.

Coffee and light refreshment were served, and the meeting adjourned.

Social Events Held For Women Delegates

OTTAWA CP — It was a whirl of flood, flowers, fashion and smiling, candidates Friday for women at the Liberal leadership convention.

The women delegates and delegates' wives moved from reception to reception as candidates wooed their support.

One of the most elaborate events was a luncheon given by Mrs. Paul Martin, wife of the external affairs minister, for a large gathering in the green-and-gold surroundings of a downtown hotel.

A cold plate followed by ice cream and strawberries was topped off by favors in the form of brooches and a fashion show of delicate spring fabrics and styles.

The blare of a band, cheers, and clapping heralded Mr. Martin's arrival among placard-carrying supporters.

The noon hour was no time for the woman having difficulty making up her mind. She had to decide among Mrs. Martin's lunch, a buffet given by Transport Minister and Mrs. Hellyer, and a recention by Mrs. Joe Greene, wife of the agriculture minister.

The stand-up Greene buffet, served in a committee room in the Parliament Buildings, drew crowds of people who jammed the room and waited in lines in the corridors.

The loud beat of drums signalled Mr. Hellyer's arrival in the centre of a vigorous line of youthful admirers. His entourage was led by State Secretary LaMarsh, marching enthusiastically.

Upstairs, the parliamentary restaurant was crowded as guests met Mrs. Greene and her three pretty young daughters for lunch. Lord Greene joined his fans for a short talk.

Health Minister MacEachen entertained at tea. Creamy parfaits and petits fours in an atmosphere of candlelight candles, violins and the strains of Bonnie Dundee played by three kilted pipers.

The early part of the day had been highlighted, for about 400 women, by a reception given by Justice Minister Trudeau's women committee.

The minister signed autographs before holding an informal question period.

Mrs. Robert Winters, wife of the former trade minister, entertained the early risers with a continental breakfast in a downtown restaurant.

Mrs. John Turner, wife of the consumer affairs minister, held a mid-morning coffee party at the Country Club, at Lucerne, Que., across the Ottawa River from the capital's west end.

EX-SERVICEWOMEN

The regular meeting of the Col. Phay Wills branch of the Royal Canadian Legion Ex-servicewomen was held on Tuesday evening at the Legion Hall on Pinnacle street.

The branch president, Mrs. Dorothy Barrigar and several members had attended a Zone meeting held in Marmora last Sunday. Business pertaining to the ex-servicewomen's branch was discussed.

Mrs. "Billie" Kirby reported that the area speak-off would be held in Belleville this coming Sunday with the branch to be responsible for the registration and to provide a lunch.

Members are invited by the Bay of Quinte Ex-servicewomen's branch to attend the April meeting at which Mrs. Pauline Lowden will be special guest.

Six members paid their dues and one application for membership was received.

Mrs. Frank Parsons was selected to be the Silver Cross Mother of the Year.

On the first drawing for the 50-50 prize the lucky winner was on attendance so the money was held over to the next meeting.

Emotional Upsets Cause Impediments

TORONTO (CP) — Eighty-per-cent of patients with emotionally - caused speech problems are women, says Arvold Eze. Aronson, consultant in speech pathology at the Mayo Clinic.

The typical patient is a woman in her 40s, who cannot express anger, has no serious psychiatric illness but undergone some emotionally upsetting event, he told the annual meeting Friday of the Ontario Speech and Hearing Association.

Dr. Aronson said psychiatrists feel the inability to express the anger is part of the woman's general immaturity.

The emotionally - caused voice loss probably is seen most often in the 40-age group because problems with children and families may occur then at a time when physical resilience is less evident. Generalized fatigue is seen as a high percentage of the cases, Dr. Aronson said.

Later, the doctor said the preponderance of women may result from cultural self-concepts — women are supposed to be gentle and self-controlled, while it is considered more acceptable for men to express anger.

Men who have difficulty showing anger have other ways of expressing their frustration, the doctor said. "For example, a man can go off and drink after a row with the boss but a woman is forced by her role to contain herself."

Spring Fashions Offer Choice and Variety

Spring fashions have a spirited look that offers choice and variety. Brisk suits with short cropped jackets and mobile skirts, chic ensembles and crisp little dresses, sometimes touched with nostalgic reminders of days past, but always young and undeniably modern.

Crisp textured cottons in sharp, black and white checks and plaids, or with the precise clear cut look of white stripes on grey or brown tones are featured in all spring fashion collections.

Topcoats for fair weather or foul have new rounded lines highlighted by narrow sleeves set close to the shoulder and high under the arms and are given dash with big pockets, slashed or flapped. Sleeveless dresses match either coats or jackets in a variety of ensembles.

Belts ride low on coats or high on the short jacketed suits where they emphasize pleated, dirndl or flat and flare skirts. Fresh white touches are incorporated in frilly cotton eyelet blouses, sweet little collars or in white stitching on the gleam of buttons against vivid colors.

Cottons contribute to the young look of Jewel of Jeweling dresses of softer lines, ranging from practical, pack able knits with boucle or brocade textures to filmy, romantic cotton voiles printed in dreamy patterns.

Hemlines are generally short but they can be up, down or all over. Today's fashion is flexible — the choice is yours.

Points for Parents

By MARY BRYSON

Mother: "I guess the baby must be spoiled already. He stops crying as soon as I pick him up, then whoops it up again when I put him back in his bed."

Grandmother: "Perhaps you should let him cry it out."

Pediatricians say a tiny baby is not likely to be spoiled because you pick him up, soothe him or rock him, even if he doesn't seem to be hungry, wet or sick. Being comforted may be what he needs.

If a baby cries in the early weeks, it's likely he is uncomfortable for some reason. If his discomfort is not too great, he may stop crying when you pick him up because he senses you are going to do something about it.

Ski Queen Nancy Greene Captures Second World Cup In Row

SPORTS SLICES

By Geo. H. Carver
Sports Editor

The first hockey league formed in Canada was organized in Kingston and consisted of four teams, RMC, Queen's University, Kingston Athletics and the Kingston Hockey Club. That was back in 1885.

Eight years later in 1893 to be exact Lord Kilcoursie, aide to Lord Stanley of Preston then Governor-General of Canada, dropped around to watch one of the games. He liked what he saw — and became a fan.

He prevailed on Lord Stanley to donate a trophy of sorts to be awarded to the team winning the national championship.

The Governor-General agreed and dipped into the regal purse to the extent of ten pounds (then $48.66) and the now famous Stanley Cup came into being.

At that time the cup was a simple bowl mounted on a wooden base. Now the fabulous trophy is worth an estimated $75,000 and bears the names of just about every great hockey player to come down the ice in 75 years.

Soon after the cup was presented when hockey was exclusive amateur, the game took on a professional look. Teams began playing their players and naturally these clubs attracted the best athletes.

By 1907, Stanley Cup competition was getting lopsided with the pros trouncing the amateurs. The result was the Allan Cup was introduced for the amateurs and the play-for-pay boys took over the Stanley Cup.

The National Hockey League was formed in 1917 from the National Hockey Association and from 1926 Hamill now only NHL teams have competed for the Cup.

Still the Cup is recogiued as the award for the world's professional hockey championship and another league or even a team in Europe has the right to challenge the NHL upon meeting certain requirements of the trustees.

Originally, only games of the teams which won the Cup were engraved on the limited area of the bowl but by 1906 all available space was used. This called for engraved plaques attached to the base until there was no more room for them either.

More bases were added until the Cup looked like an upside down ice-cream cone with the names of not only the teams but of the players and executives of the champions.

In 1947 a major overhaul of the Cup became necessary. It was taken apart completely. Original bands were mounted on a barrel-like base and the height of the trophy was reduced by doubling the circumference.

The general shape of the trophy was maintained but a completely-new silver barrel was built with an aluminum liner replacing the old, heavy wooden one. The areas for names were reduced to more compact and uniform sizes.

An ambitious engraver took on the mammoth job of refitting all the inscriptions that had cluttered the old cellars. He printed small, leaving room for many more names and now the Cup will accommodate another 30 years of champions.

The only thing the engraver couldn't do without defacing the trophy was to erase the scratches of hundreds of fans who somehow got the chance to include themselves on this showpiece of hockey history.

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — General manager Dick O'Connell of Boston Red Sox announced Friday night that he will ask that ailing slugger Tony Conigliaro be placed on baseball's emergency disabled list for a minimum of 60 days. Conigliaro's vision in his left eye is deteriorating and his baseball future is doubtful.

SOUTH LAKE TAHOE, Calif. (CP) — The international skiing competition continues here today, but mostly just for fun since Nancy Greene of Rossland, B.C., and Jean Claude Killy of France have already won their second straight World Cup championships.

Miss Greene clinched her title Friday, finishing fifth in the giant slalom, while Killy had sewn up his title at an international meet a week ago.

The 24-year-old Canadian champion—winner of a gold and silver medal at the Winter Olympics in Grenoble, France —was well behind the winning time of one minute, 1.39 seconds posted by Gertrud Gabl of Austria with Florence Sturer of France second in 1:01.81.

In third place was Isabel Mir of France, who had to win the event to match the 186 World Cup points already picked up by Miss Greene.

Miss Greene who already had won the maximum of 75 points allowed for giant slalom competition, finished in 1:03.69 behind Judy Nagel of the United States at 1:03.51.

This meet, at Heavenly Valley near Lake Tahoe, is the last for Miss Greene, a Notre Dame University student, who last week announced her retirement from international competition.

Asked again Friday what if any plans she had for the future, she reiterated earlier statements that she had none except to return to her studies although she had "a lot of offers."

Among the offers she mentioned, without being specific, were included endorsements, television and pu'' relations positions.

Jean-Pierre Augert of France took the early lead in the men's giant slalom, charging down the 3,562-foot course in 1:25.95 followed by Austrians Herbert Huber in 1:27.53 and Reinhard Tritscher in 1:27.59.

Other Canadians were well down in the standings on the course that was made difficult by mild weather that has cut the snow cover to the minimum in recent days.

In the women's competition, Judi Leitweber of Kimberley, B.C., was 25th in 1:27.85 followed by Karen Dokka of Burnaby, B.C., in 1:07.87 and Stephanie Townsend of Banff, Alta., 31st in 1:09.20 with Sue Graves of Montreal 34th in 1:10.54.

Peter Duncan of Mont Tremblant, Que., led Canadian men with a 24th placing in 1:31.78 followed by Scott Henderson of Banff in 1:32.24.

In 32nd spot was Gerry Rinaldi of Kimberley in 1:33.54 with Bert Irwin of Kamloops, B.C., 37th in 1:38.09, Dan Irwin of Port Arthur, Ont., 39th in 1:38.36, Currie Chapman of Chelsea, Que., 41st in 1:39.03 and Michel Lehmann of Montreal 43rd in 1:39.95.

Cash For A Ski Queen

SOUTH LAKE TAHOE, Calif. (AP) — Nancy Greene of Rossland, B.C., who clinched the women's World Cup of International skiing Friday, said she has "no definite plans but a lot of offers" to cash in on her triumph.

She plans to retire from amateur skiing, "but I haven't decided on any one" offer.

Miss Greene said she has "offers of endorsement and television and public relations, but declined to be specific.

"I would like to help the junior racers of Canada in some way," she volunteered. "I probably wouldn't coach in one place, but would work for the whole field of junior racing."

She seemed not the least excited about retaining her world championship—perhaps because she had virtually clinched it last weekend.

Junior 'A' Playoffs

Flyers Oust Habs!

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Hamilton Red Wings are still in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A playoffs, but not because Walt Tkaczuk wants them there.

Tkaczuk, sparkplug of Kitchener Rangers throughout the season, figured in all four goals Friday night as the Rangers tied the Red Wings 4-4 in their OHA semi-final series.

A victory would have given Kitchener the best-of-seven series four games to one. But the OHA ruled the series an eight-point affair and the Rangers have only seven points on three victories plus the tie and Hamilton three.

Niagara Falls Flyers whipped Montreal Junior Canadiens 8-3 Friday night to win the other semi-final series 4-2.

The Hamilton-Kitchener series resumes in Hamilton Sunday.

Tkaczuk, who hopes to turn professional with New York Rangers of the National Hockey League next season, scored two goals and assisted on the other two in his one-man campaign against the Red Wings.

Ultimatum

CAHA Raps U.S. Loop

TORONTO (CP) — An ultimatum for the United States Amateur Hockey Association to live up to its agreements or face sanctions under international regulations was issued Friday by Gordon Juckes, executive-director of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association.

Juckes, in an interview, said "the CAHA has had three different agreements with the (U.S.) AHA and they haven't lived up to any of them."

"Under the present agreement, they have until May 1 to reorganize. If we haven't some assurance from them by then that they will recognize Canadian releases and transfers, we will terminate the agreement. They will then have to May 20, the date of our annual meeting in Windsor, Ont., to impress our delegates with their sincerity or we go our own way."

Habs, Bruins Ready To Go

MONTREAL (CP) — General manager Mit Schmidt of Boston Bruins doesn't think his club can play any better defensively for tonight's contest against Montreal Canadiens.

But both Schmidt and coach Toe Blake of Montreal are looking for offensive improvements.

Schmidt thought the Bruins' defence was satisfactory Saturday night even though Montreal won the opening game 2-1 in their best-of-seven Stanley Cup playoff series.

"The game, he noted, wasn't decided until Claude Provost's deflection beat Boston goalie Gerry Cheevers at 14:40 of the third period.

Tonight's second game, which starts at 8 p.m. EST, will have the same lineups as the opener, both coaches said Friday.

Schmidt pointed to the Bruins' season record as the highest-scoring team in the league.

"We had to have offensive strength to score 259 goals, 23 more than the Canadiens. This is going to be a great playoff series before its over."

Coach Harry Sinden says his Bruins must overcome the Canadiens' combination of forechecking and balance.

"They have the stamina to get back quickly when they're caught up the ice. We've got the same potential but we didn't use it Thursday."

Blake also said he hopes for a better offensive effort from the Canadiens tonight but he praised Thursday night's play by goalie Grump Worsley and four defencemen.

"I was surprised by the fine play of Terry Harper and Ted Harris after the long layoff."

Blake said of his two rearguards who had been out for two weeks with injuries.

Worsley's start in goal again tonight is "pretty sure but there could be a change," the coach said, praising the netminder's big saves in the opener.

Sinden says he will probably start again with Cheevers although the chunky netminder has less experience than alternate goalie Ed Johnston.

After Thursday night's defeat Cheevers had no excuses even though he couldn't be blamed for Montreal's first goal which deflected behind him off Boston defenceman Bobby Orr.

After Orr admitted that Henri Richard's shot "hit my hand and deflected," Cheevers was equally candid.

"I would have had it if Bobby hadn't deflected it."

However, he was equally ready to give Provost credit for a perfect lip-in that won the game for Montreal.

"That one I wouldn't have got . . . ever," Cheevers said. "I was moving to it but it was tipped perfectly."

Kings, Blues Look For Repeats

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The worm is turning in the National Hockey League's Western Division and Los Angeles and St. Louis hope to keep the little fellow on the move.

Both clubs swing back into action tonight as Stanley Cup playoff action resumes with Minnesota North Stars at Los Angeles Kings and St. Louis Blues at Philadelphia Flyers.

Boston is at Montreal for the second game of their series in the only Eastern Division action tonight. Canadiens won the opener 2-1.

Los Angeles managed just two victories in 10 regular season games against playoff foe Minnesota. But the Kings whipped the North Stars 7-1 Thursday in the opening game of the playoffs.

And St. Louis had beaten Philadelphia just once all year before blanking the Flyers 1-0 in Thursday's opening Cup game.

Two veteran goalies who've been through the Stanley Cup mill plenty of times before, were the key men for the Kings and Blues.

Terry Sawchuk, the Kings' 38-year-old netminder, blocked 31 shots as LA nipped Minnesota.

"He made the saves that kept us in the game," said coach Red Kelly.

Glenn Hall, who is 36, had an easier time for St. Louis, turning just 14 Philadelphia shots as the Flyer offence continued to sputter.

"He showed about as much offence as my kid's team," grumbled Keith Allen, coach of the Flyers.

Hall said it wasn't as easy as it might seem to be.

"I know you think I could have sat in a rocking chair with only 14 shots to stop," he said. "It was easy physically, but not mentally. After all, all I had to do was miss one and it was all over."

New York Rangers and Chicago Black Hawks were scheduled to resume their playoff series Sunday but there was a possibility the game would be postponed because of the national day of mourning for Dr. Martin Luther King, the slain civil rights leader. A final decision on whether the game would be played was expected early today.

New York won the opener 3-1.

With The Trotters

TORONTO (CP) — Misledick, a three-year-old colt owned by Mort Hardy of Toronto, won the featured sixth race Friday at Greenwood Raceway by 2½ lengths over Hammer Kopf.

It was the sixth winner in as many days for owner-trainer Hardy and it moved him into top place among the trainers at Greenwood's spring meeting.

The 5,714 fans made Hammer Kopf the even-money choice in the 4½-furlong sixth and the colt challenged for the lead in the early going, but fell back to Musledick at the head of the stretch.

Musledick returned $8.40, $4 and $2.30. Hammer Kopf paid $3 to place and James Bay returned $2.10 in the show spot. Time for the distance was 54 1-5.

The daily double of Ripple Finish in the first and Gaby Lee in the second paid $128.60.

CAMPBELLVILLE, Ont. (CP) — Fearless Doc won the $4,000 feature trot by 1¼ lengths over Lively Kid at Mohawk Raceway Friday night.

Fearless Doc paid $6.80 for the win and combined with Lively Kid for a $41.30 exactor.

J. R. Mac paid $14.50 in the Dutch event. It moved him with Dutch Victor ($12) in the second for a $102.50 daily double.

BATAVIA, N.Y. (CP) — Liz Dares won the fifth race for Blanche Blizard, Duke's Quo, ... and was claimed by Joseph MacKinnon of Buffalo for the $1,500 price at Batavia Downs Friday.

Two Sections In College Conference

MONTREAL (CP) — The Central Canada Intercollegiate Football Conference will be divided into a two-division league for the coming season, it was announced Friday after a meeting at Sir George Williams University.

Each team will play a home-and-home series against every team in its own division, plus one game against each team in the opposing division.

The eastern division groups Loyola College, Sir George Williams University, Macdonald College, Bishop's University, University of Montreal and Royal Military College of Kingston.

The western division includes the University of Waterloo, University of Guelph, University of Western Ontario, University of Windsor and Laurentian University of Sudbury.

Pierre Lacoste, University of Montreal coach, replaces Jack Kennedy of McMaster as secretary-treasurer.

Americans Lead 2-0 Over Bears

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Bob Barlow had his night in Rochester Friday, although nobody planned it that way.

The 32-year-old left winger was in on all four Americans' goals in a 4-1 win over Hershey Bears for a 2-0 lead in their best-of-seven American Hockey League semi-final.

The series resumes tonight in Hershey between the champions of the Eastern and Western divisions respectively.

In a scatter-final match Friday night, Quebec Aces also moved to a 2-0 lead, beating Buffalo Bisons 3-1 in their best-of-five set.

Play Hawks Sunday

Rangers Depend On Teamwork

NEW YORK (CP) — New York Rangers think they have found the key to beating Chicago Black Hawks in the National Hockey League's Eastern Division semi-finals.

"Team effort," was the formula offered by coach Emile Francis and veteran forward Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion.

The Rangers defeated the Hawks 3-1 Thursday night and hold a 1-0 edge going into Sunday's second game of the best-of-seven, Stanley Cup series.

New York forwards hustled and checked while goalie Ed Giacomin turned in an outstanding performance. Not to be forgotten are the Ranger defencemen, who not only provided Giacomin with good protection but got a total of 19 shots on goal.

"If we ever had a team effort, this was it," said Francis Friday. "They kept skating, controlled the puck and kept the pressure on Chicago all the way.

"If (Denis) DeJordy hadn't played such a great game in their zeta, I'm sure the score would have been a lot higher."

Geoffrion, the 37-year-old former Montreal Canadiens who sees most of his action with the Rangers on power plays, said:

"You can't pick one big star on this team. Team effort is the reason for our success."

Giacomin, who led the NHL in shutouts this season with eight and last season with nine, stopped 31 of 32 shots fired at him by the Hawks compared with 44 shots the Rangers got away at DeJordy.

The 19 shots fired by Ranger defencemen were shared by Arnie Brown and Jim Neilson, six each, Harry Howell four and Rod Seiling three. Howell scored on one of his shots.

"Anytime your defence is able to take that many shots it means you're controlling the action," said Francis. "It means the forwards are digging it from the behind the neta and out of the corners and getting it back to the points."

In addition to Howell, Rangers' scorers were Offand Kurtenbach and Rod Gilbert. Chicago scored on a hard shot from the blue line by Pierre Pilote.

Another statistic that indicated New York strategy was the mere five shots allowed Chicago super-star Bobby Hull. Vet-ran Ron Stewart shadowed Hull throughout the game.

By Rain, That Is

Casper's 68 Washed Out!

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Julius Boros remained in a tie with Billy Casper for the lead in the $137,500 Greater Greensboro Open golf tournament as second round play began anew today, thanks to Boros' old pal, the weather man.

Each had a six-under-par 65, fashioned in Thursday's opening round to lead Al Geiberger by a stroke. Then the rain came.

The second round was reset for today with a 36-hole windup arranged for Sunday to make up the lost time.

Casper slogged around the sloppy 7,091 yards of the Sedgefield country club before the end came Friday. He fashioned a fine 68, three under par, for a 133 total and the early lead.

Boros, meanwhile, started with a two-stroke penalty when he was four minutes late for his 12:48 p.m. date at the first tee. After a 40-minute wait the round was cancelled and all the scores went down the drain.

A chief casualty of Friday's rain was Jack McGowan, whose 66, best score of the day, was rained out. It gave him a 135 total and second place behind Casper before the cancellation.

Arnold Palmer also played well in the rain, his 67 giving him 136 for third place.

Dodgers Option Ten

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Gary Nolan, a rookie sensation last year, and Don Nottebart, who once pitched a no-hitter in the major leagues, are back in the minors today.

Cincinnati Reds officially optioned Nolan to Tampa in the Class A Florida State League and sold Nottebart to Hawaii of the Triple AA Pacific Coast League. Both are right-handers.

Nolan, who was 14-8 with a 2.38 earned run average in 1967, has been plagued by arm trouble this spring. The Reds said they hoped he would be able to return to the National League club by the time the season is a couple of weeks old.

Nottebart, 32, compiled a 35-50 mark in eight National League seasons and was 6-3 with a 1.94 era last year.

Los Angeles Dodgers optioned out 10 players, reducing their roster to 28.

Catcher Ted Sizemore pitchers Larry Sloan, John Purdin and Leon Everitt, outfielder Cleon James and infielders Tommy Dean and Tom Hutton were sent to Spokane of the PCL.

Royals Crush Trappers 10-3

CORNWALL (CP) — Cornwall Royals swamped North Bay Trappers 10-3 Friday night to take a 1-0 lead in their best-of-seven Eastern Canada Memorial Cup semi-final.

Wayne Horne paced the Royals with three goals while Jim George and Bill Swigrove each notched two each. Single goals went to Bill Markell, George DeJardins and Larry Biley.

Bill Barber, Jack Rathwell and Ron Bryne were North Bay marksmen. The second game will be played Sunday night in Cornwall.

Oilers Lead Blazers 2-1

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Tulsa Oilers regained the lead in the Central Hockey League semi-final playoff series by beating Oklahoma City Blazers 4-2 Friday night.

With the Oilers leading 2-1, the best-of-seven series will switch to Oklahoma City for games tonight and Tuesday night.

Pat Quinn, Danny Johnson, Ron Ward and Nick Harbaruk scored for Tulsa.

Both Blazer scores were by defencemen, Barry Gibbs and John Arbour.

Yule Lighting Costs Higher Than Expected

TWEED — Christmas lighting on Tweed's main street cost $400, the Chamber of Commerce was told by Reeve Barbara Allen at its April 1 meeting.

Reeve Allen said the annual cost could be reduced somewhat by the installation of a special service line costing $1,200.

C. of C. directors will decide at their next meeting whether to continue sharing the cost of lighting with the town in view of the high expenses involved.

Date of the 1969 winter carnival was set at Feb. 7, 8 and 9.

The C. of C. will again operate the tourist information booth in North America's Smallest Millhouse. An added attraction this year will be the sale of Hastings county cheese and maple syrup in souvenir packages. Bob Hanna will be in charge.

Directors for 1968-69 are: tourism and information, Bob Hanna; membership, Keith Colton; retail merchants, Anthony Quinn and Ivy Woolfrey; industry, Kenneth Thompson and C. Courtney; civic development, Sandford Wilson; program, Barry Hunter and Guy B. Hughes; finance, Wally Moffat; agriculture, Clarence Woods and Frank Foster; directors at large, Donald Chisholm, Donald LeSage and Dick Simon.

REAL ESTATE FOR SALE

LOSING ON THE STOCK MARKET?

Why not invest in an apartment house and eliminate the risk? Real estates goes only one way in value — up - up - up.

Besides the increase in actual value of the property, the rents from year to year go up and up as well. If you are worried about vacancies, just try and rent an apartment in town.

We have a few lots left zoned for triplex, duplex or 12 unit apartments. See us at once and start your money really working for you. Speak to your auditor about the tax saving alone.

"Wanna buy two tickets to a scout circus?"

Jeane Dixon's Horoscope

For April 7

Your birthday today: You tend to be an incurable romantic, temperamental, an strongly demonstrative in your emotional upheavals. This coming year will bring you exceptional opportunity for self-expression, and where vocational success depends on effective projection of feelings, a chance to build up a fantastic reputation. Saturn rising ahead of the Sun in solar return chart indicates every action, however trivial, will be done sensitively and seriously.

ARIES (Mar. 21 — Apr. 19): An erratic birthday at best. Impulses to act without thinking where the action leads may spoil things for the day. Keep your shirt on. You needn't put yourself out to impress anybody.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 — May 20): The temptation today is to let personal irritation push you into a bitter word or two. Share your religious observances with old friends and seek a calmer mood. Rest early tonight.

GEMINI (May 1 — June 20): Remember that many other people are just as tense as you are. It is too easy to question the taste and judgment of others today. Work off the tension with chores you skipped this past week.

CANCER (June 21 — July 22): Church services today tend to bring you a new viewpoint, new information. The temptation to respond to competitive social gestures may be quite strong. Take out the irritation in exercise.

LEO (July 23 — Aug. 22): Travel is not favored today. Do some walking. Share the nice things of life with mate and a few old friends.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 — Sept. 22): Watch where you step today, particularly along busy streets. You seem determined to differ with somebody today — let it be on matters with people, rather than with vehicles over a right of way.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 — Oct. 22): Expenses may annoy you today. The enjoyment of the day is up to your church and social amenities are what you make them. Your appetite tends to thrive.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23—Nov. 21): With patience and self-discipline you can learn much from today's temptations to waspish clashed between people. Meditate this evening on the day's observations.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 — Dec. 21): Your health today deserves the best of care, and may be worth skipping your usual Sunday habits. Avoid ruffling tempers if you can.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 — Jan. 19): It is not likely that today will fulfill your expectations. Church is a good place to get a better perspective on your frustrations and irritations. Avoid over-eating today.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 — Feb. 18): Many more people will agree with you today if you will give them the chance; wait for them to offer the comment. Avoid bickering in the home.

PISCES (Feb. 19 — Mar. 20): While fresh air and a good walk will do you good, the inspiration of church can do a great deal more for you today. Keep the peaceful mood going all day.

For April 8th,

Your birthday today: The coming year holds great promise of creative achievement for you. Your tendency is to dramatize with expansive emotional overtones even the most trivial activities, seldom finding complete satisfaction with the results. Much of your search for self-expression may be done at the expense of long-range security. Today's natives tend to be capable of sustained concentrated effort once they are involved in the search for aesthetic or technical perfection.

ARIES (Mar. 21—Apr. 19): The burden of personal responsibilities continues to be heavy. Any scattering of effort recently tends to reflect now in minor failures. This month continues its serious trend.

TAURUS (Apr. 20—May 20): Unexpected opportunity is all about you. If you can break out of the attitudes fixed by habits. Move promptly to take advantage when you see an opening.

GEMINI (May 21—June 20): You can learn much today if you will look around, check up on new information. Study is apt to be more than usually rewarding. Top it off with some good music tonight.

CANCER (June 21—July 22): Business will be good today if you go at a steady, calm pace. Ambitious goals seem unrealistic today. Go for the here and now rather than the distant vision.

LEO (July 23 — Aug. 22): Reflection ought to give you a deeper perspective on matters you learned long ago, but have not thought about recently. New learning is rewarding this month, beginning today.

VIRGO (Aug. 23—Sept. 22): The return to weekday routines is almost a rest after yesterday. Put in a solid day's effort. Seek to improve your budgeting this evening.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 — Oct. 22): Today finds everybody willing to help you spend money. Enjoy social contacts quietly, while gently avoiding financial commitments. Entertain a bit tonight.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23—Nov. 21): Today is a congenial one for you and your work tends to thrive. Make full use of it while you have the chance. Enjoy life this evening.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22—Dec. 21): A consistent day's work should be followed by a brief break and a vigorous pursuit of romantic or sentimental pleasures. Be open about your true feelings.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22—Jan. 19): Your regular system pays off today with normal rewards without great stress. Check your work area and home for hazards. Make sure there are first-aid kits available.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 — Feb. 18): Seldom do you have the chance to cover so many neglected details. Hasty work will not produce, however. Take a steady pace and hold it. Find some intellectual amusement this evening.

PISCES (Feb. 19 — Mar. 20): Keeping your balance today is enough to expect of yourself. Work at quiet, step-at-a-time pursuits rather than overcompansive, wide - angled dreamings. Seek serious study materials this evening.

How Liberal Insiders Look at Race

OTTAWA (CP) — The outcome of today's balloting for the Liberal leadership depends on the impression candidates make Friday night.

This was the consensus of Liberal party insiders late Friday. These insiders speak for no particular candidate but for the party as a whole.

Here is a rundown on their thinking:

—The party wants a real race of several ballots to create intense public interest.

—If Justice Minister Pierre Trudeau has a big lead on the first ballot he will be the runaway choice.

—If he doesn't have a big lead, someone else will capture the leadership, possibly Transport Minister Hellyer.

—The outcome hinges on the Ontario delegation.

—The Ontario delegation, or the bulk of it, arrived only Friday and thus had not personally heard any of the candidates speak. Thus the importance of the Friday night leadership bids.

—The Ontario delegation was under heavy pressure from Robert Nixon, Ontario Liberal leader, and others from that province to go for Mr. Trudeau quickly.

—By and large, the Ontario delegation was resisting this pressure on grounds that it refused to fall in line with what it considered a bulldrop for Mr. Trudeau on television and in the newspapers.

—Most Ontario delegates would still vote for Mr. Trudeau if he had a big lead on the first ballot. Otherwise, they would swing behind Mr. Hellyer.

—The Trudeau headquarters told Trudeau supporters Friday morning to stop thinking they are riding a bandwagon and to get out and shake hands with delegates.

—There is a strong anti-French and anti-Roman Catholic element against Mr. Trudeau among some western groups.

—A surprising number of Prairie votes will go to Agriculture Minister Greene on the first ballot.

—The Prairies then will turn to Consumer Affairs Minister Turner, hoping eventually to get him as their spokesman in the cabinet. Mr. Turner's present riding of Montreal St. Lawrence-St. George disappears with redistribution of Commons seats.

—No candidate can deliver the majority of his delegates to another candidate.

—Consequently many candidates, when knocked out, may free their delegates rather than try to persuade them to vote for other individual candidates.

—Mr. Trudeau cannot expect enough Quebec support to give him a big lead on the first ballot. He would need heavy support elsewhere, especially in Ontario, to do this.

—Quebec eventually might swing en masse behind Mr. Trudeau but the justice minister would still need strong support from the English-speaking provinces in make the grade.

—Again, this stresses the importance of the Ontario delegation.

In any event, this is what the insiders are saying.

What the Liberals hope for mainly is a spine-shivering race with a tightly-bunched field and a photo finish.

Union to Try to Get Ford Men to Return

THE CANADIAN PRESS

Contract negotiations between the Ford Motor Co. of Canada and the United Auto Workers Union may resume next week if leaders of UAW Local 707 are successful at a Hamilton meeting Sunday in persuading striking Ford workers to return to work.

But it might be a long, tough struggle with the 11,587 militant workers who have illegally shut down operations at Ford plants in Oakville, St. Thomas and Windsor, Ont., with wildcat walkouts that started Thursday.

At an outdoor meeting Friday in Oakville, more than 1,000 workers of Local 707 stormed the speakers platform screaming that they would not go back to work.

They also demanded the resignation of Ed Bruce, president of the 5,603-member local.

Negotiations between the union and Ford ended when a wildcat strike spread from Oakville to St. Thomas and Windsor in protest against a union decision to extend the 10:30 a.m. Thursday strike deadline to Monday at 10:30 a.m.

George Burt, Canadian director of the UAW, called off negotiations until striking members had returned to their jobs.

Liberals Warned To Pay Attention To All Canadians

OTTAWA (CP) — Liberal leadership candidates were urged Friday night to give "due recognition" to Canadians of neither French nor English descent.

The reminder was contained in a resolution approved by a meeting of convention delegates, alternates and guests and delivered to the offices of the candidates.

It said recognition of these groups was necessary to develop harmony and understanding in the evolution of Canadian citizenship.

The resolution was put before the meeting by Charles E. Dojack, Winnipeg, and seconded by John Glass, Sudbury.

Wilson Reshuffles Cabinet

LONDON (Reuters) — Prime Minister Wilson reshuffled his Labor government Friday night in a move designed to push back damaging electoral tides from recent byelections.

Richard Crossman, the party's leading intellectual, was transferred from his job as party manager in the House of Commons to a post which in effect makes him head of Britain's education and welfare services.

He takes over four government departments: health, housing, social security and education.

Barbara Castle, forceful redhead who had been transport minister since 1966, was made first secretary of state and assigned to take charge of the government's wage and price hold-down policy.

She was also named labor minister, taking over from veteran negotiator Ray Gunter who held the job since the government came to power in 1964. Gunter became power minister.

Most of the top government jobs remained unchanged. Roy Jenkins stays as chancellor of the exchequer, Michael Stewart as foreign secretary and James Callaghan as home secretary.

It was understood that Denis Healey, the strong-minded defence minister who was known to be on cool terms with the prime minister, turned down an offer of another senior post. The nature of the post offered was not disclosed.

Few Cabinet Changes, No Quick Election

Foreign Policy Change Coming

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadian foreign policy must be completely re-assessed, Liberal Leader Trudeau said Sunday.

He said at a news conference that present policy is based on pre-war and immediate post-war premises.

This policy had served Canada well and he had no apology for Canada's military contribution to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

But "we are not as important as we used to be in Europe."

The Europeans did not need Canada as they did in the post-war years. Canada's voice in Europe since then had been somewhat reduced.

He was replying to a question about the possibility of bringing Canadian troops home from Europe.

Mr. Trudeau, who will take over soon as prime minister, said there must be a completely new and fresh approach to foreign affairs.

Canada should concentrate on what it did best: Defence of Canadian air space.

This country had a fine record of peacekeeping for the United Nations but it could not be "the policeman of the whole globe."

Mr. Trudeau repeated that it is essential that Canada have good relations with France.

He would be willing to meet President de Gaulle if the French president would accept such a meeting.

"I here tell he's a bachelor..."

All Survive Crash of Jet

LONDON (AP) — A giant jetliner with 131 passengers plus crew aboard crashed in flames at London Airport today but the operator, British Overseas Airways Corporation, said all survived. Several were injured but it was not immediately known how many, BOAC said.

The plane was a Boeing 707 four-jet bound for Sydney, Australia, and Auckland, New Zealand, via Zurich, Switzerland, and other points.

Party Wounds Will Be Healed

OTTAWA (CP)—Few immediate cabinet changes. A general election in the fall. The Liberal election issue: an all-out assault on separatism.

This appeared the shape of the political future for Canada after the Liberals' Saturday night choice of Justice Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau as the next prime minister, Mr. Trudeau's news conference Sunday, and the word from associates of the new Liberal leader.

Mr. Trudeau ruled out a snap election. He told his news conference Parliament will reconvene as scheduled April 23 to deal with some old legislation, take a long summer holiday and come back in September for a throne speech "with a lot of new things in it."

The new Liberal leader said all cabinet ministers who ran against him are welcome to stay in the cabinet if they want to remain.

These comprise Finance Minister Sharp, External Affairs Minister Martin, Health Minister MacEachen, Agriculture Minister Greene, former trade minister Winters, Transport Minister Hellyer and Consumer affairs Minister Turner.

Last Wednesday, Mr. Trudeau indicated clearly that Mr. Sharp, Manpower Minister Marchand, Mines Minister Pepin, Revenue Minister Chrétien, Treasury Board President Benson and Mr. Mackasey, minister without portfolio, will be in his cabinet.

Mr. Sharp withdrew from the contest last Wednesday in favor of Mr. Trudeau, taking Mr. Chrétien, Mr. Pepin and Industry Minister Drury with him. Mr. Marchand, Mr. Benson and Mr. Mackasey were original Trudeau supporters.

Mr. Marchand and Mr. Sharp could seem to have the pick of portfolios

Friends of Mr. Martin said he is likely to stay only if he can keep the external affairs portfolio.

Mr. Trudeau has said he has a high regard for Mr. Winters, who was the runner-up, and that Eric Kierans, former Quebec revenue minister and another candidate, is an admirable man.

There is speculation that Mr. Kierans will seek election in the Commons in a June 17 byelection in Montreal St. Jacques.

State Secretary Judy LaMarsh said Saturday before the final ballot that she would not serve in a Trudeau cabinet.

Mr. MacEachen, Mr. Greene and Forestry Minister Sauve all

Race Riots Subside After 24 Lose Lives

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Violence, looting and arson scourged sections of Baltimore and Pittsburgh Sunday, but army troops and national guardsmen, brought in to quell the disorders, enforced an uneasy calm today.

Washington and Chicago, hardest hit by the violence which broke out Thursday night in the wake of the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., were quiet.

Twenty-four have died in the trouble which struck more than a dozen U.S. cities. In addition, more than 1,200 have been injured and almost 6,000 arrested.

While the violence in most of the major cities ebbed, trouble struck again in Nashville, Tenn. Only hours after segments of the 4,000 national guardsmen were on duty, the building housing the Reserve Officers Training Corps on the campus of Tennessee A. and I. State University, site of recent racial violence, was destroyed by fire Sunday night. Police said it appeared to be the work of arsonists.

Violence in Baltimore County caused Maryland Gov. Spiro T. Agnew to call for federal troops.

Four persons were killed in the violence and more than 300 injured. One official said there had been 420 fires set, 550 stores looted and more than 1,350 persons arrested.

More than 1,800 national guardsmen marched into Pittsburgh's predominantly-Negro Hill District Sunday night, but by early today a state police official said "things are settling down."

Israelis Chase Band Of Arabs

Israeli troops in helicopters chased a ban of Arab commandos out of the Negev Desert and pursued them six miles inside Jordan south of the Dead Sea today, the Israeli Army reported. The Israelis withdrew after inflicting a number of casualties and blowing up part of an Arab guerrilla base, the army added.

A military spokesman in Tel Aviv said the action was a limited one. He denied a Jordanian claim that Israeli armored columns and helicopter troops covered by jet fighters had invaded Jordan.

Jordanian military headquarters also reported fighting north of the Dead Sea near the Allenby Bridge, a major crossing point between Jordan and the Israel-occupied sector of Jordan. The sound of gunfire could be heard in Amman, 25 miles east.

Congress Is Asked To Hurry

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has dispatched urgent appeals to congressional leaders for swift passage of his civil rights bill.

The new pleas for legislative speed were disclosed by government officials Sunday night just after Johnson ordered 2,000 army regulars to Baltimore. Washington was quieting with 11,000 troops in its streets; 5,000 more patrolled Chicago.

There were signs that Congress, jarred by the looting, burning and violence almost on its doorstep, would heed Johnson's plea and seek action this week in the House of Representatives on the Senate-passed civil rights bill.

House Republican Leader Gerald Ford indicated he might drop his opposition to an early vote, but made no promise. He guaranteed only that he would make an early decision.

Johnson flew over the still-smoking ruins of the capital's burned-out inner-city areas late Sunday in a helicopter.

King's Widow Will Lead March Through Memphis

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (CP) — The grieving widow of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. was to put her slain husband's plea for non-violence to a historic test here today, leading a massive march through the streets of the city where he was gunned down by a white man.

Mrs. Coretta King was expected to lead an estimated 40,000 marchers from all parts of the U.S. They are coming to honor the man whose death in this cotton capital set the fuse of violence that swept more than a score of cities.

Beside her there was to be an empty place in the front rank to symbolize the spot where her husband would have walked but for a sniper's bullet.

Federal and state investigators continued their hunt for the person who shot King to death Thursday as he stood on the balcony of a Memphis motel.

U.S. Attorney-General Ramsey Clark said Sunday in Washington that investigators have "one man on the run."

"We have a name we're working on," he said. "We know quite a bit more than we did two days ago."

LBJ Extends Area of North Vietnam Which Can't Be Bombed

SAIGON (CP) — President Johnson has put almost 5,500 more square miles of North Vietnam off limits to American bombers, U.S. sources said today. Below the demilitarized zone, Southern allied ground forces reported killing more than 700 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong in weekend fighting.

Informd sources in Saigon said the American planes have been told to keep their raids below the 19th parallel, about 170 miles above the demilitarized zone.

In the last four days U.S. bombers have not struck above Vinh, which is 20 miles below the 19th parallel and about 145 miles above the DMZ.

Publicly, Johnson's order March 31 setting th 20th parallel as the northern boundary for air raids still stands, and the sources said the president did not publicize the new curtailment because he wanted to leave the door of bombing up to the 20th parallel, 225 miles above the DMZ.

Although the area open to attack has been reduced, U.S. planes have more than doubled the number of strike missions against North Vietnam's southern panhandle, mostly against North Vietnamese supply lines and convoys.

Sunday, U.S. pilots flew 134 missions in th southern panhandle, a U.S. spokesman said, against bridges, storage depots, fuel dumps and road and rail communications.

that lifted the siege of Khe Sanh reported killing 118 North Vietnamese soldiers in a series of clashes during the weekend as they combed the jungled hills

In the ground war, U.S. troops around the base on the northwest frontier.

The searching troops also reported finding the bodies of 198 North Vietnamese soldiers who apparently were killed by U.S. artillery and air strikes.

At one time an estimated 20,000 North Vietnamese surrounded Khe Sanh but the latest estimate is 7,000 troops. Some units were believed fading back toward the hills of neighboring Laos.

Inside the Khe Sanh base, the 5,000 U.S. marines who underwent the 11-week siege prepared to move out to fight elsewhere.

Johnson Disappointed as Hanoi Makes No Contact

WASHINGTON (Reuters) — President Johnson is keenly disappointed that Hanoi has not made formal contact so far with the U.S. to make arrangements for opening preliminary Vietnam peace talks, White House officials reported today.

The president's order March 31 for a partial halt in the bombing was followed Wednesday by an approach to North Vietnam through its embassy in the Laotian capital of Vientiane.

The message then suggested that preliminary talks should be conducted in Geneva, Switzerland, with roving ambassador W. Averell Harriman representing Johnson.

Johnson, who completed a two-day Vietnam strategy review Sunday at the White House with the U.S. commander in Vietnam, Gen. William C. Westmoreland, felt no further time should be lost in following up the first peace moves made by both sides, the sources said.

Slaughter House Under Review

Whether or not a slaughter house should be allowed within city limits will be threshed out at a public hearing called for 7:30 tonight in council chambers at City Hall.

Belleville and Suburban Planning Board will hear arguments for and against the application to re-zone land by W. V. Mullin, north of highway 401 and west of Sidney St., to permit building of a slaughter house.

Present city land - use bylaws forbid slaughter houses in the industrially zoned area.

As one of the land owners in the area, Belleville city council received routine notification of the hearing in a letter from the Planning Board read at last Monday's council meeting.

As a land owner, council went on record as opposing the re-zoning for operation of a slaughterhouse.

At the same time council voiced no objection to the property owners' request for a land split, provided the land was not used for a slaughter house or meat packing plant.

Council voiced this opinion before the Planning Board was asked to investigate and make recommendations on the matter — had met to consider the opinions of other interested parties.

Following tonight's hearing, Planning Board's recommendation on the re-zoning will be sent to city council for its consideration.

Expected to be on hand for tonight's hearing is a delegation from Park Dale Purveyors' Association, which opposes the slaughter house.

threw in with Mr. Trudeau Saturday.

Mr. Greene may have influenced the outcome of the convention when he stayed in to keep his Prairie delegates from switching to Mr. Hellyer when the transport minister was only eight votes behind Mr. Winters.

If Mr. Hellyer had been in second place at that point, he might have carried the day.

Mr. Trudeau said he will give high priority to binding up the wounds of the Liberal battlers in the camps of his opponents. He wanted to make them all feel welcome in the party.

Mr. Trudeau indicated he plans some changes in the Privy Council office.

Legal Secretaries Take Tour

Getting an idea of just what it's all about, future legal secretaries from Loyalist College took a tour of the inner workings of the Belleville Police Department this morning under the auspices of Chief C. D. Crosbie and Inspector Ralph Blatchford. The group from Loyalist was headed up by their teacher, Mrs. Pat Soutter.

Former UN Observer Is Speaker

Over 50 present and former officers from regiments that have been affiliated with the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment made their way to the Belleville Armories Saturday for the annual meeting of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regimental Officers Association.

During the meeting reports were given by Lt.-Col. Angus Duffy and Lt.-Col. Ross Allan, Commanding Officer of the Hasty Pees, on the new Hasty Pees memorial and the activities of the regiment.

A dinner followed the meeting during which Maj. F. H. Milledge of Kingston spoke of the duties of Sheffiner acting as an Observer for the United Nations. Maj. Milledge supplied slides to accompany his speech.

New officers included Brig Gen. D. C. Cameron, Lt.-Col. Angus Duffy, Maj. Howard Reid, Lt.-Col. K. D. H. Willcocks and Capt. Gordon Lee, filling positions of president, first vice-president, second vice-president, secretary and treasurer respectively.

Beef Producers Invited to Attend Meet

Compulsory checkoff fees for beef cattle and other developments concerning the Canadian Cattlemen's Association and marketing programs is expected to be the topic of discussion at the annual banquet meeting of the Hastings and Prince Edward Beef Improvement Association.

The banquet will be held Thursday, April 18 at the Centenary Church hall with Charles Gracey, secretary treasurer of the Ontario Beef Improvement Association as the guest speaker.

Because the information is new and of current interest to beef producers, a special invitation is being extended to beef association members in Northumberland and Lennox and Addington counties.

In fact there is an open invitation to all beef producers in the Quinte area to attend the meeting. Tickets will be available on a reserve basis until April 18 at the county agricultural offices.

Public Speaking Finalists Picked

Two local children competed in the annual Citizenship and Public Speaking contest sponsored by the Royal Canadian Legion Sunday afternoon.

The competition yesterday was the final area contest before the contestants go on to Niagara Falls for the provincial finals.

Lisa Vincent, Carrying Place, competed in the Grades one to six group and spoke on "My Trip to Expo" and Janet Cuncliffe of Brighton presented her 10-minute speech on "Ed Sullivan" in the Grades nine and 10 group.

Miss Vincent won the contest in her group and will be going to Niagara Falls April 27 with the three other winners to compete in the provincial finals.

After hearing the deliveries from the eight contestants the judges chose winners in the 1500 age group, Lisa Vincent of Carrying Place won in the Grades one to six, Joanne Gleason of Bonbonton in the grades seven and eight, Karen Coe of Almonte in Grades nine and 10 and finally in the grades 11 to 13 group Greg Walsh of Brockville was chosen to go to Niagara Falls.

All the winners were awarded their prizes by the District Commander of the Legion, Jerry Shupson, assisted by Earl Brant of Deseronto who is the Zone Commander.

LISA VINCENT

Other contestants in the public speaking also came from Iroquois, Pembroke, Dunbarton, Almonte, Brockville and Peterborough. The evening event begins with competition of the branch level and keeps progressing through zone, district, and area competitions until finally a provincial winner is judged at Niagara Falls.

Jack Rashotte, who has been in charge of the competition here for the last eight years said that the Legion is now working on a program to bring the competition into national status.

Judging the speeches yesterday were Ken Bird, retired public school principal and an ardent supporter of public speaking. Jim Holland, who is head of the English department at Centennial Secondary School and Miss Cecelia Mahoney, head of the English department at the Ontario School for the Deaf.

The program yesterday afternoon commenced at two o'clock . . . first in line were the contestants from Grades one to six.

Missing Children Are Found Wandering Near Orangeville

TRENTON — Blistered and tired — but safe and sound — Sandra and Dennis Anderson are back home today, nearly two weeks after their disappearance prompted a province-wide search.

The 15-year-old girl and her 10-year-old brother flagged down a provincial police cruiser near Orangeville, 25 miles northwest of Toronto, yesterday afternoon, and said they were lost and wanted a ride back home.

Local police today cancelled province-wide circulars on the missing children, last seen at their South St. home when they left for school Monday morning March 25.

Their mother, Mrs. George Anderson, said today the children would probably spend a week at home recuperating from badly swollen feet and blistered faces. She said the children told her they " just wandered off" and thought they were heading home when, in fact, they were going further away.

They walked the whole time because Sandra would not get into a stranger's car, the mother said.

Trenton detective Sidney Vickers said their father George Anderson, drove to Orangeville last night to return the children.

Mrs. Anderson said she believes the children slept outdoors during their entire 12 day absence.

"No spankings," she said. "They're in pretty rough shape."

Scouting activities

SEA SCOUTS

DESERONTO — The 40 boys who are training to be Sea Scouts are learning that work is involved before they can be invested as bonafide scouts. The basic work is being done, and this takes both time and patience on the part of both boys and leaders.

The first essentials are the Scout law and the Scout promise, the history of Lord Baden Powell, and the purpose and growth of scouting. Then come other details such as the Scout salute and handshake. Since this is a new troop, the Scout '08 program is being used, although older troops will not use it until fall.

No date has yet been set for the investiture, but it should be an interesting event, with such a large group being invested at the same time. No uniforms have yet arrived, but the blue and white scarf is all that is essential for the investiture. The uniform is nautical in style with blue shirt, bell-bottomed trousers and the regulation navy hat.

The Sea Scouts meet in the Legion Hall, and are sponsored jointly by the Legion and the Lions Club.

Rash of Grass Fires Keeps Firemen Busy

The annual nuisance and sometimes, threat, of grass fires is again plaguing the Belleville Fire Department.

The problem was exemplified over the weekend as the dry weather of spring began to appear, propelling grass fires towards their climax.

According to Fire Chief Ted Poste, the fire department was called to no less than seven grass fires and one bonfire during the weekend, bringing the grass fire total to about 20 during the last two weeks.

"I don't think there's any improvement over last year," Chief Poste said. "I would like people to be more careful."

The eighth weekend fire involved a bonfire left unattended and causing a smoke disturbance.

The first fire occurred Saturday at 12.13 p.m. in Canniffton. A grassfire had got out of control. A second fire occurred just less than two hours later at 2.10 p.m. along the Bayshore behind Deloro-Stelite.

Scant minutes later, at 2.30 p.m. fire trucks were called to a vacant lot behind Pierre Mulroney's Sunoco Station at 432 Dundas Street E.

According to Chief Poste, three trucks were being used by the department almost all weekend.

The neglected bonfire occurred about an hour later at 22 Chatham Street in Belleville.

Sunday turned out to be an equally busy day for the Fire Department as they were called to four more grass fires. At 10.12 a.m. trucks sped to R.R. 5 Thurlow.

The other three fires occurred in Sidney Township north of the Drive-in at Bayside, at the sixth concession of Sidney and on the corners of Elmer and Frank Streets. All three got out of control during the afternoon and early evening.

There was no damage as a result of any of the fires.

ANAF News

The next general meeting will be held next Thursday evening at 8 p.m. April 11th. General subjects which should prove interesting to all members, will be up for discussion and decisions. Be sure and attend so that you can state your opinions and voice your decisions, on any question that has to come to a vote. These are really essential matters so that a good representation of the members is hoped for.

Comrade Ray Fletcher, chairman of sick committee reports that the following comrades are resting at their homes, J. Semark sr., S. Cherry and W. Cumbley. Comrade Ab. Semark was admitted to Belleville Hospital, room 238.

About 52 members attended the Saturday afternoon darts doubles competition when the results were as follows, 1st round winners H. Young and D. Scott; runners up, J. McVeigh and R. O'Neil; 2nd round winners, B. Totten and P. Beumer; runners up, D. McDowell and D. Thomson; 3rd winners, H. Thomson and H. Young; runners up, A. Young and D Herrington. Comrade B. Totten joined the magic circle of those who have made the perfect score in darts. When he threw the high three darts of the afternoon 180, with this score he joins the other 3 men who will be playing off for the Steve McNeil high three darts trophy at the end of this season.

About 20 couples registered for the Mr. and Mrs. Darts on Saturday evening. During the evening the losers were consoled as they watched the Montreal—Boston game and were either gladdened or saddened when Montreal won. The final results of the Dart Match were as follows; winners, Mary and Hugh Northey; runners up, Jean Gannon and Norm Mills. The men's high three darts was Bill Ford 168 and the ladies' high three darts was Marg. Haines 108. A very nice lunch, brought and served by the ladies was served at the 11 p.m. break.

Protest Demonstration Made Little Headway

By MAURICE SWITZER
Staff Reporter

OTTAWA — The campaign slogans and boopla of the eight major contenders for Lester Pearson's job were drowned out on the steps of the Civic Centre Saturday by the chants of 300 protest marchers.

Delegates and supporters of the various candidates arrived at the voting house to organize demonstrations for their favorites, but found themselves beaten to the ground — waving punch by anti - Vietnam war demonstrators.

Claiming support in their ranks from Toronto and Montreal, the peaceniks massed at the entrances of the Centre, at the Civic Centre, main entry point for those attending the convention proceedings later.

Early reports had indicated a morning demonstration that would not interfere with heavy traffic at the afternoon's balloting session on the convention's final day. But many of the protesters became unruly and some plantcd themselves near the top of the stairway at the building's main entrance.

Ottawa policemen cordonned off the area at the top of the steps, and a paddy - wagon was parked 30 yards away from the picketers.

Signs condemned Canadian "complicity" in Vietnam, while marchers chanted "Sirhah, L.B.J. — how many kids did you kill today!" A few waved Cuban flags.

A couple of more maternal participants wheeled baby-carriages back and forth as they waved their signs and flashed their protest banners.

Organizers urged the demonstrators to keep moving. "This is a march—not a sit-in!" shouted one, at a group of youths jammed onto the Civic Centre steps, impeding passage of those on their way into the convention activity.

There were no incidents, although a few shoving matches developed as police kept the protesters clear of the Centre's entrance doors.

Man of the Hour

Canada's man of the hour, Pierre Trudeau, is symbolic of the new spirit abroad in this country.

Winds of change are blowing in this land now entering the second century of its establishment as an independent State, whose antecedents go back long before that again to the days of explorers Jacques Cartier and Alexander Mackenzie, and still-farther back in time to the coming of the Indians.

Today more than ever Canadians need to know just who they are and where they are going. This country faces a crisis of division stemming from the province of Quebec's claim to "special status." It is generally recognized that Quebec would be committing political suicide if it went so far as to secede from Confederation and become an independent state. The future of Canada itself would be gravely imperilled by such a step.

There is a quickening spirit among Canadians as a whole. Young people are becoming more aware of the national and potential of Canada. Since Centennial Year they have become more aware of themselves as Canadians. They hold their heads high. They have a new sense of pride.

Into this amalgam comes Mr. Trudeau, a young (he is 46), personable man of engaging manners and quiet conviction. A professor of constitutional law, Mr. Trudeau has been minister of justice for the past two years or so. He believes in a united Canada.

Widely travelled, Mr. Trudeau is an intellectual who recognizes the needs of all Canadians. In his speech to convention delegates he called for a "just society." For many people, he said, the world stands on the threshold of a golden age. But millions remained in poverty, ignorance, sickness and hunger.

In many ways Mr. Trudeau seems an unlikely prospect as a leader of this nation. But underneath the shy exterior there is strength and conviction, compassion and understanding.

Under Mr. Trudeau, Canada may expect to move forward on many fronts. Not necessarily through radical change, for Mr. Trudeau is not one to tear down what has taken centuries to build up. He understands why the Americans are fighting in Vietnam and he respects Canada's ties with the Monarchy. But progress and change there will be, and if they lead to the "just society" he seeks so much the better for Canada.

An American Tragedy

While there is sympathy with the cause of Negroes in the United States and the need for an improvement in their overall standard of living, the evidence of lawlessness among them after the slaying of Dr. Martin Luther King is also an indication that many of these people are unworthy of King's own creed of non-violence.

The looting and the burning testify to this. Very noticeable —in news reports and on television screens— were the smiles on the faces of the rioters. A Toronto newsman told of watching young Negroes piling out of expensive cars to grab clothing from a display window. Not far from the White House he saw others, "hurriedly grabbing watches, cameras, TV sets and radios . . ."

There was little sign of anger, or even remorse, among the gangs of Negro youths who took the assassination as a signal "to go on the rampage," he said.

Other Negroes, older and more responsible, watched incredulously as policemen, singly or in small groups, stood around apparently powerless to stop the rampage.

The moral is that while there are thousands of fine people among the Negroes there are countless others who have neither the education nor the strength of character to improve themselves or their situation in life.

Dr. Martin Luther King was an apostle to his race. We can be sure the Rev. Ralph David Abarnathy will be a worthy successor. The trouble is there are too few among the rank and file whose lives and character serve to enshrine the ideals of these men.

Author St. John Ervine once put it, "The mob is a weak and brainless thing . . . all changes for the better take place in the minds of individuals."

And it behooves every Negro, no matter what the humiliations and the pressures against him, to model himself on the late Dr. King. They might also learn from the example of Dr. King's wife, whose moving oration on television Friday night will long be remembered.

Johnson Acts

Violence May Lead to Further Civil Rights Legislation

By ARCH MacKENZIE

WASHINGTON (CP)-The violent Negro reaction to the assassination of Rev. Martin Luther King confronts the U.S. with its gravest crisis and the most serious test in race relations.

It supersedes all else now in a week of extraordinary events begun with President Johnson's "completely irrevocable" decision to quit and followed by U.S.-North Vietnam agreement to talk to each other Monday at last, even if only on the narrow topic of halting all U.S. military action against the North.

President Johnson has put off a trip to Hawaii to lay out plans for those talks and shore up relations with South Korea. He will make an extraordinary address to Congress Monday night.

The King death and its repercussions have created the election campaign's most wildly full of heat only a few days ago.

Here, in the nation's capital, long-anticipated violence began flickering Thursday on word of the assassination and swelled in broad day light Friday along Negro and downtown business sections.

President Johnson promptly began calling in federal troops from the thousands available in the area, proclaiming a "condition of domestic violence and disorder."

About $60,000 of Washington's $50,000 people are Negroes.

One upshot of the local crisis was a massive paralysing traffic jam caused by shifted traffic patterns and early store and office closings. The white populace lined up for hours awaiting transport to their suburbs and the Negroes walked back to their side of town, where smoke billowed from assorted fires.

The annual Cherry Blossom Festival was postponed. The opening of the baseball season here and in one or two other cities, with large Negro populations, was also postponed.

"The criminal act that took his (King's) life brings shame to our country," Vice-President Hubert Humphrey had commented. That accurately reflected concern among some American circles about an international image of the violent society. President Kennedy was slain less than five years ago and King is the latest in a long line of civil rights leaders who have died violently, most of them Negro.

But there is also evident a firm, growing and probably majority undercurrent of determination to fight Negro rioting with more vigor and force.

In the past, the president has employed times of crisis to ask for and often get fresh civil rights legislation. That has paid off in Negro voting rights guarantees in the South, more education and other fields.

Now, after an emergency meeting Friday with civil rights leaders, he is expected to follow the same course. He could urge full action under the 1866 law to create open-housing—forbidding sale or rental restrictions due to race.

The Senate has already passed it.

Excavation for the foundations of 21 new housing units to be constructed under the integrated housing plan on Bridge and Albert College grounds north of College St., was commenced this week with the first of the homes to be ready for occupancy by July. This was announced yesterday by Lieut. McDougall Insurance Agencies which firm has the plans and other information regarding the housing project.

The Optimist Club were privileged to entertain as their guest speaker Brigadier J. Genet of Edgecombe Place, who spoke of great men of England whom he had met during his term as Chief Signaller on the staff of General McNaughton and Crerar. The talk included vivid word pictures of Lord Montgomery and the Right Hon. Winston Churchill, and broadened into an insight of the part of Empire rising through troublous times to greater glory.

Satellite Communications

Ottawa Journal

In the satellite communications race, the first concern is frequencies, the channels on which messages may be carried.

The proposed public - private corporation to be set up to operate a Canadian domestic satellite communications system will be primarily anxious to see that Canada has these "lines" available to her. From a satellite soaring as high as 22,300 miles in the sky they will carry television programs to every part of this country, no matter how isolated, plus telephone and data services.

All this has to be done by arrangement with other countries and at beginning on the Canada plan progress cannot be delayed. Space, by international agreement, is not subject to national appropriation" and there has to be agreement on what parts of the radio frequency spectrum shall be available to Canada, as to other nations.

Canadian authorities are not as concerned as might be thought about the "mechanical" business of actually shooting satellites into the air. The U.S. sent aloft the two Canadian Alouettes which have done excellently their work as "ionosphere sounders" and have given Canadians invaluable knowledge about satellite design which will be used in this new communications venture. Other U.S. observers are unwilling to launch a Canadian communications satellite, facilities in Western Europe might be procured; even those of Russia — for a fee.

As a side benefit, Canadian industries which share in the satellite program with the Government will be able to design and build satellites in competition with other countries. Satellites must be replaced about every five to seven years, and there will be money in making them for export.

Once the Canadian communications satellite or satellites are "parked" in the sky, and the channels allocated to Canada are in use, this country will be in a to start a wonderful and vital modern development. Transcontinental world contacts and trade; in the event of war, satellite communications, like other, would come under defence jurisdiction as required.

But, most of all, an establishment place in the satellite system of communications will bring Canadians closer to each other, Strange that a westerner Island and Newfoundland, Pelee Island and Ellesmere Island, can be brought within sight and sound of each other through a space vehicle 22,300 miles in the sky! Strange, but still a benediction of science for which this nation will be grateful.

Lake Erie Fishing Market

London Free Press

Lake Erie fishermen have learned what farmers have already discovered — that marketing markets are dictating how they handle their products.

The advisory committee of the federal Fishery Prices Support Board has told the fishermen the market would not be able to sell more than 5,000,000 pounds, and that it was up to the fishermen to control the quota. The Lake Erie fishing fleet has a spring potential of about 7,500,000 pounds.

Finding a formula is a difficult task because of the very nature of this business. Some fishing boats have extraordinary luck, others do not. The start of the season has been delayed two weeks to April 1 because of the tight market.

The fishermen have accepted the seven-cent subsidy on the spring catch — one cent less than they requested, and they also accepted a 10-cent subsidy on a maximum 10,000,000 pounds allocated between June 1 and Dec. 30.

No one likes controls, but the need is evident.

In Quebec People Laugh and Smile

Beverly Gray in
The Globe and Mail

Quebec is different.

That is what the guide books say and they are right. The first thing you notice is that people laugh out loud on street corners. How often does this happen in other parts of Canada?

The second thing you notice is that girls, even if they are wearing loose-fitting shifts, somehow manage to look as though they have their waists cinched tight.

The third thing you notice is that lunch, instead of being a quick, simple way of quieting a demanding stomach, is a social occasion, a lingering affair that can last two or three hours.

Although Quebec has been French for more than 400 years, one in four Quebeckers speaks English, even the real - true Canadians, "les Canadiens pure laine". This gives the visitor the best of both worlds, a place that feels foreign, yet where he is secure in the knowledge that he can communicate.

When I was in Quebec City the resort owners were unhappy. The ski season, which normally lasts until almost the end of April, was doomed by mild weather.

To watch a ski-jumping competition at Mont Ste. Anne we drove the fast, straight, modern highway and came back over the old road. The old road snakes its way over hills, through villages, past farms which have been there for two or three hundred years. On one side were flecked hills, white-black against the snow; on the other side, the land sloped away to the river, its ice rucked up by tides. (The tide rises as much as 15 feet twice each day; there is salt water as far as Quebec.) Horses are far from obsolete in this part of the world; each farm has a big barn and its complement of sleek, fat, powerful looking animals.

The farms are narrow, dating from the time when Indians were a threat and settlers built houses as close together as possible for protection. There are still the old brick houses dug into the hillside, the outside staircases climbing to the upstairs stories, and the steep, sloping roofs showing a generous full upward sweep. One house, painted purple, had yellow fleur-de-lys on the brown shutters; another yard had two trees still heavy with last fall's red, wasted apples. Every now and then was a farmer's roadside stand with maple sugar and maple syrup. Each village was dominated by its church, large or small.

Quebec has another attraction few provinces seem to have — genuine souvenirs. You see them everywhere—plates, trays pitchers made from local copper; chocolates made by priests in the Abbaye Cisterciennes in Levis, just across the river from Quebec City; special candies; moccasins, leather goods, more sealskin than you ever dreamed of, covering, belts, slippers, mittens, gloves, dolls, even key rings. There are imported items too, wooden totem poles from British Columbia, Mexican pottery.

But Quebec has no need to import souvenirs; the genuine ones from habitant carvings to copper plates, are everywhere.

Damage Deposit On Apartments Stirs Controversy

Brockville Recorder and Times

City council last week failed to support a resolution from Richener, Ontario, that could be applied in Brockville, we feel. The resolution called attention to the practice of some landlords whereby they demand a damage deposit from tenants and then treat the money as their own and often refuse to return it, even when the apartment is vacated without damage.

The Kitchener city council is seeking support to have any such deposits received by a landlord deposited in a special trust account and the interest, purpose and returned to the tenant, with accrued interest within 60 days of the tenant ceasing to occupy the premises or after the termination of a lease, except in cases where there is unpaid rent due or where there are damages for which the landlord has obtained judgement in court.

The resolution also asks to give the court power to enforce against harsh and unconscionable rental transactions in the same manner as is now extended to lending transactions under the Unconscionable Transactions Act.

Apparently landlords in some municipalities are taking advantage of the shortage of housing in Ontario and it seems that when the supply doesn't meet the demand some landlords are unduly harsh in their attitude towards tenants. Because Brockville is in as tight a bind as most other municipalities in regard to housing, we were rather surprised to learn that city council hadn't considered lending support to the Kitchener motion. Is it because council feels that Brockville landlords are unusually kind in their attitude toward tenants, even when there is a housing shortage? If they do, they are wrong.

Negro Must Help Himself

Dallas Morning News

If the problem of the low-income minority groups can be reduced to a word, it must be "jobs." The combination of undereducation and discrimination has kept a significant majority of the nation's Negro population from sharing in the national affluence.

David Rockefeller, testifying before the U.S. Equal Employment Opportunity Commission the other day, offered a remedy: "Business can and must assist in every possible way," he said. "But the basic drive, determination, and will to succeed must come from within the Negro himself."

Rockefeller, president of the Chase Manhattan Bank, offers wise counsel. The thought is not new. Drive, determination, and the will to succeed have lifted many a "minority group" into its full share of life in America. The stories of immigrant Italian, Irish, Jewish and Chinese families bear testimony to the wisdom of his advice.

When "black power" first became a headline - grabber, everyone hoped it was a challenge for Negroes to take pride in themselves and work to better their lot in society. It became, instead, a racial alibi for failure, an excuse to demand, to threaten, to riot.

Millions of Negroes have refused to buy the slogan. Amidst the din of the shouting, they quietly work toward the goal of a full place in society through the exercise of drive, determination, and the will to succeed. It is they who will make it.

Vermont Bans Billboards

New York Times

When you have the Green Mountains, why have a billboard? In deciding to ban offpremise billboards, Vermont has acted intelligently in its own economic self-interest. Tourism is one of the state's major industries. Visitors come to enjoy Vermont's beauty and serenity, not to read huge glaring signs that shout Howard Johnson or Tom, Dick and Harry's Motel.

Since travellers need information at the highway, gas, shop and seek recreation, the new Vermont law makes provision for "sign plazas" at periodic intervals where businessmen can advertise their services. Those that conduct roadside businesses will still be able to erect signs on their own property, but the height, frequency and character of these signs are to be regulated by the state. Elsewhere, the landscape will be uncluttered by intrusive and unnecessary signs.

Several states have banned billboard advertising on scenic highways or on certain major roads, but Vermont and Hawaii are the only states to do away with all off-premise signs. The esthetic argument for following their example is beyond dispute: the slovenly approaches to virtually every city in America would be dramatically improved if all signs were taken down.

Since most visitors to Vermont arrive by automobile, that state's experience may soon prove the economic argument that roadside businesses can flourish without festooning the countryside with billboards. If so, the triumph of the antibillboard forces in Vermont may lead in similar laws for common sense in other states.

Could Pierre Trudeau Have Been Stopped? What Does Future Hold for Other Candidates?

By DONALD SOUTTER
Managing - Editor

OTTAWA — Now that the convention is over to pick the new prime minister of Canada what does it all mean?

There are two aspects which will be talked about . . . at least until parliament resumes on April 23.

First. Could Pierre Elliott Trudeau have been defeated?

Hindsight being easiest, many observers were willing to agree the anti-Trudeau move could have been successful if the delegates had been urged to polarize behind one of the candidates.

But, if there was one thing the Liberals should have learned from the lessons taught by Alvin Hamilton and Donald Fleming at the last PC convention, it is you can't pay any attention to the television commercials—you've got to switch.

Paul Hellyer, Robert Winters and John Turner came to the crossroads early, right after the first ballot. Hellyer and Winters, running a close 2-3, elected to stick for one more ballot. Turner was caught in a bind. On Wednesday night he blasted back room deals and power brokers. Could he switch now? The decision was no.

On the second ballot, the Winters-Hellyer position was reversed. Here was the time for Hellyer to capitulate. Instead he remained for the third ballot and by this time it was too late. Trudeau had climbed over the 1,000 vote plateau and the bandwagon was on.

The second aspect of the balloting is what do the trends mean in the possible selections for Trudeau's cabinet. Speculation goes like this:

Mitchell Sharp: His early switch means he can keep his job of finance minister or bargain for a portfolio equally as important.

Paul Martin: His failure to support either Paul Hellyer or Robert Winters on his withdrawal means he can't be placed in the anti-Trudeau camp.

John Turner: Turner falls into the same category. There was some speculation he would switch to Trudeau because he was carrying with him a hard-core group of Young Liberal delegates who would not have switched to the right-wing thinking of Hellyer or Winters under any circumstances.

Joe Greene: Greene's remarkably moving partisan political speech Friday means Trudeau will find a spot for him. He'll be the Liberals' ace as a platform politician in the next election.

Robert Winters: The east coast trade minister has publicly taken issue with Sharp over fiscal policies. His cabinet tenure is unlikely.

Paul Hellyer: Hellyer is the man generally considered as the toughest anti-Trudeau personality; a man around whom anti-Trudeau thinkers could coalesce. Yet a practical politician with tremendous organizational background he is an individual Trudeau might need. His future is the hardest to predict.

Allan MacEachen: The health minister has probably the closest affinity to Trudeau in basic political thinking. He switched — albeit a little late — and should do no worse than maintain his present portfolio.

Eric Kierans: Kierans came through strong at all the policy sessions as a man with good ideas. Look for him to move into federal politics in the next by-election with the promise of a strong portfolio.

The Build-up

Bright Idea by PM's Aide Started Trudeau Bandwagon Rolling

(Intelligencer Photo by Maurice Switzer)

Is It a Vintage Year?

OTTAWA (CP) — Last Tuesday, Arieh Eshel, Israeli ambassador to Canada, wanted to know what the policy of the new prime minister of Canada would be toward the Middle East situation.

So he telephoned the headquarters of Justice Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau, that one-man Ennui.

Which shows that the Israelis are as astute politically and diplomatically as they are militarily.

It also shows the extent to which the aura of victory surrounding Mr. Trudeau had mesmerized even the cool-headed diplomatic corps.

Perhaps it all began a year ago when Don Peacock, then a speech-writer for Prime Minister Pearson and subsequently a worker for Mr. Trudeau, sent a memo to Mr. Pearson suggesting that the justice minister pay a visit to all provincial attorneys-general as a means of determining the ministers's impact, if any, on the Canadian public.

Mr. Peacock says that even at that time — a year ago — he had no clear idea that Mr. Trudeau could or even wanted to be a contender for the Liberal leadership. Neither, it seems, did anybody else.

It was not until last October and November that a Quebec-Ontario group began seriously to canvass the possibilities of finding a new face who could win the Liberal party and, hopefully, the country, and who at the same time could attract enough votes to beat the then new Conservative leader, Robert Stanfield.

This group was not particularly interested whether this man was English-speaking or French-speaking.

Who were these men who chose Pierre Elliott Trudeau?

It is perhaps impossible to name them all. But an attempt will be made here to point out some of the key figures.

To begin with, there was Manpower Minister Jean Marchand, the Quebec labor leader who had come to Parliament in 1965 with Mr. Trudeau. Or rather, it was the other way round.

To get Mr. Marchand, as Mr. Trudeau himself has said, the Liberals had had to take Mr. Trudeau, too, because Mr. Marchand had insisted on it.

Another early backer of Mr. Trudeau was Jean-Pierre Goyer, 36-year-old Liberal MP for Montreal Dollard. Other Quebecers included Pierre Lecasseur, who set up his campaign office here, Harold Gorbet, executive assistant to Forestry Minister Sauve, and English-born, bilingual Jim Davey, Liberal computer expert.

There was a surprising number of Ontario MPs who were among the first to back Mr. Trudeau. These include Jimmy Walker, 56, MP for York Centre, Bob Stanbury, 38, MP for York-Scarborough, Don MacDonald, 36, MP for Toronto Rosedale, Pauline Honey, 46, MP for Durham, and Jim McNulty, 49, MP for Lincoln.

Add to them old political warhorse Senator David Croll, 68, and Gordon Gibson, executive assistant to Northern Development Minister Laing.

Late in October, it still had not apparently occurred to Mr. Pearson that Mr. Trudeau could become the new leader.

But not long after, a number of persons on Mr. Pearson's staff, including special adviser Marc Lalonde, worked actively for Mr. Trudeau, thus putting their Ottawa careers on the line. Mr. Pearson remained officially neutral throughout the leadership campaign.

The turning point came in late January when Mr. Trudeau addressed a liberal meeting in Montreal and, Mr. Davey says, made a deliberate assault on separatism.

"After that, he just burned," says Senator Croll. "We needed bodyguards for him in Toronto."

Mr. Trudeau refused to become involved in any campaign until after the federal-provincial constitutional conference in early February.

But a campaign office was set up for him here just in case. This was the office of the unknown Mr. X.

There were only three or four persons in the office at first, including Mr. Levasseur, Mr. Gibson and Mr. Davey, who later became campaign co-ordinator.

Mr. Trudeau was to make an announcement Feb. 16 on whether he would seek the leadership. Not even his friends knew what the answer would be.

But, just in case, announcements that he would run were printed in Montreal and brought to Ottawa by car late on the night of Feb. 15.

Mr. Davey recalls: "Mr. Trudeau had not even seen the announcement we had prepared. It might have turned into just a scrap of paper."

Once Mr. Trudeau made his announcement, workers swarmed to his cause and packed his headquarters in an old office building at the corner of Laurier and O'Connor, a few blocks from the Parliament Buildings.

The average age of all the workers, including Senator Croll, was well below 30.

Mr. Davey says the tension built up to awesome proportions.

"We held an office party once a week for six weeks just to blow off tensions," he says.

What helped, the workers say, was that Mr. Trudeau did not want the prime ministership so bad that he could taste it.

He was relaxed and this helped the others not to take each other too seriously.

What Mr. Trudeau's campaign generated more than anything else was an intense public curiosity about the man. Style, not policy — except for national unity — set the tone of the campaign.

The Trudeau supporters rebut the view, held by many convention delegates, that the press and television put Mr. Trudeau into power.

"Nonsense," says Mr. Peacock. "The man has to have it in the first place. You don't take a dunce off the street and make him prime minister, no matter how often you stick him on television."

The Past

Freedom-lover Accepts Chains of Political Responsibility

OTTAWA (CP)—Pierre Elliott Trudeau is a political example of a freedom-loving bird's entry into a gilded cage. He made the transition Saturday with the Liberal leadership convention victory that will make him prime minister.

The 48-year-old bachelor's adult life has been largely spent sniping at the political status quo, which he regards with deep suspicion. He was a commonsense conscience for a rigid Quebec society.

As he wrote in the forward to his pre-convention book, Federalism and the French-Canadians:

"When a reform starts to be universally popular, it is more than likely it has already become reactionary and free men must then oppose it."

As the youngest Liberal prime minister in Canadian history, he will have to square his personal beliefs with his confining office. His success at this fundamental compromise appears certain to be the chief factor in his success at revitalizing the Liberal party, hard-pressed by domestic difficulties.

The day after he was chosen leader following his charismatic campaign, he joked at a news conference about his quandary arising from his habit of opposing the universally popular.

"I simply intend mounting some opposition to my former self," he said. He hoped to be a prime minister "who doesn't resemble in any way the Pierre Trudeau which existed up to now."

The flip reply was not an answer. But he later explained that in his new role, he would adhere to his practice of not living up to any political or allied label.

"I may disappoint those who think I'm an arch-radical," he said. "I'm essentially a pragmatist."

Because of his anti-Establishment posture, Trudeau watchers have never known quite what to make of the slim and elegant son of a wealthy Montreal businessman. His suspicion of the motives of ruling elites was returned by the powerful who found no clearly-marked pigeon-hole in which to place him.

His derisive 1962 article attacking Prime Minister Pearson's nuclear policy stamped him before the federal election of that year is still remembered with a shudder in Liberal circles.

The Trudeau pen dripped acid as he accused Mr. Pearson of losing honor by reversing a Liberal party convention decision opposing nuclear weapons for Canada. He called the prime minister "Pope Pearson," a cutting reference to the handing down of an infallible decision from on high.

If he made enemies for these and earlier shots at what he considered undemocratic and unprincipled political moves, he also gained a measure of respect.

His admirers included some of those he criticized, including Mr. Pearson, who paved the way for the cool and logical French-Canadian to succeed him.

After a flirtation with the New Democratic Party, Mr. Trudeau entered federal politics in the 1965 federal election winning a Montreal seat for the party he criticized.

He was promoted by Mr. Pearson to justice minister a year ago, a post he used to advance his strong federalist views on the constitution. The threat of Quebec secession and the rise of the "special status" forces for the predominantly French-Canadian province were factors that brought him into the political arena.

Prior to that, he had been a prolific writer on constitutional matters and a prickly social critic, activities interspersed with more mundane occupations as a university lecturer.

But even in this field, he brought his offbeat approach to bear. The accepted way was not his way. One of his former students recalls he began one lecture course with the comment: "Here's my course plan. I hope I don't finish it."

Once in the House of Commons, he caught attention with his occasionally casual dress-slacks and sandals-in the formal milieu of parliamentary life. But his impact on the public at large was minimal. He was still a bit of a curiosity even after he had been around a while.

He tooled around in fast sports cars with a flair as he is natty were ornaments on his arm. Exceptionally pretty girls ran the risk of being invited to flip down to his hometown Montreal in his Mercedes, 100 miles from the capital.

The playboy exterior does little to conceal the keen, unusually intelligent mind that gives him an advantage over many of his political opponents. But he plays the playboy game with reporters, who josh him. He joshes back as at his convention.

Trudeau's Views on Economic Nationalism, Vietnam, Socialism

In the Limelight

OTTAWA (CP) — Following are excerpts from public statements by Liberal Leader Trudeau:

Economic nationalism: I am against economic nationalism . . . against the idea that any highly protected society can become a very wealthy society. Economic nationalism . . . is an excessive doctrine.

Vietnam: . . . The solution is peace through negotiation rather than through bombing. The bombing is an error in basic psychology.

Biculturalism: There are two ethnic and linguistic groups in Canada. Each is too strong and too deeply rooted in the past, too firmly bound to a mother culture, to be able to swamp the other. But if the two will collaborate inside a truly pluralistic state, Canada could become the envied seat of a form of federalism that belongs to tomorrow's world.

Foreign aid: . . . The Canadian contribution in this field remains far lower than what our country could easily pay.

The monarchy: I wouldn't lift a finger to get rid of the monarchy, and I think people who are campaigning in that direction are not only wasting the time of the country, but provoking emotions in other people who do not care a lot about it. I think the monarchy . . . has done much more good than harm to Canada.

Education: Obviously, education is very important to our future growth as a nation. If the provinces are willing to amend the constitution—so the federal government could play a greater role—I can see no objection.

Medical care: Medicare is probably the last of the universal benefit programs that we will bring in. I think that is an area in which the Liberals will show that they are not doctrinaire.

Socialism: . . . Any policy which is good in a given situation and which can solve a given problem without destroying the basic beliefs which I have in man, in freedom and in democracy, I would not hesitate to follow, whether other people call it socialist, capitalist, or free enterprise or anything else.

Youth: I don't think the young people should get involved in politics as much as the older ones. Their main function should be learning their trade or attending to their studies.

NATO: The extent of our reconsidered. I believe that reconsidered. I believe that our land and air forces could be employed to a much greater extent than they are in Canada, while still being available to NATO purposes if necessary. Our natural area of defence is in the North American continent.

China: I would offer to exchange ambassadors with Peking on the understanding that Canada would continue diplomatic relations with the Nationalist Chinese on Formosa.

Sandals: Sandals are comfortable. I wouldn't—as prime minister — wear them in the House of Commons. I can promise that.

SPORTS SLICES

This city wrote two more glowing entries on the golden pages of achievement in its sports archives over the weekend.

From the aegis of the Belleville Minor Hockey Association emerged two all-Ontario championships setting an all-time record of three in two consecutive years.

Wearing their titles proudly, the Smith Fuels peewees, and the Kinsmen bantams came home from Wallaceburg after wresting the OMHA top-flight honors from the gallant hard-playing runners-up of the Western Ontario community.

The Fuels proved they were the cream of the OMHA "AA" peewee division crop winning the best-of-three titular series in two straight games. They won the first here a week ago and took the championship Saturday with their second victory away from home.

The Kinsmen bantams had a tougher assignment. They bowed to the western champions here last weekend and faced the task of winning two on "foreign" ice.

This they did in championship style. Coach John Emerson's crew played outstanding hockey to turn back the bid of Wallaceburg with two outstanding performances.

This, I understand, is the first time in the history of the city's organized minor hockey that it has brought home two provincial titles in the same season. They backed up their second straight championship. They narrowly missed capturing the All-Ontario Centennial Peewee Tournament championship earlier in the season.

To Fuels coach "Mo" Hunter and bantams mentor John Emerson and their championship proteges, the doff of the columnar chapeau.

Winning or losing minor hockey teams of this city from all divisions have not been concerned all their efforts on the acquisition of titular honors.

They have carried the banner of minor Belleville into the tournament boundaries of many parts of Ontario. They have won their share but in the losing always proved they were of championship calibre.

Perhaps their finest hours and efforts came when they participated in tournaments held for the benefit of their counterparts who lie in hospital beds; are in mentally retarded institutions, or wear crutches and other physical appliances.

Minor hockey teams in other places where the suspect play as well as those of this city, have never demurred when asked to give their efforts to help youngsters less fortunate than they.

As champions they wear their honors proudly, as champions should. They have never gloated over, nor looked down upon the defeated. They know that in the losing as in the winning, champions and runners-up have to be the best of their divisions to reach the pinnacle of their efforts.

They have been well and truly coached. They have been well and truly managed. And to the lasting credit of those in coaching and managerial charge as well as those of the parent association, they have won, wherever they have played, the veneration of being "little gentlemen" off and on the ice.

And standing with justifiable pride in the background, is an equally proud galaxy of people, the parents, sisters and brothers of the young champions.

The parents have, through their efforts, been no small factor in the championship accomplishments of the young gladiators. They have aided the all-over effort in no small way. They, too wear the honors proudly if only in reflected glory.

The city is proud of them as it should be. All sportsmen are proud of them and their counterparts in all divisions of the Belleville Minor Hockey Association are proud of them.

Their achievements should not go unrewarded in a tangible manner. It is likely the city's special committee on awards for outstanding athletic achievements will include them in its honors list.

I understand the Fuels will be taking part in the annual Shrine Peewee Tournament scheduled for Friday and Saturday of this week. A dozen centres will be represented and some well-known names in professional hockey will be here.

Every cent will go to the Shrine Crippled Children Fund and Shrine president Bill Stewart and his committee are looking for a bumper crowd. The BMHA is looking after tournament arrangements and it is hoped a substantial sum will be raised for the less fortunate kiddies.

Bashful Eddie Joyal may hold the key to Western Division fortunes in the National Hockey League playoffs.

Although the 27-year-old bachelor from St. Albert, Alta., paced Los Angeles Kings scorers during the regular NHL season with 25 goals and 34 assists, he didn't manage a goal in 10 games against Minnesota North Stars—until the playoffs.

Then, as Los Angeles opened its best-of-seven playoff quarter-final with 3-1 and 5-0 victories, Joyal found the range on Minnesota goalie Cesare Maniago with a goal in each game.

The other Saturday goal went to Lowell MacDonald as Los Angeles goalie Terry Sawchuk registered his 12th playoff shutout in 97 NHL playoff games.

Other Saturday games had Montreal Canadiens grabbing a 2-0 lead in their quarter-final against Boston by beating the Bruins 3-2 while Philadelphia Flyers evened their series with St. Louis by slipping the Blues 4-3 in the second game.

Sunday's game between Chicago Black Hawks and the Rangers in New York as well as a pair of games scheduled today were postponed until later in the week because of memorial services for slain civil rights leader Dr. Martin Luther King.

The game rescheduled to Tuesday from today was the third Los Angeles-Minnesota meeting. The third St. Louis-Philadelphia game was moved to Wednesday from today.

The only game untouched by rescheduling was the third Montreal-Boston contest, already set for Boston Tuesday night.

The Canadiens ran the Bruins ragged in Montreal with rookie Jacques Lemaire scoring twice to set the pace for Dick Duff, Jean Beliveau and Jacques Laperriere to follow.

Ken Hodge scored his second goal of the series for the Bruins, in their first playoff in nine years, with the others going to Ted Greene and John McKenzie.

Leon Rochefort won the hero's mantle in the Philadelphia victory, scoring the winning goal at 6:31 of the third period after Pat Hannigan, Don Blackburn and Claude Laforge had scored earlier.

Dickie Moore, Don McKenney and Larry Keenan scored the St. Louis goals but there was nobody going to beat Philadelphia goalie Doug Favell after Rochefort had given him the third-period lead.

None of the teams that played took any injuries to speak of, but the extra day of rest will be welcome by both New York and Chicago although it won't do Bernie Geoffrion of the Rangers a bit of good.

The veteran winger, in and out of the lineup because of stomach troubles late in the season and used only on power plays in the playoff opener, now is reported out for the rest of the year because of a stomach disorder. He will be replaced by right winger Bill Fairbairn up from Omaha Knights of the Central Pro League.

And Ranger defencemen Rod Selling can use the extra time to recover from stopping blasts by Chicago shooter Bobby Hull with his instep in the opening game.

Hull still is recuperating from a foot injury picked up late in the season and team-mate Stan Mikita can use the extra time to try and rid himself of a back injury that seems to be defying treatment.

About the unhappiest person after weekend games was Harry Sinden, coach of the Bruins, who lamented:

"We wait nine years to get into the playoffs and then we come up with a performance like this.

"I have to do something. I can't sit still, that's for sure," he said referring to possible lineup changes for the third game of the series leading to a shot at the Stanley Cup won last year by Toronto Maple Leafs.

"They Shall Not Pass!"

Goaltender Gump Worsley, flat on his stomach, reaches across his goal mouth in an effort to save a goal if Phil Esposito (7) of Boston Bruins gets that shot away. He didn't — Montreal's Jacques Laperriere (2) held him off. Trying to get to puck are Boston's John McKenzie (19) and John Bucyk (9), while Montreal defenceman J. C. Tremblay moves in. (CP Photo)

Blues Back On Home Ice

ST. LOUIS (AP) — It's a home-ice advantage for St. Louis Blues and they're happy about the situation. Their National Hockey League quarter-final series against Philadelphia Flyers resumes Wednesday night.

Each team has won a game in the Western Division semi-final best-of-seven series with the Blues copping the opener 4-3 and the Flyers prevailing Saturday night 4-3.

"Now it's a three-of-five series with three games on our own ice," Blues coach Scotty Bowman remarked. "Now it's on our back—we have to win at home."

The Philadelphia Spectrum, plagued for weeks by the elements, has not been a home-away-from-home for St. Louis. Members of the team are pleased to return to their arena where the roof is solid and the ice is hard.

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Down 2-0 in their best-of-seven quarter-final Stanley Cup series with Los Angeles Kings, Minnesota North Stars returned home Sunday afternoon.

The next game of the National Hockey League's Western Division playoffs will be played at the Metropolitan Sports Centre in Bloomington Tuesday, with the fourth contest being played there Thursday night.

North Stars' president Walter Bush had a present waiting for his team after their trip home: new home uniforms on the rack for Tuesday battle.

While much the same in color, the new jerseys have easier to read numerals and more white and are made of a much lighter weight material.

The North Stars have been having two problems with the Kings in the playoffs—controlling the puck and scoring.

One player who hopes to remedy that situation Tuesday is Parker MacDonald.

Playoffs are important to us for summer money and I sure hope we can get back on the beam and start winning," said the veteran forward.

Rochester Americans want as much rest as they can get before starting the American Hockey League playoff final and Hershey Bears are getting battered in the process.

The Americans, champions of the league's Western Division, Saturday won their third straight game in the best-of-seven semi-final from the Eastern champs, beating them 2-1 in sudden-death overtime.

At the same time, Providence Reds rose up and evened their best-of-five quarter-final series by beating Springfield Kings 5-2 in the second game.

All Sunday games were postponed as part of the general day of mourning following the death of U.S. civil rights leader, Dr. Martin Luther King. Springfield was to have played at Providence and Quebec Aces were to have gone for three straight in their best-of-five quarter-final with the Bisons in Buffalo.

Fuels Peewees, Kinsmen Bantams Bring Home Ontario Titles

Add another chapter to the spectacular success story of Belleville's Smith Fuels peewees.

The city youngsters wrapped up their second Ontario Minor Hockey Association championship in as many years in Wallaceburg Saturday.

Sparked by Grant Goegan's goal - scoring, the Fuelmen whipped Wallaceburg 3-2 to capture this year's peewee "AA" crown in two consecutive games. They won the first game of the finals here 5-1 a week earlier.

Team manager Don Whelan said, "the kids were just terrific, everyone of them. It was another great team effort with Grant leading the way."

The Fuelmen skated all out, right from the start, building a 3-0 1st-period lead and upping it 5-0 going into the final stanza.

Geogan, the club's first-line centre, took just 1.20 to put Belleville in front on a play with linemates Andy Ricketts and Mark Coates. Five minutes later Wally Dainard converted Peter Crawford's pass and at 14.04, Ricketts made it 3-0 with Coats assisting.

Goegan struck quickly in the second heat, combining with David Flesch at 4.50 and with Ricketts at 6.45 for the 5-0 score. Meanwhile goalie Terry Marek and later replacement Bobby Moore were frustrating the Wallaceburg forwards time and again.

In the third, Andy Ricketts needed just 12 seconds to kill off any Wallaceburg comeback hopes, scoring his second goal with assists from Coates and Goegan. The losers got their pair of goals, making it 6-2, from Greg Carpentier at 6.20 and Peter Lade at 9.20.

Goegan's final tally, with Flesch and Ricketts helping, came at 14.11 and Peter Molnaki capped a play with Peter Smrke for the final 8-2 count, at 15.45.

The champions drew four of six minor penalties assessed.

The Smith Fuels' team consists of: manager Don Whelan, coach "Moe" Hunter, assistant manager Bob Ricketts and players Terry Marek, Bobby Moore, Tim Whelan, David Flesch, Andy Ricketts, Richard Barrett, Mark Coates (captain), "Joey" Edwards, Grant Goegan, Danny Menard, Peter Crawford, Peter Smrke, Wally Dainard, Bruce Sutherland, Martin Thistle, Steve Kirby, Peter Polaski and Scott James.

The Fuelmen hope to add another state title to their crown this week when they compete in the annual Shrine tournament here on Friday and Saturday.

Belleville's "comeback kids," the Kinsmen bantams, lived up to their reputation while capturing the Ontario Minor Hockey Association's bantam "AA" championship on the weekend.

Travelling to Wallaceburg with a one-game deficit in the two-of-three titular series, the Kinsmen took a 4-1 decision Saturday and captured the title with a great come-from-behind 6-3 win yesterday.

"This has to be one of the biggest and best comebacks of all time," said an overjoyed Kinsmen coach John Emerson, after his club won with five unanswered goals in the third period yesterday.

Leading the Belleville attack was centre Danny Lupenette. The dashing Belleville pivot, after scoring the tying goal Saturday, fired the club's first four Sunday in a spectacular effort.

The Kinsmen outshot Wallaceburg in both games, 28-14 in the series equaliser, and 37-17 yesterday with a big 24-5 margin in that fateful third period.

Phil Eves gave Wallaceburg an early 1-0 lead Sunday at the 1.10 mark but Lupenette stickhandled through the entire Wallaceburg squad to tie it at 8.10 of the second heat. The home club continued to press, however, and Mike Fralegh and Tim Hill made it 3-1.

The Kinsmen, facing elimination, met the challenge in the third with Lupenette finishing a pretty pass play with John Mulvihill at the 59 second mark. Lupenette hooked up with Cliff Janisch and David Smith for the tying goal at 6.03 and capped his effort with another solo goal to put his club in front for the first time at 10.40.

They never looked back from this point, Mike Robins connecting from Smith at 12.35 and Rick Meagher from Dennis Cone at 14.16 for the 6-3 count.

The losers drew nine of 15 penalties in this tie after the Kinsmen had nine of 14 on Saturday.

In that Saturday tilt, Lupenette scored from Smith and Rollins to tie it 1-1 in the first heat and Cliff Janisch netted the winner on a beautiful play with Rick Meagher and Smith in the second. Defencemen John Mulvihill sewed up the win with both third-period counters, aided by Dave Smith again at 5:00 and by Meagher and Rollins at 17:32.

Roger LaMorre played goal for Belleville in both games and turned in fine performances on each occasion.

Coach John Emerson today expressed his appreciation to Mo-Hawk coach Floyd Crawford for his assistance during the playoffs.

The Kinsmen, arriving home late last night, were met by city officials and others, as well as by the Smith Fuels peewees who came home Saturday after winning their title.

Tigers Run Wild Over Corner Brook

VICTORIAVILLE, Que. (CP) — Victoriaville Tigers, Quebec Senior Hockey League champions, ran away with the first game of a best-of-five Eastern Canada Allan Cup semi-finals Sunday night by trouncing Corner Brook Royals of Newfoundland 15-1.

The Tigers were paced to their victory by a four-goal effort by Pierre Potvin while Clement Trembley, Johnny Menin, Lefor Beaudoin and Joe Hardy turned in two goals apiece. Dino Masotto, Jacques Michel and Leo Drouin got the others.

Re Asselin ruined Claude Hardy's shutout bid when he tallied at 6:22 of the final period.

Minor Baseballers Can Still Register

Minor baseball players who failed to register on Saturday can do so the rest of this week.

Forms are available at the Recreation Centre, Pinnacle Street every day from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

OASA Convention

Cliff Belch New Secretary

Clifford Belch Jr., of this city, took a major step up the Ontario Amateur Softball Association ladder at that body's 45th. annual convention, in St. Catharines, this weekend.

Belch moved from the executive committee into the active position of OASA secretary, succeeding Leroy Pickard, who had held the position for the past dozen years.

Pickard and Viney Walker were also nominated for the secretary's job but declined to stand.

All in all, it was a first rate convention with a record 163 voting delegates plus many other softball enthusiasts attending.

And it was also most successful as far as Quinte district men were concerned.

In addition to Belch, the veteran Belleville campaigner, "Senator" Harry Rollins was again appointed honorary president; Jim Tebworth, also of Belleville, was appointed both to the executive committee and to the rules committee; Madoc's Charlie Hamilton was appointed special convener for this district.

Clair Butler, of Willowdale, was returned to the president's chair for a second year, defeating Toronto's Max Scheff in a surprise election for the position.

Scheff is 1st. vice-president; Cec Dunn, 2nd. vice-president; Leroy Pickard, 3rd. vice-president; Lloyd Alguire, treasurer; Herb Campion and Dave Leether the auditors. Pickard defeated three other candidates for the 3rd. vice-presidency. Leether was also appointed honorary vice-president and Pickard administrative secretary.

In the large field seeking six positions on the executive committee, Harold Langabeer of Kingston, Don Prescott, Stan Reeve, Tom Sims, George Thomas and Viney Walker were elected. Six others appointed were Tebworth, J. Conlin, Norm Fraser, Orval Pearson, Danny Flynn and Burt Upham.

Public School Soccer Under Discussion

Plans were set into motion last week to rejuvenate minor soccer on a public school level in Belleville.

Eleven interested persons, including Walter Cochrane, Physical Education Supervisor for Belleville Public Schools, attended a meeting on Wednesday. Another is slated for this Wednesday and once the number of boys is determined, a registration will be held.

Six to 10 teams will likely be formed for this first year of operation and for this year only. Just grades six, seven and eight will be included, according to early plans.

Mr. Cochrane is contacting the various public schools and separate schools will also be approached, with a report of the response expected at Wednesday's meeting.

Many Events Postponed

Sports World Pauses In Tribute

By ED SCHUYLER Jr.

Athletic activity continued at a virtual standstill today as the sports community joined the rest of the nation in mourning the death of Dr. Martin Luther King.

The funeral for the slain civil rights leader will be held Tuesday in Atlanta, and few sports events will be held until after the services.

Exceptions included the final two rounds of the Greater Greensboro open golf tournament set for today, an International Hockey League playoff at Muskegon, Mich., and an American Hockey League playoff at Providence, R.I., tonight. Some horse racing also was on tap.

The Greensboro Open already has been postponed twice—Friday because of rain and Sunday in reference to the memory of Dr. King.

Los Angeles Dodgers said they would decide today on whether to postpone their National League baseball opener at home Tuesday night against Philadelphia. The Phillies have said they will not play at the risk of forfeiture and fine.

The other 18 major league clubs will open the season Wednesday. Three games, including the presidential opener in Washington, originally were scheduled today. Six had been set for Tuesday.

All of the final baseball exhibition games Sunday were cancelled with the exception of the Cleveland-Los Angeles game at San Diego, Calif.

There was no action Sunday in major league hockey and basketball. One of five North American Soccer League games was played, in Canada.

The National Hockey League playoffs resume Tuesday night with Chicago at New York, Montreal at Boston and Los Angeles at Minnesota. Philadelphia plays at St. Louis Wednesday night.

The American Basketball Association playoffs get under way again Tuesday night with New Orleans at Dallas. Pittsburgh is at Minnesota Wednesday.

Postseason play in the National Basketball Association resumes with Philadelphia at Boston and San Francisco at Los Angeles Wednesday night.

Tweed Students Win Track Meet

TWEED — Athletes from the Tweed High School ran well in indoor track competition on Saturday.

At an indoor "B" school meet, held in Trenton, on Saturday, Tweed won the team championship by gaining 1½ points more than the Ontario School for the Deaf team, of Belleville.

The teams set an all-time championship-winning record for the city.

Niarkos Wins At Santa Anita

NEW YORK (AP) — Niarkos, an eight-year-old invader from Argentina, won the $125,000 San Juan Capistrano invitational handicap Saturday for the second straight year at Santa Anita.

Jockey Alvaro Pineda had Niarkos under the wire 1½ lengths in front of Jungle Road, with Rivet third.

Quicken Tree, the betting favorite with a crowd of 46,000 on hand for the final day of the meeting, was fourth.

Tobin Bronze, the Australian champion, who was second choice in the wagering, ran ninth in the field of 12.

Niarkos failed to survive a triple claim of foul to earn the $75,000 for his owner, the Hasty House Farms.

Dodgers Left Holding Ball; Phils Refuse To Play Tuesday

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Philadelphia Phillies were caught in a standoff between Walter O'Malley and Warren Giles today as Los Angeles Dodgers considered opening the 1968 baseball season all by themselves.

Los Angeles owner O'Malley was to decide this morning whether or not to go ahead with Tuesday night's scheduled home opener against Philadelphia—a game the Phillies have refused to play.

The Dodgers were left holding the ball Sunday when St. Louis Cardinals and Chicago White Sox pushed back their Tuesday openers one day, joining seven other major league clubs which had postponed opening home games in deference to the memory of Dr. Martin Luther King.

Funeral services for the slain civil rights leader will be held Tuesday in Atlanta.

National League president Giles left it up to the Dodgers as the home club, to decide whether to go through with their game.

John Quinn, the Phillies' general manager, said earlier his club would not take the field. Los Angeles Tuesday night, at the risk of a possible forfeit and fine—because of the King funeral that afternoon.

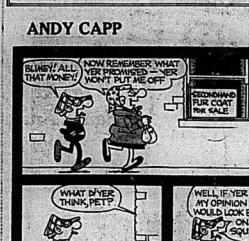
The other opening games in each league, including the presidential fixture at Washington, all were set for Wednesday.

President Johnson was expected to relax the Senators' debut against Minnesota Twins—one of five afternoon openers in the American League. The White Sox entertain Cleveland Indians, Boston's defending champion Red Sox are at Detroit Tigers, the new Oakland Athletics at Baltimore Orioles and California Angels at New York Yankees in other AL inaugurals.

Chicago Cubs visit Cincinnati Reds and New York Mets are at San Francisco Giants in National League afternoon games. Pittsburgh Pirates are at Houston Astros and Atlanta Braves at St. Louis Cardinals under the lights.

LA manager Walter Alston checked into an Inglewood, Calif., hospital Sunday for treatment of a kidney stone and the Dodgers whipped Cleveland 5-1 in the lone exhibition finale.

All the other exhibition games were cancelled in line with the designation of Sunday as a day of mourning for Dr. King.



Wes Parker slammed two home runs and Don Drysdale pitched six strong innings as the Dodgers completed their exhibition scheduled with a 14-13 mark.

In other development Sunday, Baltimore Orioles announced that southpaw pitcher Pete Richert has been called to duty with a national guard unit federalized to help control violence in Washington in the aftermath of the assassination of Dr. King.

Neither of the individual champions had anything new to say concerning their retirements. Miss Greene repeated her plans to return to her studies at Notre Dame University of Nelson, B.C., and Killy saying only that he planned to spend some time with his family.

Miss Greene finished second in the final event, the women's slalom, with a time of 1:48.84 compared with the 1:48.31 posted by Gertrud Gabl of Austria in winning over two runs.

World Skiers

France Wins Nations' Trophy

SOUTH LAKE TAHOE, Calif. (CP) — It was anti-climatic at Heavenley Valley Sunday as the last World Cup ski meet of the year came to a close.

Nancy Greene of Rossland, B.C., and French ace Jean Claude Killy had already locked up their second successive titles and France took the Nation's Cup team trophy.

On top of that, both Miss Greene and Killy had announced their retirements well in advance and neither won any of the events in which they were entered.

Killy was even robbed of the chance to ski one last time as an amateur against his greatest rival—Karl Schranz of Austria —when Schranz fell Saturday, strained some muscles in his left leg and withdrew from the final event.

Miss Greene wound up with 191 points compared with 159 for Isabelle Mir of France, 153 for Florence Steurer of France, 128 for Marielle Goitschel of France and 126 for Fernande Bochatay of Switzerland.

Killy, though well off his perfect form in last year's inaugural World Cup series, finished with 200 points. Dumeni Giovanoli of Switzerland was second with 119 points followed by Herbert Huber of Austria with 112, Gerhard Nenning of Austria with 103 and Edmund Bruggman of Switzerland and Guy Perrilat of France, tied with 80 points.

Canada was forth in the Nation's Cup competition with 213 points compared with the winning French total of 1,166. Australia's 887 and Switzerland's 536.

Andy Teeple Paces Royals

CORNWALL (CP) — Cornwall Royals took a 2-0 lead in their best-of-seven Eastern Canada Memorial Cup quarter-finals Sunday, defeating North Bay Trappers 6-4.

Third game will be played in North Bay Tuesday.

Centre Andy Teeple paced the Royals' with two power-play goals in the second period. Other Cornwall scorers were Jim George, Bill Markell, Denis Plant and Wayne Horne.

North Bay marksmen were George Ringler, Don Grierson, Jack Rathwell and Herman

Lead Series 2-1

Picton Stops Elmvale

Somebody set a slow-burning fuse to the Picton Mercchants last night.

But when it did hit the powderkeg, the explosion blasted Elmvale intermediates right out of the country.

Picton erupted for five unanswered goals in the third period on home ice to dump Elmvale 6-3 in the OHA Intermediate "B" semi - finals.

Sam Mulholland's Merchants needed the win to grab a 2-1 games lead, with one tie, in the best-of-seven series. The next game will also be played in Picton, Wednesday at nine o'clock.

Elmvale, said by some of the Merchants to be weaker than the Whitby club ousted earlier, took a 2-1 first period lead last night and added the only goal of the middle frame before a big crowd.

Jim Guernsey ignited the Picton comeback blaze - and tied the score - with goals at 6.16 and 8.55 of the third.

There was no stopping the Merchants after that. Pat Asselstine triggered the winning marker at 10.35 and 25 seconds later Carl Stacey made it 5-3. Paul Faulkner iced the cake with an unassisted goal at 13.04.

The five - goal onslaught took exactly six minutes and 48 seconds.

S. McKenzie, Elmvale's scoring star to date in the series, shoved his club ahead with goals at 8.27 and 14.23 of the first heat before Fred James got Picton's first at 18.11. A. Smith's goal made it 3-1 at 1.40 of the second.

Asselstine drew two assists with his goal, Roland Barry, Doug Dafoe, Joe Hunter, Mulholland and Stacey one each for Picton.

The winners took the odd edge of 13 minor penalties, six of them coming in the third period.

Elmvale outshot Picton 34-30 with Tom O'Halloran again sparkling in the winners' net.

Seattle Two Up On Phoenix

SEATTLE (AP) — Seattle Totems took a 2-0 lead over Phoenix in their Western Hockey League semi-final Saturday night when they coasted to a 5-1 win over the Roadrunners.

Third game in the best-of-seven series is at Phoenix Wednesday.

Veteran centre Guyle Fielder scored the first goal for Seattle early in the opening period.

Chuck Holmes and Keke Morrison scored in the second period to put Totems in front 3-0, but rookie Walt McKechnie cut the margin with only 34 seconds gone in the third.

Larry Lund and Dwight Carruthers completed the scoring for Seattle.

Heavyweight Curling

Alliston Takes "Beef" Championship

TORONTO (CP) — Knobby Clark of Alliston, Ont., says he's always "by eating like mad" for the world heavyweight curling championship.

"You see, I was a long way under weight when we decided to enter," Clark said Sunday after he skipped his rink to the second straight heavyweight championship.

Clark defeated a Woodstock rink skipped by Dr. Clark Willowby 14-2 in the final game of the 32-rink tournament which began Friday.

Every member of the rink was required to weigh at least 225 pounds and the total weight of the four-man team was not to be less than 1,000 pounds.

Clark just made the weight, coming in at 226, but the other members of his rink brought the over-all total to 1,066.

Clark, a retired army corporal, says there are all sorts of problems involved in assembling a 1,000-pound rink.

"You know the old rip-in-the-pants problem?" he said. "Well, that's one of the most easily sorted out, but we get around that by having our trousers specially made.

"Then of course I was 10 pounds underweight a month ago and I had to eat like mad to get into the proper shape."

Rinks from all parts of Ontario competed as well as one from Aubrey, Que.

The biggest curler in the event was skip Garry O'Connor of Ottawa, who tipped the scales at 284 pounds and his rink was the heaviest at 1,200 pounds.

Most of the curlers arrive in prizes for the best and most original. There are also prizes for the biggest curler, the heaviest rink, the biggest eater as well as the best curler.

Off-Season Sports Out For Bruins

BOSTON (AP) — Boston Bruins of the National Hockey League apparently have learned a lesson in the baseball Red Sox loss of Jim Lonborg because of a skiing accident last winter.

General manager Milt Schmidt of the Bruins said Sunday that players will not be permitted to participate in dangerous sports during the off-season. He barred goalie Gerry Cheevers from playing lacrosse and winger John McKenzie from bronc riding in rodeos.

Bantams Win Exhibitions From W. Hill

Belleville bantam hockey teams made a clean sweep of home-and-home exhibition games, winning three away and three at home.

They played in West Hill a week ago taking all wins and played the return games here Saturday.

The Belleville Bruins defeated West Hill Sand and Gravel 5-4 in the first game, Chris Evans getting three.

The ANAF Dukes won 6-2 over West Hill, Lou Hodgson with Brian Cousins scoring twice.

Belleville Wings won 9-3 over West Hill's Nauta Brothers with Paul Ackerman scoring three and Murray Dales and Mike Sullivan getting two each.

In another exhibition game Lou Williams peewees defeated Napanee 3-2. Tom Bateman scoring all three goals for the winners.

City Archers Win at Ottawa

Belleville archers swept the major honors clean in the Ottawa Bowmen Invitational Tournament held in Ottawa Sunday.

Royce Doxtator took the men's top honors with a score of 272. Mrs. Carol Armstrong, national women's champion, won the top award of her class with 271. John Widdicks won the men's barebow contest with a 246.

In the class contests Don White finished atop the men's awards, with a non-member, Marion Phillips, playing her first tournament, winning the novice freestyle with a score of 157.

Marlies Take Midget Crown

KINGSTON (CP) — Toronto Marlboro won the all-Ontario midget hockey championship Sunday by downing Kingston All-Stars 4-3 in overtime.

Jim Lebar's unassisted goal in overtime was the winner for Marlboro who took the first game in the best-of-three series in Toronto Saturday 6-2.

Auto Racing Ace Killed In Crash

HOCKENHEIM, Germany (AP) — The auto racing world paid tribute today to Jim Clark, killed in a crash Sunday.

The 32-year-old Scot, winner of the Indianapolis 500 in 1965 and twice world driving champion, met death in the rain at the Hockenheim Motodrom when his Lotus Ford Cosworth skidded on wet asphalt.

His car, speeding along at 174 miles an hour, tore through a fence and hit a tree after turning over several times. Doctors at the nearby Heilsleberg Hospital, where he was pronounced dead, said he had been killed instantly from a broken neck and a compound fracture of the skull.

"It is a great shock," said Jo Bonnier, Swedish chairman of the Grand Prix Drivers Association. "Jim was the greatest driver in motor racing today. His death is a great loss to the sport."

A bachelor, Clark won a record 25 Grand Prix races and was the world champion in 1963 and 1965. Three of his Grand Prix victories came in the U.S. Grand Prix at Watkins Glen, N.Y., the last one in 1967. He set a record by winning seven Grand Prix races in a row in 1963.

"Jim Clark may well have been the greatest driver of all time," said Wilfred Andrews, chairman of the Royal Automobile Club in London.

"Clark was the best driver of the present times," said Juan Manuel Fangio in Buenos Aires. Fangio is a five-time world driving champion.

Clark's parents in Scotland heard of the tragedy while visiting friends. His father James, 73, said: "Jim's mother never wanted him to take up a racing career and I was not very keen. But we had to accept it and we were proud of him.

"Now it has ended," the elder Clark added. "His mother has taken it very badly."

Clark's body will be flown to Edinburgh, Scotland, where the funeral will be held Wednesday.

Gas Leak Suspected

Explosion in Indiana Store Leaves 39 Dead and 33 Missing

RICHMOND, Ind. (AP) — Weary searchers continued today tugging at the wreckage of buildings shattered by an explosion that struck the business area as shoppers crowded streets and shops.

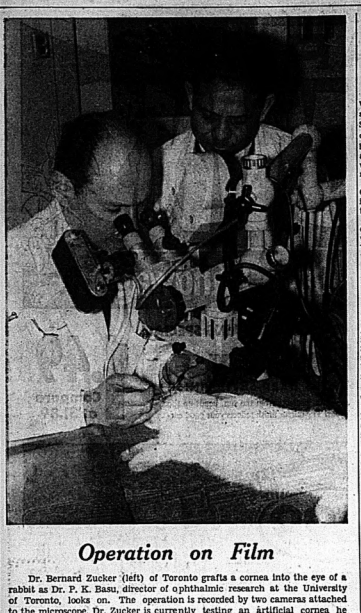
Thirty-nine bodies have been recovered and 33 other persons are missing.

Fire followed the Saturday explosion in this eastern Indiana city and spread to adjacent buildings. Three buildings were destroyed and five damaged severely in a two-block area.

More than 100 persons were injured. Eighteen remained in hospitals today, three in critical condition.

State police said the blast erupted in the basement of Marting Arms Co., a sporting goods store where gunpowder was stored for hunters and skeet shooters.

FBI agents said they were investigating the possibility of a gas leak as a factor in the explosion.



Capt. Kenneth E. Faust of the Indiana National Guard said the ceiling of a restaurant where he was having lunch began falling on customers.

"I ran into the street and saw an injured woman atop Sergent's paint store," Faust said. "I got a ladder and with the aid of others got her down. She said she had been blown onto the roof by the explosion."

Only a crater remained where the sporting goods store stood at the Sixth and Main Street. Neighboring buildings were torn apart. Flames damaged other buildings.

Some of the dead and injured were trapped in cars wrecked by the blast and falling debris. Officials said more than 150 vehicles were wrecked.

Several hundred volunteers joined police, firemen and national guardsmen searching the rubble. Many of the dead were burned or mutilated.

De Gaulle Pushed Too Hard But Helped Quebec -- Levesque

NEW YORK (CP) — Rene Levesque, leader of the Quebec sovereignty - movement, said Sunday night that French President de Gaulle, "such an overbearing old guy," had "pushed a little too hard" in his controversial visit to Quebec last summer.

However, he helped French Canada "in a superficial way" in that he drew world attention to Quebec's problems.

"Three advertising agencies on Madison Avenue would have worked for years for the public-ity attracted by de Gaulle's call for an independent Quebec, widely interpreted as interference in Canada's internal affairs.

Levesque, 45, made the remarks in an interview on the weekly-David Susskind Show, televised in advance for showing Sunday night.

Levesque said concessions to French-speaking Canadians in the last 15 years came too late and now Quebec has a feeling of "rising expectations."

The majority of French-Canadians in Quebec, he said, now think of themselves as a nation with "a homeland called Quebec."

They had a "normal hankering for independence," said Levesque, a former Quebec Liberal cabinet minister and now leader of Movement Souveraineté-Association.

Gunman Murders Three In Indianapolis Church

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — A man carrying a rifle walked into an afternoon church service Sunday and began firing, killing three and wounding three others before police cut him down with rifle and revolver fire.

Police said the shooting grew out of marital difficulties.

The shooting occurred at the Bible Way Missionary Baptist Church, a Negro church located in a predominately Negro neighborhood on the edge of Indianapolis' business district. All the dead and wounded were Negroes.

Police Lieut. Thomas Bryant identified the gunman as Norris Edwards.

He said Edwards drove up to the church in a pickup truck, walked into the service in progress with a bolt-action rifle, and started shooting.

His estranged wife, Gladys; his sister-in-law, Sheila May Bell, and an eight-year-old girl, Myrna Degraphenreed, were killed.

The minister, Rev. William H. Blue, his wife, Maybelle, and Roosevelt Jenkins were wounded.

The other members of the congregation fled.

When police arrived Norris barricaded himself alone in the church. Police threw tear gas grenades into the church, driving Norris out.

Jet Flown Under Tower Bridge

LONDON (Reuters) — The RAF has lifted a security curtain surrounding a daredevil, 400-mile-an-hour jet flight Friday between the spans of Tower Bridge here.

The RAF announced that a 22-year-old father of four children, FO Alan Pollock, has been charged "in connection with an unauthorized flight over London."

He was released Sunday after three days under arrest while inquiries continued into the unscheduled acrobatic display.

In Farm and Country, Mar. 26 issue, article states "egg men should vote yes" . . . is backed by explaining the workings of the Ford Motor Co. . . . while IN THE SAME ISSUE, they quote Mr. J. H. Kohler, Ontario Hog Producers, on page 6 — "It would be pointless for Ontario farmers to cut back production without similar restraints in other provinces. If hog producers restricted supply to improve the price structure, Quebec and prairie farmers would immediately increase output to fill the vacuum." It is confusing as these are contradicting statements; we agree with the latter, we feel (like Mr. Kohler) that QUOTAS WON'T WORK ON PROVINCIAL BASIS. Myer Rush Undergoes Operation

TORONTO (CP) — Stock promoter Myer Rush was reported in good condition in hospital Sunday night following surgery to restore hearing to his left ear.

Rush, 44, awaiting trial on a $200,000,000 stock fraud charge, was injured when a bomb exploded while he slept in his hotel bedroom here four months ago.

He is under police protection in his private hospital room because of the possibility of another attempt on his life.

His condition was described by a hospital spokesman as "wonderful—couldn't be better."

Rush is free on $40,000 bail while awaiting trial on a $100,000,000 fraud charge involving stock promotion of Darien Exploration Co. SA and British Overseas Mutual Fund.

Rush was in critical condition for several days in November following the explosion of a home-made bomb which was left under his mattress.

Director Stanley Kubrick Rises Fast in Film World

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Seldom since Citizen Kane has a major film been so identified as the work of one man as has 2001: A Space Odyssey.

To ally any doubt about who is responsible, the name of Stanley Kubrick appears repeatedly in the credits.

Kubrick rose fast in the film world. As the result of his direction of a quickie crime movie, The Killing, he caught the attention of Kirk Douglas. Kubrick directed the actor in a haunting anti-war film Paths of Glory, and in a pretentious, unrealized epic, Spartacus.

The director then dipped into black comedy with a somewhat censored Lolita and the wildly Dr. Strangelove.

Next Kubrick was given virtual carte blanche by MGM to create the space epic. When I visited England in early summer of 19, Keir Dulea and Gary Lockwood were finishing their starring roles. Not until this month was 2001: A Space Odyssey given its premiere in New York and Hollywood. The reported cost $9,000,000, more than $2,000,000 over budget.

From a purely technical standpoint, the expense and the delay seem worth it. Never has space travel and the magnificence of space been portrayed with such convincing details in this cinerama film.

But in other respects, 2001 is a maddening riddle. One insider said at the premiere: "I've seen it three times, and I still don't know what it's all about." Most of the other first-nighters were equally puzzled.

The film opens with a sequence entitled The Origin of Man. Groups of primates scrounge for food, then show the first signs of aggression by fusing over use of water holes. Suddenly, a monolithic black slab appears out of the earth. The monkey finger it with wonder, and their puzzlement is nothing to the filmgoer's as this well-formed slab recurs in the film, usually with frightening results.

Obviously th monolith is a symbol. But of what? Law? Moral force? Kubrick doesn't take us into his confidence.

Archway—Grown Not Built

From the land of the great horned jack-rabbit (Prince Edward County) comes another natural wonder from Mother Nature. This time, though, it is vegetable rather than animal in the form of a tree archway formed by two trees that grew together. Rumor has it, however, that there may have been a little human interference in the form of a graft.

The Tracks

TORONTO (CP) — Avelino Gomez served notice to apprentice jockeys at Greenwood Saturday that he will be a contender for leading-rider honors as he rode three winners.

Gomez, 41, hustled Lepreachaun Lady in front and stayed there to win the $5,000 Canadiana Handicap in 52.4 seconds. Four-and-a-half pounds off the track record for the 4½ furlongs.

He also won the first race aboard Edenvale and the sixth with Winning Shot Jr. Gomez has already won in all his mounts for the day when Blue-Eyed Queen was second by a nose to Grand Fashion in the third race.

Winning Shot Jr., paid $2.90 in the sixth race and combined with runner-upper Grand Galop for a $6.50 exacta.

Junior 'A'

Wings, Flyers In Final

HAMILTON (CP) — Kitchener Rangers battled Hamilton Red Wings to a 5-5 tie Sunday to qualify for the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A finals.

The Rangers won the best-of-seven series with eight points on three wins, two ties and a loss. They now meet Niagara Falls Flyers for the title.

The Rangers, which finished first in the 10-team series, got two goals each Sunday from Walt Tkaczuk and Frank DeMarco. Danny Seguin scored the other Rangers goal.

Red Pelli scored twice for Hamilton while Danny Lawson, Eddie Hetsum and Ron Climie added single goals.

The game was tied 2-2 at the end of the first period and 4-4 after the second.

Lawson gave Hamilton a short-lived lead at 8:48 of the first, but Tkaczuk scored eight seconds later. Pelli and DeMarco traded goals before the period ended.

The Rangers took a 4-3 lead on goals by Tkaczuk and Seguin early in the second period, but Climie and Hetsum deadlocked the game again. DeMarco scored for Kitchener at 11:38 of the third and Pelli added his second with less than five minutes remaining.

Defeat Hornets Twice

Marlies Grab 3-2 Lead

TORONTO (CP) — Toronto Marlboros moved one back-to-back weekend win over Galt Hornets to take a 3-2 lead in the best-of-seven Ontario Hockey Association Senior series finals.

The Marlboros seeded two second-period goals Sunday for a 3-1 win after beating the Hornets 3-2 in Galt Saturday night. The first game of the series will be played in Galt Wednesday.

Don Fuller, Bob Avesy and Grant Moore scored for Toronto Sunday while Peter Brennan scored for Galt.

Tim Martin, Earl Balfour and Doug Acomb scored for the Marlboros Saturday night, but Brennan had to withstand a late rally by the Hornets. Eddie Burr and Ted Power counted for Galt with Power scoring in the last minute of the game as the Hornets used six attackers.

1,350 Arrests - - 430 Fires

Heavy Looting in Baltimore

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Looting which had slowed down during the darkness flared up during the daylight hours in Negro neighborhoods today despite the beefing of local and state police by U.S. Army troops.

By 7 a.m., there were 233 more arrests since midnight Sunday night, nine fires and one more death, raising the total dead since violence erupted Saturday night to five.

The disorders have resulted in 300 injuries, more than 1,350 arrests and about 430 fires.

Authorities said reports of looting came in faster than they could count after 7 a.m., one hour after a curfew imposed by the governor expired.

President Johnson, upon request of Governor Spiro T. Agnew, ordered 1,900 troops into the city Sunday night to augment state police and 5,000 Maryland national guardsmen.

Agnew placed the city under martial law Saturday night five hours after rioting broke out.

Gasoline-filled pop bottles with cloth wicks were used to ignite buildings throughout predominantly-Negro areas Sunday.

Stores hit by looting Sunday ranged from a large chain department store to the smallest corner grocery.

Agnew ordered a ban on the sale of firearms, liquor and restricted the sale of gasoline to five-gallon amounts pumped into vehicles.

Washington Pushes Plans To Aid Hungry, Homeless

WASHINGTON (CP) — This violence-scarred capital groped wearily today toward resuming its weekday routine and pushed plans to aid the hungry and homeless after three days of arson and pillaging.

But 11,600 troops and more than 2,000 police remained vigilant against fresh disorders.

Four confirmed sniping incidents were reported as the riot-tipped Negro slums remained under tight military control.

The troops enforced a 4 p.m. curfew, virtually halting the arson and looting in this city of 800,000 people—more than 500,000 of them Negroes.

A fourth consecutive night of curfew was imposed for tonight starting at 6 p.m.—two hours later than that of Saturday and Sunday.

Smoke still oozed from the debris caused by 751 fires since the arson and looting started Thursday night as word spread of the assassination in Memphis, Tenn., of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

Police blamed six deaths and 961 injuries on the rioting. They reported 4,800 arrests.

Unofficial estimates said damage in the prostrated area—almost all in the Negro commercial districts—might surpass $10,000,000.

Mayor Walter Washington announced schools, businesses and government agencies would reopen at their normal times today.

Schools and government offices were ordered to close 90 minutes early, and businesses at 4 p.m., so streets could be cleared by the time the 6 p.m. curfew begins.

Cyrus Vance, President Johnson's riot troubleshooter, told tonight's news conference: "We are not yet out of the woods, but I am hopeful the encouraging trend will continue."

As courts worked through the night to arraign the thousands of persons arrested, the mayor a Negro, said city and civic leaders were moving "to meet the human needs"—food, shelter, jobs and even cash—created by the violence.

At the height of the violence, looting had spread to within two blocks of the White House. But the main area of destruction was mixed business and residential neighborhoods along 7th and 14th streets two miles north of the White House, along H street northeast of the Capitol and in the downtown section southeast of the main business district.

Tighter enforcement of the curfew Sunday night made the city a ghost community. Only a few cars moved and they were challenged by patrolling police and military vehicles.

The White House, where President Johnson conferred all day with officials about Vietnam, was still under heavy guard.

Well-over-strength U.S. troops remained in strength too at the Capitol and other federal buildings.

Some surviving supermarkets in the worst-hit areas were reopened Sunday under guard. Long lines of Negroes formed there and at various churches to get supplies of food and clothing sent in from "white" Washington and the Virginia and Maryland suburbs.

Comparatively-few residences were destroyed but untold numbers were forced out of quarters atop the small and generally-rundown commercial buildings fired since Thursday.

Senator Robert F. Kennedy, candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, attended a Palm Sunday church service in the riot-ravaged area, then walked 22 blocks past still-smouldering stores, soldiers and exhausted firemen and policemen. He called the rioting "a tragedy for the country" and said "violence must end."

Sorrowing Americans Continue Pilgrimage to King's Hometown

White, black, rich, poor, famous and unknown—they came from the tenant farms of Mississippi, strife-torn cities, Hollywood, state capitals, Congressional consulates.

They came to pay final tribute to the civil rights leader, who will be buried Tuesday after services at Ebenezer Baptist Church, where King served as a pastor with his father.

Some slept on cots in church basements. Some moved in with friends families. Other found room at hotels.

Rev. Ralph Abernathy, taking up the leadership of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, said:

"While America has the opportunity to rise to greatness at this moment by burying hesitation and delay, by properly honoring the most moral man of his century, by liberating black Americans and the poor, black and white."

He and 85 others planned to go to Memphis to support striking garbage workers, who were being backed by King when he was assassinated Thursday night by a sniper.

Officials of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, which King formed, said they expected President Johnson or Vice-President Humphrey for the funeral.

Dignitaries who have said they will pay personal tribute include Senator Robert F. Kennedy; Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York; Undersecretary-General Ralph Bunche of the United Nations and New York Mayor John V. Lindsay.

Numerous celebrities, including Marion Brando, Bill Cosby, Sidney Poitier, Sammy Davis Jr., Mahalia Jackson and Harry Belafonte plan to attend services.

Attendance at services at Ebenezer Baptist Church—which can hold only 1,200—will be by invitation only. The service will be conducted by Abernathy and Rev. William Holmes Borders of the Wheat Street Baptist Church.

Mrs. King, who tearfully viewed her husband's body Sunday with her four children at her side, decided against a public vigil at the funeral service. Dr. Benjamin Mays, retired president of Morehouse College where he once taught the 1964 Nobel Peace Prize winner, will deliver a eulogy at the memorial service at Morehouse.

The funeral cortege will march the mile from the church to the college, barring rain. Miss Jackson and the Ebenezer church choir and the Morehouse glee club will sing.

The funeral cortege will go by car to the South View Cemetery, five miles from Morehouse. King will be entombed in a marble mausoleum on a grassy hillside.

Television networks announced they would have live coverage of the funeral.

Tributes to King were given at special services around the country on Palm Sunday, and in his hometown his grief-stricken father spoke briefly at services at Ebenezer Baptist Church.

"Don't lose your way, and don't ever let it get so dark that you can't behold a star," the father said. "Always be able to sing and pray."

The elder King virtually collapsed when he viewed his son's body later as it lay in state at Spelman College.

"Oh, oh Jesus, we got such a long way to go," cried an elderly Negro woman, one of the thousands that viewed the body. "We've come a little ways, but we got much further to go."

National Day of Mourning Noted Around the World

Many thousands of Negroes and whites eulogized Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. at church services, outdoor observances and quiet marches in cities and towns across the U.S. Sunday.

The national day of mourning, as proclaimed by President Johnson, was noted around the world.

Pope Paul, while celebrating Palm Sunday Mass in St. Peter's Basilica, said of King, an exponent of non-violence, "We shall associate his memory with that of the tragic story of the Passion of Christ."

Father Gorge Clements of Chicago, a Roman Catholic priest, said Sunday he would petition the Pope about the possible canonization of King, a Baptist minister.

UN Secretary - General U Thant told some 2,500 persons at a memorial service in The Hague: "I share the deep sense of shock with you."

Boston University, where King earned his doctorate in theology, planned no classes Tuesday, when King will be buried in Atlanta.

Some 20,000 persons gathered in the Los Angeles Coliseum Sunday to honor the head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

New York City's Central Park was the scene of an interfaith memorial service, with some 12,000 Negroes and whites listening to eulogies by Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller, Mayor John V. Lindsay, and civil rights leaders.

In strife-torn Washington, where looting and burning followed King's assassination Thursday, a special service was held at the Roman Catholic National Shrine of the Immaculate Conception. Bishop John Spence, the archdiocese of Washington, told about 3,000 persons that King was a martyr, a man who died for the Christian precept of non-violence."

In Atlanta, King's brother, Rev. A. D. King, conducted an Sabbath service at Ebenezer Baptist Church where King and his father were the pastors.

At Newark, N.J., an estimated 25,000 persons, about one-third of them white, marched through a predominantly-Negro neighborhood of wrecked last summer by rioting. Leaders of the march included Mayor Hugh Addonizio and Wilbur Wright, a militant who heads the United Afro-Americans Association.

Several thousand persons marched to the Houston, Texas, city hall for a memorial service.

Watkins: Negroes United

TORONTO (CP) — A roughhewn coffin bearing a picture of Rev. Martin Luther King was laid at the doorstep of the United States Consulate Sunday.

The ceremony, organized by the pro-American Progressive Association, was orderly and brief.

Two speeches—punctuated with shouts of "Uhuru", the Swahili word for freedom—were more a declaration of black impatience with the position of Negroes in the United States than a memorial to Dr. King.

At a meeting of the Trinidad Club earlier, a Hamilton Tiger-Cats football player, Ted Watkins, chairman of the Afro-American Progressive Society, said black people everywhere were united to aid the black people of the United States.

A collection at the meeting raised $276 to help H. Rap Brown raise bail at Fairfax, Va., where he is being held pending extradition hearings sought by the state of Maryland.

White Opposition Forces Couple to Leave Area

WARREN, Mich. (AP) — A racially-mixed couple who moved into the Detroit suburb of Warren last summer is moving out because of opposition from their white neighbors.

A "for sale" sign has been posted on the front lawn of the Corado Bailey family home.

Bricks were tossed through windows, and crowds gathered on the street when the Baileys first arrived. Bailey is Negro and his wife is white.

Mrs. Bailey said the main reason they had decided to move out was because of continual harrassment which affected their eight-year-old daughter, Pamela.

"We've just taken all this, not wanting to take the people into court," she explained. "We were just trying to make them get along with us—but we finally realized that there's just no chance for us in their neighborhood."

The Baileys moved into their home last June. Police were called to provide protection when crowds formed in the predominantly Italian-Polish neighborhood.

Use Nails to Prevent Them Breaking

By Dr. Joseph G. Molner

Dear Dr. Molner: I have quite a problem with my nails and wonder if you could help me. The nails grow out very lumpy, they break and split. The cuticle is red and puffy. —Mrs. R. K.

In this particular case, the inflamed cuticle probably is a valuable clue. Disease of the cuticle can cause deformity and irregularity of the nail.

The disease could be a fungus infection, ringworm, or chronic bacterial infection of the cuticle. Irritation caused by rough manicuring is also a possibility.

However, it is quite pointless for me to try to offer a remedy. Diagnosing the trouble—and thus being able to prescribe an effective treatment — depends on examination of the nails. The only sound advice I can offer is to see a dermatologist (skin specialist) since ailments of the nails are part of that specialty. A fungus medication would be worse than useless if the real trouble is bacterial infection, and vice versa.

I ought to add because of so many letters — to discuss brittle nails. It is one of the common complaints of women, but there isn't, to my knowledge, any simple, swift remedy.

Extreme diet deficiency, as well as some systemic diseases, can weaken the nails, but neither of these accounts for most of the complaints.

The biggest single factor, I am convinced, is that so many women cultivate rather long nails — which naturally will break more readily than short ones. But another element enters. The nails, like our muscles and bones, gain strength with use, and lose strength with lack of use.

The woman with long, carefully shaped nails takes pains not to exert much strain on the nails. So the nails gradually become weaker.

Then starts the search for some lacquer, some medication, some diet that will make the nails tougher. Taking all envelope of plain, unflavored gelatine is a favorite "remedy". Perhaps the protein in time will help some people. Perhaps it does others no good. In any event, it can't work quickly.

The fact is that people who use their hands for hard work and expose the nails to a lot of pressure and strain seldom have any complaint about brittle or weak nails. (Such people also usually keep the nails cut short.)

I wish (fully recognizing the utter futility of the wish) that it would become fashionable to keep fingernails short. Then women would use their hands more freely, and the nails would benefit by the exercise. Brittle nails, now such a common complaint, would become a rare one.

Keeping the nails at least medium short, instead of trying to grow — and then overpetalize having favorite "remedy". Perhaps the protein in time will help some people. Perhaps it does others no good. In any event, it can't work quickly.

The fact is that people who use their hands for hard work and expose the nails to a lot of pressure and strain seldom have any complaint about brittle or weak nails. (Such people also usually keep the nails cut short.)

Dear Dr. Molner: I notice that every time I eat asparagus my urine takes on a strong odor. I am very fond of asparagus but am worried about this. — J. E. N.

You worry in vain, sir. It's a chemical reaction involving that vegetable, and virtually everybody notices that same odor.

Dear Dr. Molner: Just what does a blood pressure reading of 140 - 80 mean in a man 86? Is that high, low, normal, good or bad? — C. S.

In a man of 86 it is quite normal; in fact, exceptionally good.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in this column whenever possible.

OFF THE RECORD — BY ED REED

Toronto Priest Writes Reply To Noted British Theologian

TORONTO (CP) — Rev. Gregory Baum, one of Canada's leading theologians and a teacher at St. Michael's College here, says the Roman Catholic Church "has enjoyed few periods in history in which she has been as healthy as today."

Father Baum, born in Germany of agnostic Jewish parents and who became a Catholic in 1947, makes his observation in his book, The Credibility of the Church Today: A Reply to Charles Davis. It is to be published in New York next month.

The Globe and Mail quotes from advance proofs of the book.

The fact that many Catholics realize the shortcomings of the church is a sign that "ecclesiastical renewal has touched the entire life of the church," Father Baum writes.

The book is a reply to one written by Dr. Charles Davis, former British priest and theologian, A Question of Conscience. Dr. Davis wrote that there is no adequate biblical and historical basis for the institutional church.

Dr. Davis, who served with Father Baum as a theological expert at the Vatican council in Rome in the period 1962-65, now is a professor at the University of Alberta in Edmonton. He left the church two years ago, calling it "a vast, impersonal, unfree, inhuman system" that he can't lost its capacity for love.

Father Baum says what the church needs to cure its disintegration predicted by Dr. Davis in his book is not the personal conversion of bishops and popes to greater holiness, but the introduction of new social forces such as the ecumenical movement to help it break out of old patterns.

"The crucial difference between Dr. Davis and myself lies in the evaluation of Vatican II (the council in Rome)," he writes.

Father Baum says the council accepted what he called the concept of the open church, a shift from the old ideas of the church as "a charter privilege for a limited group of people."

To Dr. Davis's claim that the church has become a "one of untruth" where men use language to hide reality or manipulate people, Father Baum says:

"The history of the church, even into our day, records many instances revealing that the ecclesiastical institution is more interested in power and prestige than in the truth of things."

He admitted that many of Dr. Davis's criticisms of the church are valid, but added that "the sweeping character of his descriptions makes him insensitive to the spirit-created realities of the church which would modify his generalisation . . ."

Prison Riot Blamed on Racial Tension

HAGERSTOWN, Md. (AP) — About 300 prisoners rioted at the Maryland correctional institution Sunday night, setting fire to one building and causing heavy damage throughout the centre before being forced back into their cells.

One guard was seriously injured and several other guards and prisoners taken to hospital after the 75-minute disturbance.

Preston L. Flisberger, head of the institution, said damage was extensive, with prisoners breaking windows and "pretty well everything they could get their hands on."

Trouble was confined to the training centre, which was opened in 1966.

Flisberger said the incident appeared to have racial overtones, with fighting going on between white and Negro prisoners.

Parents Must Grow Down

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

It's not just that we forget what it felt like to be young—it's that we forget we've forgotten.

The other day I stopped at school to pick up my younger son. It was about 5 above zero, and I sat in the car bundled up in a heavy storm coat, scarf, gloves, boots and a Cossack hat — and still freezing by the second.

Out he jogged, wearing a thin pair of pants, a shirt over at the throat, and a pea jacket, unbuttoned. As he entered the car, I started to ask the usual parental question ("Hat? Gloves? Scarf?") and then bit my tongue.

For I suddenly remembered that I had forgotten what it felt like to be young — to be feckless and foolish and impervious to the elements. To romp in snowpiles without leggings, to kick away all the blocks with new oxfords on, to jump into snowbanks up to your armpits.

We are fond of repeating the musty truism that youngsters must learn to "grow up." But it is equally true that parents, and adults generally, must learn to "grow down" to their early experiences, to recall the tastes and smells and feels and visions of childhood. Lacking this empathy, it is impossible to reach the child except by threat or command.

It is as though we close a steel door when we reach adulthood, shutting out the whole sensory and imaginative range of youthful reactions to the world — and the overpowering kinetic need to touch, to test, to explore, to defy. The taste forbidden fruit precisely because it is forbidden.

That cold winter afternoon was more real to my boy than it was to me. I was muffled in protection, insulated from its cruel and yet bracing reality; he was facing it in its full dimension, testing his power of resistance to it, grappling with it in a spirit of fierce enjoyment, as a healthy colt might wrestle with a boulder.

I thought about all the prudent things — wet feet and a sore throat, possibly a bout with the flu. But when I was a boy his age, what did wet feet mean to me? Nothing: Even a sore throat was worth the fun of the day. And who is to say I was wrong?

Of course, parents are there to protect, to guide, to keep the child from the dangerous consequences of his folly. But sometimes I think we do it out of envy more than out of affection — the child just has no right to be having such a good time when we might have to pay the price later. Is it for his sake that we button his shirt at the neck, pull on his gloves, wrap around his scarf? Or is it because we resent what we are no longer able to imitate?

Jeane Dixon's Horoscope

For April 9th,

Your birthday today: The serious quest for creative self-expression dominates the coming year for you. The need for originality and drama in your daily life prevails over the usual profit motivations and may lead to intense activity for social causes. Today's natives tend to be mystical, yet resourceful in coping with material or metallurgical pursuits.

ARIES (Mar. 21 — Apr. 19): Your reach for social prominence is apt to be too strong today: you may wind up with more people than you planned to meet. Be more sparing of your invitations.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 — May 20): You cannot get away with anything today; do not try for something for which you have not paid. And don't confide in people you do not know very well. The evening is tense. Relax with some good music.

GEMINI (May 21—June 20): Today is one of those dubious days in which every sort of minor mix-up occurs in your work, partly because you'd rather be with your friends. Save them until evening.

CANCER (June 21—July 23): It may cost you a pretty penny to avoid getting involved in silly activities. Decide early whether you want to go along with the others for kicks, or stick with your own affairs.

LEO (July 23 — Aug. 22): There's a big play for your sympathy today, but put your natural warmth help you create human relationships. The evening is fine for theatre.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 — Sept. 22): The sales pitch is so strong today that it's hard to see the real values. News from distant people is incomplete. Make sure you are protected adequately by insurance.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 — Oct. 22): Today your friends and neighbors all have projects for your attention — and investment. There should be interesting news in your mails. Be consistent and do your regular work well.

SCORPIO (Oct 23—Nov. 21): Business and social life may get entangled today, with marvelous confusion as a result. Be sure of what you want, and try to focus on one program at a time.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 — Dec. 21): The outdoors and faraway places have great appeal, but it is not time yet to go fishing. Work off the wanderlust by planning the journey. Find a good show tonight.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 — Jan. 19): Settle arguments wherever you can. Discount all advice today with some thought of what the adviser stands to gain. Find a good puzzle to work out this evening, or a mechanism to repair.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 — Feb. 18): There is so much opportunity for bargains today, it shouldn't cost any great effort to achieve it. Pay unusually close attention to the meaning of what your mate is saying.

PISCES (Feb. 19 — Mar. 20): Your work should be satisfying and productive today. The temptation is to cut corners and dream about what might have been. Go out with friends this evening for light entertainment.

EGG PRODUCERS

The future direction of the egg industry will be determined by your vote April 9th and 10th. In our opinion there are two possible courses which the Industry can take.

A vote against the proposed amendment is a vote in favor of the continued and progressive take-over of the Industry by large Corporations, particularly in our view those with established outlets to the consumer.

A yes vote will give us the strength to speak, negotiate and bargain with one voice. It enables collective action with which we can effectively combat competition of any form or origin.

We believe that it is basic right of producers to determine the conditions under which they produce and sell eggs. Your elected directors firmly believe that the amendments are in the best interests of the Industry in Ontario. We advise you to vote yes and protect your position before it's too late.

Performance Will Be Test

Even in Quebec, Trudeau Remains an Unknown Quantity

MONTREAL (CP) — Pierre Elliott Trudeau, at centre stage as federal Liberal leader and prime minister-to-be, is as surprising a phenomenon in Quebec as in the rest of Canada.

Those who express opinions on behalf of French-speaking Quebec have not backed Mr. Trudeau unanimously and the future extent of his support, including that of young people, will depend on his performance in office.

The 46-year-old teacher, traveller and intellectual, now only a few days away from the political direction of his country, still is an unknown quantity in his home area although a major figure now due to his weekend success.

The reason for question marks is that he has been on public view only a short time and until lately his ideas as expressed in speeches and writings were known only in a relatively small circle.

At last week's Ottawa leadership convention, French-speaking MPs and cabinet ministers spread their allegiance among several of the candidates.

Before Mr. Trudeau announced he was in the race, it was considered a serious issue whether any French-Canadian should run for the leadership. Some thought Ottawa's negotiations with Quebec over the constitution should be guided by an English-speaking leader of Lester Pearson's accommodating frame of mind.

Another reason invoked was that a French-Canadian candidate might fare poorly, leaving the impression in Quebec of doors being closed to increased participation in national affairs.

Other views heard about a French-Canadian candidacy made it clear the province is not more single-minded politically than any other. It was also recalled that Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Liberal leader at the turn of the century, and Louis St. Laurent, the party's last leader from Quebec, encountered heavy going at home during their careers.

Among Quebec political commentators, the principal reservation about the Trudeau approach was that at the February federal-provincial conference and during the issue last month over withholding diplomatic representation to Gabon, Mr. Trudeau's attitude as regards Quebec was too hard.

This kind of reservation about Mr. Trudeau was thought by some more important, in an era of more bilingualism, than the fact he is Quebec-born and as a leader could talk politics in Quebec in impeccable French, as he would use flawless English in other places.

Mr. Trudeau, as Liberal leader, does represent further extension into federal politics of Quebec's quiet revolutionary style. He and two of his principal adherents, Manpower Minister Marchand and Gerard Pelletier, parliamentary assistant for external affairs, all represent transformed political thought applied in Quebec in the 1960s.

At his Ottawa news conference Sunday, Mr. Trudeau indicated he felt able to attract as good a following among younger French-Canadians as anyone on grounds the proportion of separatists among young Quebecois is smaller than represented.

Not Unexpected: Douglas

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C. (CP) — New Democratic Party leader Tommy Douglas said Saturday the election of Pierre Trudeau as new Liberal party leader was not unexpected.

Mr. Douglas said in an interview:

"My colleagues and I congratulate Mr. Pierre Trudeau on his election as leader of the Liberal party. These are difficult and trouble times and Mr. Trudeau will need the support and encouragement of all Canadians. The responsibilities he is assuming now are crushing and overwhelming."

Pearson Non-Partisan

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Pearson maintained a non-partisan stance to the end in the Liberal leadership race.

Mr. Pearson and his wife listened attentatively Saturday night as the victory of Pierre Elliott Trudeau was announced, then began chatting.

They neither smiled nor frowned.

"I would have been pleased at any one of them being elected," Mr. Pearson said as he left his special box in the west end of the convention arena to go to the rostrum to greet his successor.

The Pearsons voted on all four ballots.

Stanfield Adds Praise

HALIFAX (CP) — Opposition Leader Robert Stanfield Saturday congratulated Pierre Trudeau on his election as national leader of the Liberal party.

He said in a statement the Progressive Conservative party will "continue to support good government measures and oppose bad ones as long as we are in opposition."

Mr. Stanfield described Mr. Trudeau's election as a great honor. He said he looks forward to serving in the Commons with Mr. Trudeau as prime minister.

"We face a great future in this country if we can overcome our constitutional and economic problems."

tion-eve press conference.

Would he give up his Mercedes after he becomes prime minister? "The car or the girl?" he responded quickly, adding he planned to retain both.

It is also a fact that his acquiline, rough-textured face lights up dramatically in the presence of beautiful women. Baggy eyes and all, they react to him. Teeny boppers tingle at his name. And the middle-aged matron finds the faintly melancholy look of a little lost boy an attractive second best to a flip to Montreal.

With his receding hairline and accompanying high forhead and his offbeat features, he's hardly classically handsome.

It's the total package that has sex appeal, not the individual parts. And men seem to like him too, even though he shakes hands with his left, not his right hand in the usual way. With an ancient Roman garland on his head, he could play Julius Caesar, the old Roman emperor. It's that chiselled, monkish look that does it.

He constantly advises reporters that they put him in the leadership race with an unsought press buildup. His aides say he really believes it, is amazed by the communications love-in and is deeply concerned that it might suddenly disappear.

They say he is ambitious, but never once during his six-week campaign rush to the top did anybody hear him say in so many words that he wanted to win. This curious verbal detachment was reflected at lunch with a few of his campaign aides just before the voting Saturday at the leadership convention.

Not once did he mention the leadership convention, when it might be natural to at least seek some re-assurance about the outcome.

His thespian touch was evident at the convention in the delicate, pursed-lips pause at the head of the stairs leading down from his box-seat to acknowledge the crescendo of applause as he prepared to go to the stage to deliver his pre-ballot speech.

There was no artificial victory salute. Just the man standing there. Two weeks earlier he had vetoed a suggestion for the stock, organized marching floor demonstration preceding the important Friday night speech.

His view, said his aides, was that if the people wanted him, they would applaud with the help of his organization which put signs throughout the convention arena in the hands of supporters. His aides thought it was a dangerous gamble, but it worked. The effect was powerful.

If the decision bore a touch of theatrical arrogance, it is not reflected in his dealings with people around him. Making his way back to the convention arena after his pre-ballot lunch, a trailing reporter bumped him accidentally. It was the candidate who apologized.

With the burden of high office, people have already started to wonder whether they have seen the last of the old Trudeau: The lawyer who took civil liberty cases; the free-wheeling world traveller who once tried to row to Cuba from the U.S. mainland; the fiery critic who helped found Cite Libre to fight the stifling grip of the Duplessis regime of the 50s in his native province.

Or, did Trudeau who just wrote last year that in the art of living, of loving, of governing, he had found it unacceptable that others should claim to know better than he what was good for him.

Spirit of Change

NEW YORK (CP) — The New York Times, commenting on the Liberal party's election of Prime Minister Pearson's successor, says Pierre Elliott Trudeau symbolizes as none of his rivals could a spirit of change and a robust new nationalism in Canada.

The Liberal party, in choosing Trudeau, "may have transformed the country's political future," The Times said editorially today.

It finds the explanation for his election "in a surging, if often fuzzily-defined, desire for change on the part of many Canadians and the recognition by many more that change is essential and inevitable."

"His candor and the straight talk he delivers in the most precise English and the best French heard from Canadian political platforms stirs thoughtful citizens in the manner of Adlai Stevenson," it says, comparing him with the late American presidential candidate.

Luna 14 Speeds To Moon

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union's new space venture, Luna 14, presumably was speeding toward the moon today amid speculation that it may be the first attempt to send a craft around the moon and bring it back to earth.

The unmanned spaceship was launched Sunday. An official announcement said it was an automatic space station and would study "near lunar space."

Previous lunar craft have landed on the moon or gone into orbit around it. They sent back information on lunar conditions in preparation for an ventual manned flight to the moon.

The first announcement said communications and other equipment on board were functioning normally. There was no further announcement today, but the Russians usually wait until a space mission is completed or near completion before reporting further on it.

New Strike Deadline

Ford Workers Return to Jobs

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

United Auto Workers union members at Ford Motor Co. of Canada plants in Oakville, Windsor, Ont. and Talbotville, Ont., returned to work today, ending a three-day wildcat strike.

Altogether, the strike involved 11,567 workers.

Workers at the Oakville and Talbotville plants voted Sunday to return to work today, following a similar move Saturday by workers in Windsor.

The union said it would not go back to bargaining until the strikers called off their unauthorized strike.

Officials set a new strike deadline of 10:30 a.m., Tuesday, April 16. Negotiations were to resume in Toronto today.

In Talbotville, 5½ miles northwest of St. Thomas, 1,200 members endorsed the decision to return to work. Robert Sach, representative for Local 1520, said about 50 workers were opposed.

In Windsor Saturday, 3,500 members of Local 200 voted to end their three-day wildcat.

The workers at Oakville staged an outdoor meeting Friday when more than 1,000 workers stormed the speaker's platform screaming that they would not go back to work.

Response Disappointing At Napannee Clinic

NAPANEE — Those in charge of the Red Cross Blood Donors' Clinic in Napanee last week were much disappointed at the response. They had been asked for 175 pints of blood, but only 132 donors responded to the appeal, although 450 cards had been sent out, as additional work had been done through personal appeals.

Mrs. F. B. Mills, chairman of the clinic stated, "unless the response is more generous, we will find ourselves back where we were before the Red Cross Society undertook this service to furnish the hospital with free blood for transfusions. Previous to that the patient or his relatives had to pay for each transfusion, or had to replace twice the amount by having two friends donate. This was a great hardship for people so sick that they required blood transfusions." Those with the mobile unit, which comes from Ottawa, told Mrs. Mills that it was not worth their time and the use of the unit to make the trip. Unless 125 donors responded next time they cannot come again.

"It is almost unthinkable that only 132 people in all of the County of Lennox and Addington plus the town of Deseronto, would be willing to donate blood which may well save a life."

"There were many new donors this time," Mrs. Mills stated, "many of them students. I do not know what we should have done without them. It surely cannot be fear. One Deseronto woman who was a first-time donor said, "There was just nothing to it." Hugh Jaynes formerly of Napanee and now of Deseronto, made his 51st donation last week to the Red Cross, and had made donations privately on many occasions previous to the establishment of the clinics.

If you own 1959 Canada Savings Bonds

Here's a special offer just for you

The Government of Canada has created a special new high-yielding security for the exchange of your 1959 Canada Savings Bonds. The Special Replacement Bonds will be dated May 1, 1968, and will mature in 10 years 8 months on October 1, 1978. They will be available only in exchange for an equal amount of 1959 Canada Savings Bonds, and not for cash. Their average annual yield to maturity will be 6.88%. They will retain all the standard features which have made Canada Savings Bonds the most popular investment in Canada's history. This includes the right to cash them at any time at any bank for full face value plus earned interest.

In addition, Special Replacement Bonds offer the opportunity to double your money. If you choose not to cash your regular interest coupons during the life of the bond, 3 Compound Interest Certificates then become payable for a total of $280.00 extra (on each $1,000.00 bond). This amount plus your regular interest coupons doubles your money. You can take advantage of this compound interest feature in various ways.

And that's not all. There will be two Prepayment Coupons, cashable May 1, 1968, attached to each Special Replacement Bond. They represent the 6 months' interest already earned by your old bond and the prepayment of the 3% non-taxable premium originally due November 1, 1968. On a $1,000.00 bond, these two Prepayment Coupons will be worth a total of $55.00.

The exchange procedure is simple. Take your 1959 Canada Savings Bonds to your bank, authorized investment dealer, trust or loan company. They will make all arrangements for the exchange. Exchange your 1959 Canada Savings Bonds for the new high-yielding Special Replacement Bonds without delay. This offer expires on May 15, 1968.

How to recognize your 1959 Canada Savings Bonds

First, the serial number in red in the upper corner of each bond is preceded by "S14" in black. Second, the name of the issue, "Canada Savings Bond" "1959 Series" is shown just below the serial number.

Canadian Children Lead in Fashions

It's a mad, mad, mad-mod children's fashion world this spring. The young at heart have been credited with setting the adult world a go-go, with youthful, psychedelic fashions.

This spring children have borrowed from the adult sphere, and the in looks include, for girls, the cossack look, the Mao collar, the military air, the continental pantsuit, the Western Ranch look, the peasant look, and for boys everything from the African Bush effect to the Nehru look.

Little girls are sporting long flowing Caftans, enjoying free-dom-loving Culottes, toasting Capes and Capelets over their shoulders, and boldly displaying brassy hardware on coats, dresses, rainwear and even shoes.

The kiddies have even borrowed from the Flickers, and miniature gumnolls strut around in flared and flouncy Bonny and Clyde fashions.

Mini, midi and maxi lengths are all being shown this season to cater to all length preferences from tots to 'teens.

Biggest news is high fashion colors for infants and toddlers. Banished to fairy-tale myths are pallid pastel pinks, and faded baby blues. Now infants are revelling in the same bold reds, bright oranges, saucy lemons and limes, as their modern Moms are wearing. Colors are brilliantly fluorescent.

In summer sportswear, cotton knits are the favorite fabric. There are new fish-net weaves, cool aerlated fabrics and lightweight knits for complete summer coolness.

Culottes, romper sets, jump suits, and jumperalls are a popular trend, for one-piece play suits.

Wherever one looks this summer, one shall see fashions unlimited, from sophisticated world - wide sources, worn by Canadian children, who are among the world's best dressed.

More Than One Hostess for Trudeau

OTTAWA (CP) — More than one woman may take her turn as hostess with the mostess at 24 Sussex Drive when bachelor Pierre Elliott Trudeau, newly elected Liberal leader, takes up residence there as prime minister.

Mr. Trudeau told a news conference Sunday that Mrs. Lester B. Pearson, wife of the retiring prime minister, has already agreed to act as his hostess when he gets "caught in a pinch."

But Mr. Trudeau said, smiling,

"I have a few respectable friends of my own."

SUMMER STYLES VARIED—Women's shoes for spring and summer '68 are varied in design. The interest in boots continues. The two at centre are in stretchy grained vinyl, in a leather-like finish. The shoe is black patent with the stocking in either black or green. At left is a sling-back shoe in burnt orange and grey made of smooth antiqued leather. At right is a high-riding moccasin vamp sling-back in deep, antiqued red. (CP Photo)

State Secretary Has Habit of Riling People

LONDON CP — Some folk figure Barbara Castle's success is due at least partly to her red hair.

"You can lose your temper as often as you like when you have red hair," one admirer says. "People expect you to get away with murder."

Mrs. Castle, just promoted to a top cabinet job as state secretary for employment and productivity, certainly makes a habit of riling people — and then being forgiven.

Even as the announcement of her promotion from transport minister in a cabinet shuffle was being prepared, the youthful - looking 58 - year-old was tackling Britain's insurance bosses.

With a typical mixture of charm, in a voice once described as being "sharp as a hat-pin," Batting Baba told an insurance institute luncheon it was high time they thought about cutting charges for car insurance.

Citing improved traffic safety and declaiging insurance claims, she asked:

"Isn't it time the motorist got some reward for all this? I look to the insurance business to see that he does."

She made the speech in Blackburn, the industrial Lancashire constituency she has represented since 1945 and about 30 miles away from Radford in Yorkshire, where she was born the daughter of a cru sading left-wing tax inspector and schooled till she went down to Oxford University.

She wrote a daily column in The Daily Mirror during the Second World War — she dealt with complaintsf from disgruntled servicemen — and married journalist Ted Castle, now with The Sun, in 1944.

Friends say they wanted children but were unable to have any. She has been close to the children of a sister who died and organizes family Christmases and weekends at the Castle country home in Buckinghamshire.

That softer side of Barbara Castle, and private anxieties resulting from clashes between idealism and real politics, is rarely revealed in public.
